COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1941. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1941. No. 1.

SENATE

January 7, 1941, 12 O'clock Noon

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate together with the Senators-elect chosen at the last general election held on November 5, 1940, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Samuel S. Lewis) called the Senate to order at 12 o'clock noon.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, may it please Thee to see and hear our devotion unto Thy holy Name this day as we reverently bow before Thee as we begin this regular session of this Senate. We would be properly girded with Thy power and understanding for the duties and responsibilities which devolve upon our shoulders. Momentous issues both of State and nation confront us. Vexatious problems within our Commonwealth must be met and solved. Differences of opinion and methods of operation are inevitable within any legislative hall so that our wisdom ably to cope with all our problems is not sufficient. Teach us to depend heavily upon Thy wisdom. For this we pray in the interest of each Senator here assembled whether he be one for the first time assuming his duties or one whose honorable service hitherto is well-known.

Bless, we pray Thee, the President of the United States as he labors in these troubled times under the heavy burdens of his high office. May the decisions and subsequent applications upon vital issues made by him be attuned to Thy divine plan for us as a people. Make plain Thy ways unto his excellency, the Governor of this Commonwealth and all associated with him in the faithful discharge of the responsibilities of our government. Guide the deliberations of the new Congress and our General Assembly for, who knows but Thee, with what tremendous issues they may be called upon to deal ere this year has sped very far in its way.

Preserve our freedom and democracy that it may not perish from the earth through the evil machinations of those who would willingly destroy them. May we live worthily as a part of that democracy. Temper the minds of all true Americans that we may effect our national defense as though we were one dedicated unto that sacred common cause upon which depends our continued peace and happiness.

Hear the petitions here expressed and unexpressed for Jesus' sake. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. An examination of the Journal of the Senate reveals that only on rare occasions has the President of the Senate made any remarks at the organization of the second Session of his term of the Senate.

However, at this time, the Chair wishes to ask the indulgence of the members of the Senate to permit the Chair to clearly state his position as your presiding officer and make known his official status, as he understands it to be.

Approximately two years ago, to be more specific, on January 17, 1939, after taking the oath of office of Lieutenant Governor, the Chair among other things said:

"I propose to decide impartially without fear or favor all questions of procedure."

During the Regular Session of 1939 and the Special Session of 1940 the Chair conscientiously and steadfastly endeavored to fulfill that pledge; how well he succeeded is a matter of record.

At the assemblying of this Session of the Senate the Chair repeats his pledge to decide impartially without fear or favor all questions of procedure. The change in the political complexion of the Senate from that of 1939 will not influence the Chair as your presiding officer; no individual person or group of persons, political or personal designs or private or personal interests or ambitions will cause the Chair to swerve from this determination. The Chair will be guided only by his conscience, the Constitution, the acts of assembly, and the adopted rules and regulations of this Senate.

RETURNS OF ELECTIONS OF SENATORS IN ODD NUMBERED DISTRICTS

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, I have the honor to introduce Honorable S. M. R. O'Hara, the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH. Your Excellency and Gentlemen of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I have the honor of laying before you Returns of Elections of Senators in the odd-numbered Senatorial Districts of this Commonwealth are, twenty-five in all.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the election returns.

Dent,	Kephart,	Snowden,	Ziesenheim,

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Senate will proceed with its business.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. GELTZ asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. WOODWARD, for the month of January.

Mr. SHAPIRO asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. MUNDY.

NOMINATIONS FOR PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed with election of a President Pro Tempore.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, my colleagues on the right have given me a most pleasing assignment, which is to place in nomination for the office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate the Honorable Charles H. Ealy of Somerset County.

Senator Ealy for a period of over fourteen years has served his constituents and the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania zealously and with great fidelity.

I therefore take pleasure in placing in nomination for the honorable office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate the Honorable Charles H. Ealy, of Somerset County, being assured he will perform all of the duties pertaining to that high and honorable office with honor and distinction.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any other nominations?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. President, I respectfully place in nomination for the high office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate the Honorable Harry S. Shapiro, Senator from Philadelphia.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, no more pleasant assignment could be given to me in my service than this of rising to second the nomination of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

> Some ships sail East and others West,
> While the self same breezes blow,
> But it's the set of the sails and not the gales,
> That bids them where to go,—

Guiding the good ship democracy into the port of good government, and while he might have tempestuous sailing, we are confident he himself and his colleagues are bound to reach their destination.

I never have seen anybody on the floor of the Senate who is able to fight as effectively on the floor as is the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Every ten years in this world from this human existence there appears and disappears into the dim dust of that eternity that lies beyond five hundred million human souls and out of that vast number there is but a mere handful that has made any lasting impression on society, and that handful is made up of men, and women too, who have spent the greater part of their lives fighting for an ideal.

I have seen the gentleman from Philadelphia attacked on the floor of the Senate, even abused, and always he would meet the opposition first with a smile and then with arguments, plain, direct and effective, that invariably challenged the admiration of the opposition.

I like the type of leadership that Senator Shapiro represents, not the type that makes you follow but rather the type that inspires following.

I am definitely certain, Mr. President, that his appointment as President Pro Tempore of this Senate will be in line with the policy of appointing one of the outstanding members of the General Assembly to that particular office.

I know of no man who has a greater grasp on the fiscal picture of the Commonwealth, no man who has as profound a knowledge of government problems as this same gentleman from Philadelphia, and I consider it a rare privilege and an honor to be able to second the nomination of my colleague for President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, it affords me great honor to second the nomination of my colleague from Somerset County, the Honorable Charles H. Ealy, as President Pro Tempore.

His record in the Senate speaks for itself and requires no elaboration by me in telling how we appreciate what he has done in behalf of the Commonwealth and the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It, therefore, Mr. President, affords me the greatest pleasure to second the nomination of the Honorable Charles H. Ealy and I, therefore, second the nomination.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. Chairman, as I desire to vote as my conscience and duty impel me, I want to vote for a member of this Senate that I feel deserves my vote.

I recall very distinctly in the Session of 1935 we were but nineteen Democratic Senators in this House, and there were thirty-one Republicans, and during that Session the things that transpired were unparalled with any other Session that could transpire for many years, and those nineteen Democratic Senators had been referred to often and often in this State as the nineteen immortals.

Among those nineteen, Mr. President, were men who had served the Democratic party faithfully and loyally, right during that Session and every Session since then, served faithfully and loyally not only their party but the constituents of this Commonwealth.

I am very sensitive, Mr. President, of the fact that here today, regardless of how I vote, the majority side of this House will succeed in electing the Honorable Charles H. Ealy as President Pro Tempore of this Senate, and with that in mind my conscience dictates and my duty impels that I show that degree of affection that one mortal ought to show to another in respecting one of those nineteen immortals who had also served his party and his constituents faithfully and loyally prior thereto.

I wish to vote and I want the record to show that I am casting my vote for the Honorable Henry E. Lanius.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I wish to preface my vote by a few remarks. I deem it my duty to vote for a man whom I have known in the Democratic party from way back through the years. I knew him when he served faithfully in the House; I knew him later as he came to this body; he was one of the faithful men in the Democratic party in this Commonwealth, when that party was very weak. He was a very active man in the party up until the time that he lost his sight, and since that time he has continued to stand for the outstanding principles of Jefferson and the former leaders of that great party.

I may never have another opportunity to show my honor to that distinguished Democrat and I deem it a duty, a conscientious duty, to vote for a man who has been faithful over a few things in the Democratic party back through the years, and I, therefore, cast my vote and I desire that it be recorded as such, for my friend and colleague, the Honorable Henry E. Lanius, of the great county of York.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in following the usual custom of voting as a matter of courtesy for my opponent I want to take advantage of this occasion to say that it is more than a mere courtesy to have the privilege of extending my vote for the gentleman from Somerset, the Honorable Charles H. Ealy.

In fact, through the years I have been here I have learned to respect and admire him and have found him a very able opponent and a very respectful one and nothing gives me greater pleasure than to cast my vote for my good friend the Senator from Somerset, the Honorable Charles H. Ealy.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

There being none the Chair suggests a motion that nominations be closed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the nomination for President Pro Tempore be closed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the President Pro Tempore the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable Charles H. Ealy, of Somerset County, the Honorable Henry E. Lanius, of York County, and the Honorable Harry Shapiro, of Philadelphia County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. EALY

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Thomas,
Becker,	Farrell,	Miller,	Tyler,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Shapiro,	Walker,
Crider,	Homsher,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Crowe,	James,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
	Letzler,	Taylor,	Ziesenheim,

FOR MR. SHAPIRO

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Mundy,
Coleman,	Ealy,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Cox,	Frey,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Haluska,	McQuiddy,

FOR MR. LANIUS

Cavalcante,	Jaspan,	Reed,

The PRESIDENT. The Clerks agree in their tally, and the results show that the Honorable Charles H. Ealy received 31 votes, the Honorable Harry Shapiro received 15 votes and the Honorable Henry E. Lanius received 3 votes. The Chair declares the Honorable Charles H. Ealy elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO ESCORT PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE TO THE CHAIR

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints the following Committee to escort the President Pro Tempore to the rostrum to be sworn in.

The Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The Committee escorted the President Pro Tempore to the rostrum.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, this Committee is honored to present the President Pro Tempore, the Honorable Charles H. Ealy.

The PRESIDENT. The Committee is discharged, with the thanks of the Senate.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office will be administered to the newly elected President Pro Tempore by the Honorable John E. Fox, of Dauphin County.

The oath of office was accordingly administered.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now has the honor of presenting to the members of the Senate the newly elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Honorable Charles H. Ealy, of Somerset County.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, and Members of the Senate, I appreciate very deeply the honor conferred upon me by this election. It is some satisfaction to have received this position at the close of a service longer than the average term of Senators rather than at an earlier date, through some unexpected upturn of events.

The times demand our best service and I hope in the deliberations of this body we may as far as humanly possibly banish partisanship from our considerations, and may we remember in the long run the best service is the best politics.

It seems to be customary for an elected President Pro Tempore to make a few remarks when he is inducted into office and I hope I may be pardoned in taking this opportunity to say just a few words, not merely to the members of this body, but to our constituents in general.

As individuals and as groups and as municipal subdivisions we are too prone to turn to the central government for assistance in every real or supposed emergency; consequently our government has become very complex. I think we have too much government. I would that as citizens we might become more self-reliant; that the stronger might be more ready to sacrifice for those who need; and that those who make a finanical demand on the government be brought to realize that gratuities mean higher taxes and more regulation and in the end frequently fall with a greater weight on those already in want.

I would that this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania might set an example for the other states in the Union in solving its own problems so that the hand of Federal bureaucracy may be prevented from seizing control of our schools, of our churches, and other affairs which belong purely to our own State.

It surely can not be a matter of partisanship, or so regarded, that we seek to maintain the integrity of the State as a separate entity under our system of constitutional government.

There is another matter: the business of legislating for the Commonwealth should be regarded not merely as a matter for the members of the Assembly but for all the people. Government should be the concern of all, and no other State has so many problems because no other State has so many diversified interests.

During a session of the Legislature the members are constantly importuned by citizens and associations which seek some change in the law for their supposed benefit. It is right and proper that we hear their arguments and give them full consideration.

But I have often wished, Mr. President, that we might have disinterested advice on many questions which come before us. I have wished that those of sound judgment and unaffected by self-interest might give us their reasons why laws should be passed or rejected. Such advice is needed now more than ever before.

I express a hope that in the serious affairs of these times our people might come to a fuller realization of their responsibilities as members of our government; that legislation be sought after, not for personal advantage merely but for the welfare of the whole people, and I trust that it is not too much to hope that we, as members of this Assembly, and our people generally, may become more tolerant of the viewpoint of the other; that we may press with what vigor we possess the honest convictions of our hearts, but that at the same time we may accord the same right to those of opposite views and may not unjustly condemn them as false and corrupt.

I bespeak for this Legislature the help and cooperation of the people of our State, and I shall use my best endeavors to fulfill in a faithful manner the trust which is reposed in me.

Thank you.

NOMINATIONS FOR SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I nominate for the secretary of the Senate the Honorable George F. Holmes, of Philadelphia.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I deem it a signal honor to nominate for the secretaryship of the Senate a person whose service during the 1936 Special Session, during the Session of 1937, and during the Session of 1938 established a new high mark in ability, sterling devotion and unexcelled application, a man whose affability left an indelible impression upon the membership of this august body—the Honorable John C. Morlock, of Philadelphia.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I consider it both a privilege and an honor to second the nomination of John C. Morlock, a man for whom I have the highest regard as to his integrity and his honesty and I think he is a very very able candidate for the secretaryship of this Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am happy to be directed by the Republican Caucus to second the nomination of George F. Holmes, of Philadelphia, for the secretaryship of this Senate.

SENATOR MUNDY REPORTED PRESENT IN THE SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I take advantage of the lull in the proceedings to announce the earnest and speedy recovery of my colleague, the Senator from Luzerne, Senator Mundy, and his presence in the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has noted the presence of the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

There being none the Chair suggests a motion that nominations be closed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the nomination for Secretary of the Senate be closed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Secretary of the Senate, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable George F. Holmes, of Philadelphia, and the Honorable John C. Morlock, of Philadelphia.

The roll was called and was as follows:

FOR MR. HOLMES

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Becker,	Farrell,	Miller,	Wade,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Walker,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Crider,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Ziesenheim,
Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,

FOR MR. MORLOCK

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McQuiddy,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Lanius,

The PRESIDENT. George F. Holmes, having received 31 votes, and John C. Morlock having received 18 votes, I therefore declare George F. Holmes, of Philadelphia, duly elected Secretary of the Senate.

NOMINATIONS FOR CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I nominate for Chief Clerk of the Senate, the Honorable William J. Ridge.

Mr. JAMES Mr. President, it is my privilege to second the nomination of William J. Ridge.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it is my honor and privilege to present the name of a young man from my county, whom I have known for a great many years, who is well fitted to fill this post, and who, I believe, like the present Clerk of the Senate, would serve this body with honesty, fidelity and distinction.

Therefore, I present the name of Mr. Sheldon C. Schettig, of Cresson, Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it gives me pleasure to second the nomination of Sheldon C. Schettig, of Cresson, Pennsylvania.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO THE SENATOR FROM LUZERNE, MR. MUNDY

The PRESIDENT. The Members of the Senate will recall that leave of absence was requested for the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy. The Chair notes that Dr. Mundy is now present in the chamber and the Chair therefore requests that the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, come forward and take the oath of office. Judge Fox will now administer the oath.

The oath was accordingly adminstered by the Honorable John E. Fox.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations? There being none the Chair suggests a motion that nominations be closed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the nomination for Chief Clerk of the Senate be closed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Chief Clerk of the Senate, the Clerk will call the roll, and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable William J. Ridge, of Tioga County and the Honorable Sheldon C. Schettig, of Allegheny County.

The roll was called as follows:

FOR MR. RIDGE

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Becker,	Farrell,	Miller,	Wade,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Walker,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Crider,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Ziesenheim,
Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,

FOR MR. SCHETTIG

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McQuiddy,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Lanius,

The PRESIDENT. William J. Ridge, having received 31 votes and Sheldon C. Schettig having received 18 votes, I therefore declare William J. Ridge, of Tioga County, duly elected Chief Clerk of the Senate.

NOMINATIONS FOR LIBRARIAN OF THE SENATE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I nominate for the post of Librarian of the Senate, the Honorable Alex. S. Cooper, of Dauphin County, as Senate Librarian.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to second the nomination of Alex. S. Cooper.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I take great pleasure in nominating for Librarian of the Senate a man who has the wisdom and has had experience in the Senate of Pennsylvania, the Honorable John E. Philbin.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I rise to second the nomination of John E. Philbin, of the City of Pittsburgh.

ELECTION OF LIBRARIAN

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations? There being none the Chair suggests a motion that nominations be closed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the nomination for Senate Librarian be closed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Librarian of the Senate, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable Alex. S. Cooper, of Dauphin County, and the Honorable John R. Philbin, of Cambria County.

HENRY H. PEASE.

Affirmed and subscribed before me the day and year aforesaid:

M. H. EDMUNDS,
Notary Public.

ADOPTION OF RULES OF SENATE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I present the proposed new rules for the Senate and move their immediate adoption.

There are, Mr. President, I might say at this time, some minor changes made from the rules of the last session and if it is the desire of any of my colleagues I will be glad to designate the changes.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I second the motion of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to adoption of the rules?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, has been very courteous in allowing me to examine these rules before they were presented for adoption, and I find that some of the changes are constructive changes and I have no criticism to make of them.

However, Mr. President, I do feel I should comment on the change made in Rule No. 29, which is the rule dealing with the disposing of our rules. It read originally: "The consent of two-thirds of the members present shall be necessary to suspend any rule . . ."

The amendment now is "The consent of a majority of the members elected shall be necessary to suspend the rule."

The second paragraph read originally: "The consent of two-thirds of all members elected to the Senate shall be necessary to alter, change or amend these rules." This has been changed to a majority.

With the second amendment, Mr. President, I do not think there can be serious quarrel because I assume a majority of the members of the body should have the right to make or alter the rules, but when it comes to the question of suspension of the rules, which involves at times some important questions, I think such a change requires comment.

I think this situation is one apparently of expediency. I think my friends on the other side have dealt with many subjects on a basis of expediency and I think the results of the action of the people should convince them that expediency, like a hard case, makes bad law.

I have heard a great deal said about the desire or the necessity of both parties getting together and working in harmony. Well, Mr. President, this does not seem to me like an indication that is going to be the program.

In the first instance, Mr. President, as we gather together, this is notice that since you have a majority, and do not have two-thirds, you will change the rules so that they will fit to the occasion, and again you resort to expediency.

I think this should stop; I think it is a bad rule, and I propose, for that reason to vote against the rule.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, on the question before the Senate I think that the Journal of this body will show that we have been consistently fighting for the principles of democracy—democracy as we understand it—in this body. In order to permit the spirit of democracy to prevail it is necessary that the minority be heard once in a while, that the minority have some rights and privileges, and, Mr. President, I am firmly convinced that any democracy in this body can only be heard, can only be sustained and promoted if the minority has within its reach a rule whereby they can bring on the floor of this Senate any question of the moment, any question that pertains to the public good, any question that pertains to this great democracy of ours, and I am going to vote against the change in that rule because I sincerely believe that a smaller number than a constitutional majority ought to have the privilege at any time of bringing on the floor of this Senate a question of great importance to the people of this Commonwealth and probably the nation.

I sincerely believe that any fifteen members of this body ought at any time to have the privilege and the right, under this democracy of ours, if we are going to preserve it and see that it works, to bring on the floor of this Senate and obtain an expression of every member of this Senate upon any kind of important question; so therefore I intend to vote against that change because twenty-six is too much.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Fayette.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, does the Senator from Fayette object to the change in the first part of Rule 29, the change in the second part, or both?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I can not answer that question, Mr. President, because we do not have a copy of the rules on our desks and we do not know what they are, we do not know what changes have been made. This is another point in which democracy is not going to work if one or two members of this Senate get together and read the rules over amongst themselves and then bring them here in this body and attempt to jam them down the throats of the rest of us.

As one member of this Senate, Mr. President, I do not intend to have any rules jammed down my throat or forced upon me without knowing what they are. I do not know what the changes are.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, are we to understand that our colleague from Fayette is objecting to everything or is he objecting to some specific thing?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am objecting to every change in these rules until I have them on my desk and see what the changes are.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, in answer, or in attempted answer, to our colleague from Philadelphia, in connection with his objection to the change in Rule No. 29, I understood the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, to say that he did not object to the change in the second paragraph but he did object to the change in the first paragraph.

Now, Mr. President, I can understand why there might be some question in his mind but I can not understand why he is so ready and willing to impugn improper motives to the Republican Senators in an endeavor to change, in line with what appears to be the desire of my colleagues on the other side, as expressed by the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Cavalcante, that we should do things in a democratic way, to allow the majority to control instead of making necessary some greater fixed determined number in order to do things.

Now, Mr. President, we propose to change this rule so that in connection with those paragraphs, instead of it being necessary for a two-thirds vote it is proposed that we have only a majority vote.

Rule No. 29 deals with the dispensing of the rules. The first paragraph of these rules under which we operated in the last session provided that the consent of two-thirds of the members present shall be necessary to suspend any rule.

Now, Mr. President, we propose to change "consent" to "a majority of all the members elected shall be necessary to suspend any rules," which we believe fits in with our democratic ideas and our democratic system of majority rule.

The second paragraph, Mr. President, provided under the old rules that the consent of two thirds of all members elected to the Senate shall be necessary to alter, change or amend these rules.

The change which we propose is that consent of a majority of all of the members elected to the Senate shall be necessary to alter or change or amend these rules.

Now, Mr. President, if I understand correctly, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, has no objection to the second paragraph. I will admit that there was some feeling on the part of some of our Republican colleagues along the same lines. However, Mr. President, in discussion, we came to the conclusion that it was rather inconsistent to have a two-thirds vote necessary to suspend a rule when all we needed was a majority vote to alter, amend or change a rule.

In other words, Mr. President, if we endeavored to resort to the tactics which have been impugned to us so far we would not need to endeavor to suspend any rule when by a majority vote we could just go ahead and amend, alter or change the rule and arrive at the same point anyway.

Therefore, Mr. President, it seems to me, if we are going to be consistent in connection with Rule 29 relative to the two paragraphs, that the word "majority" should appear in both paragraphs.

The PRESIDENT. Discussion of Rules postponed. The Chair requests that the Senate defer further discussion on the matter before the Senate until we receive a message from the Secretary of His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, who wishes to present a communication.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were laid on the table.

RESUMPTION OF DISCUSSION OF RULES OF SENATE

The question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I may have been overlooked, but I have no copy of the proposed changes in the rules on my desk and neither do I have a copy of the old rules, and I do not see how a member of this Senate can consistently consider those changes and vote intelligently unless he has the old rules before him and also a copy of the proposed changes.

MOTION TO LAY RULES ON TABLE

Mr. REED. Therefore, Mr. President, I move that this matter be laid on the table until each Senator has on his desk a copy of the old rules and also a copy of the proposed changes.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, it is necessary that this body have rules before it can proceed with its business. I therefore suggest, Mr. President, that the motion made by the Senator from Washington be withdrawn or voted down, to enable the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, to take up in detail these changes and indicate to the members of this Senate what the changes are.

I may say, Mr. President, I think there should be a full disclosure of what the proposed changes are and I will therefore ask the Senator to withdraw his motion and permit the matters to be gone over in detail.

If that is not done, Mr. President, I will ask my colleagues to vote down this motion.

I might say, Mr. President, as to the gentleman not having the booklet containing the rules of the Senate, the rules will be found in the Pennsylvania Manual, a copy of which each Senator should have in his desk, I am sure, if he does not have the little booklet.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in line with the suggestion made by the gentleman from Somerset I think I may suggest too that instead of going through the rules and giving us the proposed changes, verbally or orally, suppose we vote for the present rules as they are, and then when the changes are printed or typed so that we can see what they do to the rules, then we can vote intelligently on the proposed changes; but by voting for the rules in effect today the Senate will have rules of order.

SUSPENSION OF DISCUSSION OF CHANGES IN RULES

The CHAIR. Again the Chair requests that the Senate suspend discussion of the matter before the Senate for the time being, in order that we may receive a report of a Committee from the House.

NOTIFICATION FROM HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES THAT IT IS ORGANIZED AND READY TO PROCEED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, I have the honor of presenting a committee on behalf of the House of Representatives.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. President, this Committee is instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House is duly organized and ready to proceed with its business.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Senate the Chair wishes to extend thanks of the Senate to the Committee and to apologize for keeping the Committee waiting. The Chair thought the members of the Committee were spectators who had come here to learn something.

RESUMPTION OF DISCUSSION REGARDING RULES OF SENATE

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from Somerset that we must have rules; but we should also keep in mind the purpose of rules in a body of this kind. Mr. President, the rules are not for the protection of the majority in a body of this character, and if some of us were interested in that point during the session of 1939 I placed on the records of this Senate what the Jefferson Manual said on that point, as well as other eminent authorities.

Mr. President, the rules are not for the protection of the majority because a majority is sufficiently strong in number to protect themselves by outvoting everybody. The rules, Mr. President, are fixed and adopted in order to protect the minority, to give the minority its voice so that it can be heard on those problems that come up before us, but how in the name of common sense is a minority going to be heard whenever you have a majority of thirty-two? and now you say that upon a vote of twenty-six you will hear the problems of the minority or what they may have to bring before this Senate.

We must rely upon the majority, Mr. President, and is there a man on that side so far gone that he believes honestly and sincerely that we can get the aid of you to join with us if we want a committee dismissed so that a problem can be brought before the Senate? Don't fool yourselves and don't try to fool us. We know we cannot get that number and any rules that we might adopt here are simply rules to protect further the majority, which needs no protection.

If you are sincere in this matter, if you are earnest in invoking Democratic principles, then so amend and alter your rules that eighteen members of the minority can be heard once in a while; surely, by placing the number that can bring a question before this Senate at twenty-six you surely are not giving the minority that protection, that opportunity, that a Democratic form of government would want to give and protect.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I do not want to retard the workings of the Senate, but I do feel we should have ample time to discuss these proposed changes; and I would be very willing to withdraw my motion conditioned upon the suggestion offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland; that we proceed to adopt the old rules and then when we have had a little time to consider the proposed changes, that is, after the proposed changes are on the desks of the Senators, then that would be the proper time to further consider the changes.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I hardly think the Senator from Washington, makes that suggestion with the idea it could be accepted. These rules were prepared, to an extent, by the membership on the other side. For instance, one of these rules says it takes two-thirds of the membership to dismiss the President Pro Tempore, or the officers here, and elect new ones. Now, what kind of a party is it when a majority of the party does not control and it takes a two-thirds majority to dismiss the President Pro Tempore or the desk officials? But that is in these rules, and was put in, in the first place, by men of the other side, and our men adopted their rules, but it is not a rule that should govern orderly procedure.

Those are the things raised here, and it is utterly impossible to ask us to adopt these rules for this Session.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to answer the question raised in the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

I went over these rules, and if I had thought there were any drastic changes, other than the ones to which I referred, I also would have requested that a copy be submitted to each of the members earlier in the day. I did not think it was important to deal with Rule 43, because for many years we have had Rule 43—which has been observed more in the breach, because all of us sit here and smoke, and Rule 43 prohibits smoking, and the gentlemen have decided they are going to have no more farce about it, and will allow us to smoke. I do not think that is important; but I think it is important to call attention to the fact that we are not unaware of the situation which exists. On the matter which is being presented to us, it is important whether two-thirds of the House is necessary to alter or change or suspend a rule, because when once we adopt rules then we know for the rest of the term we are governed by certain rules, and that they cannot be changed in a manner of expediency.

The rules we prepared were prepared, I think, generously, because even though we had a majority at the time, we provided that you could not remove officers, you could not make changes in the rules, without a two-thirds vote.

Now, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, asks whether I am satisfied with the second one. I am not. What I said was that there is nothing in the law or the Constitution which would prevent you gentlemen having a majority, from presenting to this body rules and asking their adoption, and since you have the majority you would have them adopted.

Take these very rules. We do not agree with them; you will go through a vote; you have this majority and will carry the rule.

Therefore, while I say I can not agree with it, I say I can not quarrel with it because of this situation—I do not agree it is the right way of doing it, but since you have a majority you are going to do it.

You could not get these very rules adopted if you provided that a two-third vote would be required to adopt them, if you did not like the rules, but once you have adopted those rules is it fair that you reserve to yourselves the right to alter or amend? That is expediency, of course.

I recall during the session of 1935 the Republican party determined as a matter expediency, since the Democratic party had a sizeable vote on this side of the House, to change the vote on Rule No. 42, which provided originally that a majority of the members present could discharge a committee from further consideration of a bill, and so as a matter of expediency the Republican party changed that rule and said a majority of those elected to the Senate would be necessary to discharge a committee, so that the Republicans who might be busy elsewhere could not be caught on the occasions when a bill came out of committee which they did not want to come out, by the absence of some of their members.

Now, what will stop this same majority, if by majority vote they can do so, from changing this rule so that a committee can not be discharged from further consideration of a bill unless you get the votes of two-thirds of all the members elected to the Senate?

That is the point I am making about this rule, that once you have adopted the rules, you have adopted no rules as far as the minority is concerned because by a majority vote you can change or suspend those rules, and it is my firm conviction this is the first evidence of the fact that this conversation we hear about co-operation is mere words and phrases—I do not talk about good faith, I talk about good politics. The gentleman from Allegheny said I challenge your good faith. I think he used that word inadvertently. I do not challenge your good faith, but I challenge your good judgment and your good politics.

As has been said by the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, after all, doing the right thing is good politics; but you are not doing the right thing when you make rules and lull us into believing those are rules by which we are governed, and then have a sneaker and say these rules do not need two-thirds, but they could be altered, changed or amended, or discarded by a majority vote.

That is the point I make and I make it knowing full well you have a majority which will adopt these rules.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote down this motion to lay the Rules of the Senate on the table.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to lay the rules on the table?

The yeas and nays were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Barr,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Ruth,

Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his point of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am assuming we are voting for all the rules as a whole.

The PRESIDENT. That is the understanding of the Chair.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. With the knowledge, Mr. President, we do not have the amendments to the rules before us and we do not know what the rules are? I want that in the record.

The PRESIDENT. That is the way the Chair understands it.

The yeas and nays were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Barr,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wade,
Cavalcante,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Walker,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the vote just taken is out of order because the matter voted on is not on our desks.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the Senator from Fayette is not well taken; there is no rule before the House at the present time.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to know how the Senator from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, has been recorded.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I voted "No."

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the reason I made that inquiry is because I understood the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, was not so recorded as having voted.

The PRESIDENT. In order that the record may be clear how did the Senator from Lackawanna vote?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I voted "No."

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the Senator from Lackawanna will be so recorded.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Blair tell me what changes are made in Rule 29.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, the rule is changed, as I understand it, back to what the rule was before the members-elect changed it when they assumed office. They will well recall what the rule was at that time.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, Mr. President, I just wanted to ask that question to show how absurd it is to vote for anything when we do not have before us, what we are voting for or how we are voting.

The PRESIDENT. The vote having been in the affirmative, the motion is carried, and the Rules of the Senate will be spread upon the Journal.

RULES OF THE SENATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

Duties of the President—Taking the Chair

1. The President shall take the chair, each day, at the hour to which the Senate stands adjourned, when he shall call the members to order, and on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read, which the Senate shall have the power then to correct.

Order of Business

2. The order to be observed in taking up business shall be as follows:

First—The asking leave of absence.

Second—The receiving of reports of committees, which shall be called for by the President, according to the order of the committees.

Third—The reading of bills in place. The President commencing on his left and recognizing all in their order from left to right, and all bills read in place shall be accompanied by two copies of the same.

Fourth—The offering of original resolutions.

Fifth—The consideration of executive nominations.

Sixth—The reading of bills the third time.

Seventh—The reading of bills the second time.

Eighth—The reading of bills the first time, and in that state shall not be subject to amendment or a vote thereon.

Order and Decorum—President to Preserve

3. It shall be the duty of the President to preserve order, prevent personal reflections, confine members in debate to the question and when two or more members rise at the same time, decide who shall be the first heard; but an appeal in all such cases shall lie to the Senate, and a member called to order may extenuate or justify.

Business and Debates

4. Members speaking shall address the President, and when presenting a paper shall first state its import. Members shall not speak more than twice on any question without permission of the Senate, nor be interrupted when speaking, except by a call to order by the President, or by a member through the President, or by a member to explain, or by a call for the previous question.

Motions

5. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall, before debate, be stated by the President. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the President or any member require it; but a motion may be withdrawn by the member making it before amendment, postponement, an order to lie on the table, or decision.

To Be Entered on Journal

6. Every motion shall be entered on the Journal together with the name of the member making it unless it should be subsequently withdrawn.

How Interrupted

7. A question regularly before the Senate can be interrupted only by a call for the previous question for amendment, postponement, commitment, or adjournment.

Motion to Adjourn—When in Order

8. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, excepting when on the call for the previous question, the main question shall have been ordered to be now put, or when a member has the floor and shall be decided without debate.

Order of Motions—Debates on the Previous Question

9. The motion for the previous question, for postponement, for commitment and for amendment shall take precedence in the order mentioned and a motion for the previous question shall preclude any of the other motions from being made; a motion to postpone shall preclude a motion to commit; or to amend a motion to commit shall preclude a motion to amend. The motion for the previous question, postponement (other than indefinite postponement) or commitment, shall preclude debate on the original subject. The previous question shall not be moved by less than four members.

Questions Following

10. When a call for the previous question has been made and sustained, the question shall be upon pending amendments and the main question, in their regular order, and all incidental questions of order arising after a motion for the previous question has been made, and pending such motion shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

Debate on Questions of Order

11. No debate shall be allowed on questions of order, unless there be an appeal, or reference by the President to the Senate. And on such appeal or reference no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the Senate.

Filling Up Blanks

12. On filling up blanks, the question shall first be taken on the largest sum, greatest number, and most distant day.

Powers and Duties of President Pro Tempore

13. In the absence of the President, the President pro tempore shall exercise all the powers and perform all the duties of President. On all questions, the President pro tempore shall vote last when occupying the chair.

Signing of Bills, Et Cetera, by the President

14. Acts, orders, addresses, and joint resolutions shall be signed by the President in the presence of the Senate, after their titles have been publicly read, and the fact of signing shall be entered on the Journal; and writs, warrants, and subpoenas issued by the Senate shall be signed by him and attested by the clerk.

General Direction of Hall

15. The President shall have the general direction of the hall. He may name a member to perform the duties of the chair but such substitutions shall not extend beyond four days.

Reconsideration

16. When a question has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any two members of the majority to move the reconsideration thereof. When the Senate has been equally divided on a question, or a bill shall have failed to pass, by reason of not having a constitutional majority, it shall be in order for any two who voted in the negative to move the reconsideration thereof.

Provided, however, that no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, report, amendment or motion upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate.

Provided further, that no motion for reconsideration shall be in order unless made on the same day on which the vote was taken, or within the next five days of actual session of the Senate thereafter.

Bills

17. Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in open Senate. All amendments thereto shall be printed and laid on the desks of Senators before the final vote is taken on the bill. The final vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and the names of the persons voting for and against the same be entered on the Journal. No bill shall be declared passed, or signed by the President unless a majority of all the Senators elected to the Senate shall be recorded as voting for the same.

Amendments

18. No amendment shall be received by the President which destroys the general sense of the original section, clause, or paragraph. No amendment to bills by the House shall be concurred in by the Senate, except by the vote of a majority of the members elected thereto, taken by yeas and nays, and the names of those voting for and against recorded upon the Journal thereof.

Committee of the Whole

19. The Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole at any time on the motion of a Senator duly seconded and agreed to by a majority of those voting. All amendments made in Committee of the Whole, shall be reported by the chairman to the Senate, and shall by him be moved to be inserted, and if adopted, shall then be entered on the Journal. Every bill shall be read at length in Committee of the Whole, and such reading shall be considered one of the readings required by the Constitution.

Report of Conference Committee

20. Every report of a committee of conference shall be printed together with the bill as amended by the committee, before action shall be had on such report.

Concurrence in Amendments of the House

21. That the vote on concurring in bills amended by the House or on adopting reports of committees of conference, shall not be taken until said bills and reports have been placed on the files of Senators, and particularly referred to on their calendars.

Appropriation Bills for Charitable Purposes

22. No bills appropriating money for charitable or benevolent purposes shall be considered finally until after the general appropriation bill shall have been reported from committee.

Standing Committees

23. There shall be the following Standing Committees:

Committee on Aeronautics
Committee on Agriculture
Committee on Appropriations Committee on Banking
Committee on Congressional Apportionmen'
Committee on Constitutional Changes
Committee on Corporations
Committee on County Government
Committee on Education
Committee on Elections
Committee on Executive Nominations Committee on Federal Relations Committee on Finance Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish
Committee on Highways
Committee on Insurance
Committee on Judiciary General
Committee on Judiciary Special Committee on Labor and Industry
Committee on Law and Order
Committee on Military Affairs
Committee on Mines and Mining Committee on Municipal Government
Committee on Public Health
Committee on Public Utilities
Committee on Representative Apportionment
Committee on Rules
Committee on Senatorial Apportionment

Committee on State Government
Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions Committee on Workmen's Compensation

The members and the Chairmen of the said Standing Committees shall be appointed by the President pro tempore as soon after his election as possible. All vacancies occurring in said committees by resignation or otherwise shall be filled by the President pro tempore.

The President pro tempore shall be ex-officio a member of all Standing Committees and included in the number of committee members herein provided.

The Committee on Appropriations, the Committee on Highways and the Committee on Judiciary General shall each consist of twenty-one (21) Senators. All the other committees shall consist of fifteen (15) Senators each, except the Judiciary Special Committee, which shall be composed of nine (9) Senators, and the Committee on Executive Nominations and the Committee on Rules, which shall each have seven (7) Senators.

Duties of Members of Committees

24. Every member of a committee shall attend the call of the chairman, who shall be the first-named person on such committee; and in case of his neglect to call the committee together or in case of his absence by sickness or other cause, the committee shall attend the call of the next person named on the committee.

Rules in Committee of the Whole

25. The rules and proceedings of the Senate shall be observed, in the Committee of the Whole, excepting that a member may speak oftener than twice on the same subject. In Committee of the Whole, the previous question cannot be called, the yeas and nays required, nor can there be an appeal from the decision of the chairman.

Absence

26. No member shall absent himself without leave of the Senate, first obtained, unless prevented from attending by sickness, or other sufficient cause.

Files of the Senate

27. The files of the Senate may be inspected by the members, but no paper shall be withdrawn therefrom without the consent of the Senate.

Who Privileged to the Floor of the Senate

28. No person shall be admitted within the Senate Chamber (galleries excepted) during its sessions, unless invited by the President or a member of the Senate, except the members and officers of the two branches of the legislature, the Governor, heads of departments, ex-members of the Legislature, and stenographers to report proceedings of the Senate for publication, under the direction of the President pro tempore. No person or persons shall be permitted to occupy the seats of Senators or pass across the floor of the Senate when the Senate is in session; nor shall any person or persons, at any time, be permitted to enter the room of the transcribing clerks or pass before the President. All obstructions in, and passing across the enclosed space are prohibited.

Dispensing with Rules

29. The consent of a majority of the members elected shall be necessary to suspend any rule.

The consent of a majority of all members elected to the Senate shall be necessary to alter, change, or amend these rules.

Division of a Question

30. Any Senator may call for a division of a question, which shall be divided if it comprehends questions so distinct that one being taken away the rest may stand entire for the decision of the Senate. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

Reference of Bills

31. Every bill and joint resolution which may be received from the House of Representatives, or which may be read by a Senator in his place, shall, immediately after being presented to the chair, be referred by the President to the appropriate committee, unless otherwise ordered.

Character of Bills Read in Place, Et Cetera

32. No member shall read in place, nor shall any committee, either standing or select, report any bill for the action of the Senate, granting corporate powers in any case, when the authority of granting such powers has been conferred upon any of the courts of this Commonwealth; or proposing to legislate upon any of the subjects prohibited by the seventh section of the third article of the Constitution; or shall any bill be read in place, or reported from a committee, reviving, amending, or extending the provisions of any law, by reference to its title only, but the whole shall be re-enacted in words by such bill.

Committee of the Whole on a Bill on Third Reading

33. When the Senate shall resolve to go into Committee of the Whole on a bill on third reading, the question before the Senate, when the President shall have resumed the chair and the chairman of the committee has made a report, shall be, "Will the Senate agree to the report of the committee?"

Jefferson's Manual to Govern the Senate

34. The rules of the parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the Senate in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the Senate and the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

When Less Than a Quorum is Present

35. When, upon a call, which may be demanded by not less than four Senators, it is found that less than a quorum is present, it shall be the duty of the President to order the doors of the Senate to be closed, and to direct the clerk to call the roll of the Senate and note the absentees after which the names of the absentees shall be again called, and those for whose absence no excuse, or an insufficient excuse is made, may, by order of a majority of the Senators present, be sent for and taken into custody by the sergeant-at-arms, or his assistants appointed for the purpose, and brought before the bar of the Senate, where, unless excused by a majority of the Senators present, they shall be reproved by the President for neglect of duty.

When Less Than a Quorum Vote But Present

36. When less than a quorum vote upon any subject under the consideration of the Senate, not less than four Senators may demand a call of the Senate, when it shall be the duty of the President forthwith to order the doors of the Senate to be closed, the roll of the Senators to be called, and if it is ascertained that a quorum is present, either by answering to their names, or by their presence in the Senate, the President shall again order the yeas and nays, and if any Senator or Senators present refuse to vote, the name or names of such Senator or Senators shall be entered on the Journal as "present but not voting," and such refusal shall be deemed a contempt, and, unless purged, the President shall direct the Sergeant-at-arms to bring such Senator or Senators before the bar of the Senate, where he or they shall be publicly reprimanded by the President.

Prohibited Legislation

37. No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through the Senate as to change its original purpose. No bill shall be considered unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the members. No local or special bill shall be reported unless the same be accompanied by proof of the publication of the notice thereof, in accordance with law, and of section eight of article three of the Constitution; and proof of such publication shall be certified to by the President or secretary of the committee reporting the bill.

Executive Nominations

38. When nominations shall be made by the Governor to the Senate, they shall after being read by the Chief Clerk, without a motion, be referred by the presiding officer to appropriate committee (except nominations for Notaries Public and Commisisoners of Deeds which may be confirmed forthwith), and after having been reported by the committee, the final question on every nomination shall be: "Will the Senate advise and consent to this nomination?" Which question shall not be put on the day on which the nomination or nominations are reported from committee, unless by unanimous consent.

All information communicated or remarks made by a Senator when acting upon nominations in committee, concerning the character or qualifications of the person nominated, shall be kept secret. If, however, charges shall be made against a person nominated, the committee may, in its discretion notify such nominee thereof, but the name of the person making such charges shall not be disclosed.

When the consideration of executive nominations is reached in the order of business, a Senator may make a motion to go into executive session for the purpose of confirming the nominations which have been reported from a committee at a previous session and, if unanimous consent be given, also those which may be reported on the day the motion is made; and on the motion being agreed to, such nomination or nominations shall be considered the first order of the day until finally disposed of, unless the same shall be postponed by a majority of the Senate; but such business when once commenced shall not be postponed for more than five days, except in case of an adjournment of the Senate for a longer period.

When in executive session, no message shall be received from the Governor, unless it be relative to the nomination under consideration, nor from the House of Representatives, nor shall any other business be considered, except executive business, and the executive session shall not adjourn pending the consideration of the nomination until a time fixed by a majority vote or those present for the next meeting of the executive session to resume the consideration thereof.

When a nomination is confirmed or rejected by the Senate, any two Senators, voting with the majority, may move for a reconsideration on the same day on which the vote was taken, or on either of the next two days of actual session of the Senate; but if a notification of the confirmation or rejection of a nomination shall have been sent to the Governor before the expiration of the time within which a motion to reconsider may be made, the motion to reconsider shall be accompanied by a motion to request the Governor to return such notification to the Senate. A motion to reconsider the vote on a nomination may be laid on the table without prejudice to the nomination.

Resolutions

39. The following resolutions after they have been twice read, shall be referred to an appropriate committee, without debate (unles by unanimous consent the Senate shall otherwise direct) and if favorably reported by the committee, shall lie over one day for consideration, after which they may be called up as, of course, under their appropriate order of business:

All Senate and House concurrent resolutions, excepting resolutions in reference to adjournments and those recalling bills from the Governor which shall be regarded as privileged;

Resolutions containing calls for information from the heads of departments, or to alter the rules;

Resolutions giving rise to debate, except such as relate to the disposition of matters immediately before the Senate, such as relate to the business of the day on which they were offered, and such as relate to adjournment or taking a recess.

Lounging in Senate Prohibited

40. That the Librarian of the Senate be directed to keep the doors of the Senate chamber closed on Sunday to all persons except who are entitled under the twenty-eighth rule of the Senate; and that he be directed to call on any officer of the Senate to aid him in enforcing this order; and that on other days when the Senate is not in session the officers are hereby required to strictly prohibit any lounging within the Senate chamber by any person not connected with the Legislature, and that henceforth no officer be permitted to occupy the seat of a Senator at any time; that it shall be the duty of the President to see that this rule is enforced, and a persistent disregard of it by any officer shall be cause of dismissal by the President

Bills Requiring a Two-thirds Vote

41. When bills which require a two-thirds vote are under consideration, the concurrence of two-thirds of all the Senators elected shall not be requisite to decide any question or amendment short of the final question; and on any other question short of the final one, a majority of Senators voting shall be sufficient to pass the same.

Discharging Committees

42. No committee shall be discharged from consideration of any measure within ten calendar days of its reference without unanimous consent of the Senate or after such ten-day period except by majority vote of all members elected to the Senate.

Negative Bills

43. A majority of all the members elected to the Senate shall be required to place upon the calendar a bill reported with a negative recommendation.

Direction of Officers and Employes

44. All officers and employes of the Senate shall be subject to the order and direction of the Chief Clerk, who shall obey the direction and orders of the President and President pro tempore respectively, relative to the conduct of all business of the Senate.

Bills to Be Printed When Introduced, and Weekly Calendar Prepared

45. All bills when introduced in the Senate shall be numbered consecutively and printed on pink paper. A weekly History showing the status of all bills shall be prepared by the Secretary for the use of the Senate.

HOUSE MESSAGE

POSTAGE ON LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

Whereas, The Post Office Department has decided that the Legislative Journal must be third class matter and has so instructed the Postmaster at Harrisburg, therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Chief Clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives be directed to make arrangements for the necessary postage so that the Legislative Journal may be mailed according to the requirements of the Post Office Department, and that the payment of the postage for the Legislative Journal, also for the Bills, Calendars and Histories be provided for in the Appropriation Bill.

REASONS FOR PARDONS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 7, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons granted by me from May 6, 1940 to date.

ARTHUR H. JAMES

(For Reasons see Appendix)

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

NOTARIES PUBLIC

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, nominations for appointment as Notries Public which were laid on the table.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Nominations for appointment as Notaries Public, sent to the Senate, January 7, 1941 by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate now proceed to consideration of the nomination for Notaries Public, as I understand there are a large number of them and they should receive attention promptly.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not have a copy of the new rules and does not know the procedure governing this matter.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I have moved that we go into Executive Session to act on Notaries Public.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I have seconded the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. EDMONDS and Mr. MALLERY

That Rule 38 which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. EDMONDS and Mr. MALLERY

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his point of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry in regard to the new rules which provide that an exception is made in the case of nominations for Notaries Public and recorders of deeds, with respect to immediate reference to the Committee on Executive Nominations; the exception is that they may be considered forthwith and since we only go into Executive Committee for the purpose of considering nominations covered under the rule and since there is an exception made in the case of notaries public and recorders of deeds, I think it is merely the duty of the Senate, that is, members of the Senate, to vote on the question of confirmation and nothing else and I do not think an executive session has anything to do with these nominations now. At least, Mr. President, on an interpretation of the rule I do not think we have a right to do that.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I object to any vote until I have a copy of the rules before me so that I may know what the rule is.

The PRESIDENT. I think the position of the Senator from Fayette is proper.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the change in rule 38 simply is that instead of requiring that nominations for notary public and commissioners of deeds be referred to a committee, under the new rule we now confirm them at once, but it seems to me that notwithstanding it is not necessary to refer them to a committee nevertheless we have to go into executive session on a matter of a confirmation.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to have a copy of that rule before he makes any ruling.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that from now on, since the adoption of this rule, all that is necessary is to lay the nominations for Notaries Public on the table and the Senate may at any time take them up and consider them.

MOTION THAT MEMBERS OF THE SENATE BE FURNISHED WITH RULES OF SENATE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, while we are on this subject I move that the majority floor leader forthwith furnish the President pro tempore with a true and accurate copy of the rules under which we are supposedly functioning now and before the next session of this Senate that copies of those rules be printed and placed on the desk of each member of this Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. What disposition does the Senate wish to make of the Notaries Public.

MOTION THAT SENATE ADVISE AND CONSENT TO NOMINATIONS FOR NOTARIES PUBLIC AND COMMISSIONERS OF DEEDS

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate now advise and consent to the nominations for Notaries Public and Commissioners of Deeds which are now before the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The nominations were read as follows:

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT THE GOVERNOR TO THE HALL OF THE HOUSE

Mr. FREY, on behalf of Mr. STEVENSON, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That a committee of three on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee), to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the Hall of the House to address the Members of the General Assembly in Joint Session this day at 3:30 o'clock, pursuant to a resolution already adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives.

The President Pro Tempore appointed as said Committee on the part of the Senate the Senator from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor, and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

HOUSE MESSAGES

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT THE GOVERNOR TO THE HALL OF THE HOUSE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That a committee of three on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee), to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the Hall of the House to address the Members of the General Assembly in Joint Session this day at 3:30 o'clock, pursuant to a resolution already adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives.

INAUGURAL COMMITTEE FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Whereas, on January 20, 1941, the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt will be inaugurated as the President of the United States of America, and

Whereas, It is fitting and proper that a delegation represent the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the inaugural ceremonies, to be held in Washington at that time, now therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate is hereby authorized to appoint ten members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House is hereby authorized to appoint twenty Members of the House of Representatives, who together shall constitute a Joint Committee to represent the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to participate on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the inaugural ceremonies of the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The PRESIDENT. The President Pro Tempore appoints as said Committee on the part of the Senate, Senators Coleman, Dent, Deitrick, Haluska, McCreesh, McGinnis, McQuiddy, Miller, Mundy and Shapiro.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

APPOINTMENT OF TELLER ON THE PART OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Albert L. O'Conner, was appointed teller on the part of the House of Representatives to open, compute and count the vote for Auditor General and State Treasurer.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, January 13, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, January 13, 1941 at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 3:15 o'clock p. m.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would suggest that in view of the fact that it will take a little time for the Senators to assemble and march to the hall of the House that all Senators assemble here promptly at the hour stated.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 13, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 4:49 o'clock, p. m., until Monday, January 13, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 7, 1941

(At 11 a. m. Mr. O'Neill, senior Democratic member in length of service, from Lackawanna County, accompanied by Mr. Norman Wood, senior Republican member in length of service, from Lancaster County, made the following announcement in the Hall of the House.)

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution of Pennsylvania the Members-elect of this 134th regular session of the House of Representatives will meet this day at twelve o'clock noon, in the Hall of the House, for the purpose of organization.

The hour of 12 o'clock noon having arrived, Honorable William Ward, Jr., Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, called the Members-elect to order and announced, that

This being the day and hour fixed by Article 2, Section 4, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania for the meeting of the General Assembly, the House of Representatives will now come to order.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Walter Evans Deibler, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, Creator of us all, we humbly confess our faith in Thee. "Lord, Thou has been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or even Thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God." We thank Thee that the founders of our constitution confessed their faith in Thee and were grateful to Almighty God for civil and religious liberty. Their faith in the principles of democracy spurred them on to instill these ideals into the hearts of their children as God gave them to see the right. We thank Thee, O God, that the blessings of liberty have been secured to us, their posterity. Ours is a noble heritage. Ours is the responsibility to guide the Ship of State over many rough uncharted seas.

We invoke Thy divine blessings upon us as a land and nation, upon the President of the United States and all in authority.

Grant, we beseech Thee, O God, to bless our Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Governor and this General Assembly. As these representatives of the people meet from time to time to enact laws for our good, may they receive Thy blessing, O God, and may Thy Holy Word be "a lamp unto their feet and a light unto their pathway." Grant unto members both old and new of this Assembly the courage to dignify the high honor bestowed upon them. Bless the Speaker of this House and all who serve with him that their work may be done well.

May every citizen be ready to labor hard and long in this time of world crisis that our beloved nation may continue to guarantee to us as human beings the simple, decent rights that God must have intended human beings to enjoy.

And grant us, O God, the anxiety that we may constantly pray the prayer of old we so well loved.

"Our Fathers' God to Thee,
Author of Liberty,
To Thee we sing:
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King."

Amen.

The CHIEF CLERK. Two hundred eight Members-elect having answered to their names a quorum is present. The House is now ready to proceed to business.

RESOLUTION

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

Mr. SKALE, a Member-elect, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That the Hon. Gerald F. Flood a judge, learned in the law of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, be requested to administer the oath of office required by Article VII, of the Constitution to be taken by the Members-elect of the House of Representatives.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT HON. GERALD F. FLOOD TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK appointed Messrs. Skale and David P. Reese to escort the Hon. Gerald F. Flood to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the Members-elect.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. A Bible will be found in the desk of each member for those who swear by the Bible.

The Members-elect will rise and remain standing at their desks during the administration of the oaths and affirmations.

The oath of office was then administered to all the Members-elect.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Mr. MELCHIORRE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article II, Section 9, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House do now proceed to the election of a Speaker and that the clerks act as tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Chief Clerk and Members of the House, this day is an important one in the lives of many of us, and it is especially important to those members of this House who have just been sworn to perform their duty to this Commonwealth. It is important to all persons in the hall of this House, because they look upon us as those who shall guide the destinies of this great Commonwealth during the next session of this House, which this day started, to put Philadelphia, and to put Pittsburgh, and the other great cities of this Commonwealth and the Commonwealth itself in that high position which it so richly deserves as a part of this great nation.

In the deliberations of this House, it is necessary and it is vital that we do not overlook the fact that the relationship between the members of this House, those who deliberate in its committees and those who take part in the deliberations on the floor, shall have as their leader in the Chair, as Speaker of this House, a person who is endowed with the very essential, everyday precepts of fair play and honesty toward the citizens of Pennsylvania and his fellow members.

I am very proud to stand here today and on behalf of the members on this side of the House, and on behalf of Philadelphia, place in nomination one of our members from Philadelphia who in my estimation best typifies and exemplifies the great wealth of human understanding and sympathy which I believe the occupant of that position should have. I want to present to this House for its consideration a man who is a veteran in the government service, having served his nation in time of war, a man who has been an outstanding citizen of Philadelphia, who has served in its communal work, a veteran in these legislative halls, and one whom we all by our experience and contact have come to know as a friendly gentleman and as a friend.

It is with great pleasure, Mr. Chief Clerk and Members of this House, that I place in nomination for the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Honorable Elmer Kilroy.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Chief Clerk, it has been my privilege and honor to serve under a number of Speakers of this House and in every instance I can truthfully say that each Speaker has had some marked ability that has commended him to me. The man whose nomination I am seconding also has marked ability, particularly in the field of friendship and affability, which is so essential and necessary for the serene operation of any House. I do not mena, however, to say that that alone constitutes his ability. During his service, particularly in this House in 1937, when he was Chairman of the Highways Committee, I felt he did a real job for the city of Philadelphia, particularly in relation to their highways, by receiving and having passed legislation that made it possible for Philadelphia to receive material assistance from the state of Pennsylvania. The Democratic party in winning this election naturally turns to Philadelphia, which contributed no small part to that success, and Philadelphia in turn just naturally gravitates to Elmer Kilroy as their choice for Speaker.

Mr. Chief Clerk, it gives me great pleasure to second the nomination of Elmer Kilroy as Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Chief Clerk and Members of the House, I nominate Ellwood Jackson Turner for the high office of Speaker of this House of Representatives. During the past two years he has served as Speaker of this House. During that time, he exhibited the same sterling qualities that were possessed by his many able predecessors, and demonstrated his knowledge of parliamentary procedure.

He has been eminently fair; he recognized the rights of the minority and the privileges and responsibilities of the majority. But that is not all. He more than met the high standards of his able predecessors. Because of his long and varied experience as a member of this body, he brought to the Chair an understanding of the government of this state such as has been possessed by few men in its entire history. By force of his personality he gave the Chair a "new high" in personal dignity. By his quick wit and jovial nature, he maintained an unprecedented degree of friendliness and cooperation. By his punctuality, his courage, his patience and his determination he raised the decorum of this House until it could be favorably compared with any deliberative body in the world. He has a firm belief in the importance and independence of the Legislature as a coordinate branch of the Commonwealth, and an equally firm conviction that its importance and independence must be recognized, understood and appreciated by the public and the other branches of the government, if the democracy which we all love is to survive. He has devoted his energies toward securing that recognition and appreciation by forcefully insisting upon the rights of the Legislature and raising the efficiency of the Legislature which gave it a dignity which demanded respect. Above all he has devoted his time, his energy and his ability to the service of this Commonwealth as no Speaker of the House has ever before done. The result of his efforts are measured in better working facilities, new habits of punctuality, recognition of the rights and privileges of the individual Members of this House, better decorum, more efficiency and greater dignity.

For these reasons, Ellwood Jackson Turner is the choice of the Republican Members of this House for Speaker.

Mr. SCTOCKHAM. Mr. Chief Clerk, I rise to second the nomination of Ellwood Jackson Turner and to express to the Members of this House all those sentiments which Mr. Woodside has so well worded and phrased.

Mr. Turner has been an inspiration to all of us of the Republican party, and I believe has been by his fairness an inspiration even to those of the minority party who were here during the last session of this Legislature.

It is a privilege and it is an honor for me to second the nomination of Ellwood Jackson Turner for the Republican side.

Mr. POWERS. Mr. Chief Clerk, I move that nominations for Speaker of the House be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER MADE UNANIMOUS

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Chief Clerk, in view of the fact that the majority of the House cast their votes for my good colleague, Elmer Kilroy, I move that the election be made unanimous.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Chief Clerk, I second that motion.

The motion was agreed to and Mr. Kilroy received the unanimous vote of the House.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SPEAKER-ELECT TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair appoints Messrs. Turner and Reuben E. Cohen as a committee to escort the Speaker-elect to the rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. Members of the House, I have the extreme honor to present to you the Honorable Elmer Kilroy Speaker-elect of this House of Representatives.

The oath of office was then administered to Honorable Elmer Kilroy, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives by the Honorable Gerald F. Flood.

THE SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) IN THE CHAIR

ADDRESS OF THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Fellow Members: First a plain old-fashioned "Thanks." As the poem says "Thoughts are things. . . ." I remember when I first took my seat in this chamber, how impressed I was by the setting and how when the Speaker opened the House I had this fleeting thought, I would like to have friends enough and the ability to hold the position one day that you have so graciously just conferred on me.

I fully realize the importance of the office. I know the responsibilities that attend it and how difficult it will be to live up to my predecesors. Ellwood Turner filed the Chair with dignity and distinction. As a matter of fact, I think I can safely say without fear of contradiction that he filled it in a bigger way—I mean per square inch—than Furman or Sarig. But, seriously, all these men have been a credit to themselves, their party and their constituents, and if at the expiration of my term I can bring down the curtain with the knowledge that I have upheld the tradition of the office, I will indeed be happy.

I need not tell you that I am somewhat scared in my new task. I approach my duties with apprehension because my capabilities in this direction are somewhat limited but then you have seen me operate and knew what to expect when you voted for me.

I am not going to try to set the world on fire. I am not going to suddenly assume a superior attitude and be stiffened by the importance of the position I hold. I am the same fellow that you knew in the last session and the sessions preceding that.

I like to keep my friends and flatter myself that I have a great many on the other side of the House who know that I will play the game according to the rules. Those of you on the minority can feel certain that you will be as safe in my hands as the Democrats were in Ellwood Turner's.

Seriously again, let me say that we all want to remember that, Democrats or Republicans, we are first and foremost Americans. If we have differences in the House, we must not let those differences become so magnified that we cannot be friends.

NOMINATIONS FOR CHIEF CLERK

Mr. BONEY offered the following resolution which was read by the Clerk:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That Thomas J. Callahan of Luzerne County, be elected Chief Clerk of this House of Representatives.

Mr. MUNLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move the nominations be now closed.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. There being but one nomination Mr. Thomas J. Callahan is declared elected Chief Clerk of the House.

NOMINATIONS FOR SECRETARY

Mr. GERARD offered the following resolution which was read by the Clerk.

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That Mr. Dennis J. Mulvihill of Allegheny County be elected Secretary of this House of Representatives.

Mr. MATTHEW J. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I move the nominations be now closed.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. There being but one nomination Mr. Dennis J. Mulvihill is declared elected Secretary of the House.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The oath of office was then administered to Thomas J. Callahan, Chief Clerk-elect and Dennis J. Mulvihill, Secretary-elect of the House of Representatives by the Honorable Gerald F. Flood.

The SPEAKER. The Chair extends the thanks of the House to the retiring Chief Clerk of this House, Mr. William Ward, Jr., for his efficient cooperation in the organization of this House.

REMARKS BY HON. WILLIAM WARD, JR.

Mr. WARD. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, to the members who I knew and the members with whom I have since become acquainted, my thanks for the generous treatment which I have received during the past two years. I have much enjoyed the work, I am of course retiring for the moment. Some might say that the "Wards" are dead, but I believe in the resurrection of the dead and the "Wards" are coming back.

It is gratifying indeed and a pleasure to me to know that as I leave, I leave the office of Chief Clerk in the hands of an able and courteous gentleman who has served you before and I know you will thoroughly enjoy your companionship with him. So with thanks indeed and until we meet again, goodbye.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to thank the retiring Secretary of the House, Bill Roan.

Mr. ROAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have had the pleasure of serving as a member of this House as well as the pleasure of serving you as Secretary. I have enjoyed it. I thank you very much for your cooperation, and at any time in the future I will be very glad to be at your service. Thank you.

RESOLUTION

THANKING HONORABLE GERALD F. FLOOD FOR ADMINISTERING OATH

Mr. BROWN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives do hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable Gerald F. Flood of Philadelphia County, for his services in administering the oath of office to its Members and officers.

RESOLUTION

The following shall be added as a Standing Committee of the House, under the provisions of this Rule:

Congressional and Judicial Apportionment to consist of 20 Members.

The membership designated for all Standing Committees of the House shall be in addition to the Chairman and Vice Chairmen thereof.

NOTIFICATION FROM SENATE

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, I present a committee on the part of the Senate.

Mr. DEITRICK. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to inform you that the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is duly organized and ready to proceed with the business of the session.

The SPEAKER. The Chair receives with thanks the message of the Committee on the part of the Senate.

RESOLUTION

NOTIFICATION TO SENATE

Mr. LOVETT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House of Representatives is organized and ready to proceed with the business of the session.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER appointed as a committee to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is organized and ready to proceed with business Messrs. Lovett, McDermott and Trout.

NOTIFICATION TO GOVERNOR

Mr. MALLOY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth and inform him that the House of Representatives is organized and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER appointed as a committee to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House is organized and ready to receive communications Messrs. Malloy, Readinger and Stockham.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the committee to convey to His Excellency, the Governor, his personal thanks, and the appreciation of the democratic membership of the House of Representatives for his gracious act in changing the time at which he originally desired to address the General Assembly, from 7 o'clock p. m. to 3:30 p. m. today, so that it would not conflict with the hour set for the Democratic Victory Dinner. In doing this, the Governor cancelled arrangements for a direct broadcast of his address, and it is very much appreciated. The committee will proceed in the performance of its duties.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

PARLIAMENTARIAN APPOINTED

The SPEAKER in compliance with the Act of the General Assembly approved the 28th day of May, 1931, as amended, appointed S. Edward Moore, of Cumberland County, Parliamentarian.

SECRETARY TO SPEAKER APPOINTED

The SPEAKER in compliance with the Act of the General Assembly approved the 2nd day of July, 1937, P. L. 2765, appointed Helen A. Kelly, Secretary to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, to preside.

MR. TURNER IN THE CHAIR

SENATE MESSAGES

TELLER APPOINTED

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Bartlett, be appointed Teller on the part of the Senate to open, compute and count the vote for Auditor General and State Treasurer.

POSTAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 7, 1941.

Whereas, the Post Office Department has decided that the Legislative Journal must be third class matter and has so instructed the Postmaster at Harrisburg, therefore be it

Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur) That the Chief Clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives be directed to make arrangements for the necessary postage so that the Legislative Journal may be mailed according to the requirements of the Post Office Department and that the payment of the postage for the Legislative Journal, also for bills, calendars and histories be provided for in the Appropriation bill.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER (Mr. Kilroy) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, for honoring us in presiding.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I ask the indulgence of the House to call attention to the fact that for a number of months the staff of the Joint State Government Commission has been gathering a great amount of material, not only bearing directly upon the studies which the different sub-committees have been making, but upon many other subjects of interest to the members of the legislature. I believe that most of the older members of the legislature know of the work of the Joint State Government Commission. If any of the members have any questions or if there is any information which they desire to secure in reference to legislation which they want to introduce, if they will go to the Joint State Government Commission's room, which at the present time is on the third floor of the Capitol, but which during the next week or ten days will be moved, possibly to the first floor they will be only too willing to assist you. To those members especially who are serving for the first time I would like to offer as you have the right to have, the services of the staff of the Joint State Government Commission, and access to the data which they have gathered. They may not be able to answer all of your questions readily, they may not have the material which you need for the purposes of your legislation, but on the other hand I believe that you can there find a lot of assistance and help, and if they have the data, it may short-cut your work and enable you to secure the information you desire more quickly and more accurately than you could gather it in your own behalf.

It is for that reason that I asked for the opportunity to call this matter to your attention at the present time.

RESOLUTION

DUTIES OF THE HOUSE EMPLOYES

Mr. ACHTERMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Whereas, the laws of the Commonwealth provide for the election by the members of the House of various employes, but fail to define the duties of such employes, and

Whereas, the dispatch of the business of the House requires that these duties should be prescribed by the House in order to enable the Chief Clerk to make the proper assignments and supervise the work of the employes, therefore be it

Resolved that the employes designated by this resolution by title of the position, shall be assigned by the Chief Clerk and shall perform the duties directed by this resolution.

Sergeants-At-Arms. The Chief Sergeants-at-Arms shall have the immediate charge of the chief assistant and assistant sergeant-at-arms. It shall be the duty of the sergeants-at-arms to police the Hall of the House of Representatives and the approaches thereto, to maintain order and decorum during the sessions of the House, to pick bills and insert them in the files on the members desks, and to have charge of and operate the House bill file room where bills are delivered, picked and made available for general distribution. It shall be the duty of the Chief Clerk to divide the force of sergeants-at-arms in such manner so that a sufficient number shall at all times be assigned to police duty and a sufficient number to the House bill file room and the work in connection therewith in picking, filing and distributing bills, resolutions, calendars, histories and journals. Sergeants-at-arms, assigned to policing the House shall wear uniforms furnished by the Chief Clerk.

Clerks to Committees. The clerks to committees shall be competent and experienced stenographers or stenotypists, each of whom shall be assigned, by the Chief Clerk, to serve particular committees. It shall be the duty of the clerks to committees to act as clerks to the committees to which they have been assigned, act as a secretary to the chairman and vice-chairman of said committees, when not otherwise engaged, assist stenographers of the House with correspondence of the members, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the Chief Clerk of the House.

Transcribing Clerks. The personnel of the transcribing room shall be in the immediate charge of the chief official reporter of the House under the supervision of the Chief Clerk. It shall be the duty of the Journal Clerk, assistant Journal Clerk, House message clerk and other personnel assigned to the transcribing room by the Chief Clerk, to keep the Joural of the House, type titles to bills, prepare and deliver communications between the two Houses, and perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Chief Clerk and the Chief Official Reporter.

Legislative Joural Personnel. The personnel engaged in the publication of the Legislative Journal shall be in the immediate charge of the Chief Official Reporter under the supervision of the Chief Clerk.

History Clerk. It shall be the duty of the History Clerk to compile the weekly history of legislation of the House which shall contain such information as may be prescribed by the Chief Clerk and to which shall be attached a complete index of all bills and resolutions introduced. The History shall be compiled by the History Clerk in the Legislative Reference Bureau in order that the records of said office and of the History shall be in accord and errors in transcribing be detected. In the compilation of the History, the History Clerk shall have stenographic assistance assigned by the Chief Clerk.

Reading Clerks. It shall be the duty of the Reading Clerks to be present at each session of the House, read bills, resolutions, amendments, messages, communications and other matter and make announcements from the desk of the House. The assistant reading clerk shall arrange and keep a schedule of committee meetings so as to avoid conflicts of meetings in the same committee room. The Reading Clerk shall perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Chief Clerk.

Desk Clerks. The desk clerks shall be learned in the law. It shall be the duty of the desk clerks to read all prints of bills and resolutions to detect errors in printing and substance, arrange for the correction of printing errors without the necessity for formal amendment, call to the attention of the sponsors of bills, errors of substance, and aid and assist in amending bills and preparing copy for the printer.

The desk clerks shall be assigned by the Chief Clerk to work under the supervision of the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Assistant Clerk and Chief Stenographer to Chief Clerk. It shall be the duty of the assistant clerk and chief stenographer to the Chief Clerk to prepare the calendars of the House, prepare copy of bills for the printer, be responsible for the correct insertion of amendments to bills and in such work to have the assistance of the desk clerks working under the supervision of the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and to perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Secretary of the House.

Post Office Employes. It shall be the duty of the postmaster, assistant postmaster and messengers in the post office to secure, receive and distribute the mail of the members and officers of the House and place the same in the letter boxes assigned to said persons. It shall be the duty of the Chief Clerk to assign at least two assistant messengers who shall attend the battery of telephone booths which shall be for the exclusive use of House members and its officers.

Pasters and Folders. It shall be the duty of the pasters and folders to prepare for mailing and to mail out bills, resolutions, calendars, histories and legislative journals under the direction of the Chief Clerk.

Superintendent of Store Room. The superintendent of the Store Room in addition to his duties as superintendent of the Store Room, shall under the direction and control of the Chief Clerk, supervise the work of the pasters and folders.

The Custodians of the House and Committee Rooms. The custodians of the House shall perform duties assigned to them by the Chief Clerk, in the Hall of the House, caucus chambers, committee rooms, store rooms, cloakrooms and to assist in picking bills and filing them on the members desks.

Pages. The pages shall be in attendance at each session of the House. It shall be the duty of the pages to perform the duties on the floor of the House assigned to them by the Chief Clerk. Sufficient pages shall be assigned to committee rooms while committees are in session to act as messengers, one page shall be assigned during sessions of the House to the Legislative Reference Bureau for the delivery of papers. The pages shall assist sergeants-at-arms in filing bills on the desks of members and perform such other duties as the Chief Clerk may require.

Resolved, that it shall be the duty of the Chief Clerk to bring to the attention of the Speaker in order that the same may be laid before the Committee on Rules, any case of improper conduct, insubordination or failure or refusal of employes to perform their duties as prescribed by this resolution or required to be performed by the Chief Clerk.

COMMITTEE DISCHARGED

Mr. MALLOY. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency the Governor and advise him that the House is organized and ready to receive communications has performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Chair receives the report and the Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

RESOLUTION

PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURAL COMMITTEE

Mr. ACHTERMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Whereas, on January 20, 1941, the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt will be inaugurated as the President of the United States of America, and

Whereas, It is fitting and proper that a delegation represent the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the inaugural ceremonies, to be held in Washington at that time, now therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate is hereby authorized to appoint ten Members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House is hereby authorized to appoint twenty Members of the House of Representatives, who together shall constitute a Joint Committee to represent the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to participate on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the inaugural ceremonies of the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HONORABLE EDWARD J. FLYNN PRESENTED TO HOUSE

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair wishes at this time to present to the House the Honorable, Edward J. Flynn, Democratic National Chairman.

The Chair hears none.

Mr. Flynn is my personal guest today, and I would request that he address you at this time.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly, I am indeed honored by the great distinction your Speaker has conferred upon me in permitting me to talk to you this morning. It takes me back twenty-five years to the time when I was a member of the Assembly of the State of New York. As I sat here today and saw this House being organized, it took me back twenty-five years to a time when I was much younger and had much more hair, and I realized the impressiveness of the occasion.

The Assembly was organized in New York the same as it was organized here, in a spirit of love and peace making, but unfortunately that love does not continue much beyond the first day. I noticed that the minority leader, who was formerly the Speaker, while he was very gracious and very nice today, I am afraid that tomorrow his tune will change.

I want to thank the Speaker, and I want to thank this distinguished body for the opportunity of being with you this morning.

COMMITTEE DISCHARGED

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker your Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is organized and ready to proceed with the business of the session has performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Chair receives the report and the Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

CONNIE MACK PRESENTED TO HOUSE

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair wishes to present his personal and life long friend, Connie Mack. The Chair hears none.

Mr. Mack is my personal guest today, and I will request him to say a few words to you.

Mr. MACK. Members of the House, ladies and gentlemen, I don't know why I should feel so nervous, the Yankees are not here. I consider it a great honor to be here today, when your members were so kind as to elect my good friend, Elmer Kilroy, as Speaker of the House. I only hope that as your Speaker he will handle this gavel as well as his father used to handle that baseball. Thank you.

COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER. The Chair advises the House that in addition to the Speaker, the Committee on Committees is comprised of the following members: Messrs. Readinger, Bois, Malloy, Melchiorre, Chervenak, Lovett, Achterman, Turner, Trout and Fiss.

RESOLUTION

THANKS EXTENDED

Mr. ACHTERMAN offered the following resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1931.

During the time that has intervened since the adjournment of the regular session of this House, new, enlarged and more adequate quarters have been secured for the Chief Clerk of the House, and for those officers and employes connected with his office.

Sufficient and adequate rooms have been assigned for the use of House committees, and the House Caucus Room on the first floor of this building has been recovered and restored to its original condition for the use of the members.

The poorly arranged suite, formerly used by the Speaker of the House, has been made more modern and efficient.

All of these changes should result in the increased comfort of those who will use them, and the better performance of the work of this House.

These improvements have been largely secured through the persistent and untiring efforts of the Hon. Ellwood J. Turner, former Speaker of the House, who, through long months, has unstintingly given of his time and efforts to provide a better workshop for this House and its officers and employes, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the 1941 session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extend to the former Speaker, the Hon. Ellwood J. Turner, their full thanks for his efforts in their behalf and in appreciation of what he has accomplished, and be it further Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the Journal and that a copy thereof shall be furnished to the said Hon. Ellwood J. Turner.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The CHAIR recognized the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have so many times this morning taken part in these proceedings that I rather hestitate on a resolution of this kind to rise to say anything further.

The resolution refers to office and quarters of the Chief Clerk and the Speaker of the House as well as additional committee rooms, but I think one improvement was omitted from the resolution as I heard it read from the desk, which was a great disappointment I am sure to the present Speaker and many of the Members of the House, and that is the addition of a rest room and locker room for lady members of the House. I was perhaps unduly optimistic in the minds of a great many people, because not only did I provide quarters for lady members of the House, but I refurbished and provided what has been said by many officials on the Hill to be the finest offices occupied by the head of any Department of the government.

This morning you made reference to the manner in which I took care of the Democrats. That seemed to arouse some amusement on the part of my colleagues, but I can assure my colleagues that you were sincere when you said that, and I think they failed to realize the truth of the statement that I did provide well for the Democrats in the beautiful offices which you now occupy. I have received many compliments on those beautiful offices. The Press of Pennsylvania in the last few months has had very little to write about, and perhaps being unable to find anything else to write about, took great delight in talking about the offices which I had kindly provided for the Democrats.

I assure you that the heighth of that compliment was achieved yesterday when I happened to meet, as I left the Capitol the Chairman of the Democratic party of the city of Philadelphia, the Honorable John B. Kelly, who gracefully doffed his hard hat, introduced me to a very charming lady and thanked me for the offices which I had fixed up for you. It has been a work of love, it has been a great enjoyment to me to fix them up, and having taken such good care of the Democrats I hope I have set an example for them and that when they leave those offices in January of 1943, they will leave them improved for my colleagues who come after me.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTIONS

Messrs. HEWITT and McMILLAN offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Born in Duffington Township, Indiana County, on the 22d day of August, 1862, Honorable J. T. Stewart, a member during the Sessions of 1935, 1937 and 1939, died on October 7th, 1940, after having spent the greater part of his life of 78 years in the service of his fellowmen.

He was the son of James and Elizabeth Jane Stewart, and a grandson of Major James Stewart, who was born in the same township in 1796. He was educated in the public schools of Indiana County and graduated from the Indiana State Teachers College and Ada University in Ohio.

His personal business was that of an insurance agent, but most of his active life was spent in some capacity relating to the public schools. He was superintendent of schools in Indiana County from 1899 to 1908, and taught public school in his home county for twelve terms. He was superintendent of the Bible School of the First United Presbyterian Church for 17 years, State Deputy of Weights and Measures from 1927 to 1934, secretary of the Board of the Y. M. C. A. of Indiana for 10 years, and was the author of a history of Indiana County.

During his term as a member of this House, he devoted most of his time to the interests of the public schools of the Commonwealth, and was an authority on the law relating thereto. Mr. Stewart left to survive him, his wife, Genevieve Morrison Stewart, and five children; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of the Honorable J. T. Stewart, the County of Indiana has lost an outstanding citizen and the public school system has been deprived of the services of one who devoted most of his life to its interests; and be it further

Resolved, That the House extends its sincere sympathy to Mrs. Stewart, and to the children of the deceased, and directs that a copy of this resolution be printed in the Legislative Journal and a copy thereof transmitted to them by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Messrs. GATES and HELM offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

The Honorable Frank J. Atkins, a Member of this House from Armstrong County, died on the 28th day of July, 1940. He was born in West Newton, Armstrong County, April 16th, 1887, and was educated in the public schools of Monongahela, Kittanning Academy and Grove City College.

After his graduation he became engaged in the practice of law in Armstrong County, and continued as an active practitioner until the time of his death. He served as a Member of this House during the 1935, the 1937 and 1939 Sessions. He was married to the former Laura Montgomery, who, together with two children, survive him; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Honorable Frank J. Atkins, his constituents in Armstrong County have lost the services of a representative who was an outstanding Member of this House; and be it further

Resolved, That this House extends to his wodow its sincere sympathy and directs that a copy of this resolution be printed in the Legislative Journal, and a copy thereof be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to Mrs. Laura Montgomery Atkins.

Mr. BAKER offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

The Honorable Thomas D. Malone, a Member of this House during the Sessions of 1909 and 1939, died on the 9th day of July, 1940. Our former Member was born in Pittsburgh on the 1st day of November, 1875, was educated in the public schools of Pittsburgh, and followed the profession of a paper ruler.

During his terms of service in this House, he faithfully and capably represented the interests of his constituents and through his genial personality endeared himself to those with whom he associated. He leaves to survive him, Mrs. Marjorie Ellen Ward Malone; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of the Honorable Thomas D. Malone, the people of his legislative district have been deprived of the service of a useful public servant and this House has lost the companionship of an able and affable Member; and be it further

Resolved, That this House extends its heartfelt sympathy to his widow and directs that this resolution be printed in the Legislative Journal and a copy thereof be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to his widow.

COMMUNICATION FROM SECRETARY OF COMMONWEALTH

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a communication in writing from the Secretary of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

PUBLICATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

No. 1

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article nine, section eight, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That article nine, section eight, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania is hereby amended to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any city, borough, township, school district or other municipality or incorporated district, except as provided herein and in section fifteen of this article, shall never exceed seven (7) per centum upon the average assessed value of the taxable realty therein for the nine years immediately preceding the time any debt is incurred or increased; and the debt of any county, other than Philadelphia, shall never exceed ten (10) per centum upon the average annual assessed value of the taxable realty therein for the nine years immediately preceding the time any debt is incurred or increased; and the debt of the City and County of Philadelphia shall never exceed twelve (12) per centum upon the average annual assessed value of the taxable realty therein for the nine years immediately preceding the time any debt is incurred or increased; nor shall any county, city, borough, township, school district or other municipality or incorporated district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such average annual assessed valuation of taxable realty for the nine immediately preceding years without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law.

In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of the City and County of Philadelphia at any time, there shall be deducted from such debt so much of the debt of said City and County as shall have been incurred or is about to be incurred and the proceeds thereof expended or about to be expended upon any public improvement or in the construction, purchase or condemnation of any public utility or part thereof or facility therefor, to the extent that such public improvement or public utility or part thereof, whether separately or in connection with any public improvement or public utility or part thereof, may yield or may reasonably be expected to yield revenue in excess of operating expenses sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund charges thereon.

The method of determining such amount so to be deducted may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness for any purpose, the City and County of Philadelphia may issue its obligations, maturing not later than fifty (50) years from date thereof, with provisions for a sinking fund sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity, the payment to such sinking fund to be in equal or graded annual or other periodical installments. Where any indebtedness shall be or shall have been incurred by said City and County of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvement of public works or utilities of any character from which income or revenue is to be derived by said City and County or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said City and County, such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of the interest and sinking fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred but not in excess of five years from the time of the incurring of such indebtedness, and said City and County shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking fund charges as required by section ten, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of said work.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Arthur H. James.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The Chair has the pleasure of presenting the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Honorable Arthur H. James, who will address the Joint Assembly.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR ARTHUR H. JAMES

GOVERNOR ARTHUR H. JAMES: Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

This session of the Legislature meets at a critical period.

Our country is in the midst of a race against the clock to complete our defense program in time to protect our homes, our possessions and our civilization.

President Roosevelt has pleaded for united action aimed at two objectives: first, military security at the earliest possible moment; second, continued peace, if we can maintain it.

I can see no proper room for disagreement on anyone's part with those two objectives.

The steps to be taken nationally, and the decision on the various issues involved, are subjects for further discussion between Congress and the Chief Executive, and I shall not refer to them.

The question which concerns us is:

"What can Pennsylvania do to speed up the defense program?"

That problem transcends any political issues within our State.

I call upon the members of this Legislature to give that problem the unity of purpose and action which already have been urged by the President of the United States.

Until our crisis is met, political hatchets must be buried. We must have an armistice on the political battlefronts.

I am not trying to further any program of my own. I have no "must" bills. I am now and will remain fully open to alternative suggestions for any recommendations I make. I hope to see not my own ideas but the best ideas prevail during this legislative session.

Neither am I seeking a truce to investigation or criticism. Both are welcome. Our record speaks for itself. Our books are open.

I ask unified advancement of defense because I believe such unity is our urgent need in saving state and nation from the disasters that have fallen on so many peoples abroad who allowed domestic wrangles to prevent their joining hands against mutual dangers.

Further, I fully expect that such unity will be gladly granted. I am convinced that cooperation and harmony will keynote this session in the solution of all problems relating to national defense.

Let us take stock of Pennsylvania's position:

We are fully prepared for any calls for soldiers. Our superb National Guard unit, the Twenty-eighth Division, is ready for active service later this winter. Our Selective Service machinery has been completed on a wholly non-political basis, step by step ahead of the national schedule, and has functioned efficiently without bottlenecks and breakdowns. Now that we are approaching the time for calling out thousands of draftees each month, everything is ready to examine and certify whatever number of young men the United States Army is prepared to receive.

Two other important steps will be taken the moment developments warrant. One is organization of a State-wide Council of Defense, and the other is formation of a militia or home guard whenever our National Guard's services are lost to the state.

Several State departments already are virtually on a war footing in the extent to which they are participating in the defense program. The first is the Department of Military Affairs. Another is the Department of Agriculture, which has mobilized the agricultural resources of the state in preparation for any emergency. A third is the Department of Health, which, in addition to its new programs for the control of pneumonia, cancer, social disease and maternal and child care which have brought the public service of this department to an unparallelled level, also is in full cooperation with federal authorities in the examination and protection of young men now being drafted into military service.

The baby of our family, the Department of Commerce, which was created less than two years ago but which already has amply demonstrated the State's need for such a function of government, has been an active partner of the federal authorities in finding and opening new avenues for the creation of defense supplies.

In fact, I do not know of any branch of this Administration which has not thrown its shoulder behind the defense program. Time will not permit an exhaustive survey on this occasion. I hope to make a detailed report in the near future.

Pennsylvania, both industrially and officially, has been in the forefront in rearming Uncle Sam. No state has moved faster or gone further. Nevertheless, it is my duty today to tell you that we have barely started. Much more remains to be done.

President Roosevelt has called upon America to become the Arsenal of Democracy. To accomplish that, Pennsylvania must become the Arsenal of America.

Before the defense program of the nation can reach full speed, activity in Pennsylvania must be one hundred per cent of our capacity.

This is the task for which I ask the most active attention and diligence of this legislative body—to put the wheels of Pennsylvania industry into higher gear. Together, let's release the brakes and take out the sprags.

America cannot buy Preparedness and Security with dollars any more than we were able to buy our way out of the Depression into Prosperity.

We can't buy preparedness. We must earn it,—earn it by cooperation and by laying luxury and easy living on the altar of sacrifice.

There are three Pennsylvania yardsticks to measure the progress of the national defense program. One is coal and another is steel. Both industries have increased, but neither is near top production. Until those two vital industries are at maximum capacity, rearmament will lag.

A third yardstick is the number of idle factories.

We have in this State enough factory buildings whose windows are still dark to unblock any conceivable bottleneck in the national program.

Our Department of Commerce recently listed the large idle factory buildings available for this purpose. They found forty million square feet of working space.

The survey found 111 unused buildings of more than 100,000 square feet, and 259 idle factories with between 25,000 and 100,000 square feet. Many hundred smaller buildings were omitted from the list.

Mind you, these are complete, usable factories, in such good condition that almost everything needed to put them in operation would be to unlock the doors and tear down the signs which read: "Closed; no help wanted."

What can be done to reopen them? Undoubtedly, some of the impetus must come from Federal authorities.

To pave the way for such increased participation by Pennsylvania industry in the National Defense Program, as well as to establish better relations between Federal activities and those of the State Government, I am directing our Department of Commerce to establish a branch office in the National Capitol.

This Legislature has within its power much which will help unlock these doors of our idle mills. Conversely it has within its power courses of action which would nail those doors forever shut.

Perhaps the most important field concerns the relations of the working man and the employer.

Much has been said about the labor record of this Administration. What are the facts? Your present Chief Executive was elected on a pledge of setting up the Administration as the impartial friends of both capital and labor—and on the companion promise to prevent rule by either overlords of labor or overlords of industry.

The changes in our laws were in accordance with those pledges. What did we do?

First, we banned sitdown strikes. Is there anyone who would repeal that statute, and pave the way for sitdown strikers on defense jobs?

Second, we permitted employers as well as employes to appeal to the Labor Relations Board. Does anyone deny the fairness of that change?

Third, we strengthened the law to protect valid labor contracts once they had been entered into. Do I hear anyone demanding that the right be given labor leaders to break the promises they make?

Fourth, we substituted a workable Compensation Act for one which everyone in the State knew was unenforceable. By that action, we have brought within the protection of Workmen's Compensation thousands upon thousands of Pennsylvanians who otherwise would have had no redress except to sue their employer—and then to hope that he could and would pay their award.

There may be amendments needed to the Act of 1939, but does anyone wish to return to the chaos and lack of protection which marked the 1937 Workmen's Compensation Act?

I have listed the important labor changes. These have given Pennsylvania the best labor relations it has had for years—fewer strikes, more harmony, better treatment, more jobs.

They produced results which have made them the model for virtually every suggested change in the National Labor Relations Board since the Pennsylvania laws went into effect. These Pennsylvania acts are setting the pace for labor legislation in virtually every section of the country.

It is because of the broad policy of the Administration, as carried out by these enactments, that this State has seen so few of the strikes and tie-ups on defense contracts which have slowed down production in others parts of the country.

In considering any proposed changes in these laws, I ask you to apply to them one acid test: would such changes speed up or slow down the defense program?

The rights of labor must be protected. So must the rights of employers. And so, let me emphasize, must the rights of the men and women of this nation to adequate and speedy rearmament.

There are certain suggestions I wish to make:

First, steps should be taken to end the reported labor rackets by which employes at certain defense contract operations are said to be fleeced of large parts of their earnings.

Second, emergency methods of arbitrating labor disputes affecting defense contracts could well be provided.

Third, an appropriation should be made to permit the State to pay claims awarded under the terms of the Occupational Disease Act.

Fourth, study should be given to the Unemployment Compensation Act with the thought of reducing the waiting period, increasing the number of payments, and otherwise liberalizing its terms.

Fifth, consideration should be given to the possibility of requiring companies which reject the Workmen's Compensation Act to furnish bonds proving their ability to pay injured employes.

Taking up other phases of the defense program, there are many fields in which this legislature can be of service.

As the nation's peril increases, so does our danger from the so-called fifth-columnists—the friends of our enemies who hope at the critical hour to cut us down from within. Any proper setps which you may take to lessen this danger will be of the greatest service.

A special appropriation of $100,000 might well be set aside, in the Department of Justice or under the control of some other branch or official of the government, to permit the secret investigations which are the only means of striking at the root of these secret activities.

Two further recommendations I wish to make are: first, that the oath of allegiance which I recently requested of all State employes be incorporated into law and made a condition of public employment or candidacy for public office; and second, that you take steps to bar from recognition as political parties any groups which seek to tear down our form of government by force or other methods not contemplated by our Constitution.

Another subject deserving of your attention is that of protecting the rights of draftees and volunteers. The benefit rights of men who enter the Army should be protected in the fields of unemployment compensation, insurance, foreclosure of mortgages, and all similar matters. Means also should be provided for assuring men called from employment into army service that upon their return the same jobs or equivalent jobs will be waiting for them.

The right of youth to employment has often been referred to. Our Department of Public Instruction now has under way a program of retraining, and plans the extension and enlargement of this work during the next biennium. May I urge upon you that you study this problem and do what you can to help train the unskilled hands which represent so pathetic a by-product of the long depression and are so severe a handicap to opening wide the throttle of rearmament. It should be emphasized that the urgent problem of training our young people is not a task merely for State and nation, but is one in which organized labor itself must assume its proper responsibility.

Military security without adequate highways is an impossibility in these days of mechanized armies.

We are fortunate that the economies and the correction of abuses in our Highway Department has freed funds enough to permit us to put our roads in a condition which today surpasses anything in the State's history.

Nevertheless, much remains to be done. The administration already is moving to attack three serious bottlenecks in our highway system, any of which would impede mobilization or military movements.

One of these is in Pittsburgh, where there has been worked out a program of improving the entrances to our western metropolis, with the cooperation of the federal authorities and the officials of the City of Pittsburgh and of Allegheny County. This program calls for the expenditure of between twenty and thirty million dollars of State funds in the next five years.

I am asking the Highway Department to organize a similar program for Philadelphia, calling for the use of ten million dollars of State funds each year for the next five years. With the impetus of this fifty millions of dollars, Philadelphia may receive, not only the critically needed approaches to the Delaware River Bridge, but also the opening of arterial highways so badly needed to the north, south and west.

Outside the metropolitan areas, the worst highway bottle-necks of the State are along the Susquehanna River. I am directing the Highway Department to proceed with surveys looking to new bridges at Millersburg and at Harrisburg.

Even as it exists today, the Pennsylvania Turnpike will be of considerable military value. For complete service, however, it is imperative that it be extended.

I ask you, therefore, to authorize the extension of this Dream Highway to the Ohio State line, as you already have authorized its construction to Philadelphia; and I further ask that you memorialize the Federal authorities, emphasing the importance of the completion of the eastern and western ends both for their domestic and their military value.

I ask also that at the same time you memorialize the Federal officials requesting, first, that the Skyline Drive be extended from its present northern terminus at Front Royal, Virginia, along the crest of Pennsylvania mountains, to the Delaware Water Gap, this work to be financed in this state as it has been in those in which it has been completed; and second, that the Federal government give consideration to a new superhighway for Pennsylvania to extend from our ocean port at Philadelphia to our lake port at Erie.

Mention of these matters brings up another subject to which I invite your serious attention. I refer to the rapid decrease in the return which Pennsylvania receives from the Federal government as compared with the contribution which the taxpayers of this State make to the nation.

The Pennsylvania Economy League, at my request, has completed a survey of Pennsylvania's contribution and what we receive for it. The figures show not only that our State is being heavily surcharged, but that the surcharge is growing by leaps and bounds.

In the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1938, after all deductions for direct grants, benefits and share of Federal expenditures and obligations has been charged off, the State still was paying $59,500,000 more than its share.

In the next year this shortage increased to $128,400,000. For the year which ended last June 30, the shortage had increased to $168,100,000, a total of $357,000,000 in three years, and an increase during that period of 183 per cent.

I do not charge that there is any policy on the part of the national administration of deliberately shortchanging Pennsylvania. Neither do I assert that any large industrial state should receive back all that it contributes. It is not the fact that some of the revenues from Pennsylvania are being expended for the benefit of other states that concerns me, but the rapid increase in the amount so expended, in the face of the tremendous needs in this Commonwealth.

We know where some of the shortage arises. Upwards of a hundred million dollars of it represents the amount withheld from us in the last two years by WPA.

As for the remainder, and the means of correcting this situation, I ask your cooperation. One speedy means of correction, of course, would be the embarking immediately by the Federal authorities upon the three major highway improvements I have mentioned.

Many other suggestions come to mind. Certain of these bear so closely upon our finances that I shall wait until I make my budget address to you early in February to submit them.

At that time also I shall go into detail about our financial picture. Today I will say only that, aside from a few imperative increases to permit us to open the remaining buildings put up by the General State Authority program and to extend critically needed subsidies, the financial pattern of the coming budget will be virtually identical with the present one, so far as administrative functions are concerned. We do not propose to swerve from the path of economy and thrift which we have cut through the wildernesss of waste and extravagance.

Relief needs bid fair to drop enough to absorb the remainder of the seventy-one and a half million dollars of inherited debts and unfinanced obligations with which this administration began. That would set the stage for drastic tax reductions at the end of the next two years. With good fortune and persistence, some of these reductions may become possible even before that date.

We can avoid new taxes at this legislative session, if we follow the pattern which is very clearly cut. As I have said before, if needless tax increases or new taxes are enacted, I shall veto them.

The State is not bankrupt, despite the loose talk. It is not going further into debt, but is on its way out of debt. Our financial strength was well shown recently when we sold $25,000,000 worth of tax anticipation notes at an interest rate of less than one fourth of one percent—the lowest interest rate in the history of the State.

For the enlargement and modernization of certain state institutions urgently in need of improvement, we already have arranged to use funds available through the General State Authority.

One of these is Byberry. The institutions at Polk and Pennhurst also will be included.

If the Authority funds permit, I propose the erection of a new Executive Mansion, so that the next Governor of Pennsylvania, whoever he may be, may have a residence in keeping with the State's respect for the dignity of the high position he holds.

Out of current State funds we plan to open enough new buildings to take care of the whole present waiting list of those needing the services of the State's sanitaria.

Mention of these unfortunates brings to mind another group of the State's dependents whose plight is rapidly becoming one of the most heart-rending of the problems before us.

I refer to the several hundred thousands of persons now living upon relief and who are, by reason of physical, emotional and other handicaps, unemployable in any program now in sight.

The present defense boom, and any future enlargement of it, cannot help the status of those who are unable to compete for the jobs thus opened up. Unless means can be found to aid these people into at least partial self-support, they are doomed to remain dependent upon relief, a dead weight upon the taxpayers of the State, and leading an existence without hope or future so far as the unfortunate men and women themselves are concerned.

Recent policies of the WPA have increased their misery. Seven thousand women ordinarily unemployable have been dismissed from WPA sewing projects, and twelve thousand more have been slated for firing at the end of this month.

This high-handed action, if completed, will not only cause needless suffering in thousands of Pennsylvania homes, but will arbitrarily raise the percentage of the State's contribution to WPA—at present 27.5 instead of the required 25 per cent—to the almost prohibitive figure of 29.6 per cent.

I ask that this Legislature give attention to the possibility of modifying and changing the Pierson work-relief act to permit the Commonwealth to enter upon the field which WPA appears determined to abandon—that of furnishing work to those who most need it instead of competing in the labor market for the services of those who soon can take their pick of jobs in private employment.

I recommend that the Pierson Act be changed to permit the Department of Public Assistance to operate work-relief projects jointly with other state departments and with counties and municipalities. These projects would follow the pattern cut by the national WPA in its original setup. Precautions should be incorporated to avoid the political abuses which have so muddled the history of WPA.

Perhaps at this point I should say once more that I have no intention of permitting Pennsylvania's relief system, which has functioned so admirably in the last two years that it has been referred to by President Roosevelt himself as a model, in any way to be undermined. Relief will be maintained, kept out of politics, and continued available to those who need it regardless of race, color, creed or politics.

I advocate State work relief as a means, first, of improving the standards of living of those who are dependent, and second, of encouraging a larger share of local responsibility.

In two phases of the relief picture I wish to ask this legislature's cooperation to obtain a more generous attitude from the National government.

Our State is losing several million dollars a biennium in federal funds intended for blind relief, not because our standards are too low but because they are too high. We cannot have federal participation, we have been told, unless we reduce our standards. A similar situation exists with relation to old age pensions, where, if we are to continue to receive Federal participation, it is necessary to conform to Social Security interpretations of what constitutes dependency.

I ask that this Legislature memorialize the Social Security Board to ask more generous interpretations of its regulations covering both pensions to the blind and to the aged, so that Pennsylvania be not penalized for exceeding the standards set up by this federal agency.

In conclusion, may I run through a list of unrelated suggestions for which I request your consideration. The first of these concerns civil service.

I believe the time has come to extend the merit system along the pattern already in existence. I, therefore, recommend placing under civil service the Department of Health, the Department of Welfare, the Motor Police, and the Fish and Game Commissions.

I further recommend that consideration be given to centralized examination and employment for all branches under civil services. This would result in tremendous economies, and would permit applicants to become eligible for jobs in any of the departments concerned upon the successful completion of the one examination.

Our milk problem continues to be vexing one. In the absence of any new program which appears to be an improvement upon the one now in effect, I make the following suggestions: First, that the recently-discovered loophole in the act which threatens to disrupt all State control of milk be plugged by an amendment covering the producer-dealer consignment agreements which the courts have held do now not come within the control of the Milk Commission. Second, I suggest study of the relief milk program to determine whether this should be continued.

I wish to call to your attention that the new census figures soon to be available will require the reapportionment of legislative and congressional districts. I believe preparations should begin at once, so that the task may be completed in ample time to give to the citizens of this state their proper representation.

I recommend also that Permanent Registration Act be amended to require the re-registration of any person who fails to vote at any general election. This would constitute a mild but fitting punishment for those who fail to exercise their right of franchise, and would serve also as a means of keeping the permanent registration lists up-to-date and accurate.

Permit me to ask your body to give early attention to the matter of school subsidies. Studies should be made to determine the extent and the proper methods of relieving distressed school districts and underpaid teachers. It is to be hoped that means can be found to guarantee every teacher in the Commonwealth a minimum salary of $1000, and to see that the salary is paid when due. Our broad program of education must not suffer during the period when emphasis is being placed on national defense.

Should it be found necessary to establish a Legislative Commission to conduct such study, let me urge that temporary assistance be given to the most seriously distressed districts during the period of investigation.

Many other suggestions could be made, but time will not permit enlarging upon them today. Undoubtedly, the State Government Commission, whose members have given much time and study, have valuable suggestions to report.

In closing, let me welcome the gentlemen of this Assembly to Harrisburg, and to offer you my help and my cooperation. Let me say again that I have no "must" program. If from your ranks come better ideas than my own for the solution of our State's problems, I shall be the first to welcome them.

Your responsibilities are perhaps greater than any previous body of legislators who have sat in this hall.

On the fundamental matters I am sure that we are in agreement. If we are to have disagreements, let them be differences on methods and policies and principles, and may we all, Democrats and Republicans alike, refrain from stirring dissention with the paddle of partisanship.

As I said before, you have many tasks. But one of them dwarfs all the rest. That is to help Pennsylvania help America—to rearm this nation so that we need fear no dictator on earth.

In that task I ask of you, and I volunteer, our best efforts and utmost diligence and fullest cooperation.

Once that major task is accomplished, then may we pray with the Psalmist—pray that "through God we shall do valiantly; for He it is that shall tread down our enemies."

Thank you.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Governor James, in behalf of this General Assembly I want to thank you for your very patriotic address.

ELECTION RETURNS

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. This being the day and time agreed upon by concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives in accordance with the laws of this Commonwealth for the opening, counting and computing of the official returns for the election of Auditor General and State Treasurer held on Tuesday, November 5, 1940, in the several counties of this Commonwealth the returns will be now opened and read.

The teller on the part of the Senate is the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Bartlett, the teller on the part of the House is the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor. They will please come to the desk and proceed in the performance of their duty.

The returns were accordingly opened and read by the Clerks.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Bartlett.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, the Tellers agree in their count and make the following report:

Whereupon, the President of the Senate announced that F. Clair Ross of Butler County, having received the highest number of votes was duly elected Auditor General for the term of four years from the first Tuesday of May, 1941, and G. Harold Wagner of Luzerne County having received the highest number of votes was duly elected State Treasurer for the term of four years from the first Monday of May, 1941.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Four certificates of election in both of these cases having been signed by the officers in accordance with the Act of Assembly they will be spread upon the Journal.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
January 7, 1941.

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the seventh day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Auditor General of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the General Assembly, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of said Commonwealth, and upon counting the vote by a Teller, appointed on the part of each House, it appeared that F. Clair Ross had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said F. Clair Ross was declared to have been duly elected Auditor General of the Commonwealth.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

ELECTION OF DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Pursuant to the Act of Assembly we will now proceed to the election of the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

RESOLUTION

NOMINATIONS

Mr. LANIUS offered a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In Joint Session, January 7, 1941.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of the Act approved the seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, entitled "An act creating a Legislative Reference Bureau; providing for the election of a Director by the General Assembly; * * *," as amended, the Senate and House of Representatives in joint session, elect Herbert B. Cohen of York County, as Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. President, I second the nomination of Herbert B. Cohen as Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am directed by the joint caucus of the Republican members of the Legislature to place in nomination the name of Robert S. Frey of York County for the office of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I deem it an honor and a privilege to second the nomination of the Honorable Robert S. Frey because of his accomplishments and outstanding service to the Legislature of Pennsylvania and to the Commonwealth in general.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Are there any other nominations? If not nominations are closed.

Robert S. Frey received ninety-three votes.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Herbert B. Cohen having received a majority of all the votes cast is declared elected Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. We might as well make this York County Day. Your presiding officer is from York County. Mr. Cohen's name was placed in nomination by the Senator from York, Mr. Lanius. His nomination was seconded by a member from York. Mr. Cohen succeeds a man from York, so I am going to appoint Representative Moul and Representative Stine from York County to escort Mr. Cohen to the rostrum for the purpose of having the oath of office administered.

It is really an unusual and extreme pleasure for me to know that we have elected a former member of the Legislature from York County to succeed a former member of the Legislature from York County to this position, and although it may look a little like it, it is not, as some one suggested, a bi-partisan machine and a frame-up.

Herb and I have been friends for a good many years. We never did agree politically and we never will, but as far as professional and personal relations are concerned they have been of the very best, and they will continue such no matter what our political differences may be.

The oath of office was then administered to the Director-elect of the Legislative Reference Bureau by Lieutenant-Governor Lewis.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The Chair presents his fellow townsman, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. President and members of the Senate and House, I assure you that I appreciate the honor that you have bestowed upon me, and I also assure you that I realize the tremendous burden that will be placed upon the Bureau in an effort to continue it in the high esteem in which the Bureau has been held by the Members of the General Assembly. I hope to be able to continue the Bureau along those high lines of operation and I pledge to the entire membership of this Joint Session the sincere cooperation of the entire personnel of the Bureau, regardless of political affiliations. I thank you.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS: Before I turn this gavel back to the Speaker, I wish to repeat publicly what I told him yesterday, and that is that although he presides over a House that is of a different political faith than the body over which I preside over, I want to assure him and every member of this House that the President of the Senate stands ready to cooperate in every way possible with this House in determining the momentous problems that are before us and which we will have to solve.

JOINT SESSION ADJOURNED

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The business for which the Joint Session was assembled having been transacted the Joint Session is now adjourned. The Senators will please re-assemble immediately in the Senate Chamber.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces that the page boys have bills which have been prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau for certain of the members. The Chair would request that the Members remain in their seats until these bills have been distributed. The bills are to be kept by the members until the Committees have been appointed. They are given to the members for their examination at this time, but to be introduced at a later date.

RESOLUTION

SEWING PROJECTS

Messrs. SHAW and MATTHEW J. WELSH offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its reading and immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

Whereas, Twelve thousand women are presently employed on sewing projects supported by Federal funds throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, His Excellency, Arthur H. James, Governor of the Commonwealth, has indicated that the Commonwealth will not comply with Federal requirements relative to State contribution for the continuance of these sewing projects, and

Whereas, The failure of the Commonwealth to make its proper contribution will result in the shut-down of sewing projects throughout the Commonwealth, throwing twelve thousand women out of useful and productive employment on January 27, 1941, and

Whereas, The members of the House of Representatives are deeply concerned over the needless suffering and hardship which will inevitably follow the closing of the sewing projects throughout the Commonwealth, now therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Speaker of the House to investigate immediately all the circumstances surrounding the indicated failure of the Commonwealth to make its proper contribution to the sewing projects and to report its findings and recommendations promptly to the House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe there is any Member of this House who is not concerned with the possibility of twelve thousand women now employed in sewing projects losing their jobs. I know that all of the Members on this side are as much concerned with that situation as are those on the other side, but all of us are anxious to know all the facts in connection with the controversy that has been going on between the Governor and the Director of WPA in Pennsylvania. The Governor in his speech has just stated that his books are open, and that he invites investigation of matters of this kind. The wording of this resolution is unfortunate because it seems to me it has rather a marked tinge of partisanship, and were it not for the fact that I have confidence that the man, who I understand will be named chairman of the investigating committee, will carry on an absolutely non-partisan and unbiased investigation, I would object to the resolution in the form in which is now is because I think the real investigation may hinge upon, What is the proper contribution for Pennsylvania to make?

I do not want to go into a discussion of the controversy at this time, because that is for the investigating committee, but I do think the resolution might have been worded a little differently so that the investigation would cover the entire situation and not assume that the amount which the WPA administrator says should be paid to the Commonwealth is the proper amount. However, I believe that the committee, under the leadership of the gentleman who introduced this resolution, will investigate the entire matter and it is with that thought in mind and with the feeling that they will approach the matter from a non-partisan standpoint, that we will have no objection to the form of the resolution. So far as the purpose of the resolution is concerned, we are in complete accord. We are concerned not only with the twelve thousand women who are now working, but also the seven thousand women who have recently been laid off, because, as I understand it, the Federal Government neglected to supply the necessary funds.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the resolution just adopted the Chair appoints as the Committee therein provided for Messrs. Shaw, Chairman, Scanlon, Readinger, Bretherick and Stockham.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. MUNLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and unaminously adopted.

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1941.

It is with deep concern that we learn of the sudden death of the beloved sister of our fellow member, the Honorable Harry P. ONeill, veteran member of this Assembly, at the commencement of his seventh term.

Mrs, James J. Mahady died quite unexpectedly this morning at her home in Latrobe; be it therefore Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives hereby extends its sincere condolence to her bereaved brother and our dear friend Harry P. O'Neill; and directs the Chief Clerk to transmit a copy of this resolution to him at his home in Dunmore.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 13, 1941

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS offered the following prayer:

Almighty God and Everlasting Father of us all, whose worthy praise and adoration neither mind of man nor the power of speech can capably express, it is our gracious privilege to seek Thy favor this day upon our thoughts and actions which, we pray Thee, may be used according to Thy will.

Give us a vision beyond our present state that as individuals, as law-makers, as a Commonwealth and as a Nation we may do the right thing amidst so many changing scenes throughout our rapidly changing world:

That our decisions may be arrived at with the general welfare of all concerned deep within our consciences: that our hopes and fears be equally dealt with in the light of divine disposition: that the ultimate consummation of all these disturbing factors composing our every-day life and living so filled with tension and uneasiness, be unhesitatingly sought at Thy merciful throne. With our eyes fixed upon Thee and our hearts consecrated and committed unto Thy gracious care, we can not fail in this hour of national emergency. Of such fabric has our national history thus far been composed and, we most humbly pray, that it shall continue so to be fashioned after the beautiful devotion of a Washington and the definite consecration of a Lincoln.

"Our little systems have their day,
They have their day and cease to be;
They are but broken lights of Thee,
But Thou, O Lord, are greater than they."

How clearly, then, do we see and know our limitations without Thee! And as well how wondrous may our influence be with Thee! We humbly pray Thy abiding presence with us each one today. In His name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. EALY and Mr. GELTZ, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Mr, BECKER asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Lancaster, Mr. HOMSHER.

Mr. CAVALCANTE asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. MUNDY, who is not feeling well.

REPORT OF PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

The Chair presented Report No. 1, dated November, 1940, of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce and directed that receipt of same be noted in the Journal.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, will state his point of information.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I desire to inquire whether under our rules we should have a motion that the Senate advise and consent to nominations for Notaries Public and Commissioners of Deeds.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair so understands.

Mr. EDMONDS. Then, Mr. President, it is no longer necessary that we go into Executive Session?

The PRESIDENT. That is the understanding of the Chair.

MOTION THAT THE SENATE ADVISE AND CONSENT TO NOMINATIONS FOR NOTARIES PUBLIC AND COMMISSIONERS OF DEEDS

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now advise and consent to the nominations for Notaries Public and Commissioners of Deeds which have been sent to us by the Governor.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agred to.

The PRESIDENT. According to the understanding of the Chair, under the new rules adopted by the Senate, nominations for notaries public and justices of the peace and recorders of deeds will not be reported to any committee, as heretofore; they will be disposed of right away. All others will be referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I understand nominations for justices-of-the-peace are not included.

The PRESIDENT. That is right. Notaries Public and Recorders of Deeds. All others will be referred to committees.

The nominations were read as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 4, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of an act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended, by limiting to eleven and three-quarter mills the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class; and prescribing the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 5, entitled:

An Act providing for the payment by the State Treasurer of the tax on certain Premiuns paid by foreign casualty insurance companies to the treasurers of the several cities, boroughs, towns and townships, and for the payment thereof into their police pension funds, and, in certain cases, into the State Employes' Retirement Fund for the benefit of the Pennsylvania Motor Police.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

Mr. BARTLETT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 6, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by providing for different classes of operators' licenses and learners' permits; prescribing the circumstances under which they shall be issued; requiring proof of financial responsibility in certain cases; denying operating privileges under certain circumstances and providing additional penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. EDMONDS at the request of the Committee of Seventy read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 7, entitled:

An Act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution, giving cities the right and power to frame, adopt and amend their own charters, and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government, and providing the procedure therefor; imposing certain restrictions, limitations and regulations; imposing duties upon city coucils, city officers, county boards of elections, courts of common pleas, and the Secretary of the Commonwealth; and providing for the payment of certain expenses by cities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. CHAPMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 8, entitled:

An Act to amend article three of the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," authorizing the formation of a State Association of County Treasurers and imposing certain expenses on counties.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 9, entitled:

An Act concerning the permanent recordation of certain births, birth certificates, the issuance of copies of such certificates, and prescribing the procedure therefor; enlarging the powers and duties of the Department of Health and the Bureau of Vital Statistics; and increasing the duties of certain county officials.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 10, entitled:

An Act providing for the licensing, bonding and regulation of junk dealers; and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise in my place and present a number of bills, which I believe I should perhaps briefly explain. These are a number of bills which offer amendments to our public assistance laws and these bills will tend to increase the benefits of old-age pensions to aging persons of our Commonwealth, under a plan which back in my county is known as the Haluska sixty-at-sixty plan. Realizing, of course Mr. President, that if these bills should become law we must have additional funds to finance them, I am prepared also to introduce additional bills to finance my plan.

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 11, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing a license tax on the keepers of all pin-ball games, hi-score games or other games or devices of skill for purposes of profit; providing for the collection of said tax and imposing certain duties upon mercantile appraisers, county treasurers and the Department of Revenue, and appropriating the proceeds from such tax to the Department of Welfare.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 12, entitled:

An Act to promote the public welfare by providing for assistance to aged persons in need.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 13, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," by prescribing the manner in which the property of indigent persons shall become affected by the liens of the State for assistance and making certain assignments, writings and judgments null and void.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 14, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing a license tax on the owners of all places where bingo games are played for purpose of profit; providing for the collection of said tax; and imposing certain duties upon mercantile appraisers, county treasurers and the Department of Revenue; and appropriating the proceeds from such tax to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of assisting persons over sixty years of age; authorizing charitable and non-profit organizations to conduct bingo game upon the payment of a permit fee.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 15, entitled:

An Act to add subsection (c) to section four of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," prohibiting any public body or public agency from demanding or accepting a bond or judgment note from an indigent person for expenses of his support, maintenance, assistance or burial, before such expenses are incurred.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 16, entitled:

An Act imposing a license tax on keepers of coin operated music boxes, mechanical player pianos, graphaphones and other similar mechanical musical devices; and imposing certain duties on county treasurers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (b) of section nine of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board," by redefining "aged persons" to mean persons who are sixty years of age or more.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

Mr. PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and members of this body, for quite some time in the past and at the present time the Department of Public Assistance has a procedure of compelling a person who has his home and who might be compelled to apply for relief to sign a two thousend dollar reimbursement bond.

Last May, Mr. President, during the Special Session of the General Assembly, I introduced in this Senate a resolution asking for abolition of this practice.

At that time, Mr. President, the 15th day of May, on page 317 of the Senate Journal, this body passed a resolution calling upon the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance to have an investigation made and to report back to this body his findings as to whether or not he might deem it advisable to discontinue or continue this practice.

MOTION CALLING UPON SECRETARY OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE TO FURNISH REPORT TO EACH MEMBER OF SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Therefore, Mr. President, I am now ready to make a motion to call upon that secretary to bring forth his investigation and place it upon the desk of each Senator in this body.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, and seconded by the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. Walker, that the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance shall make a report as set forth in the resolution of the Senator from Cambria, Mr Haluska, as appeared in page 317 of the Journal of the Senate of the Special Session of 1940; and that a copy of said report be placed on the desk of each Senator.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I may be in favor of the motion of the gentleman from Cambria, but I do not know what the Senator said four or five months ago. Therefore, Mr. President, I think we ought to have the complete resolution before us before we attempt to vote on it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I was unable to hear the remarks of the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Cambria, the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, said he does not object to the resolution but he would like to have some information as to what was contained in the Senator's resolution of last May, and that possibly the Senator from Cambria could read the resolution which was offered and adopted during the last session.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the resolution read as follows, after it was amended and re-amended. I will try to give you the corrected resolution.

"Whereas, The rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance requiring relief recipients to execute a bond as a condition precedent to receiving relief has been a (you fellows cut it up pretty badly) source of controversy; and

"Whereas, The General Assembly regards home ownership as one of the highest forms of good citizenship and wishes to encourage it in every conceivable manner; therefore be it

"Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Secretary of Public Assistance is hereby directed to make a study and investigation of:

"(1) The relative advantages and disadvantages to all concerned of the present rule or regulation requiring relief recipients to execute a reimbursement agreement as a condition precedent to qualifying for relief.

"Resolved, That the Secretary of Public Assistance shall make a report of such study and investigation to the General Assembly at its next regular session, together with his recommendations, for its guidance on this subject."

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, if it is so hard for the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, to read the resolution perhaps the secretary of Public Assistance will have trouble too.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I might answer the Senator form Somerset by saying the resolution I introduced was very simple but it seemed at that time that the members on that side of the House found some reason to cut it up, which made it almost impossible to read, and I will say, Mr. President, it is very difficult to read it now. However, it was passed in that manner.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thinks the proper inquiry would be to determine, after the resolution was adopted, whether the proper official sent a copy to the Secretary of Assistance.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, what is the date of the resolution?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the date of the origiial resolution was May 13, 1940 and it was passed May 16, 1940 of the Special Session of 1940.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, was that a resolution originally introduced by the Senator from Cambria.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Then it was considered, Mr. President, and amended by a committee of which the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, was then the chairman. I see no objection to it but I do think the form is a bit complicated.

It seems to me, Mr. President, if the gentleman from Cambria would add to the motion a request that the secretary of Public Assistance furnish a report, as required by the resolution, it would very much accelerate the matter.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in reply to the remarks of the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, I did just that. I presented a resolution trying to abolish the requirement of a two thousand dollar bond and the gentlemen on the other side agreed that was a condition, but decided it should be properly investigated and you wrote your own amendment calling upon the secretary to make an investigation.

I am only asking for his report, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. I see no objection to that, Mr. President. I shall vote for it under those circumstances.

The PRESIDENT. The whole thing boiled down is a request for the report that was to be furnished in pursuance to the adoption of this resolution, and also that a copy be furnished and placed on the desk of each senator; am I correct.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is correct, Mr. President.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, will state his point of order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I believe that motion is out of order and I believe also if the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, wants this report at this time he should secure it by resolution or by making a request, but not by a motion such as he has made. It seems to me, Mr. President, that a motion of this kind is out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not so understand. The Chair thinks it is merely a request to the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance to furnish the report that this body asked for and it should be filed if the secretary has finished the report. If the report has not been finished then the secretary of Public Assistance should be requested to furnish a report and a copy of the report should be placed on the desk of each member. It seems to the Chair that is very simple.

Mr. GELTZ. Then, Mr. President, I ask before we vote on the motion of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, that the motion be read so that the members of the Senate may understand what we are voting on.

Mr. HALUSKA. I will make a new motion, Mr. President.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will state his point of inquiry.

Mr. WALKER. Do I understand, Mr. President, that there is some question as to whether or not a copy of the resolution which this body adopted in the May Special Session of this General Assembly was or was not served on the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance

The PRESIDENT. The Chair suggested that inquiry a short time ago but received no response.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest, in order that there may be no misunderstanding on the part of the members of the Senate, all we are trying to do is to stop the use of those bonds and I think the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, will accelerate the desire which has been expressed here. All the Senator from Cambria wants to do is to get that report in here so that we can stop the use of those bonds.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, if I gather well from the discussion the difficulty is here that some members do not understand what the motion contained.

Am I correct, Mr. President, in stating that the motion calls on the clerk of the Senate to advise the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance that we are ready to receive the report and for him to make it conformably with the resolution adopted by this body.

The PRESIDENT. And also ask him to supply a copy of the report for each member of the Senate.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. ZIESENHEIM offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 13, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourn this week it reconvene on Monday, January 27, 1941, at 4 p. m. o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourn this week it reconvene on Monday, January 27, 1941, at 9 p. m. o'clock.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I cannot quite understand why there should be such a difference in time between the House meeting and the Senate meeting. We can not act upon matters requiring joint action of the House and Senate, requiring the signatures of both the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, unless we come back later in the evening, which would be mighty inconvenient for members of this body living in the western end of the state, to come in here at four o'clock in the afternoon, when they know they will have to be up the biggest part of the night anyway, if the House is slow in getting its work done.

Mr. President, I do not see why it is necessary to depart from our usual practice. It has always been our practice to have the House and the Senate meet within an hour of the time the other body meets. I do not wish to express any personal desire, but I wish the matter would be explained to me, as to why we should have five hours difference in time.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, will answer the inquiry of the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the Senator from Westmoreland knows when we sat here all evening, up until one o'clock, in the first night of the weekly session, all the members were not in very good condition to do any real business on Tuesday. We think, Mr. President, if we can meet at four o'clock and get through with the principal routine business of the Senate, during the Monday evening we can then have committee meetings in regular succession so that we do not need to have half a dozen committees meeting at one time. We are hoping, Mr. President, that this way we could have a committee meet at from eight to nine o'clock, another from nine to ten o'clock and another from ten to eleven o'clock, if necessary, and we can all get to bed at a reasonable time Monday night so as to be fresh on Tuesday for real work.

That is the plan we had hoped to put in effect, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, I would suggest that it might be well that some of the older members of the House get some sleep, in order that they also may be able to transact some business.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

EXTENDING SYMPATHY TO FAMILY OF HONORABLE GEORGE GRAY

Mr. FARRELL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 13, 1941.

In the death of Honorable George Gray, who represented the Eighth Senatorial District of Philadelphia from 1919 until 1923, Philadelphia has lost one of its distinguished citizens.

Senator Gray was born in England in 1874 and came to America when he was seven years of age. His family settled in northeast Philadelphia, which is included in the Eighth Senatorial District, and there Senator Gray lived until his death on the twentieth of August, 1940.

He was an active member of the Republican party not only in Philadelphia but throughout the State and during the course of his life he rendered splendid service in civic affairs and welfare work.

He was influential in business circles in his community and a leading factor in the development of northeast Philadelphia.

His death is a distinct loss to his community and to the people of his District, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Senate do hereby extend to the family of the Honorable George Gray their sincere sympathy in the loss they have suffered.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the family of Honorable George Gray by the Chief Clerk of the Senate.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT ADEQUATE AND REASONABLE OLD AGE PENSIONS

Mr. MALLORY. Mr. President, I offer a resolution and in offering this resolution I want to remark that this resolution is a joint resolution memorializing Congress to enact an adequate and responsible old age pension.

Mr. President, like many other members in the Senate, and particularly my colleague to the left and my neighbor, Senator Haluska, we feel that this is a matter that is entitled to very serious consideration; it is a matter which does pertain not only to the people of Pennsylvania but to all people in our country and, Mr. President, I feel that if Congress should enact a reasonable and adequate old age pension we would not have the overlapping functions of government to which I am opposed, but it would also prevent aged people who live in one state from trying to establish homes in other states where adequate and reasonable old age pensions exist.

I, therefore, Mr. President, present this resolution. I will not ask for immediate consideration, but I do ask that it be referred to an appropriate committee.

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 13, 1941.

The demand on the part of the people of this Commonwealth for adequate and reasonable pensions to be granted by the Federal Government to aged persons has become one of the major political and economic issues of the present generation.

The cost of the maintenance of our aged persons has, in most cases, been borne by relatives who are frequently unable to asume such burden without seriously affecting their ability to properly provide for their immediate families.

The care of the aged is more a part of the Nation's responsibility than the care of the unemployed. Age is never deliberately assumed, and unemployment is frequently preferred.

Proper care of all aged persons by the Federal Government would assist in creating jobs for the unemployed, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That this General Assembly does hereby memorialize the Representatives in Congress to immediately consider some form of adequate and reasonable allowance to be paid to aged persons, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of Washington, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and the President of the United States Senate, and a copy be forwarded to the President of the United States.

Which was referred to Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, will state his question of personal privileage.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I just wish to offer my congratulations to the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, for being pension minded. I think this body must come to that point sooner or later and I am happy to know somebody else is wiling to sacrifice and do what he can to take care of the aged of our Commonwealth, and I therefore say, Mr. President, the gentleman from Blair should be complimented on his efforts.

I also wish to offer the hope, Mr. President, after the gentleman from Blair, and also his colleagues, finds time to consider the bills I have offered, go over them and when he does that I feel quite certain we may be able to pass some modern up-to-date public assistance laws.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I should like to suggest to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, that Republicans as well as Democrats gradually get to be sixty years of age and we would like to have that pension also.

MOTION TO TAKE NOMINATIONS FROM THE TABLE AND REFER THEM TO COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, if there are no further resolutions to be offered, I move that the nominations made by the Governor, which were laid on the table last week, be taken from the table and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION FOR RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I understand that the House meets at ten o'clock tonight. In order that they may have time to complete their work and concur in necessary resolutions, I now move that we recess until ten o'clock tonight.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to call attention to the fact that is exactly what I said would happen a few minutes ago. If you have some other reason, Mr. President, for meeting at four o'clock in the afternoon let us know that, because I do not think the reason given is sufficient.

We are meeting at ten o'clock tonight, exactly as I said before—that we were to recess until the House convened and then this body would come here and probably sit up all night anyway, waiting for the House to finish its work. If we must have committee meetings, Mr. President, let us have them in the afternoon.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, this situation even with the change in time is an unusual one and it would not have been necessary except for the adjournment that is proposed for next week, when some of our colleagues desire to go to Washington for the inaugural.

Mr. President, this action ordinarily could have taken place on Tuesday. In the future when we will be here Tuesdays and Wednesdays there will be no necessity to come back like this. This is just an unusual situation.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 10 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, January 13, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourn this week it reconvene on Monday, January 27, 1941, at 4 p. m. o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourn this week it reconvene on Monday, January 27, 1941, at 9 p. m. o'clock.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCREESH read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of the act approved the eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 705), entitled "An act creating the office of Fire Marshal, to be attached to the Department of Public Safety in cities of the first class; prescribing his duties and powers; and providing penalties for violations of the provisions of the act; and providing for the method of appointment, compensation, and for the maintenance of his office," by imposing additional duties on the Fire Marshal.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO APPROVE FEDERAL MINE INSPECTION BILL

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, with permission of the Senate I would like to ask unanimous consent to present a resolution at this time memorializing the Congress, asking favorable action upon the Federal Mine Inspection Bill.

I do not ask immediate consideration of this resolution, Mr. President, but I would request that it be referred to an appropriate committee.

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and was referred to Committee on Federal Relations:

In the Senate, January 13, 1941.

Whereas, In the mining industry many thousands of lives have been needlessly lost because of inadequate safety controls and these deaths might have been prevented by the passage of a law providing for the federal inspection of mines; and

Whereas, A federal mine inspection bill has been passed by the Senate of the United States but blocked in the House Committee of Mines and Mining; and

Whereas, During the time this measure has been blocked there have been some 1,530 miners killed in mine disasters, leaving behind them their widows and orphans; and

Whereas, In the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the time this measure has been blocked a number of mine disasters have occurred which are directly attributable to lack of adequate mine inspection; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to approve the Federal Mine Inspection bill; be it also

Resolved, That one copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of the following:

The President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Vice-President, Henry A. Wallace, President of the United States Senate.

Speaker Rayburn, House of Representatives.

Senator Joseph Guffey.

Senator James P. Davis.

All members of the House delegation from Pennsylvania.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 27, 1941 at 4:00 o'clock p. m.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 10:11 o'clock, p. m. until Monday, January 27, 1941 at 4:00 o'clock, p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, JANUARY 13, 1941.

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas George Baxter offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Thou Who art a Spirit, infinite, eternal, and unchangeable in Thy wisdom, power, justice, mercy, goodness, and truth, breathe on us that we may partake of Thy nature, that out of Thy holy and righteous personality each of us may be endowed with good thought, wise words, courageous acts, and brave deeds.

May petty partisanship give place to genuine patriotism, may religious bigotry and sanctimonious sectarian pride make way for a world wide brotherhood.

Enlarge the range of our understanding, and give to us a deep concern for the things which are related to the welfare of our state and nation. May Thy will be wrought in human laws, human institutions, and especially in human lives.

Do Thou direct our President with great favor and wisdom, and our Congress with a knowledge of things divine that our fair land and our Christian order may not be thrown back into the savagery and barbarism of the dark ages of heathenism.

O Lord, abide with and unfold to the Governor of this Commonwealth Thy will and give him grace to be steadfast as a righteous ruler. Do Thou direct and bless the members of this House, that they may honor their constituencies which have so signally honored them.

O Lord, Thou Prince of Peace, grant to us a national peace, based on Thy Holy Revelation to us. To this end help us to know Thy word in its entirety. To know that the same inspired word which commands Thy people to beat their swords into plowshares also commands them to beat their plowshares into swords, and the same word of God declares there is a time to heal and a time to kill; a time to love and a time to hate; a time for war and a time for peace. God forbid that our love of peace shall ever make us spineless subjectees of a God-hating proletarian idealism. Save us, O God, from the easy chair of the heresy "of peace at any price" that we may stand for God and country as we have it in American Democracy. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Tuesday, January 7, 1941.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal when, on motion of Mr. O'MULLEN the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

REPORT OF SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN

The SPEAKER laid before the House the Eighty-sixth Annual Statement of the Saving Fund Society of Germantown and Its Vicinity which was read by the Clerk.

(For Report see Appendix).

RESIGNATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication which was read by the Clerk:

House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pa., August 6, 1940.

Hon. Ellwood J. Turner,
602 Crozer Bldg.
Chester, Pa.

My dear Mr. Turner:

I do hereby tender my resignation as a Member of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania from the Second Legislative District of Fayette County, Pennsylvania, effective immediately.

Please acknowledge receipt of this resignation.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Very truly yours,

JLR/c

(Signed) JOHN L. RIDER.

The oath of office was then administered by the Speaker to the employees who presented themselves at the Bar of the House.

The SPEAKER. The employees will assemble in the House Caucus Room for further instructions by the Chief Clerk.

USE OF HALL OF HOUSE GRANTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the consent of the House to grant the use of the House to the Pennsylvania State School Directors' Association for Friday afternoon, February 7th, at 3:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GATES asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I understand it is the wish of those in control of this House to adjourn after tonight's session until January 27, and I arise to oppose said adjournment until we have carried out a pledge made by both major parties. I know His Excellency Governor James made the statement that he would do everything in his power to see that every deserving person in this State would receive food, clothing and shelter, and I believe he was sincere when he made this statement. However, gentlemen, unless something is done on or before January 27, twelve thousand deserving women, now working on sewing projects, will be unjustly thrown out of employment, many of them widows without any other means of support. Many of them mothers who gave their sons in the last world crisis that we might live.

I, of course, am aware of the committee appointed pursuant to a resolution adopted by this House last week to make an investigation as to who was correct regarding W. P. A. grants, our Governor or Col. Matthews, but my friends I am not concerned just now as to who is right or who is wrong. I am and I know you are, concerned about these unfortunate women of our State. Our Federal Government contemplates spending twenty-five billion dollars for defense, and rightly so, but yet some one will quibble about a few paltry dollars when the welfare of twelve thousand women is at stake.

I call upon you Mr. Speaker to keep this House in session until we have solved this humanitarian problem.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SHAW asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in reply to the statement of the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, I wish to assure this House that the committee appointed on Tuesday morning has been working almost day and night in an effort to solve this problem. We feel very definitely that considerable progress has been made. We are not able to submit a report at this time, but we have every confidence that we will be able to bring the two sides together in an amicable agreement.

INTERROGATION

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Shaw.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Allegheny whether, in his opinion, a settlement will be made on or before January 27th, when these women will be thrown out of employment.

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the interrogation, I wil repeat what I said in my statement a minute ago. that I have every confidence that we shall reach an amicable arrangement that will permit the sewing project to be continued.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. RUSH offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 13, 1941.

Colonel James A. G. Campbell prominent civic leader in the City of Chester and Delaware County for many years, has passed away at the age of 82 years. He was born in Chester, February 19, 1858, and was educated in the public schools of that city. At the age of 16 he began his public career as bookkeeper, and hereafter became President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Delaware Trust Company.

Colonel Campbell was active in the Chester Hospital Board of Managers, Chester Rotary, the American Red Cross, Associated Charities, Welfare Federation, Boy Scouts, the J. Lewis Crozer Library, Spanish American War Veterans and Disabled Veterans Association for which a camp was named in his honor.

Colonel Campbell possessed a quality of leadership equalled by but few men in the events of the Commonwealth.

Resolved, That the Members of the House express their sincere sympathy to the members of the family of Colonel James A. G. Campbell in their bereavement, and that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to: Mrs. Elizabeth Mowry Campbell, his widow, Mrs. Margaret C. Sweney, his daughter, wife of assistant district attorney Sweney, James A. G. Campbell, Jr., his son, and Miss Fannie Campbell, his sister, by the Chief Clerk of this House.

COMMITTEE ON RULES

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time appoints the following Committee on Rules: Messrs. Achterman, Chairman, Gerard, Readinger, Lovett and Melchiorre.

RESOLUTION

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in connection with the report of the Committee on Committees, I wish to make this announcement that the prepared copies for the use of the members are not completed at the moment, but they will be placed in the boxes in the post office. Likewise copies will be sent to the press.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The members are now privileged to introduce bills by sending them to the Clerk's desk at the Speaker's left, signed and dated as of today. Three blue backed copies must be sent to the desk. The copy not bound is for your personal files.

If there is no objection the Chair will refer after adjournment the bills introduced this evening to the various Committees so that they can be printed and made available to the Committees.

Personal identification cards for each member are now in the Speaker's office.

The members of the Committee on Inter-State Cooperation are requested to meet in the Speaker's office immediately after adjournment.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. O'NEILL. HOUSE BILL No. 1.

An Act to further amend paragraphs six and nineteen, and to eliminate paragraph seven, of section twelve hundred ten of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith, "fixing the minimum annual salary and increments of members of the teaching and supervisory staff in school districts of the fourth class; increasing the percentage of state-aid for all districts; and providing additional state-aid through an equalization fund created by this act to be maintained from state appropriations.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

By Mr. MORAN. HOUSE BILL No. 2.

An Act authorizing cities, boroughs, towns and townships to construct, acquire, own, operate, control, sell and lease facilities for the production, generation, transmission, distribution or furnishing of natural or artificial gas, electricity, steam or water, or the collection, disposition or treatment of sewage and to furnish or render such services to the public within or beyond their corporate limits, or both; conferring the power of eminent domain, conferring certain powers and imposing certain duties on such municipalities, and the controller or auditors thereof, providing for and authorizing the incorporation and election of a board of directors to operate and manage such works and defining its powers and duties, conferring certain powers and imposing certain duties on the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, and prescribing penalties.

Referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

By Mr. COOPER. HOUSE BILL No. 3.

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the eighth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight (P. L. 73), entitled "An act to authorize the recorder of deeds in the several counties of this Commonwealth to record the discharges of all honorably discharged officers and soldiers," extending the same to discharges of honorably discharged members of the Civilian Conservation Corps; and increasing the fee payable by the county therefor.

Referred to the Committee on Counties.

By Mr. COOPER. HOUSE BILL No. 4.

An Act to add section one hundred twelve to the act approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 364), entitled "An act relating to business corporations; defining and providing for the organization, merger, consolidation, reorganization, winding up and dissolution of such corporations; conferring certain rights, powers, duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act; prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted, or may continue, to do business within the Commonwealth; conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain State departments, boards, commissions, or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" by requiring the recording of all certificates of incorporation and copies of articles attached thereto, heretofore or hereafter issued under the provisions of said act; and prescribing penalties; to be collected by the Department of Justice.

Referred to the Committee on Corporation and Industry.

By Mr. FLEMING. HOUSE BILL No. 5.

An Act authorizing all counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships and institution districts, to place their respective officers and employes in the State Employes' Retirement Association; prescribing the procedure to be followed; and authorizing a special tax to pay the expenses incident thereto; placing certain duties upon the State Treasurer, and the fiscal officers of the said municipal units; prohibiting the future establishment of local pension or retirement systems; and providing in certain cases for the discontinuance of existing ones.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

By Mr. COOPER. HOUSE BILL No. 6.

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 331), entitled "An act directing the Department of Military Affairs to select, procure, award, and provide for the furnishing of certain service medals," providing for the issuance of such medals free of charge, and for the reimbursement of the cost thereof heretofore paid.

Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

By Mr. NOBLE. HOUSE BILL No. 7.

An Act to amend section three of the act, approved the sixth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 51), entitled "An act providing for the protection of the public health and the prevention of fraud and deception, by prohibiting the sale, the offering for sale, or exposing for sale, or having in possession with intent to sell, of adulterated or deleterious sausage; defining sausage; and prescribing the penalty for the violation thereof," as amended, further regulating the adulteration of sausages by eliminating milk powder as an adulterant.

Referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

By Mr. COOPER. HOUSE BILL No. 8.

An Act to amend the title and sections one and two of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (P. L. 106), entitled "An act prohibiting the discharge from public positions of Union soldiers without a reasonable cause, and prohibiting the abolishment of or changing the emoluments of public offices occupied by Union soldiers except for good reasons," by extending the provisions to all honorably discharged persons who served or shall hereafter serve in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States was engaged or may hereafter engage; and fixing penalties.

Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

By Messrs. FOOR and STAMBAUGH. HOUSE BILL No. 9.

An Act to amend section four as amended, and section seventeen of the act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 149), entitled "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are ordinarily, practically, and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax, and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," by exempting from such tax liquid fuels used for the operation of stationary engines and the operation of tractors and machinery used other than on the highways, and providing refunds of taxes paid on such liquid fuel.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. KNOBLE. HOUSE BILL No. 10.

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the eighth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (P. L. 344), entitled "An act relating to husband and wife, enlarging her capacity to acquire and dispose of property, to sue and be sued, and to make a last will, and enabling them to sue and to testify against each other in certain cases," by further enlarging her capacity to acquire, enjoy, and dispose of her property.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

By Mr. ROSENFELD. HOUSE BILL No. 11.

An Act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the "Pennsylvania Board of Parole"; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions, including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employees; dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employees thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors; providing penalties therefor and for other cognate purposes; and making an appropriation.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. EALY.

That Rule 38 which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. KEPHART,

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—45

Barr,	Ealy,	Lanius,	Stevenson,

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. James, will state his point of information.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, under the new rules of the Senate I understand we are not required to go into Executive Session in order to consider nominations by the Governor for Notaries Public just presented to the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. It is the understanding of the Chair that immediately after the receipt of nominations for Notaries Public the Senate may immediately confirm them, but where nominations have previously been referred to a committee, the Senate must follow former procedure.

NOMINATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

NOTARIES PUBLIC

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now advise and consent to the nominations for Notaries Public received from the Governor today.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The nominations were read as follows:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to return the nomination to the Governor?

It was agreed to,

COMMUNICATION FROM SECRETARY OF SENATE RELATIVE TO RESOLUTION CALLING UPON SECRETARY OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE TO REPORT TO SENATE

The Chair presented a communication dated January 27, 1941, from the Secretary of the Senate to the President and members of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The Communication reads as follows:

January 27, 1941.

To the President and members of the Senate of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:

On January 13, 1941, the Senate adopted a motion offered by Senator Haluska, of Cambria County, calling upon the Secretary of Public Assistance to make a report as set forth in the resolution of the Senator from Cambria, which appears on page 317 of the Journal of the Senate for the Special Session of 1940.

This resolution is recorded on page 21 in the History of Senate Bills and Resolutions for that Session. It was a concurrent resolution and is as follows:

"Whereas, the rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance requiring relief recipients to execute a bond as a condition precedent to receiving relief has been a source of controversy; and

"Whereas, The General Assembly regards home ownership as one of the highest forms of good citizenship and wishes to encourage it in every conceivable manner; therefore be it

"Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Secretary of Public Assistance is hereby directed to make a study and investigation of:

"(1) The relative advantages and disadvantages to all concerned of the present rule or regulation requiring relief recipients to execute a reimbursement agreement as a condition precedent to qualifying for relief.

"Resolved, That the Secretary of Public Assistance shall make a report of such study and investigation to the General Assembly at its next regular session, together with his recommendation, for its guidance on this subject."

The record shows that this resolution was adopted by the Senate on May 16 and messaged to the House. In the House, it was referred to the Committee on Rules on the same day and not reported out.

The Legislature adjourned finally on May 16.

Respectfully Submitted,
GEORGE F. HOLMES.
Secretary.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, am I to understand this communication is my answer to my inquiry on the question of the bond requirement?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair supposes it must be so construed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am under the impression my previous resolution read that the Department of Public Assistance shall make a study and state whether or not it is advantageous or disadvantageous to continue the relief bond and we are waiting patiently for that reply. To further clarify the situation, Mr. President, on January 13th of this year a motion was passed by this body asking the Department of Public Assistance to give his answer and place a copy of that answer upon the desk of every member of this House.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, the Chair understands the resolution introduced by the gentleman from Cambria last year in the last days of the Special Session was a concurrent resolution and was forwarded promptly, after its passage in the Senate, to the House and the House took no action on the resolution.

That is what the Chair understands and that is what the Secretary of the Senate found when he endeavored to carry out the expressed wish of the Senate last week.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, did the Department of Public Assistance take action upon the motion passed by this body January 13, 1941, as appears in the Journal?

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, and also the other Senators, the Clerk will read statement of the Chair relative to this matter January 13, 1941.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, and seconded by the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. Walker, that the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance shall make a report as set forth in the resolution of the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, as appeared in page 317 of the Journal of the Senate of the Special Session of 1940; and that a copy of said report be placed on the desk of each Senator.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, as a matter of information am I to understand that because the House failed to concur in the original resolution of last May that the Department of Public Assistance failed to act and will continue to fail to act and refuses to act?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair believes the Senator from Cambria is wrong in that interpretation.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am asking the question; I do not know.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator that was not a concurrent resolution and it was passed by the Senate and immediately sent to the House. The House adjourned without passing the resolution and therefore the resolution could not go to the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance. That is the way the Chair understands it. If there is a different construction to be placed on that question the Chair would suggest that someone explain it to the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

Mr. HALUSKA. Then, Mr. President, am I to understand that because the House failed to concur, that is the sole reason why the Department of Public Assistance has failed to comply with my request; is that correct?

The PRESIDENT. That is the way the Chair understands it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Then, Mr. President, I of course assume I must present another resolution and try once again to accomplish my point; is that correct?

The PRESIDENT. That is the Chair's thought as to the way it should be done. The resolution submitted by the Senator from Cambria was passed by the Senate and then sent to the House for concurrence.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is not my quarrel but I should like to take this occasion to suggest that I again see convincing evidence of the fact that this so-called harmony and unity is a matter of mere words and phrases.

I have never before in legislative history, Mr. President, felt that an officer of the Commonwealth who has, as he points out, read the records and seen that the Senate unanimously adopted a resolution—whether it was joint or several is immaterial to the purpose of my point—calli upon him to give certain information to the Senate a six or eight months after that resolution was adopt answered by saying, I am sorry even though the Sen wanted this information, and even though this is of i portance to the Senate, the House having adjourned b fore it got a chance to act on the resolution, I now c your attention to the record and rest.

I think it is certainly evident that he should be criticiz more in view of the fact that on January 13th, when must be assumed that the Senate and the House knew wh action had occurred on the resolution, that the gent man from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, and the gentleman fr Allegheny, Mr. Walker, who joined in the motion calli upon the Secretary to give the Senate the very informati which was requested in that resolution, it is certain obvious that notwithstanding the fact the record sho the resolution was not passed, we want that informati and the gentleman then takes it upon himself to call c attention to the record.

Well, Mr. President, we can read the record for ou selves and we can find out for ourselves and we do n need anybody to send us a long winded letter with a co of the resolution and a copy of the record in a matter such grave importance to the Commonwealth and to t citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I wa to stand on the floor of this Senate and protest agai that kind of action and say that is not the kind of acti we expect from departmental heads, and when they give us that kind of action they deserve to and should publicly criticized.

I do not think, Mr. President, these two gentlemen, Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska and the Senator fr Allegheny, Mr. Walker, asked that this motion be adop simply for the purpose of hearing themselves talk.

These two gentlemen, Mr. President are on opposite si of the political fence and both of them wanted this formation and both of them are entitled to it and so is Senate, and I think it is an insult to the intelligence the Senators here to have the gentleman who wrote t letter send that communication telling us what our r records show. Those records are our own and we do need any salaried man to tell us what the record sho and, Mr. President, I do not think it requires anot motion by either of these gentlemen, either the Sena from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, or the Senator from A gheny, Mr. Walker, to get that information.

That record of January 13, 1941, Mr. President, i direction to the gentleman and we do not need a joint re lution as that is a direction to the head of the Departm of Public Assistance to furnish this body with the infor tion requested, and unless he does furnish the informa requested I will suggest to the two gentlemen that t ask that another resolution be introduced calling upon and giving him the criticism necessary.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am afraid the 4 campaign for the governorship has just started. I do think these gentlemen are being quite fair with the Se tary of the Department of Public Assistance. Mr. Pr dent, we might as well expect a police officer to enf the law because some bill passed the Senate and never went through the House.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that the mistake was n hen the gentleman from Cambria did not introduce a nate resolution. When he introduced a concurrent reso- tion, which was not passed by the House, it seems to me e Secretary of Public Assistance has no direction at all om the Legislature.

I do think, Mr. President, the gentleman is being a little ifair about it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman is re- rring to the 1942 campaign but I wish it to be known that presented my resolution before the 1941 campaign was er. I do not think that has anything whatsoever to do ith it.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair believes the gentleman eans the 1940 campaign.

Mr. HALUSKA. Yes, Mr. President, the 1940 campaign. at has nothing whatever to do with it, Mr. President, id I now stress the fact that I am thinking of the people Pennsylvania—the forgotten man. I offered my reso- tion in the Special Session of the General Assembly and that time the members on the right side of the House ought the issue was so important that before they acted on this resolution they called upon this secretary to give em an idea whether or not they were right or wrong, how they should vote.

Now, Mr. President, the gentleman is looking forward 1942, but I may say this: This is a very important issue, id what happened in 1940 will happen in 1942, whether ou are Democrats or Republicans, if you sit here and ke no part in trying to abolish this most vicious provi- on ever placed in the statute books.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I think the members this Senate, I mean those who are level-headed and ish to do what is right, are justified in presuming from e question now before us that there is some reason that e Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance does ot want to give us the information asked for.

It is evident that good government in this question ould have at least prompted the Secretary of the De- artment of Public Assistance to give the Senate that in- rmation notwithstanding the status of the record.

When we weigh this question seriously now before us, r. President, we can see further and understand many her provisions of our Constitution and law that we ght to be governed by.

The record of this Senate in previous Sessions will show at there have been members on both sides who have ated that the Governor of this Commonwealth when he akes an executive nomination is entitled to the courtesy having that nomination accepted by this body without y question and without anybody interposing any ob- ction.

Now here, Mr. President, we have a question before us here there may be members of this Senate who knew, the time this man was made a member of the Gov- nor's cabinet, that he did not possess the qualifications, at he was not made of the proper metal that should go ith a good public official, but we were told, Mr. Presi- nt, and consistently we were told that members who e lawfully elected to this Senate have no right to ques- on the integrity of the Chief Executive in making execu- e nominations.

I want to call that to the attention of this body, Mr. esident, and I want the record to emphatically record my opposition to the proposition that under our constitution the Governor has the right to his executive nominations without any question by this body.

I want to add my vehement condemnation to the conduct of Mr. Russell, the secretary, and I think that whether the record shows what he has pointed out to us or not, a good public official interested in good government would have thought the record is in this state, but nevertheless because you seem to be interested in this information here it is, I am going to give it to you, and if he would stand on the technical ground that he thought he did not have to prepare this information for us until the present time then he should have stated even though the record is like this and you insist upon having the information I do not have it now, but I will get it and give it to you.

That, Mr. President, would have been the mental attitude of a good public official who did not have anything to conceal from the public or this body.

I think it does not require any other motion or resolution in this case. I think the President of this Senate, in due courtesy to all of the members of the Senate, ought to take it upon himself to notify the Secretary of Public Assistance that he should furnish this information at the earliest possible time and before this particular session adjourns.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am a little worried about the people who are involved directly with this bond and I do not want them to be smothered by law.

I think it is a very serious thing, Mr. President, when a legislative body such as the Pennsylvania State Senate asks for certain information and the head of a department through a technicality fails to furnish that information. I think that should be stopped before it becomes contagious and the heads of other departments adopt the same tactics.

Mr. President, the request for the information was made in good faith by the gentleman from Cambria and I in good faith seconded the motion and I think we are entitled to have that information, I am frankly, in the vernacular, of the opinion that he is stalling and not giving us that information and I think the Secretary of the Senate could easily communicate the feelings of the Senate to the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance and get that information over here forthwith.

Mr. President, I think it is beneath our dignity that we should have to produce another resolution and coax the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance to give us the information we are entitled to have when in the meantime the people who are subject to the imposition of these bonds are still exposed to that racket we are trying to stop, and it keeps going on year after year and we can not get it stopped on account of technicalities. I think it is an outrage and an insult to the Senate.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, is entitled to the information he has requested. However, there is a little confusion about this matter. We must remember, Mr. President, this resolution never really went to the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance and he has never had a copy of this resolution.

Mr. President, I think it is only proper that the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, introduce a resolution—a Senate resolution, it does not need to be a joint or concurrent resolution.

There was a considerable amount of confusion in the way this motion was made and the way it appears in the record and while I think the Senator from Cambria, is entitled to have the information I feel a proper resolution should be handed to the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to make two answers to the comments which have been made. First, Mr. President, I want to tell the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, I am not surprised he is worried about the election for 1942. I think he ought to be one of the first fellows to be worried about it.

As to the statement of the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, I should like to say a gentleman who can so well read the record as to be able to tell us six months later the resolution according to the record shows it did not pass in the House, also should be able to read the record and know that according to the Legislative Journal we said to them in spite of that we wanted the information.

Mr. President, I do not think you need another resolution at all; I think the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance has had plenty of notice and ample information as to what we want. The debate on this mater, Mr. President, went on for days.

I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that after all we are not interested in ourselves or whether or not we are going to get satisfaction from the Department of Public Assistance, but, Mr. President, what we are really interested in is: are the people being affected by the legislation and the practice about which we are inquiring, and we do not want this man to come and tell us nothing more than what is contained in this Journal, and if he read last year's Journal he can read these things and he saw that and he knows that and he has still not furnished the information; and he is stalling.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EALY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, did the gentleman from Somerset have any knowledge of the fact that on January 13th, when I made my request asking for this report, that the House had failed to concur in this resolution?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I did not have such information. I only knew that after the session adjourned.

Mr. President, I want to call attention to the fact that this motion, as it appears in the record, does not ask the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance to supply the information in this resolution but it asks him to make a report on a resolution which never got to him.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest that the gentleman who is the head of the Department of Public Assistance does not need a Senate resolution to dump a lot of other information on our desks which is so voluminous we cannot read it and I think he should give us the information we requested because we are entitled to it.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I may have a misunderstanding of this situation, but I think there is a clear misunderstanding on the part of the others. If I understand correctly, Mr. President, the report with which we have to do was a report from the Secretary of the Senate and not, Mr. President, a report from the Department of Public Assistance, so that the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance certainly has been unjustly accused here, since he has not heretofore, or up to this time, received any notice of any motion or any resolution.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I voted for the resolution introduced by the gentlemen from Cambria, Mr. Haluska at the last session and I am in favor of that information being sent to the Senate, but, Mr. President, it seems to me that if we ask for information in that irregular manner, without it being properly recorded, we are setting a very bad precedent for future procedure.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the proper thing would be for the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, to introduce a resolution, have it passed, and then have a copy of it sent to the head of the department. That, Mr. President, is the regular way I think to do it and I think if we follow any other course we are setting a very bad example. That would not take much time, Mr. President and I think the information then would be forthcoming.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I think at this time we are all very familiar with what we are talking about. In fact, we should be. I see no reason why we should call any further upon the Department of Public Assistance or any other department asking whether or not we might be permitted to vote upon a certain piece of legislation. We know what we are talking about, Mr. President, and we know what is going on. We know also, Mr. President, who is being penalized.

RESOLUTION DIRECTING DISCONTINUANCE OF REGULATION OF EXECUTION OF BOND

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I for that reason offer the following resolution pertaining directly to the Bond without requiring any report by the Department of Public Assistance.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, The rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance requiring relief recipients to execute a bond as a condition precedent to receiving relief has been a constant source of public indignation for years as the requirement has had the effect of penalizing only those citizens of the Commonwealth who heretofore through their industry and thrift managed to become home owners and

Whereas, The General Assembly regards home ownership as one of the highest forms of good citizenship and wishes to encourage it in every conceivable manner, and

Whereas, The interests of the Commonwealth are adequately and fully protected by existing law; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance is hereby directed to discontinue the rule or regulation requiring relief recipients to execute a bond as a condition precedent to qualifying for relief and that henceforth no such requirement shall be made.

Mr. HALUKSA. Mr. President, I ask that the clerk read the resolution slowly please.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the resolution slowly and distinctly in order that all members of the Senate may hear and grasp the idea.

The Clerk again read the resolution.

MOTION FOR IMMEDIATE ADOPTION OF RESOLUTION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of the resolution.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I object and ask that the esolution be referred to a committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I insist upon an imme-liate adoption.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it means a suspen-ion of the rules.

The PRESIDENT. Under the rules of the Senate the esolution must be referred to a committee because there as been objection. There must be unanimous consent, he way the Chair understands it, before it can be given mmediate action.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE NO. 39

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move the suspension f Rule No. 39.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the gentleman rom Cambria, Mr. Haluska, and seconded by the gentle-nan from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, that Rule No. 39 be uspended for the purpose of taking immediate action on he resolution introduced by the Senator from Cambria.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, before a roll call is taken I should like to interrogate the Senator from Cambria.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cambria per-mit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is the resolution just presented by the Senator from Cambria identical with the resolution which passed the Senate in May.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I might say the resolu-tion I have presented is identical with the one I intro-duced in May.

Mr. EDMONDS. But, Mr. President, it did not pass the Senate in that form.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it was amended by the Senate in May.

The PRESIDENT. The question now before the Senate s on the question of the suspension of Rule No. 39.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am wondering if the Senator from Cambria would not permit the resolution to e withdrawn, with the understanding it will go over until omorrow. No one has yet had opportunity to read it and, fter all, I think we would like to read it.

Mr. HALUSKA. What is there to be known about it, Mr. President?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, we would like to read he resolution before voting on it.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, may I ask the Chair o have the resolution read again

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the resolution vill again be read, in order that the Senators may know he purport of the resolution.

(The resolution was again read by the Clerk.)

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate he Senator from Cambria.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cambria per-mit himself to be interrogated

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentle-man from Cambria if it is not a fact that the use of the bond is a rule of the department that is backed up by the opinions of two attorneys general, one the present in-cumbent and the other his predecessor, Guy K. Bard?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, under the Pamphlet Laws of 1937, amended in 1939, you will find the follow-ing wording: "That the Department of Public Assistance shall make its own rules and regulations." I know of no one who has written any opinion on that and I would like to have that opinion by any attorney general.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to suggest and direct the attention of the Senate to the fact that when this matter was before the Senate in the session of 1939, and also in the Special Session in 1940, there were opinions read purporting to have come from Guy K. Bard, when he was attorney general and the present incumbent, At-torney General Claude T. Reno, and evidently the head of the department was taking action predicated upon those opinions, and I would like to suggest to the gentle-man from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, that nobody wants to get rid of these bonds any more than I do, but I do not think we should suggest to the department a method contrary to the opinions of the Attorneys General, which in turn would embarrass the head of the department. I have no desire to embarrass him; I merely want to stop the use of the bonds and I suggest to the gentleman from Cambria that the resolution he has offered is contrary to the opin-ions of the Attorneys General and therefore it would place the head of the Department of Public Assistance in an embarrassing position, if we were to ask him to violate what is purported to be the law.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I think the gentle-man from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, has brought out a very material point here. Not only do we have the opinions of the two Attorneys General mentioned, but there is a specific Act of Assembly on the statute books that requires a bond. My understanding of this discussion, Mr. Presi-dent, from the very beginning, I mean from the other Session, was to this point: The judgment clause incor-porated in the bond required—there was no objection, as I understand, to the giving of the bond, but there was this serious objection to the insertion of the judgment clause and that judgment clause was inserted under a rule and regulation of the Department of Public Assistance and the two opinions of the attorneys general were merely on the point as to whether or not the Department of Pub-lic Assistance could by its rules and regulations insert that judgment clause and, Mr. President, both opinions were affirmative on that point.

I think, Mr. President, we properly had better be cau-tious on this resolution, if the resolution would call upon repealing of an Act of Assembly which can not be done by mere adoption of a resolution.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise to inform my col-leagues the vote about to be taken is not a vote on the resolution but a vote to suspend the rule which provides this resolution be submitted to a committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, due to the fact that there have been various differences of opinion, I would like to withdraw the resolution I submitted and I shall prepare a resolution calling upon the Department of Public Assistance—as suggested by the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ealy—asking that the Department of Public Assistance report at an early date, possibly tomorrow, their findings upon this original resolution.

Resolution referred to Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

The PRESIDENT. The motion of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, to suspend Rule 39, is withdrawn, and the resolution introduced by the gentleman from Cambria, is referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I was going to suggest there is no use to withdraw that; let the resolution be referred to committee, and in committee be so amended.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senateor from Fayette that is what has been done.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, very well, sir.

The PRESIDENT. The only thing before the Senate was a motion to suspend Rule 39. That was withdrawn and the resolution has been referred to a proper committee.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I can hardly suscribe to the statement contained in an article appearing in the Philadelphia Record of this morning. I think it is very important and concerns us very vitally. I therefore, Mr. President, shall now read the article as it appeared. The article is headed "Blackie Zupkosky's Pals." I read from the article.

BLACKIE ZUPKOSKY'S 'PALS'

Blackie Zupkosky, one of the most vicious thugs ever to make a joke of Pennsylvania justice, shot a man in Newark Friday night.

It was a holdup of a liquor store. Zupkosky says he was just passing by and met another thug, "Mike" Summers. Summers said: "Come on we're gonna stick this joint up."

Says Blackie:

"I couldn't let a pal down, so I followed in."

Thus one more shooting was added to the list of Zupkosky's crimes, one of the longest and most notorious on local records.

Blackie Zupkosky had other "pals." Maybe you know them:

Judge Harry S. McDevitt, who paroled Blackie in 1939 with the statement:

"I suppose that if I put you back on the street it will shock the community as well as a great many persons for whose opinion I dont care a whit."

Now Judge McDevitt says he is "shocked."

When Zupkosky was told how McDevitt felt, he lapsed once more from crime to remorse. He felt terrible—

Because he'd let a "pal" down.

At the hearing before Judge McDevitt, the District Attorney's office was represented by Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. Carroll, recently appointed a Common Pleas Judge by Governor James. Since Carroll acquiesced; he should be counted as another "pal" Blackie let down.

Still other "pals" of Blackie Zuposky were found on the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons in 1938 under the administration of Governor Earle. The board was warned advance of public indignation over parole abuses under the Pinchot administration.

The Earle Board met that situation by giving Zupkosky his parole in secret. They did so at the behest of Paul V. Costello, who originally sponsored him, and Warden Herbert Smith, of Eastern Penitentiary.

Zupkosky was given this parole even though he had been sentenced to a term of 70 to 140 years; even though more than 61 robbery charges were still pending against him, and even though Judge Howard A. Davis, who sentenced him, regarded him as a thoroughly dangerous professional thug.

Sad that Blackie has had to go and let all those "pals" down, too.

The reader may speculate for himself why a ruthless thug had so many friends in such high places—Judges, Prison Wardens' Pardon Board members and even the Governor himself signed the parole

Zupkosky's sponsor was a Democratic division worker employed by Thomas A. Logue, then a member of the Pardon Board. And his counsel was no less than a Republican member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

The Record assailed the Pardon Board at the time. Our voice was not heard. We called attention to the fact that Zupkosky, after a long record of holdups, was shot in a fight; escaped from Philadelphia General Hospital where he was officially "dying;" engaged in a $5000 pay roll holdup shortly afterward; tried to shoot a cop and failed only because his gun jammed.

But the parole, had been granted. Then some of the untried charges against Zupkosky were revived, but Judge McDevitt set him free, with the observation:

"I will assume full responsibility for this act."

Our parole system is doomed unless the power of parole and pardon is removed from political control and turned over to experts who know how to use it; not abuse it. The Pardon Board and the Judiciary have proven over a long period of time that this function is misplaced with them.

The power of parole was intended to reclaim the young offender, who could offer real hope of reform and to meet the problem of those who commit crimes, such as crimes, such as crimes of passion, and who almost certainly would never repeat the offense.

The power of parole was not intended to afford a back-door of escape from prison for unredeemable, professional criminals such as Zupkosky. That he belonged in that class should have been evident to the most naive.

Justice may now belatedly deal with Blackie as it should.

Zupkosky's "pals," luckily for them, have only to answer to their own consciences.

Mr. President, it comes as a distinct shock to have Judge Harry S. McDevitt called a criminal's pal. Thousands of civic-minded Philadelphians have come to regard Judge McDevitt as the one man to put punch in the slogan "Crime Does Not Pay," and as the one man who did more to purge Philadelphia of its vicious criminal element than any other Judge on the Bench within recent history.

And Judge Vincent Carroll was bracketed with Judge

McDevitt in the newspaper charge because both men acted in good faith in participating in the parole of the notorious "Blackie" Zuposky in 1939 and who recently turned back to a career of crime. Any lawyer who enjoyed the privilege of fighting Judge Carroll when he served as an Assistant District Attorney knows only too well his towering zeal for convictions, and the long list of criminals who were sent to jail through his efforts speaks eloquently of the extent of his interest and where it has always lain. In fact, he fought so hard to do his duty as a member of the District Attorney's staff that several cases he handled were reversed by the Appellate Courts because of an over-indulgence of such zeal.

The implication of the newspaper charge is to the effect that both of these officials were highly remiss in showing any confidence at all in Zupkosky's rehabilitation. From the standpoint of what happened since, the parole was a mistake. But anybody can be a second guesser. The football world is full of Monday morning quarterbacks. But as of the time Judges McDevitt and Carroll acted, there were plenty of honest reasons in their minds for acting as they did. The whole theory of criminal punishment involves the principle of rehabilitation as one of its main objectives. These two judges, along with other men whose sincerity can not be questioned believed that Zupkosky could be rehabilitated. The fact that these men were of both major political parties shows that politics could have but little to do with it. The Parole Board and Warden Smith acted on what, in the light of their then knowledge, indicated the successful outcome of their belief that despite Zupkosky's admittedly black past, he could be led into a straight path of living. It has been done before and will be done hundreds of times again in cases just as bad. That their hopes failed to materialize was because of an honest mistake for which they should not be condemned by inuendo.

There is more at stake in the matter than merely the reputations of Judges McDevitt and Carroll both of whom need no apologists. They both believed in the parole system and they still do. Judge McDevitt's indefatigable efforts to salvage something worthwhile from the human delinquency that comes before him is well known by everybody connected with penal as well as with crime-prevention work. He visits the jails weekly; he keeps an eye on incarcerated men who show promise of reform; he works hard for the families of the men so confined, so that their economic burden is lightened; he does not rest with the sentence.

If, therefore, we condemn an honest effort to make the parole system workable, we destroy the very object of criminal justice and shut the doors of despair in the face of every convict. It's all well and good to point out the occasional mistake of the parole system, but it's just as important to remember the overwhelming good it has done.

I rise, therefore, to the defense of these two men with full knowledge of the value of their long and conscientious service to stop crime, and also to express my confidence in the parole system as it is now written in our statutes and the men who help administer it, and to instill in these men further confidence, should they so need it, to carry their fight for rehabilitation of prisoners beyond the courtroom, beyond the court sentence and beyond the biased opinions of newspapers.

I also arise in defense of our parole boards. They have done excellent work and have always acted without regard to race, color, creed or politics. Politics have played no part with the board during the Earle Administration nor the present administration. The board today as then is comprised of men and women who are not callous and cold and indifferent to the rights of unfortunates. They are human and if it is the purpose of a newspaper to destroy one's humaneness and conscience, it will not succeed.

Gentlemen, I make this statement knowing full well that I may lose favor with our Democratic newspaper, but it makes little or no difference to me. My conscience and judgment prevail. As contrasted with this article, let me now read you an article from the Philadelphia Bulletin, to which I heartily subscribe. I quote:

PAROLE'S BLACK EYE

Persons who believe that the parole system is a device for coddling convicts will regard the case of William Zupkowsky as proof of the existence of an evil that calls for correction.

It tends to undermine the contention that parole is workable if properly administered. For in the Zupkowsky case the fundamentals of proper parole were duly observed. By his conduct the prisoner had convinced the Judge who acted on his case, the District Attorney's office, the prison authorities and experienced social service agents that he was a changed man; and after his release he was kept under close observation.

Unfortunately, "Blackie" fooled them all; perhaps even himself. The criminal virus was in his blood. He drifted back into his old ways, and is again in the toils.

There is a difference between this case and those of convicts thoughtlessly turned loose to prey on society; and the fact remains that many paroled prisoners justify, by their subsequent conduct, their release.

It will not do to reason from the particular to the general. Parole has a new black eye, but it is a valuable tool in the hands of enlightened penology when properly used, an occasional notable exception to the rule notwithstanding.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair at first could not see a point of personal privilege because apparently the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, was not a pal; his name was not mentioned. However, the Chair is indebted to the Senator from Philadelphia, because the Chair believes that brings very forcibly before each and every member of the Senate what the Chair, as Chairman of the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons, has been advocating, and the Chair is going to call on this body presently to support liquor legislation that might correct the conditions just referred to by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan.

Thank you for raising a point of personal privilege for the Chair.

RESOLUTION DIRECTING SECRETARY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE TO REPORT TO SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

In the Senate, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, The rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance requiring relief recipients to execute a bond as a condition precedent to receiving relief has been a constant source of public indignation for years as the requirement has had the effect of penalizing only those citizens of the Commonwealth who heretofore through their industry and thrift managed to become home owners; and

Whereas, The General Assembly regards home ownership as one of the highest forms of good citizenship and wishes to encourage it in every conceivable manner,

Therefore, Be it Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance shall report to the Senate of Pennsylvania as to the advantages and disadvantages with reference to abolishing the bond procedure as outlined above.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, because of the fact it was the Senate's intention to have this important information a long time past I now ask that nobody object to its immediate adoption.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I have no objection to the adoption of the resolution, but the preamble is bad and in voting for the call for information we do not wish to be understood as assenting to all features of the preamble.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in line with what the Senator from Somerset has said and in view of the discussion we have already had on this question, I think it is not a resolution we need but it is a bill to repeal the statute that is on the books requiring the bond.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, that bill is on the calendar, Senate Bill No. 15, introduced by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, but speaking of preambles I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Somerset if he is interested in preambles, as to what they mean, that he read the preamble to the House Bill in Delaware County; it has a lovely preamble under which the water works were bought.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in reply to the remarks of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, I might say for his information that I last week introduced a bill revising the public support law and if he reads that bill he will find the answer to his query.

However, if you will note here under "be it resolved" I have not said just how promptly the Department of Public Assistance should give us the answer, That might be important to him. I think we should have the answer tomorrow but if he thinks next week is too soon we will give him plenty of opportunity, make it the week after next, just so we get the answer. I have been very fair in this resolution. Mr. President; I am asking one thing and that is his reaction insofar as this bond is concerned.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I appreciate the information imparted to me by the gentleman from Cambria, and I also appreciate the information he seeks in this case and which apparently he does not have himself.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Fayette does not need the information he has requested from the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance. I already have that information and I know what action should be taken and every member of this Senate at this time has all of the information. We do not need this information, Mr. President.

There is an Act of Assembly on the statute books that requires this bond. We know that and we also know that the objectionable thing is the judgment clause inserted in that bond and the only answer to this thing is this: not a resolution, not information from the secretary, but a bill to repeal the act that requires the bond and then, when that bill comes up for proper discussion in this body and the House we may then decide whether we should insert in that repealing act authority to the Department of Public Assistance to insert a judgment clause in the bond.

I do not need that information, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, granting what the Senator from Fayette has said, that as I understand the law, will not correct the situation because in many counties today the Public Assistance Department is going right in with a suit in assumpsit and getting judgment that way.

Mr. President, the act creating the Department of Public Assistance will have to be changed in that respect, to effect a complete cure of the trouble the Senator from Cambria is seeking.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in answer to the statement of the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Reed, for whom I have a high regard, I do not need that information from the secretary on that point, because being an attorney and supposedly learned in the law I know that the courts of this Commonwealth have already held, and the cases are reported, that notwithstanding any Act of Assembly the State of Pennsylvania has a common law right to receive from the estates of these relief recipients the amount the state has contributed to their support. Still the question recurs, and I say, Mr. President, we do not need this information from the secretary; what we need is an Act of Assembly repealing the statute that requires a bond and to also repeal the common law rule that makes the estate of a deceased liable in cases of this kind.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I want to call to the attention of the gentleman from Fayette also the fact that in many counties under the Public Assistance law and some other laws, our chief difficulty with this question does not only arise in the civil courts but it also is passed over into the criminal courts, and they are now putting people in jail who are on public assistance.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in answer to that problem the people are not being put in jail because they sign a bond, or because the Act of Assembly requires a bond; they are being put in jail because they fraudulently and deceitfully obtain relief from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and they ought to be put in jail for that.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I agree with my two colleagues from Fayette and Washington counties that my resolution is not an answer to this great problem. Then, you may ask me, why present that resolution, and my answer is that because prior to 1939, it was never known that any person in this Commonwealth ever signed a bond, despite the fact that it was the law of the state. It was only after 1939 that the present administration took upon itself the responsibility of compelling the relief recipients to sign a bond; so if prior to 1939 the rule was not effective, I thought possibly we might make that rule non-effective again up until such time that this body might take time to read Senate Bill No. 13. If you will read Senate Bill No. 13 you will find an answer to the question of the Senator from Fayette and the Senator from Washington County.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, if our colleague from Cambria county would read the minutes of the meetings of the board to which he refers, as not requiring that bond, he might not be in such a bragging mood, when he stated as to the reasons given why the Democrats did not require that bond just before election. However, since there is this question arising now as to whether or not this resolution is what we thought it would be, that requires him to get this information for us, I object to its immediate adoption and ask it to be referred to a committee.

The PRESIDENT. There is objection to immediate consideration of the resolution.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE NO. 39

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that we suspend Rule No. 39 pertaining to this resolution.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the Senator from Cambria and seconded by the Senator from Philadelphia that Rule No. 39 be suspended.

Are there any remarks?

MOTION TO LAY MOTION ON TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the motion of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, to suspend Rule No. 39 be laid on the table.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, and seconded by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, that the motion to suspend Rule No. 39 be laid on the table.

Are there any remarks?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I intend to vote against this resolution because I think we ought to vote on the resolution just to defeat it and not because I agree with the bond that the Department of Public Assistance requires.

If the Democratic administration did not require this bond, I am not here condoning their conduct, because if they did not enforce it they were violating the law, and I am one citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who will not condone any violation of any law, no matter what it is; political expediency means nothing to me. The law is on the statute books and it ought to be enforced, regardless of who is hurt.

This resolution should not be laid on the table, but should be voted down, and I will vote against the adoption of the resolution, not because I believe in the bond, but because I want to vote for some measure that will repeal that law and keep it repealed, and this resolution calling upon the Secretary of Department of Public Assistance to furnish this information will not have that affect.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, did I understand the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, to get up on the floor after I introduced my resolution and ask his colleagues not to object to this resolution?

Mr. GELTZ. I did, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, and did I not understand the gentleman to later get up on the floor and object to the adoption of this resolution?

Mr. GELTZ. I did, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, can the gentleman from Allegheny give any good reason for his actions?

Mr. GELTZ. I do not know, Mr. President, whether my colleague from Cambria considers it a good reason or not, but I gave the reason for my position.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I hear it again, please?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, at the time I gave my reason, I said something to this affect, that since there seemed to be disagreement on the other side, and since Mr. Haluska himself says that this resolution does not accomplish what we hope to have accomplished, I saw no reason for its immediate adoption, and therefore objected to it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to suggest that we are playing a little bit of marbles here. There is a bill on the Calendar, which is Senate Bill No. 15, which provides for the repeal of the act which makes it necessary for the Department of Public Assistance to require this bond in the form in which it is issued. Now, whether or not that bill should be passed is a question which will come before this Senate sooner or later. I think there has been some disagreement on one side or the other as to the advisability of the resolution, which does not change the fact that in order to act intelligently on Senate Bill No. 15 we should have the information, not that I gather or that somebody else gathers, but information from the department itself. Just what the effect of that provision has been upon the community, the State of Pennsylvania, how it has worked in the department, what profit if any there has been, I do not mean in dollars and cents, but from the point of view of keeping off relief rolls those who are not entitled to relief, but such information as any good legislature would want to have from the proper source when it acts on legislation. Therefore it seems to me that while the first resolution of the Senator from Cambria was not a proper resolution, because it undertook by resolution to repeal the existing law, the second resolution which is merely one of inquiry asking for this information is a proper resolution and even though there may be disagreement it does not take away the fact that we should have that information. I suggest to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, that he withdraw his objection and let us pass the resolution so that we can get the information which sooner or later we should have as good legislators.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, there is a motion before the House to table the motion to suspend the rule.

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is a motion to lay on the table the motion to suspend Rule No. 39, made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, under the rule of this Senate, an objection having been made to the immediate consideration of a resolution, the motion to lay on the table is out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules otherwise. The question before the House is the motion to lay the motion on the table.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HALUSKA, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Miller,	Wade,
Becker,	Farrell,	Scarlett,	Watkins,
Carr,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Wilson, H. I.,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crider,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Ziesenheim,
Crowe,	James,	Taylor,	Tyler,
Ealy,	Kephart,

NAYS—17

Barr,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Cavalcante,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,
Deitrick,	Mallery,	Reed,	Walker,
Dent,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Motion prevailed.

MOTION CALLING RESOLUTION FROM TABLE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I now call up from the table the previous resolution and move its immediate adoption.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. The previous resolution is now on the table. I now call it up for action.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. The motion has just laid the resolution on the table.

The PRESIDENT. It was to lay the motion on the table, to suspend Rule No. 39.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is correct, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Now, that reverts back to whether there is objection and there is objection and it goes to the Committee on Welfare and Assistance.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to follow my motion, if you please.

The PRESIDENT. Proceed.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE NO. 39

Mr. SHAPIRO. I called the resolution up for action, and I now move again that Rule No. 39 be suspended.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair must rule that the resolution is not on the table.

Mr. SHAPIRO. It is not?

The PRESIDENT. The resolution has been referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance, and Pensions.

The rule to lay on the table was the motion made by the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, to suspend Rule No. 39.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is correct, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The motion to lay that on the table was lost; Therefore his motion to suspend--

Mr. SHAPIRO. Is lost, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. We take action on that now. That is the action before the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the motion as I understood it was to lay on the table the motion to suspend the rule.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That motion was carried?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That leaves the resolution before us with an objection to its immediate adoption.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE No. 39

Mr. SHAPIRO. I now ask that Rule No. 39 be suspended and we act upon the resolution. Any motion that has been made to lay on the table can be made again. I am now again making that motion.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, moves that Rule No. 39 be suspended.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is correct, Mr. President. I am calling up Rule No. 39 from the table on which it was just laid.

The PRESIDENT. You said the resolution.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I Mean the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The motion now is on the suspension of the rule. The Clerk will call the roll.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Somerset, will state his point of order.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, we have just acted upon this motion which was laid on the table.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, that is correct, but a motion that has been laid on the table can be called up any time, and I am now calling up from the table the motion to suspend the rule.

The PRESIDENT. The point taken by the Senator from Philadelphia is correct. The error was when he stated "resolution" instead of "motion."

Mr. SHAPIRO. I said both, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, will you kindly state for the benefit of the members what the question is now, so that we can intelligently vote upon it?

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is the motion of the Senator from Philadelphia to take from the table the motion that was laid on the table, which motion is to suspend Rule No. 39. Is the Chair correct?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think we are voting now on the suspension of Rule No. 39, to take that from the table.

The PRESIDENT. And take it from the table.

Mr. SHAPIRO. And vote on it, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I may be foggy but that seems like an inconsistent statement to me. If we are voting to take it from the table, we are not voting on the motion itself. Mr. President, are we now voting on the motion to suspend the rule or the motion to take the previous motion from the table?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair may not understand what the motion is. The Chair tried to state it, but for the information of the Senators I will ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, to restate it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, there is now on the table a motion to suspend Rule 39, in connection with the action on the resolution presented by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Now, Mr. President, since a motion which has been laid on the table can be called up at any time for action, I now call up from the table the motion which was laid on the table, and I call it up for action, which means that we will now act on the suspension of Rule 39, just the same as any resolution that is laid on the table; we act on the resolution; we do not act on whether we should call it up from the table. If you will look at the rule, you will see that the rule provides that a motion to lay on the table can be called up for action at any time. That is the exact wording of the rule. I, therefore, call up for action the motion that was laid on the table.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I want to try to vote intelligently on this motion when this vote is called. I just do not understand the gentleman from Philadelphia or anyone else that has explained this. I sit rather close here to the gentleman from Cambria, and when he introduced his resolution there was objection and the gentleman from Cambria then moved to suspend the rule. That motion was seconded, and then the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, moved that the motion to suspend the rule be laid on the table, and that motion was carried. That leaves now the resolution before this body with the objection of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz. There is no motion on the table to be taken up at this time. The resolution is before this body with the objection made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would request the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, to read for his information the rule that you can take from the table a motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, since these rules are in the Journal, I am trying to find them.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair itself is laboring under the same handicap.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, while we are checking up on these rules, once again I wish to make my appeal to my colleagues on the right to withdraw their objections. All we are asking for is the Department of Public Assistance to give us what information they have in reference to this bond and whether they believe it must be or not, certainly there is no harm in it and I can't see why they should handicap us. We should have that information from the department informing us whether or not they are compelled to receive this bond before they can give relief, or whether they can act without the bond, and I believe we are entitled to that information, and I feel the Senator from Allegheny County, Mr. Geltz, should reconsider his objection and put this resolution through, because we are entitled to the information.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, some of my colleagues have objected to the preamble of the resolution, and if our colleague, Senator Haluska, will alter that preamble, I will be very glad to withdraw my objection.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will make up a new resolution in a few minutes.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would suggest that Mr. Haluska, from Cambria, and Mr. Geltz from Allegheny, get together and the Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, while the Senate is at ease, I don't want to inject myself into this but I happen to have received something in the mail that happens to bear on this particular subject and I would like to read it to the Senators.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, are trying to get together to relieve the situation as to the motion before the House.

Now, if there is no objection we will permit the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, to proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want you to pay a little attention to this; this is a notice, a final notice from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Assistance, dated January 17, 1941, which reads as follows:

"You failed to make a payment or to appear with regard to the claim for assistance held against you by the Commonwealth. If you do not call on 212 Denot Street, Greensburg, Pennsylvania, on Friday, January 22, 1941, at 1-4 o'clock, to discuss this matter, the claim will be referred to the Department of Justice for legal action without further notice."

Mr. President, I just wanted to call that to the attention of the members of the Senate because this woman is eighty-four years old. She owes the amount of $28.50 to the department and unless she gives it to them they are going to put her in jail.

I just wanted to call your attention to that, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will now be in order.

RESOLUTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in order to keep the record straight I shall withdraw the last resolution I presented and offer another resolution in its place.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair believes the proper procedure would be, now that the Senator from Cambria desires to withdraw his resolution, that the Senator withdraw the seconding.

If there is no objection to that procedure it will clear everything before the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion of the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Hulaska, in now withdrawing his resolution.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTION CALLING ON DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE TO REPORT TO SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I offer the following resolution and ask its immediate adoption.

In the Senate, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, The rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance requiring relief recipients to execute a bond as a condition precedent to receiving relief has been a constant source of discussion for years, and

Whereas, The General Assembly regards home ownership as one of the highest forms of good citizenship and wishes to encourage it in every conceivable manner.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance shall report to the Senate of Pennsylvania as to the advantages and dis-advantages with reference to abolishing the bond procedure as outlined above.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The motion is for immediate adoption of the resolution introduced by the Senator from Cambria.

Is there objection?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I would like to have some remarks on the resolution the way it is. Mr. President, I wish to object to that part of the "Whereas" of that resolution that says this bond is required by virtue of a rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance.

Now, Mr. President, it is either true or untrue; there is either an Act of Assembly requiring the bond or else it is a rule and regulation of the Department of Public Assistance.

The statement in that resolution that the bond is required by rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance is false and untrue and I do not intend to vote for a resoluion that contains a false and untrue statement.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HALUSKA and Mr. SHAPIRO and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—40

Barr,	Farrell,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Bartlett,	Frey,	McGinnis,	Tallman,
Becker,	Geltz,	McQuiddy,	Taylor,
Carr,	Haluska,	Miller,	Tyler,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Reed,	Wade,
Cox,	Homsher,	Ruth,	Walker,
Crider,	James,	Scarlett,	Watkins,
Crowe,	Jaspan,	Shapiro,	Wilson, H. I.,
Ealy,	Kephart,	Snowden,	Wilson, T. B.,
Edmonds,	Mallery,	Stevenson,	Ziesenheim,

NAYS—2

Cavalcante, Dent,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. EDMONDS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 27, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 3, 1941, at 4 o'clock, p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 3, 1941, at 9 o'clock, p. m.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to call attention to the fact that roads are in pretty bad condition and it takes a long time to come to Harrisburg from western Pennsylvania and I therefore still object to this body meeting at four o'clock.

Mr. President, some of us have some other work to do at home, for our constituents. I still say it is silly to come in here at four o'clock in the afternoon when the house does not meet until eight o'clock at night and I will maintain that position all session.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I should like to inquire why it took the gentleman so long to get from the Midway Hotel to Harrisburg.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am certainly glad the Senator mentioned that. I just wanted to be led into that particular question.

The PRESIDENT. The question is why did it take the Senator so long to get here. Is that the question? Will the Senator from Butler repeat the question?

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I inquired why it took the Senator from Westmoreland so long to get to Harrisburg from the Midway Hotel.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the truth of the matter is after you leave the Turnpike and run onto the Pennsylvania highways, and since the James administration has come into power they have thought more of spending dollars than they have of maintaining the roads in proper condition for the innocent motorists, because they have refused to put ashes on the roads and they do not do anything but sit around and spend very little money on the maintenance of roads so that those of us who must use the roads must take a long time because we have to drive carefully.

Mr. President, I just wanted to bring out the fact that the roads are not being taken care of by the present administration.

The PRESIDENT. Is the answer satisfactory to the Senator from Butler, Mr. Carr.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the Clerk present same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

CONDOLENCES TO SENATOR THOMAS ON THE DEATH OF HIS MOTHER

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, The members of the Senate of Pennsylvania have learned with sorrow of the death of the beloved mother of our colleague, Senator J. Fred Thomas, at her home in Sharon, advanced in years and after a life exemplifying Christian virtues; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extend to Senator Thomas its heartfelt sympathy in the great loss he has sustained and express the hope that he and his family may derive solace and comfort from the esteem in which she was held by her neighbors and many friends.

The Secretary of the Senate is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to Senator Thomas.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to request leave of absence for my colleague from Clearfield, Mr. Letzler, who is confined in bed.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The request is granted.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. CAVALCANTE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 35, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend section seven of the act approved the thirty-first day of March, one thousand eight hundred seventy-four (P. L. 13), entitled "An act to carry into effect section five, of article fourteen, of the constitution, relative to the salaries of county officers and the payment of fees received by them into the state or county treasury, in counties containing over one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants," removing the power of the salary board in fourth class counties to fix the number and salaries of deputies and clerks of certain county officers.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 36, entitled:

An Act requiring all persons otherwise qualified as electors to register for participation in elections, and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 37, entitled:

An Act to amend section four hundred forty-two of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards and commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers; and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," requiring Workmen's Compensation Referees to be learned in the law.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise in my place to present to the Senate four bills which are jointly sponsored by the Senator from Washington, Senator Reed, and myself. These four bills relate to fiscal matters in the state and I ask permission to make a very slight explanation on the subject.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Montgomery may proceed.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association which was held in Hershey the first week in January the tax section of that Association reported a series of resolutions which were unanimously approved by the Pennsylvania Bar Association and those resolutions called upon the general assembly to amend the fiscal laws in the following particulars.

First, to allow appeals to the Dauphin County Court and to the Supreme Court from the refusal of the Board of Finance and Revenue to grant refunds.

In that connection, Mr. President, I might state that it is probably well known to all the Senators that if a corporation files its report and there is objection by the State then there is a re-settlement by the Board of Finance and Revenue and from that re-settlement an appeal may be taken to the Court, but if a corporation or an individual has paid its or his tax or has over paid the tax and asks for a refund he or it must file a petition for a refund and can not appeal to the court.

In several cases, Mr. President, the Supreme Court has decided that since there is no appeal in the Fiscal Code therefore there is no appeal on refunds.

That is the first one of those bills, Mr. President.

In the second bill it is proposed that interest shall be allowed on refund claims from the date of payment to the date of allowance of the refund. The rate of interest stated in these bills is two per cent, which I am inclined to think low, when we consider the interest the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania charges if a taxpayer has failed to make his payment on time. However, Mr. President, that is a subject for later consideration by this body.

Third, Mr. President, it is proposed that the Fiscal Code be amended so as to provide that appeals from re-settlement shall be filed by the appellant in the Dauphin County Court within the time now limited by law and that the requisite bond be filed in the appeal. That changes the law in this particular, Mr. President. Today it is required that appeals be filed in the Department of Justice and the intention is to hurry up proceedings by getting them into court at once.

The fourth, bill proposes that Section No. 1104 of the Fiscal Code be amended to provide that the sixty day period begin to run after notice of refusal to resettle or, in case of resettlement the certification by the Department of Revenue of the resettlement made by the Board of Finance and Revenue.

I may say, Mr. President, all of these bills were considered by the Pennsylvania Bar Association, which had the aid and assistance of Mr. Kress, First Deputy Secretary of Revenue, Mr. Umstead, counsel for the Secretary of Revenue, and Mr. Reist, long time counsel of the Inheritance Tax Bureau and, as I say, Mr. President, they were approved by the Bar Association in that respect.

Therefore, Mr. President, they come before us with the commendation of a substantial body of our citizens and I wish also to express my thanks to the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, because he and I feel there is nothing partisan in any way about any of these bills and therefore we are willing to jointly sponsor and defend them.

Mr. EDMONDS, on behalf of Senator Reed and himself read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State Government providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth; or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," amplifying the provisions of said act relating to appeals to court.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also on behalf of Senator Reed and himself read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth; and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department; board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," eliminating the provisions of said act which require appeals to the courts to be first lodged with the Department of Justice.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also on behalf of Senator Reed and himself read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 40, entitled:

An Act to further amend paragraph (e), of section five hundred and three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State Government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by allowing petitioners for refunds to appeal from decisions of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also on behalf of Senator Reed and himself read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred and three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by allowing interest on refunds due from the Commonwealth.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. ZIESENHEIM read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 42, entitled:

An Act to amend section four as amended, and section seventeen of the act approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 149), entitled "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are ordinarily, practically, and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax, and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits; to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," by exempting from such tax liquid fuels used for the operation of motor boats and aircraft, and the operation of tractors used exclusively for agricultural purposes and providing refunds of taxes paid on such liquid fuel.

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The SPEAKER: Prayer will be offered by the Chaplain Rev. Donald McFall, Pastor of the Grace Evangelical Church at Steelton and Charlton Evangelical Church at Paxtonia. The Chaplain is the son of a Member of this House, the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. McFall.

The Chaplain Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, as this session opens this night, we seek not only thy blessing, but also thy guiding spirit. We ask Thee, O God, to so direct the affairs of State that these men who have been sent to represent the people of our beloved Commonwealth may not betray their trust at any time.

We beseech thee, O God, to bless the Speaker of the House. May he be guided in such a way as to bring out the best that is in man, as each representative seeks to be heard from time to time.

Bless the Governor of our State and those in authority with him. Grant that this session may be marked by the passing of such legislation that will make our State a leader in that which stands for Justice and Brotherhood among men.

We seek thy special blessing for the President of These United States in this critical hour. Grant unto him wisdom. May those who share the responsibilities of our land be led aright.

May it please thee, Our Heavenly Father, to help each of us to play our part in keeping this land, a land of Liberty, a place of Free Press and Free Speech, and above all to preserve our Religious Freedom—for we realize that unless we turn to thee, Our God, much that is now held sacred will be lost.

Hear us, O God, Our Father. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker. As Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission, I am pleased to submit the report of the Joint State Government Commission and the "Joint Legislative Committee to Study Unemployment Compensation Provisions" containing recommendations for amending the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law. An additional report on the subject of merit or experience rating as applied to employers' contributions will be submitted shortly.

During the 1939 Regular Session two Resolutions were passed relating to the subject of unemployment compensation. Senate Resolution No. 127, which was concurred in by the House on May 27, 1939, provided for a Joint Legislative Committee to Study Unemployment Compensation Provisions. House Resolution No. 136, dated May 26, 1939, charged the Joint State Government Commission with making a study of merit or experience rating.

To avoid unnecessary duplication of work and expense, the Joint State Government Commission requested the Joint Legislative Committee to study the entire subject and to submit its recommendations to the Joint State Government Commission for action. Since no appropriation was provided for the Joint Legislative Committee, our Commission agreed to pay the expenses of the Committee and assigned its Director to act as counsel for the Committee.

The Joint Legislative Committee undertook its task without any thought of partisanship. Numerous hearings and meetings were held and the Committee received many recommendations, ideas and proposals from business and industry, organized labor, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation and others interested in the subject.

I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, that the Joint Legislative Committee to study Unemployment Compensation provisions was composed of Honorable Weldon Heyburn, Honorable John H. Dent, and Honorable Robert M. Miller on the part of the Senate and Honorable Hiram G. Andrews, Honorable Thomas A. Curran, Honorable Harry E. Trout, and Honorable Henry I. Wilson on the part of the House. I do not believe that too much credit can be given to this group of the Senate and the House for the many hours they spent in Harrisburg, and the very fine piece of work they performed.

It was the considered judgment of the members of both Legislative Agencies that only proposals and recommendations receiving unanimous action at its meetings were desirable. This procedure was followed. The Commission was of the opinion that the working man, the employer and the agency administering this law should not suffer as a result of any partisanship and that those changes in the law which would be of benefit to both employee and employer and bring about further improved administration should be adopted.

The Commission and the Committee concluded that the waiting period should be reduced to two weeks; that the minimum benefits should be increased; that the minimum earning eligibility should be reduced; that the employer should have a say in the administration of the law which places the burden entirely upon him; and that the benefit rights of those entering the service of the country in the present emergency should be preserved.

A bill has been drafted which contains these recommendations and will be introduced promptly. It is the desire of the Commission and the Joint Legislative Committee that unless there is some clarification necessary in the language of any of the amendments that this bill should have the active support of all members of both Houses. If there is any desire to further restrict or enlarge any provisions of the Unemployment Compensation law I suggest that they be embodied in other Bills and that amendments to this bill should not be offered for the purpose of making the measures controversial.

As to the report itself I recommend it to the members of the General Assembly for their careful consideration and analysis. At the beginning of the report you will find a summary of the recommendations so that it is possible to determine quickly what the recommendations provide. They are followed by a discussion of the reasons for each recommendation.

There are a number of statistical tables which contain a great deal of information on the receipts to and expenditures from the Unemployment Compensation Fund. Attached is also a comparative table on the significant provisions of the laws of all the states so that comparisons can be made.

This Report should be preserved for the valuable data and information it contains. I commend it to you for your careful perusal.

Mr. Speaker, I submit the report on behalf of the Committee and the Commission. There are copies here for distribution and I ask that the Page boys distribute these at the present time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair directs the Page Boys to distribute the report.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. HEWITT offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

The sad announcement of the death of John S. Fisher, on June 25, 1940, has plunged the entire state into profound sorrow, for with his passing Pennsylvania lost one of her most illustrious and distinguished sons.

Born in South Mahoning Township, Indiana County, with forbears whose antecedents were rooted in the early colonial days of the Commonwealth, John S. Fisher in his lifetime exemplified all of their highest traditions.

First, as a teacher, then as a lawyer and finally as Governor of this Commonwealth, he was a constant source of inspiration, to his students, community, brother-lawyers and fellow-citizens.

Under his aegis as Governor sprang the good roads movement which he so capably managed that our State became the foremost among those of our country for its sound and improved rural highways.

Those who differed from him never questioned his integrity, his patriotism nor his devotion to public service. Through his wise counsel, his clarity of vision and his fearless adherence to a cause he felt was just, he led the people of this Commonwealth to give him their full and complete confidence.

He had the respect and admiration of his fellow-citizens to an extent enjoyed by few public men; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives mourns the passing of this distinguished son of Pennsylvania and extends to his family its sincere sympathy in the loss they have sustained; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the family by the Chief Clerk of this House.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. SHEPARD offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, February 12th is the natal day of the Great Emancipator; and

Whereas, The world today is engaged in a gigantic struggle, with the forces of tolerance and democracy embattled in a titanic struggle for existance with those of bigotry, intolerance and race hatred; and

Whereas, In the year 1860, and thereafter, Abraham Lincoln stood as a pillar of strength, rallying about him those who loved true democracy and those who would defend it to their very death; and

Whereas, He, the man of the people, remained steadfast in his conviction that all men were created equal, irrespective of race, color, or creed, to the point where it led him to his death at an assassin's hand; and

Whereas, His spirit and his ideals are the great sustaining force on which we can today rely for our own survival, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives to plan a fitting service to the memory of our great President; and be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker set aside the period immediately following the regular business on Wednesday, February 12th, 1941, for the observance of such memorial service.

RESOLUTION

INVESTIGATION OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE BOND SYSTEM

Mr. CORDIER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its reading.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, The Department of Public Assistance, by virtue of the general power given to it under the Public Assistance Law to make rules and regulations, requires applicants for assistance, before receiving the same, to give a bond to the Commonwealth conditioned for the repayment to the Commonwealth of all amounts received as public assistance; and

Whereas, The giving of such bond has become greatly unpopular, and has caused considerable confusion in the minds of persons whose circumstances make it necessary for them to avail themselves of the benefits of public assistance, whether the same results through a lack of understanding of the ultimate effect of such bonds or because of a feeling on the part of those who own property that they are being unjustly discriminated against; and

Whereas, There is some question as to whether these bonds have in measure justified themselves during past experience, or whether the practice is worth continuing; therefore be it

Resolved, The Speaker of this House appoint a committee of five members to make a careful and thorough investigation of the practical operation of the bond requirement system established by the Department of Public Assistance, with special reference to the number of such bonds on which judgments have been entered, the total cost of entering them and enforcing collections thereon, and the total amount recovered. The committee shall proceed with such dispatch as to enable them to report to the House their findings and recommendations thereon not later than the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one.

The SPEAKER. The resolution lies over for printing under the Rules.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. PROSEN, TATE and SCANLON offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

This legislative body on proper occasion pays fitting reverence to the memory of citizens of this Commonwealth who because of their achievements have gained an outstanding position in their communities or in the State.

This reverence and respect has been well earned during a more than usually active and effective lifetime by the Honorable James Dougherty, late Magistrate of the County of Philadelphia.

James Dougherty, born in Donegal, Ireland, on January 7, 1885, settled in Philadelphia thirty-five years ago.

First as a contractor and later as a political leader he devoted all of his time to the development of the Great Northeast section of his adopted city so that today it is foremost among all the sections of the City of Philadelphia for its homes and communal activities.

As a magistrate he dispensed justice to both poor and rich alike without discrimination tempering his decisions with mercy and kindlinesss. All who came into contact with him grew to love this man whose integrity was unquestioned, whose every activity was motivated by his sympathetic understanding and love of his fellow-men.

His passing leaves a profound sense of sorrow to all those who knew him and revered him, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is with regret we consider the passing of so capable a magistrate and commend the memory of

Honorable James Dougherty to the memory of his fellowmen, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the widow and children of the deceased as a last tribute to so sterling a husband and father.

RESOLUTION

Messrs. PETROSKY, LOVETT and LESKO offered a resolution which was laid over for printing under the Rules.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. WEISS offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, has called from this life Lizzie Ferrell Wright, the wife of our distinguished colleague, Honorable Perry E. Wright of Greene County, Pennsylvania, now therefore be it Resolved, That this resolution be entered upon the Journal of the House, and a copy thereof be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to Mr. Wright.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TROUT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, whether the members of the Committee on Unemployment Compensation had an opportunity to examine this report finally before it was printed.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether the Members had a chance to examine the actual draft of the report as it went to the Printer. My recollection is that we had so many Committee meetings in the last couple of weeks that the report of the Committee was submitted to the Joint State Government Commission with the statement that the report had been agreed upon by the Joint Committee on Unemployment Compensation. This Commission had a meeting and went over the report and recommendations as prepared by the Joint State Government Commission. That is my recollection.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House that is practically what happened, but as a member of the Committee on the study of Unemployment Compensation I had no opportunity of seeing the report after it had finally been written following the last meeting of the Commission. There were several questions upon which there was some disagreement. One of them especially was the waiting period and there were at least, I think, several Members of the Committee who felt that the waiting period should be reduced from three weeks to one week instead of three weeks to two weeks. I was one of the members of the committee who, in his opinion, felt that the waiting period should be reduced from three weeks to one week and I want to state that before the Members of the House.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 27, 1941.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday February 3rd, 1941 at 4 p. m. and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, February 3rd, 1941, at 9 p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was unanimously concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McKINNEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my attention has been called to an editorial that appears in today's issue of the Oil City Derrick, and as it has to do with this session of the Legislature and more particularly with the affairs of the Commonwealth, I thought it opportune to call it to the attention of the members at this time. I quote:

THE DUTY OF THIS LEGISLATIVE SESSION

"Today the Pennsylvania legislature gets down to business. This regular session may last to June, or even longer. It has an obligation to discharge to the state and nation. It can do this job well or it can do it badly. This is up to its leaders. This great commonwealth hopes it will do it well.

"To complete our present defense program, or to win the war if we must get into it, the United States will have to depend upon Pennsylvania as much if not more than it will have to depend upon any state in the Union.

"The news dispatches tell us from time to time what a magnificent contribution Canada is making to the cause of Britain. Pennsylvania has as great a population as Canada. It is much more heavily industralized. It is far richer in the sinews of war.

"We also read of the magnificent fighting being done by the Australians in Africa. Pennsylvania's population is one-third larger than that of Australia. Its population is some two millions larger than that of Belgium or the Netherlands, nearly four times larger than that of Norway and practically as large as that of Argentina; but none of those countries could begin to put as much force into war as Pennsylvania.

"The very crux of whatever war effort this country has to make is mechanical output—what we can produce in our furnaces, mills and factories. At this very moment it is not a question of how much political capital can be made either by Republicans or Democrats in this session. It is a question of how much material Pennsylvania can contribute toward the mighty effort needed to save both Europe and the United States from enslavement by the greediest, most bloodthirsty power than ever ran amok.

"Let there be no legislation enacted at this session which will throw hurdles in the path of Pennsylvania's effort to win this fight. Let there be nothing enacted which will slow up production or add materially to the cost of it. Yielding to the temptation to curry favor with certain industrial or social groups at the expense of the commonwealth would be foolish and foolhardy, closely akin to disloyalty and dishonor.

"The people of Pennsylvania have their eyes on this session of their legislature. They want no pettifoggery or log rolling. They want no new burdens of state taxation. They want no laws which will act as embargoes on the production of munitions of war. They want to see the necessary business of this session discharged expeditiously and adjournment taken as quickly as possible so that every member can get back to his community and put his shoulder to the wheel."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HARKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the House to a bill which I am about to introduce, not because I am the one who is the sponsor of the bill, but because I believe honestly and truly that the majority of the people of Pennsylvania are very vitally interested in the subject matter of the bill which I hold in my hand.

To the older members who have been here for a few sessions the probability is that they will readily concede that this bill deals with the subject of the Workman's Compensation Act. I know of no act introduced and passed in the 1939 session of the House which is so unanimously disapproved of by the rank and file of the people of Pennsylvania, both Democrats and Republicans alike, as the 1939 Workmen's Compensation Act.

I met the other day in the City of Pittsburgh a man who was a candidate on the Republican ticket for a seat in this House, and he told me that he was glad he had been defeated because when his party, the Republican party, got into power, the first thing they did was to start to enact laws of which he disapproved. I say to the Members of the House that I do not intend to go into the merits or the particulars of the bill at this time, but briefly the bill reenacts the 1937 Workmen's Compensation Act, with certain additional provisions to make it conform to certain judicial opinions that have been rendered since that time.

I call the attention of the Members of the House to this bill because I am sure they will want to secure copies of it, and study its provisions. There is no doubt in my mind that those Republicans who have expressed the desire to lead their party into greener fields and greener pastures will be glad to go along with this measure. I am sure if they are sincere in their desire to change the principals of their party so that it can more truly meet the desires and the aims of the working people of Pennsylvania and at the same time be fair to the various other interests concerned, they will want to study it.

Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to introduce this bill.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. There will be a meeting of all Committee Chairmen and vice-Chairmen in the New House Caucus Room this evening immediately after adjournment.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mileage checks for the members are ready for distribution at the Chief Clerk's Office.

HOUSE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, January 27, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 3, 1941, at 4:00 p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 3, 1941 at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

REPORT OF SLATE COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I desire to report with vorable recommendation from the Slate Committee the llowing:

In the Senate, January 28, 1941.

Resolved, That the following persons be elected employes the Senate:

ASSISTANT SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

Frederick L. Kiger.

NIGHT WATCHMAN

Frank E. Bixler.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

Mr. CROWE, from the Committee on Welfare reported ith favorable recommendation the following resolution d move its immediate adoption.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

In the Senate, January 17, 1941.

The demand on the part of the people of this Common-ealth for adequate and reasonable pensions to be granted the Federal Government to aged persons has become e of the major political and economic issues of the pres-t generation.

The cost of the maintenance of our aged persons has, in ost cases, been borne by relatives who are frequently un-le to assume such burden without seriously affecting eir ability to properly provide for their immediate fam-es.

The care of the aged is more a part of the Nation's re-onsibility than the care of the unemployed. Age is ver deliberately assumed, and unemployment is fre-ently preferred.

Proper care of all aged persons by the Federal Govern-ent would assist in creating jobs for the unemployed. erefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That s General Assembly does hereby memorialize the Rep-sentatives in Congress to immediately consider some m of adequate and reasonable allowance to be paid to ed persons, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be immediately nsmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Speaker the House of Representatives of Washington, the Chair-n of the House Ways and Means Committee and the esident of the United States Senate, and a copy be warded to the President of the United States.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in the absence of the nsor of this resolution, since I would like to question n on it, I ask that the resolution be laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. apiro, requests that this resolution be laid on the table. s there objections?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not know the pur-se of this resolution. I see the sponsor of the resolution n the Senate chamber now, and I should like to inter-gate the Senator from Blair.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair permit itself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, since I am aware of the n the Federal Government has by its social security act, ade provision for the aged, I am curious to know the port of this resolution, which reads:

Proper care of all aged persons by the Federal Govern-ment would assist in creating jobs for the unemployed, therefore, be it

"Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That this General Assembly does hereby memorialize the Representatives in Congress to immediately consider some form of adequate and reasonable allowance to be paid to aged persons,"

I would like to understand what other allowance than is being made at the present time by the government is intended by this resolution.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, several weeks ago I read in the paper, and it was my thought, that the President intends to recommend a reasonable and adequate old age pension, and I am very much in favor of such a proposition. What we have here today in this State is old age assistance and it is not a pension. A lot of the aged people in the state believe we have a pension, but we all know we do not have a pension, except for the blind. It is my thought that is what the President has in mind, and I for one hope the federal government or Congress may see fit to enact a pension. I know the social security pension is separate and distinct from that, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to further interrogate the Senator from Blair.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Blair is aware, I assume, that the federal government pays a pension under the old age security act to certain persons who have arrived at a certain age, which I believe at the present time is sixty-five, and which will shortly be sixty-two.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, there are a great many people, as the Senator realizes, who are not eligible to receive social security.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, then the purpose of this resolution, I assume, is that an old age pension law should be passed by the federal government, which would give pensions to persons irrespective of their employment and irrespective of whether they have served the time of employment required to bring them under the provisions of the social security act.

Mr. MALLERY. I so understand, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House for concurrence.

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

NOMINATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF RECORDER OF DEEDS OF BUCKS COUNTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 28, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Frederick W. Randall, 174 McKinley Street, Bristol, Bucks County, for appointment as Recorder of Deeds of Bucks County, until the first Monday of January, 1942, and until his successor shall be duly qualified, vice Frank Pfeifer, deceased.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a report at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN from the Joint Legislative Committee on State Government reported as follows:

Mr. President: I am pleased to submit to this Body the Joint Report of the Joint State Government Commission and the Joint Legislative Committee to Study Unemployment Compensation Provisions. The Joint Legislative Committee was created by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 127 of the Regular Session of 1939 to study certain provisions of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law and to make a report to the next regular session of the General Assembly. This Committee received no appropriation but through the cooperation of the Joint State Government Commission, which was charged by House Resolution 136 with making a study of merit or experience rating, the expenses of this Committee were paid by the Joint State Government Commission and the Joint Legislative Committee undertook to study the entire subject of amending the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law. The Director of the Joint State Government Commission was assigned to act as the Committee's Counsel. He did not receive any additional compensation other than the remuneration paid him by the Commission.

This Committee undertook its task without any thought of partisanship. Numerous hearings and meetings were held and the Committee received many ideas and proposals from business and industry, organized labor, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation and others interested in the subject.

The recommendations are the unanimous affirmative action of the members of both legislative agencies present at the meetings when the proposals were considered. The committee was of the opinion that the working men, the employer and the agency administering this law should not suffer as a result of any partisanship and that those changes in the law which would be of benefit to both employe and employer and bring about advances in administration should be adopted.

Politics, of course, has its place but not where the welfare of millions of employees and many thousands of employers are involved. The Committee concluded, among other amendments, to provide for:

1. A reduction in the waiting period to two weeks;
2. Minimum benefits be increased;
3. Minimum earning eligibility be reduced;
4. The employer shall have a say in the administration of the law which places the burden entirely upon him through the creation of a compulsory Advisory Council;
5. The benefit rights of those entering the service of this country be preserved;
6. Memorializing Congress to permit flat rate reduction of ten per cent in tax.

It was agreed that these proposals should not be thrown into the malestrom of politics. My colleagues, the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, the Senator from Luzerne County, Mr. Miller, the Senator from Jefferson County, Mr. Wilson, and the members from the other House of the General Assembly, will bear out what I am saying.

We must be constructive. This law making body should not deny such advantages which are non-controversial in order that they may be made available promptly to the people of this Commonwealth.

A bill has been drafted which contains these recommendations and will be introduced promptly. It is the desire of the Committee and the Commission that unless there is some clarification necessary in the language of any of th amendments that this bill should receive your full suppor If there is any desire to further restrict or to further e large any provisions of the Unemployment Compensatio Law, both Legislative Agencies desire that they be en bodied in other Bills and that amendments should not b offered for the purpose of hurling this Bill into the aren of politics.

As to the Report itself, I recommend it to the membe of the General Assembly for their careful consideration an analysis. At the beginning of the Report you will find summary of the recommendations so that any one can d termine immediately what the recommendations are. The are followed by a discussion of each recommendatio setting forth the reasons therefor.

There are a number of statistical tables which contain great deal of detailed information on the receipts to an expenditures from the Unemployment Compensation Fun There is also attached a comparative table on the significan provisions of the law of all the states.

This report and the part dealing with merit or exper ence rating, on which action will be taken shortly and sub mitted later, should be preserved for the valuable da contained therein.

I want to take this opportunity of thanking my co leagues of the Senate, the Senator from Westmoreland, M Dent, the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Miller and the Sena tor from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson, and the Representative fro Cambria, Mr. Andrews, the Representative from Lancaste Mr. Trout and the Representative from Delaware, M Curran, for their active interest and valuable service. REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION ON RELIEF

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous con sent to make a report at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hea none.

Mr. HOMSHER, from the Joint Legislative Committ on State Government reports as follows:

Mr. PRESIDENT. As a member of the Committee Relief of the Joint State Government Commission, it my privilege to submit to the State Senate for its stu and consideration the Commission's completed report Relief in Pennsylvania.

In pursuance of a House Resolution and under authori of the Act of June 26, 1939, creating the Joint State Go ernment Commission, the Legislature's fact-finding bod it is with sincere appreciation of the multiple proble of public assistance that the report and recommendatio on unemployment relief and the administration there are hereby commended to your attention.

The economic nourishment of Pennsylvania's liberaliz relief system has found warm support in the humanitari attitude of the Senate toward the problems which ha become part and parcel of our efforts to provide economically sound and balanced program of soc welfare.

You are all deeply conscious of the heavy responsibili associated with relief administration because it is a su ject which strikes deep into every home community. longer are we governed by a vague theory that rel is a passing condition which must be regarded as an u avoidable offshoot of depression years.

Relief, in some form, has been with us since the halcy days of Pennsylvania's Colonial government, and it rw an inescapable conclusion that public assistance in rying degrees has become a permanent obligation of ate government.

The problems associated with relief administration have en in its emphasis or interpretation and Pennsylvania's e-eminence among other States as a paragon of relief nefits has not been achieved without developing flaws nich have undermined its effectiveness and scope.

The co-ordinated efforts of the Committee on Relief of e Commission and the Joint State Government Commis- n have unmasked conditions which have impeded the urse of relief in this State and these revelations, in the ain, have been in the interpretation of the laws regu- ing public assistance, and not in the laws themselves.

The Commission, in furtherance of its objectives, func- ned on a nonpartisan, non-political basis and has alyzed the conditions which have weakened the founda- n of the State relief system. To overcome this, it has vised a series of effective counter-checks and improve- nts which I heartily commend to you.

Never in the history of the Senate has there been a re impressive opportunity to digest the questions asso- ted with public assistance for in the report placed in ur hands today are the accumulated results of surveys, search studies, statistical comparisons and field investi- tions. The report also contains numerous graphs and arts illustrating relief trends in the Commonwealth.

Augmenting this have been scores of committee hearings d conferences designed to sift facts and evidence for a ngible balancing rod by which the ramifications of relief uld be developed on a sound, interlacing basis to promote eded economies and greater benefits according to merit.

Yet, in the course of probing infractions of the State lief system, we have come face to face with conditions nich, under a lesser government, might have had de- oralizing consequences.

Through the combined energies and talents of the Joint ate Government Commission, this task was approached ith a significant appreciation of the magnitude of relief d the psychological changes that are the natural out- owth of economically dismal years.

The final summary of these findings is rich in funda- ental provisions by which the emotionalism of social elfare can be supplanted by the practical humanitarian- n of relief based on actual, pre-established need. The ommission, through its recommendations, strives to evate the present relief system to a new level of efficiency d oneness of purpose through economy and administra- e reforms designed to meet the high and low tide of cial emergencies.

Specifically, the Commission urges a more rigid system investigation to prevent relief chiseling and other social predations. It recommends that county boards be em- wered to function as autonomous units with "home rule" thority to determine policy and management in line th conditions in their own counties.

The commission advocates a more carefully synchronized stem of administrative bureaus to prevent overlapping authority and thereby congesting the channels for ompt, efficient analysis of relief needs.

Other basic provisions of the Commission's report are a more liberalized merit system for public assistance ployes, coordination of public interest in the social fects of unemployment and relief costs, simplification of local public assistance set-ups through concentration of financial and administrative responsibility arising in each county and amendment of the Federal Social Security Act to permit increased benefits to the aged and blind.

Having been fortunate enough to have had a part in the presentation of this program, I believe I am justified in saying that its merits and far-reaching benefits establish it as one of the most comprehensive summaries of relief ever undertaken and that it warrants an endorsement compatible with the tone and substance of its liberalized recommendations.

I wish to thank my colleagues, the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Geltz; the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, and the Honorable John E. Van Allsburg, of Erie County, the Honorable Leo A. Achterman, from Monroe County, the Honorable Ellwood J. Turner, from Delaware County and the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, Jr., from Dauphin County, on the part of the House, members of the Relief Committee of the Joint State Government Commission and all the other members of the Commission, who gave unstintingly of their time and service for the purpose of studying relief.

On this note, I submit the Report of the Joint State Government Commission, confident in the belief that the solemn import of this vital subject as weighed against the gravity of fluctuating economic conditions will enlist your sympathetic understanding and conscientious approval to the end that Pennsylvania's relief administration will present an impregnable front against the encroachments of time!

The PRESIDENT. Copies of the report referred to by the Senator from Lancaster, will now be distributed to all Senators.

The report will be noted in the Legislative Journal.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO REDUCE RATE OF FEDERAL EXCISE TAX

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I wish to introduce a resolution at this time referred to in my report, memorializing Congress to reduce the rate of the Federal Excise Tax, sponsored by myself, Senator Dent, Senator Miller and Senator Henry I. Wilson.

Mr. President, I suggest that it be referred to an appropriate committee.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows, which was referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January, 1941.

Whereas, Experience of the past three years has demonstrated the fact that the present rate of contributions required of employers under the Unemployment Compensation Law is burdensome and materially in excess of that required for the purposes for which the Unemployment Compensation Fund is maintained, as shown by the following figures: Balance in fund as of December 31, 1940, $132,393,969; benefits paid during the past three years: for 1938, $71,553,159, for 1939, $54,594,544 and for 1940, $44,260,799, showing an average annual payment of $56,802,834; and

Whereas, The rate of such contributions is controlled by the maximum credit allowable to employers by section nine hundred two of the Federal Social Security Act against the Federal Excise Tax imposed by section nine hundred one of said act (said sections being now sections one thousand six hundred one and one thousand six hundred respectively of the Federal Internal Revenue Code, as amended); therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Congress of the United States be memorialized, by proper congressional action, to reduce the rate of the Federal Excise Tax imposed by section one thousand six hundred of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to employment, to two per centum of total wages paid by an employer during the calendar year with respect to employment after December 31, 1940, so as to enable the states, by appropriate legislation, to reduce their present rate of contribution if and when their Unemployment Compensation Fund shall exceed one and one-half times the average annual amount expanded for the payment of benefits during the three last preceding calendar years.

Resolved, That certified copies of the foregoing resolution be transmitted, by the Chief Clerk of the Senate, to the President of the United States, to the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives of Congress, and to each United States Senator and Congressman elected from this Commonwealth.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of information.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last week I introduced a number of bills—you might call them reform bills—legalizing certain forms of amusement. I fully realize, however, that we can not introduce bills in this chamber which might be directly known as revenue bills, but these bills are reform bills, which permit certain forms of amusement in Pennsylvania. Attached to them you will find a license to be payable for policing these measures.

The point of information, Mr. President, is whether or not these bills are legally introduced in this chamber, or whether they must be introduced in the lower House.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would rule that if it carries an appropriation, it must originate in the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to raise the question that any revenue raising measure must originate in the House, irrespective of whether it carries an appropriation or not.

The PRESIDENT. Does the answer satisfy the Senator from Cambria?

Mr. HALUSKA. Not quite, Mr. President, One of these bills I might state is to legalize a certain form of amusement. Attached to it you will find a license to be able to police this measure. It is not a direct revenue bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion that a license bill is not a revenue raising bill, and therefore it would be proper to introduce it in the Senate. It depends on the nature of the bill and an explanation as to just what it contains.

CALENDAR

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will recall that the rule was changed requiring that the Senate go into a committee of the whole, so unless there are objections, the Chair will not make the usual statement, "Will the Senate dispense with going into a committee of the whole," and will proceed with the reading of the bill.

The Chair has discussed this question with the majority and minority leaders and it is entirely satisfactory to them.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 33, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2460) entitled "An act creating a joint legislative commission to be known as the Joint State Government Commission providing for the appointment of its members and defining its powers and duties" changing the number of members and extending the power to employ assistance.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. JAMES from the Committee on Executive Nominations reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations, made by His Excellency, the Governor, of the Commonwealth:

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Charles Matthews, Jr., New Castle, Lawrence County, for appointment as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the Fifty-third Judicial District, composed of the County of Lawrence, until the first Monday of January, 1942, vice Thomas W. Dickey, resigned.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

APPOINTMENT AS RECORDER OF DEEDS OF BUCKS COUNTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 28, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Frederick W. Randall, 174 McKinley Street, Bristol, Bucks County, for appointment as Recorder of Deeds of Bucks County, until the first Monday of January, 1942, and until his successor shall be duly qualified, vice Frank Pfeifer, deceased.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. CHAPMAN

That Rule 38 which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself in Executive Session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. CHAPMAN

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—43

Barr,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Stevenson,
Bartlett,	Edmonds,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,

Dent.	Kephart,	Snowden,

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

CONDOLENCE TO SENATOR COLEMAN ON THE DEATH OF HIS BROTHER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BARR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 28, 1941.

The angel of death has taken from our midst Paul Coleman, brother of Honorable Edward J. Coleman, Senator from Lackawanna County.

To the citizens of Scranton his sudden passing leaves a profound sense of sorrow, for his place in community life cannot be filled; to his fellow workers on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western comes the great shock of learning their friend and co-worker will no longer be with them.

Paul Coleman was not a great statesman or outstanding local leader, but his was the greatest of all gifts, a congenial, happy nature and the gift of friendship with all the people he knew. He was a devoted husband, a splendid and sympathetic father and a true friend.

Since we who knew him can now only offer inadequate words as our last tribute; therefore be it

Resolved, That with this resolution we commend Paul Coleman to the memory of his fellow men; and be it further Resolved, The Secretary of the Senate transmit a copy of this resolution to the wife, children and brother of the deceased.

RESOLUTION

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CAVALCANTE offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, January 28, 1941.

Whereas, The Federal Government has enacted Social Security Laws to alleviate the need and wants in cases of unemployment and old age and,

Whereas, Such laws should operate with equality and justice upon all citizens of the United States of America, and

Whereas, Such laws now exclude from their operation large numbers of the citizenry who in youth and old-age are victims of unemployment and need, and

Whereas, Among these large numbers of the citizenry are included many thousands of citizens whose conditions have driven them to seek security in such employment offered by the cities, towns, townships, counties, boroughs, state and other municipalities of the United States of America, and

Whereas, It happens that the salary or remuneration of these public employes is now subjected to the payment of income taxes both State and Federal, and

Whereas, It is equitable and just that these public employes should receive the same protection as given to Americans employed in other walks of life,

Now Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the Congress of the United States of America be memorialized to amend and enlarge the Federal Social Security Laws to the extent that such laws may operate to include within their benefits and aids the employes of cities, towns, townships, state and other municipalities of the United States of America, and

Be It Further Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the Chief Clerk of the Senate forward a copy of this resolution to the Congress of the United States of America.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of the Resolution.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I object, and the reason for my objection is that Senator Wagner has introduced down in Washington a series of amendments to the Social Security law which would take in state employes. It has caused a great deal of difficulty in Pennsylvania, because it looks as if it might have some effect upon the Teachers Retirement Fund, which has been one of the great plans for social benefits in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I understand Senator Wagner has introduced a series of amendments to that act, in which he is seeking to see to it that no well-established agency of the state shall be interfered with by the new bill.

Mr. President, I think a committee ought to consider a subject as important and complicated as this and that is the reason why I object, not because I object to any point of view the Senator may be expressing here, but because it must fit into other legislation, and other legislation that is exceedingly complicated.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, with reference to the remarks of the gentleman from Montgomery on the resolution I introduced a little while ago, do I take it from the remarks of the gentleman from Montgomery that it is his opinion that because this may interfere or there is some question of interference with the State Teachers Retirement Fund, that all of the other employes of county, municipalities, cities and so forth should not be protected or we should not do anything to see that they are included under the operation of the Federal Security Law.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Presidnt, May I say in answer to the gentleman it is not only the Teachers Retirement Fund I had in mind but other well established pension funds that have been created by various municipalities throughout the state. Now, Mr. President, I think the intention is to have the Wagner amendment when it is finally presented, take these all together into a systematic plan.

That, Mr. President, indicates to me the need for committee study in order that it might be done. We might be understood as assuming to introduce the original plan, which original plan would have affected a number of our state agencies, and that original plan caused a great deal of concern to the people that are watching these things down in Washington.

Mr. President, I think something should be done along the line the Senator has in mind, but I do think it ought to be studied in order not to injure the agencies which we have already created and which are doing excellent work.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 28, 1941.

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, since we have been privileged to see the light of this new day, may we be mindful of all the opportunities for service that come to us, and may we be ready to recognize the fact, that we are our brother's keeper not only within our beloved State but in our great nation as well.

Bless the coming together of these servants of the State. Be with those detained because of illness. May it please Thee to grant to each one a renewed measure of health and strength so as to enable them to meet with their colleagues in this Assembly.

This we ask in thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. GERARD the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

ESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. PETROSKY, LOVETT and LESKO.
RESOLUTION No. 1.

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, In the mining industry many thousands of es have been needlessly lost because of inadequate fety controls and these deaths might have been pre-nted by the passage of a law providing for the federal spection of mines; and

Whereas, A federal mine inspection bill has been passed the Senate of the United States but blocked in the use Committee of Mines and Mining; and

Whereas, During the time this measure has been blocked re have been some 1,530 miners killed in mine disasters, ving behind them their widows and orphans; and

Whereas, In the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during time this measure has been blocked a number of mine asters have occurred which are directly attributable lack of adequate mine inspection; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the ate of Pennsylvania hereby memoralize the Congress the United States to approve the Federal Mine Inspec-n bill; be it also

Resolved, That one copy of this resolution be forwarded each of the following:

The President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt.
Vice President, Henry A. Wallace, President of the United States Senate.
Speaker Rayburn, House of Representatives.
Senator Joseph Guffey.
Senator James P. Davis.
All members of the House delegation from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

By Mr. CORDIER. RESOLUTION No. 2.

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, The Department of Public Assistance, by virtue of the general power given to it under the Public Assistance Law to make rules and regulations, requires applicants for assistance, before receiving the same, to give a bond to the Commonwealth conditioned for the repayment to the Commonwealth of all amounts received as public assistance; and

Whereas, The giving of such bond has become greatly unpopular, and has caused considerable confusion in the minds of persons whose circumstances make it necessary for them to avail themselves of the benefits of public assistance, whether the same results through a lack of understanding of the ultimate effect of such bonds or because of a feeling on the part of those who own property that they are being unjustly discriminated against; and

Whereas, There is some question as to whether these bonds have in measure justified themselves during past experience, or whether the practice is worth continuing; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House appoint a committee of five members to make a careful and thorough investigation of the practical operation of the bond requirement system established by the Department of Public Assistance, with special reference to the number of such bonds on which judgments have been entered, the total cost of entering them and enforcing collections thereon, and the total amount recovered. The committee shall proceed with such dispatch as to enable them to report to the House their findings and recommendations thereon not later then than the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. FINNERTY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 3.

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, In the past two years considerable confusion has been caused by uncertainties of the people of the Commonwealth relative to the date the Governor would proclaim for the observance of Thanksgiving; and

Whereas, The business men of the Commonwealth are extremely desirous of eliminating such uncertainty; and

Whereas, These men of affairs are desirous of observing the holiday on the date proclaimed by the President of the United States; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be directed to proclaim such date for the observance of Thanksgiving in this Commonwealth as the President of the United States may set for observance by executive proclamation.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Habbyshaw for Mr. TAYLOR for today's session.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker I rise to a question of Parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of Parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, are we under the order of business of reports from committees?

The SPEAKER. We are under that order of business.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Joint State Government Commission has been working through a subcommittee since the summer of 1939 on that great question of relief which has plagued not only this State but the whole nation since 1931. There have been a great many different committees and commissions that have studied the question of relief but the Joint State Government Commission felt that we should continue the study and that we should ascertain as far as possible the basic facts, not only which reference to the adminstration of relief but also as to the cost of relief in Pennsylvania and in other states of the United States, as well as the laws pertaining to relief in this state and the nation. Through the sub-committee of which the gentleman from Erie Mr. Van Allsburg is the chairman, an intensive study has been carried on. I do not believe there has been a week since the summer of 1939 that either the whole committee or a part of the committee, which was termed the Sub-Committee on Data, was not at work.

The report is now ready for presentation to the House. It is comprehensive, it is quite extensive and, Mr. Speaker, I really believe it will form a text book for the members of the House, that it will provide them with a tremendous amount of information, and that the suggestions made by the Commission are constructive. During the 1939 session the chairman of the Committee on Welfare in this House was the gentleman from Erie Mr. Van Allsburg, and he was the natural Chairman for the Committee under the Joint State Government Commission on this question of relief.

He has given a tremendous amount of time and effort in the prepartion and working out of this report, and I would like to yield to the gentleman from Erie Mr. Van Allsburg and ask that he be given the privilege of making a statement and submitting the report.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg.

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker and members of the house, the occasion of presenting the report of the sub-Committee on relief today is a source of great pleasure to this Committee because it is the last act in the performance of a long, arduous and very responsible task. It is also a pleasure to anticipate hopefully the good this study may accomplish in promoting a more intelligent and comprehensive understanding of the whole relief problem.

Public relief during the past decade has been the most perplexing problem the Legislature has had to face and although the present upswing in employment has somewhat eased the situation, nevertheless relief is still Pennsylvania's "Problem Number one."

The sole aim of the Committee from beginning to end has been to learn the facts about the present system of relief, its organization, it's policies, and its methods, and to evaluate them in terms of efficiency to administer relief to those who through no fault of their own are in need and at a minimum cost to those who pay the bill, and last but not least to this in such a spirit and in such a manner as will not destroy the moral fiber of relief recipients, but rather will promote self-reliance, good character, and good Citizenship.

The report of the Committee as has been said by the previous speaker, is voluminous. This can be readily understood when one considers the magnitude and many aspects of the subject. This is due in part to the appendix which contains a wealth of information in the form of charts and tables which the members will find exceedingly helpful, and without which the text of the report can not be fully comprehended. The arrangement of it's contents, however, is simple. A table of the contents appears among the very first pages of the report, and may I point out specifically that the recommendations to the Legislature appear on page one of the report.

As Chairman of the sub-Committee on Relief of the Joint State Government Commission, for their untiring efforts, diligence and spirit of cooperation, I wish to thank the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, and the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, on the part of the house; also Senators Geltz, Homsher and Woodward on the part of the Senate.

Mr. Speaker, I now formally offer the report of the Committee on Relief as prepared for the General Assembly by the Joint State Government Commission.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the report of the Committee on Relief.

The report was read by the Clerk.

(For report see Appendix)

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker I rise to a point of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may the Page boys now distribute the reports which are here ready for distribution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will direct the page boys to distribute the Reports at once.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Sergeant-at-Arms being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unnanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the page boys are distributing the report just offered by Mr. Van Allsburg. Some members are getting more than one copy and they are being laid on vacant desks. We have only two hundred and eight copies of the report and if more than one copy is taken by a member there will not be enough to supply all the members. Will the members, therefore, who have more than one copy of the report please surrender them to other Members of the House or to the Page boys.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. O'NEILL and REAGAN offered the following privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1941.

The angel of death has removed from our immediate surroundings Paul Coleman, brother of Honorable Edward J. Coleman, Senator from Lackawanna County.

To the citizens of Scranton his passing leaves a profound sense of sorrow, for his place in the community life cannot be filled; to his fellow workers on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western comes the great shock of learning their friend and co-worker will no longer be with them.

Paul Coleman was not a great statesman or outstanding local leader, but his was the greatest of all gifts, a congenial, happy nature and the gift of friendship with all the people he knew. He was a devoted husband, a splendid and sympathetic father and a true friend.

Since we who knew him can now only offer inadequate words as our last tribute; therefore be it

Resolved, That with this resolution we command Paul Coleman to the memory of his fellow men; and be it further Resolved, The Chief Clerk of the House transmit a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the llowing prayer:

Quicken the hearts of us all, O Lord, this day unto the :avity of the situation which confronts us as a nation. Lay it be according to Thy Divine Providence that we se to the solemn task and sacred duty of national defense ith the same zeal with which America has always re- onded in similar times of emergency.

Enlighten the minds of our leaders in these days of na- onal stress that our policies be rightly formed. Guide e minds of our Congress and members of our several gislatures that the laws which they formulate and enact ay always portray the right. Give to our judges and agistrates and justices the wisdom rightly to interpret em that withal and Thy will might be done and Thy ngdom come more perfectly among men.

Confound the avarice of men. Confuse the designs for rsonal aggrandizement. Annul the contracts of ignoble igin intended to operate at the further expense of our ople. Make of no avail the unpatriotic operations of ose who would obstruct the furtherance of national de- nse and hasten the day when nations shall again live aceable together, the dictartorships of the day with their ng brains and suffering, subjugation and death having ng since perished from earth.

Send us each one forth into days of this week to do Iy will and may we deal with others as we would have ers deal with us. We pray in the name of the Father o created us, the Son who redeemed us and the Holy Spirit who enlightens us both now and evermore. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM SECRETARY OF DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary of the Senate announcess receipt of the following communication from the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance, dated February 3, 1941:

The Honorable George Holmes
Secretary of the Senate
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Holmes:

I have the honor to present, herewith, for the information of the members of the Senate, a "Report on the Property Liability Provision of the Support Law and Methods of Obtaining Reimbursement of Assistance Granted to Property Owners."

This report is based on a study and investigation undertaken last year in accordance with the request contained in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 104, adopted in the Senate May 16, 1940. The report complies with that resolution, which was not concurred in by the House, and also with the resolution adopted by the Senate January 27, 1941.

Sincerely yours,

HOWARD L. RUSSELL,
Secretary.

The PRESIDENT. Copies of the report referred to in the communication just read from the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance will be distributed to the members of the Senate, and receipt of the report will be noted in the Journal.

PETITION FROM PLAIN PEOPLE OF PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I am in receipt of a communication addressed to the Senate by the Plain People of Pennsylvania. It is dated January 2, 1941, and in view of the fact that it is very short, I would ask permission to read it at this time. It is as follows:

To the Esteemed Members of The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

January 2, 1941.

Greetings:

Whereas, we, the Plain People of Pennsylvania, in humble recognition of the Grace of Almighty God, do herewith petition you, to accept our appreciation for your previous action in behalf of the rural school districts, in complying in part to pleas made for the continuance and fuller enjoyment of human rights. However, we would be gratified if we were extended a renewal of consideration on certain matters that are urgent.

Throughtout time past we have chosen and do yet choose to be a farming people. Farming is one of the tenets of our religion. We wish to have our children educated by the best available means including Scripture in the home and church, the three R's in school and actual experienced training under parental supervision at home on the farm.

To this end, we, the Plain Churches petition you to give our position serious consideration to the end that children in rural districts be not compelled to attend school beyond a 160-day term, (which term after this present school year, automatically changes to 180 days, unless action is taken by your body in this next Legislative session). We also petition that the children of Plain People be granted exemption from school attendance upon request of parent or guardian and upon completing primary studies of the elementary grades or after attaining the age of fourteen years.

May God give you every blessing and success in your position to lead you in respect to your calling.

With sincere regards, we, the undersigned, testify an approval of the aforesaid through council of this, our Church District, in care of—

AMISH CHURCH LEADERS OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Mr. HOMSHER. It is signed by sixteen denominations of Amish Church members in Lancaster County; by the Old Order of Mennonites of Lancaster County; as well as Mennonites from Mifflin, Lawrencec, Crawford and Mercer Counties.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise in my place and ask unanimous consent to make a brief statement in connection with the bill I am at this time presenting.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Montgomery will proceed.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, this first bill is a bill to amend paragraphs fifteen and seventeen of Section 2 of the Public Utility Law, by bringing municipal authorities under the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission. It was with some surprise, Mr. President, I found under the terms of the Act of 1937 there had been no effort made to provide this method, and it seems to me that it certainly is within the expectations of the people of Pennsylvania, following the tradition of the past that where disputes arise concerning the cost of utilities or rates of utilities that the people shall have an opportunity to present their case to the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. EDMONDS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 103, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraphs fifteen and seventeen of section two of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thoussand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing, defining and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including, to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractual relations between public utilities and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies, and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violation of the provisions of this act, and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," by placing Municipal Authorities under the control and regulation of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

The PRESIDENT. Referred to Committee on Municipal Government.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am not looking for business for my committee but it seems to me this bill should be referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

The PRESIDENT. The bill is referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, our colleague Dr. Woodward has asked me to present in his name certain bills. I have therefore signed these bills: "George Woodward by S. C. E." and I ask leave to present the bills in this manner.

Mr. EDMONDS on behalf of Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 104, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Forests and Waters for the maintenance and improvement of Fort Washington Park.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also on behalf of Dr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 105, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania located at East Falls, Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I had intended to ask permission to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery but now I am informed that my question will be answered by the introduction of a bill which will amend the Act of 1937, the Authority Act, which I was going to inquire about, to follow the other act.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest that we are falling over one another in our anxiety to do business here.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I desire to introduce a bill, and like the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, I should like permission to briefly explain that this bill will in effect, we hope, amend the Municipal Authorities Act so that it will be more properly put under the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission.

I therefore, Mr. President, rise and read in my place and present to the Chair the following bill.

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 106, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thoussand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 463), entitled as amended "An act providing for the incorporation, as bodies corporate and politic, of 'Authorities' for municipalities, counties, and townships; defining the same; prescribing the rights, powers, and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes," requiring approval of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission of the acquisition of property and rights and of financing in connection with public utility projects.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have to present to the Chair bills of the same order, amending the Acts of 1839 and 1937 with regard to Municipal Authority Act and also the Public Utility Act, changing the definition of "corporation" to include municipal authorities engaged in granting public utility service and regulating such municipal authorities.

Mr. BARR read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 107, entitled:

An Act to amend section two, and to further amend sections three, four, nine and eleven of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 463), entitled as amended "An act providing for the incorporation, as bodies corporate and politic, of 'Authorities' for municipalities, counties, and townships; defining the same; prescribing the rights, powers, and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes," by defining the term "commission"; by changing the method by which notice of the formation of a municipal authority shall be made public; and by limiting the power of an authority to engage in the acquisition or operation of a public utility, by requiring approval of the Public Utility Commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Utilities.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 108, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend the title and the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing, defining and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including, to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued. assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies. and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violation of the provisions of this act, and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," by changing the definition of corporation to include municipal authorities engaged in rendering a public utility service, and regulating such municipal authorities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 109, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Department of Highways for the improvement of roads and parking areas within the Daniel Boone Homestead.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 110, entitled:

Mr. SHAPIRO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 127, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Moore Institute of Art, Science and Industry, formerly Philadelphia School of Design for Women at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Warren will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I have been rather wondering where we are drifting during this session; where are we going and what is the duty of the Legislature?

Mr. President, it seems to me we ought to act not as thirty-four Republicans and sixteen Democrats but as fifty Senators, voting on the benefits of good will and what might result for the Commonwealth and the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, it seems to me one of the most important items is defense—what Pennsylvania will contribute to the defense of the nation. According to the newspapers Canada is doing great work. Pennsylvania has a larger population than Canada; we have as large a population as Australia; we have a population of two millions more than Belgium, and the Netherlands, and we have as large a population as Argentina. All of these nations, Mr. President, have been contributing to the defense of the nation. We have more sinews of war, we have more industrial organizations for defense, and it seems to me, Mr. President, that the present is no time for playing politics; I do not think, Mr. President, that the present is any time for this Senate to rock the boat.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING SECRETARY OF COMMONWEALTH TO ADVISE SENATE RELATIVE TO MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I offer the following resolution calling for information and as it is a privileged resolution I move its immediate adoption.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I second the motion of the gentleman from Montgomery.

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby requested to advise the Senate as follows:

First—What Municipal Authorities have been established in Pennsylvania under the Act of 1937 and its supplements

Second—What projects have been approved by the various Municipal Authorities and the estimated cost of each Third—What is the amount of the borrowings of each Municipal Authority and what is the rate of interest paid for the same.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING GENERAL STATE AUTHORITY TO ADVISE SENATE

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I offer a second resolution calling for information from the Executive Secretary of the General State Authority and move its immediate adoption.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I second the motion of the gentleman from Montgomery.

The Resolution was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, That the Executive Secretary of the Genera

State Authority be requested to advise the Senate as follows:

First—What projects have been approved by the General State Authority and what is the estimated cost of each,

Second—What bonds have been issued by the General State Authority and for what purpose and what is the rate of interest upon each.

RESOLUTION CALLING ON DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE TO DISCONTINUE REQUIRING CANCELLATION OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I wish to offer a resolution and I would like to explain the purpose of it very briefly. I might state, Mr. President, I have been reading the report as presented by Mr. Russell, but it will take quite some time, of course, to study the nature of it. At a later time I shall make my comment but at this time I have a resolution pertaining to the practice now continued by the Department of Public Assistance with reference to any relief recipient who applies for relief, that he must cancel his life insurance policy if it reads in excess of five hundred dollars.

Now, Mr. President, it is not my intention, bluntly speaking, to get into the hair of my colleagues or get up here and act smart, but it is my intention to fight a cause that I think is worthy of fighting.

Very few of my colleagues know that today under the ruling of the Department of Public Assistance persons who have carried life insurance policies for twenty or thirty, yes, forty years today must cancel that policy and their dependents must be deprived of that money after the death of that person, even going so far that if a child residing within a family has a life insurance policy almost paid up, we will say, if that mother or father should apply for assistance they compel that child to cancel that policy.

Mr. President, I believe all my colleagues, Democrat or Republican, will agree that there we have a worthy cause to fight and I am offering this resolution calling upon the Department of Public Assistance to immediately discontinue such practice, so that the needy of our Commonwealth, after being properly investigated, shall receive relief if they are found to be in need without the canceling of any life insurance policy that they might have carried for a quarter of a century or more.

Mr. President, I ask immediate consideration.

The Resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Whereas, The Department of Public Assistance has and is at the present time compelling all persons that apply or are receiving Public Assistance cancel any Life Insurance Policy whether held by the relief recipient or by any member of his family in excess of $500, and

Whereas, Many persons have paid premiums on such Life Insurance Policies for as long as thirty-five years and now are compelled to cancel these policies at a great loss and thereby depriving their dependents from any recovery after death in excess of $500,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Department of Public Assistance be notified at once to discontinue this practice and grant relief to the needy persons of our Commonwealth without compelling the recipient or applicant to cancel any Life Insurance Policy before any Public Assistance shall be granted.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of this resolution, not because I am in favor of the continuance of that which is complained about, because I do not know what the real, true facts are, but because I think some study should be made of it before we take any radical or rash action.

Mr. President, I believe this report which is submitted to us is the beginning of an intelligent approach to this problem in connection with the Depatrment of Public Assistance and I think to follow through that intelligent approach would be the right thing to do in connection with this resolution offered by the Senator from Cambria.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I agree with the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, that might be the right approach but nothing in the report submitted by the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance contains any part of cancelling life insurance policies.

Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the Senator from Allegheny tell me whether or not he knows of any law that gives the Department of Public Assistance the right to continue that procedure that I spoke of a moment ago?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not know of any law, and further than that I might add that I do not know the public assistance law as I would like to know it. That is one of the reasons I object to immediate adoption of the resolution introduced by the Senator from Cambria, because I think we should go into this matter intelligently, so that we do not make some mistake at this time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Allegheny what he proposes to do when he says, "Go into it."

Mr. GELTZ. Why, Mr. President, the same thing as is done with anything else, which is to refer such a matter to committee and endeavor to make an intelligent study of the resolution or the bill and then take some action on it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I might state I am very much impressed by the remarks of my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, and I believe he is sincere.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, for the reasons I have just stated I will withdraw my motion asking for immediate consideration of my resolution and permit the resolution to be sent to committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Resolution is referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING SECRETARY OF REVENUE TO REVISE REGULATIONS

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have here a resolution to present to the Senate but before presenting this resolution I would ask permission to make a few brief remarks relative to its contents.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I sort of hesitate to talk upon this subject because in the past it has always been a habit of mine to be on the side that is not so popular with the common thought, on matters pertaining to safety and so forth.

Mr. President, I want to ask the members of the Senate to indulge me for a few moments to discuss the problem of highway safety as I see it and its relationship to depriving a man of his method of earning a livelihood when he violates some rule or regulation of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, the department under the existing Motor Vehicle Code has the right to grant a restricted license to a person who violates the traffic code and the department has been very lenient, as I understand it in many instances, in allowing certain drivers to receive restricted licenses in order that their suspension might not interfere with the earning of their livelihood.

However, Mr. President, I have had a few cases up before the department and have been unsuccessful in getting restricted permits for two men that I want to speak particularly about tonight.

In both cases, Mr. President, the men violated the law, or were supposed to have violated the law, at times when they were driving their own pleasure vehicles.

One man is a truck driver and was involved in a fatal accident; this fatal accident became the issue of a court case; the court exonerated the man from any blame and acquitted him.

Mr. President, the department takes the position that even though the court had decided the man was not guilty, they themselves thought he was and therefore they suspended his driver's permit.

Mr. President, that may be all right and it may be a penalty that may be justified in the matter of trying to create a more safe condition on the highways but why don't they just take from this man his right to drive a pleasure car, if that is what he was doing when the accident occurred?

The man is a truck driver and must drive a truck in order to earn a living for his family. Mr. President, they have taken away not only the right to drive a car for pleasure but they have also taken away from him the right to drive his truck in order to earn a living.

Mr. President, suppose you had to drive a truck for a living; would you not see the point as I see it—because this man's family is absolutely dependent upon his ability to earn a living. He is a driver of a truck. He has driven a car or truck for over sixteen years and this is the first time he was involved in any accident; and the court found he was not guilty, and yet, Mr. President, the department has taken away from him his driving privilege. That is perfectly all right if they so desire, as I see it, for pleasure driving, but it is not proper to take away from him the right to operate a truck when he must do that in order to earn a living.

The second case I have in mind, Mr. President, is that of a man who was a chauffeur and on one occasion he was taking a little drive with his family and in driving along something happened—whether he had been drinking or not I do not know; they say he was but there was nobody to prove it. However, Mr. President, an accident occurred, two cars were forced off the road but nobody was injured. When the man saw the police coming, Mr. President, he ran away from the scene of the accident and left his wife there to take the blame. That is the thing the department did not like, and I do not like it myself, but the man knew if the department found him guilty of reckless driving under those circumstances he would lose his job as a chauffeur, which he has already lost.

Mr. President, what he is doing on his own time is his own business. If he does something when he is driving for a living then let that be taken up before the proper tribunal and justice meted out according to the merits of his case.

This resolution, Mr. President, only asks that the department not deprive the man of his driving privilege when the privilege is to be used in order for him to earn a living; it is all right if he violates the law or has an accident at any time other than at a time he is driving in order to earn a living.

Mr. President, I ask that this body give immediate consideration to this resolution. It is simply something the department already has the right to do and in many, many cases they have given restricted licenses, as many Senators have already told me, that they have interceded for persons and have gotten restricted licenses for them.

All I ask, Mr. President, is that a restricted driver's license be granted to those who earn a living by driving and I ask this body to give immediate consideration to the resolution because if you do, the department might grant this person a restricted license and allow him to continue to earn a living rather than compel him to lose his job which he will do by Wednesday of this week.

The Resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Whereas, The General Assembly has enacted a provision in the Motor Vehicle Act giving certain persons the right to a "restricted" operator's permit; and

Whereas, It was the intention of the General Assembly by so doing to allow certain persons a restricted operator's privilege, so that they would not lose their livelihood, and make themselves and their families public charges; and

Whereas, It is now extremely difficult because of regulation by the Secretary of the Department of Revenue for a person entitled to a restricted operator's permit to obtain one; and

Whereas, Unless such regulation is relaxed, many individuals will lose their jobs and means of livelihood therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Secretary of the Department of Revenue be informed of the intention of the General Assembly, and be further requested to revise his regulations so that no hardship may result to the citizens of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. With apprehension, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland if Senate Bill No. 22, which is now in the Committee of Finance, will not correct the hardships referred to in his resolution?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have not read the bill. It is not on the Calendar nor have I a printed copy on my desk as yet, but if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, says it will, I will take his word.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest that in my humble opinion it will, and may I ask for the ad-assistance, the power and enthusiasm of the gentleman

m Westmoreland in getting Senate Bill No. 22 success-ly passed in the Senate and sent over to the House so t it can be enacted into legislation and correct the soled hardships mentioned in the resolution introduced the gentleman from Cambria.

am of the opinion, Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 22
l do all the correcting that is necessary in instances sing from cases such as are mentioned in the resolu-
n introduced by the Senator from Westmoreland.

Mr. President, it is a bill that has been very enthusiically received by drivers, by truck operators, by truck-companies and by trucking associations, as well as msters' unions, and I think it will correct the difficuls expressed in the resolution.

Mr. President, I sympathize with the gentleman from stmoreland and if we together can get some action out the Department of Revenue I would cheerfully volun-
r to go over with him and see if we cannot get the tter straightened out; see if we cannot work something t.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentle-n from Allegheny and I will state I will give him t as much cooperation on his bill as he gives me on e resolution.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I sympathize with the Senr from Westmoreland but it seems to me it would be ong for us to pass a resolution of this character without ling in a representative of the department.

Mr. President, the Senator has a couple of cases which feels were hard ones, but to pass a general resolution this kind without having heard from the department not good practice, and I would suggest that the reso-ion be sent to the Committee on Highways and that immediately have a meeting, tomorrow or tonight, l ask a representative of the department to come over.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator
m Somerset the Chair does not believe the resolution perly should be submitted to the Committee on Highys. According to the understanding of the Chair this is enforced by the Secretary of Revenue and there-re the Chair is of the opinion the resolution should be rred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. EALY. Very well, Mr. President, but I object to mediate passage of this resolution in its present form.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland ree to withdraw his request for immediate consideran?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am willing to do anything, t I just want to say to the members of this body that n serious when I say this man is going to lose his job.
Now, Mr. President, if it does not matter to you, it does tter to me and it does matter to him, because he will se his job.

Mr. President, if we are going to hold the resolution ver let us have an early meeting and allow me to preent the facts, but I would like to point out to the Presi-ent that I have here a court case in which a man was xonerated and yet he is found guilty by the department.
This does not make sense, Mr. President.

However I am willing to allow it to go over without ny fight.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, for the information of myself and also possibly for some other Senators could
I hear the prayer of that resolution; I would like to hear the prayer as to what it seeks to do.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion it only asks the Secretary of Revenue to use his discretionary power.

Mr. DENT. That is all, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution says: "Resolved if the House of Representatives concur, that the Secretary of the Department of Revenue be informed of the intention of the General Assembly, and be further requested to revise his regulations so that no hardship may result to the citizens of the Commonwealth."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, might I say that in drafting the resolution I had in mind not doing anything or calling for anything that might raise any objections on the Senate floor.

The Secretary is now empowered under the law to do that and what I am trying to do is to call his attention to the fact that it is a hardship when a man loses his job. If the Secretary gives a restricted license to one person then I say he is in duty bound to give it to another person, if the reasons are the same.

Mr. EALY. Sometimes Mr. President, we do have a miscarriage of justice. In one of the cases cited by the gentleman from Westmoreland, there was a man killed. I do not know just what the situation is here but it does seem to me we ought not to take snap judgment on a respresentative of the department without having heard him.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Somerset I believe the gentleman from Westmoreland has agreed that the resolution be referred to the Committee.

Mr. DENT. Yes Mr. President, I have.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McGINNIS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 128, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four, section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 129, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section eight, article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CAVALCANTE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 130, entitled:

An Act prohibiting judges of courts of record from engaging in political activity, except in furtherance of their own candidacy for the office of judge of any court of record; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this bill is what might be called a Judiciary Hatch Bill.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 131, entitled:

An Act to amend section four hundred forty-one of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers theerof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined" requiring members of the Workmen's Compensation Board to be learned in the law.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. EDMONDS, on behalf of Dr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill (bills) at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. EDMONDS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 132, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Article nine, Section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. CRIDER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 10, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 10, 1941, at 9:00 o'clock, p. m.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no".

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no".

The PRESIDENT. The statements of the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel will be noted in the Journal.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 33, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2460) entitled "An act creating a joint legislative commission to be known as the Joint State Government Commission providing for the appointment of its members and defining its powers and duties" changing the number of members and extending the power to employ assistance

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2460) entitled "An act creating a joint legislative commission to be known as the Joint State Government Commission providing for the appointment of its members and defining its powers and duties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 1084) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted et cetera That the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint twelve members of the House and the President pro tempore shall appoint twelve members of the Senate who together with the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall constitute a continuing joint legislative commission to be known as the Joint State Government Commission The members of the commission shall be appointed during each odd-numbered year and shall continue as members of the commission until the first day of February of the next odd-numbered year Said commission shall organize by the selection of a chairman The commission shall have power to employ such professional technical clerical and other assistance as may be deemed necessary Said commission shall have power to call upon any department or agency of the State Government for such information as it deems pertinent to the studies in which it is engaged

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. I just want to ask a very simple question, as to whether this bill as amended will increase the operating expenses of the commission and if so by how much.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not know whether it will increase the operating expenses of the commission because I do not know what the operating expenses of the commission are to date.

I do believe, Mr. President, it will have a tendency to reduce the operating expenses of the commission because it will set up a commission which to my mind will be more efficient.

Mr. President, any commission set up on a bi-partisan basis will give the Commonwealth more for the money spent in the way of work done. I think the commission as composed up to the present time has been very one-sided. The Commission has a membership of nineteen, four Democrats and fifteen Republicans and the committees that have been named under that Commission have been very one-sided and their legislative recommendations, we may assume from that, will also be one sided.

Mr. President, to my mind the Commission must either be abolished or be bi-partisan. It is absolutely no good to the people of Pennsylvania today nor will it ever be so long as it is constituted and made up by the same method as it is made up today.

Mr. President, I feel that those who believe in good government will vote for the bill.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to ask one further question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, would the provision in the bill which provides for professional, technical and other workers of assistance, increase the expenditures of the Commission or would those professional or technical workers work free of charge?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in answer to the query of the gentleman from Washington, I might say that the Commission now employs technical and statistical experts. All I am doing is putting that provision into the act. I do not know whether they received authority so to do under the previous act but I am making sure this act is legal.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Westmoreland state whether it is true a similar bill has been sponsored by the gentleman from Westmoreland at previous sessions of the Legislature.

Mr. DENT. Under another name, Mr. President. I never called it a Joint State Government Commission but I always introduced bills, from the time I first started to study tax matters, to set up a commission to study legislative problems in order that the Legislature when confronted with such problems would have the thoughts of its own membership instead of the thoughts of the department heads as we have today.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does that bill provide for equal representation of both parties?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if I am not mistaken, they sat up a committee of fifteen at that time and made the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House ex-officio members, which would have been seventeen, so that it would not have been a bi-partisan proposition; I agree with that.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32

Bartlett,	Dent,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Becker,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Carr,	Edmonds,	McQuiddy,	Wade,
Cavalcante,	Farrell,	Miller,	Walker,
Chapman,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Crider,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Ziesenheim,

NAYS—15

Barr,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Reed,

A constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 4, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of an act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended, by limiting to eleven and three-quarter mills the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class; and prescribing the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts.

MOTION TO READ BILL THE FIRST TIME

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 4, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of an act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended, by limiting to eleven and three-quarter mills the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class; and prescribing the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

MOTION FOR RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I intend to move that the Senate do now take a recess but before making such a motion I would like to ask my colleagues to report promptly in the Senate chamber at the time to which we recess.

I move, Mr. President, that we do now recess until 9:15 o'clock this evening. We are supposed to leave the Senate Chamber at 9:20 in order to assemble in the House and for that reason we particularly request that the Senators be on time tonight.

Mr. President, at this time I might also say we are going to do everything possible to be on time in this session and to convene at the time to which we have recessed and we ask the co-operation of our colleagues on the other side of the House, that the same be done in so far as they are concerned.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia will state his point of information.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of inquiry, as to when the Committee on Education met to report out Senate Bill No. 4. I think I am a member of that committee and I had no notice of a meeting of that committee.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, the committee met at 3:45 p. m. today. For the information of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, it was at about that time I opened the door of the room in which the Democratic Senators were holding their caucus.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think the members of the Senate should get more notice of committee meetings. I never had any notice of this meeting.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, for the information of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, I had notices of this meeting placed in all the mail boxes this morning.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Philadelphia the Secretary of the Senate advises the Chair he put notices of this meeting in every Senator's mail box.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I never go to my mail box until the next day.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will state his point of information.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to find out from the members of the Senate who are on the Judiciary General Committee if the notice just given that there will be a meeting of the Judiciary General Committee at 8:45 p. m. is sufficient. Also, Mr. President, I suggest to the members of that committee that they please be prompt and meet in Room 536 on E floor at the time stated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the Recess?

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 9:15 o'clock.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGES

JOINT SESSION TO HEAR HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Senate and House of Representatives meet in joint session Monday evening, February 3, 1941, at 9:30 o'clock in the Hall of the House of Representatives for the purpose of hearing the budget message of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO ESCORT GOVERNOR TO THE HOUSE

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That a committee of three on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee), to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the Hall of the House to present his budget message to the Members of the General Assembly in Joint Session this day at 9:30 o'clock.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President Pro Tempore the Chair announces the appointment of a committee to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House as follows; the Senator from Lycoming, Mr. Snowden, the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, and the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SENATORS TO HALL OF HOUSE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Sergeant-at-Arms escorted to the rail of the Senate a committee appointed by the House to escort the Senators to the Hall of the House of Representatives.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Senate the Chair thanks the committee appointed by the House for performing its duty.

(The committee retired.)

(Escorted by the committee the Senators proceeded to the Hall of the House.)

(The Governor having delivered his budget message to the Joint Session, the Senate reconvened.)

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. REED from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedent and of minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor, and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land, the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein; the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," by authorizing the orphans' court to set aside the widow's or children's exemption without notice or appraisement where the property claimed is of apparent or readily ascertainable value.

With the desire of the Committee that it be reported for two readings and then returned to committee for further consideration.

Mr. THOMAS WILSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. THOMAS WILSON. from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State Government providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth; or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," amplifying the provisions of said act relating to appeals to court.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATKINS from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth; and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department; board, commission, and officers of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," eliminating the provisions of said act which require appeals to the courts to be first lodged with the Department of Justice.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McGINNIS from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred and three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officers of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by allowing interest on refunds due from the Commonwealth.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT FROM SLATE COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN, reports from the Slate Committee with favorable recommendation, the following person to be elected as an employe of the Senate.

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, That the following person be elected an employe of the Senate:

PAGE

Robert Weiss.

Mr. CHAPMAN. I move the immediate adopted of the Resolution.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

HOUSE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 10, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 10, 1941, at 9:00 o'clock, p. m.

BUDGET MESSAGE

The PRESIDENT. The Governor's budget message has been placed on the desks of the Senators, and will be noted in the appendix to the Journal.

ADDITIONAL COPIES OF REPORT OF RELIEF COMMITTEE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I understand because of the absence of some Senators last week, they have not received their copy of the report of the Relief Committee. If such Senators will give their names to the clerk they will receive the copy they did not get last week.

APPOINTMENT OF TEMPORARY PRESIDING OFFICER

The PRESIDENT. Last Tuesday the Chair had the pleasure of attending a banquet in honor of one of your members, the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. M. Harvey Taylor. At that time we got a history of his life, from the cradle to the Senate, and he told us how, when he was a clerk here, he envied the presiding officer and how he envied the diamond ring—not the present presiding officer; he does not have a diamond ring—but the then presiding officer's diamond ring. Those who gave the testimonial dinner to Mr. Taylor presented him with a diamond ring.

It only requires one thing to make his life complete and in order that he may realize his highest ambition which is to wield the gavel, the Chair is now asking the Senator from Dauphin to come to the rostrum and wield the gavel.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SENATOR TAYLOR TO ROSTRUM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints as a committee to escort the Senator from Dauphin to the rostrum, the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Reed, and the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Scarlett.

(The committee escorted Mr. Taylor to the rostrum.)

The PRESIDENT. The committee is discharged with the thanks of the Chair.

Show them the diamond, Senator.

The Chair (HONORABLE M. HARVEY TAYLOR): The Senate will be in order. Here he is telling me what to do. Can you imagine that?

I want to tell you fellows something. I know you paid five dollars for this dinner, and know that three dollars is coming back to me. If any of you fellows have any regrets about it, just step over to my desk in a few minutes and I will be glad to refund your three dollars. Wait a minute. I have a six hundred dollar check here, maybe all of you have one of them, and I think I can make it.

Is there any further business before the Senate?

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 4, 1941 at 11:00 o'clock a. m.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agred to.

The Senate adjourned at 10:05 o'clock p. m. until Tuesday, February 4, 1941, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 3, 1941.

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Our heavenly Father, Father of us all and of all mankind, we seek thy blessing this night because we need thee. Grant that thy Spirit may be permitted to guide the affairs of this great Commonwealth.

We realize, Our Father, that a three-fold responsibility challenges us each day that thou dost give us life, and health, and an opportunity for service, We well know, O God, that our first obligation is to thee-the Creator and Ruler of the universe. Our next duty is to others. May we never fail to help our neighbor, not only at home but across the sea. Our final commission is to be true to ourselves no matter what the cost may be.

Help us to do all our work in the spirit of being co-partners with thee in forwarding thy great purpose in the world today.

Hear our prayer, we beseech thee. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Tuesday, January 28, 1941.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. TAYLOR., the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REQUEST TO ADDRESS JOINT SESSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 3, 1941

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to address the members in Joint Session this evening at nine-thirty o'clock.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

GOVERNOR INVITED TO ADDRESS JOINT SESSION

Mr. MUNLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth be invited to the Hall of the House to address the General Assembly at a time to be fixed by concurrent resolution.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE

JOINT SESSION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Senate and House of Representatives meet in joint session Monday evening, February 3, 1941, at 9:30 o'clock in the Hall of the House of Representatives for the purpose of hearing the budget message of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That a committee of three on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee), to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the Hall of the House to present his budget message to the Members of the General Assembly in Joint Session this day at 9:30 o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee on the part of the House to act with a similar committee on the part of the Senate to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, Messrs. Moul, Reuben E. Cohen and Norman Wood.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SENATE TO HALL OF HOUSE

Mr. GERARD offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, That the Speaker appoint a committee of two to escort the Members of the Senate to the Hall of the House this day at 9:30 o'clock, for the purpose of attending the Joint Session of the General Assembly.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a committee to escort the Senate to the Hall of the House, Messrs. Gerard and Charles H. Brunner.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DOLON. HOUSE BILL No. 129.

An Act to add sections three hundred and fourteen and three hundred fifteen to article three of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaged in public utility business, by prescribing, defining, and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including, to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, Companies, Corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies, and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violations of the provisions of this act and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," prohibiting certain public utilities from imposing penalties by reason of the late payments of service charges by consumers, and prohibiting certain public utilities from imposing minimum or meter charges.

Referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

By Mr. DOLON. HOUSE BILL No. 130.

To further amend the first paragraph and clause (b) of section nine of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WEISS. RESOLUTION No. 4.

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1941.

Whereas, For the past ten years, it has been increasingly difficult for the municipalities of this Commonwealth to proceed to collect delinquent taxes; and

Whereas, During this time many acts have been passed and many bills have been introduced having a single purpose, to provide for the abatement of penalties and interest in whole or in part on delinquent taxes, in order that such taxes might be paid; and

Whereas, The purpose of these acts and bills have been to encourage the taxpayers to pay their taxes so that government may function; and

Whereas, The enactment of such legislation has not altogether remedied the situation in that the delinquent tax accounts of these municipalities are still very large; and

Whereas, It is apparent that confusion and doubt exists with respect to the type of measure to be adopted in order to relieve the municipalities of this condition; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker appoint a committee of seven members of the House, whose duty it shall be to investigate the reasons and the causes for the amount of delinquent taxes and that it be directed to make an immediate report and to suggest remedies in order that remedial legislation may be adopted at the present session to relieve these municipalities of their delinquent tax burden; be it further

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of this committee to hold hearings through the State and that an appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5,000) be made available to it for this purpose.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WEISS and MAXWELL.

RESOLUTION No. 5.

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1941.

Whereas, The appropriation last approved to meet all the needs of the Public Utility Commission was insufficient to provide adequate funds and an adequate field force to investigate the many petitions by the Public Utility Commission for changes in gas and other utility rates; and

Whereas, The people of this Commonwealth will suffer as a result of increased rate or rates that are in effect presently and which should be reduced; and

Whereas, Any expenditures made by the Public Utility Commission for these purposes would be returned by the moneys collected by assessment from the utilities which pay the costs of such investigations; and

Whereas, These moneys would not come from the taxpayer nor would it place a hardship on the Commonwealth by increasing its budget; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby urge the Governor, when he considers the budget submitted by the Public Utility Commission, to provide sufficient funds for the maintenance of an adequate field force to protect the interests of the consumer before the Commission in order to prevent undue increases in utility rates and to order decreases in proper cases; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to His Excellency the Governor.

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1941.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania appropriates large sums to various hospitals in this Commonwealth so that the poor and unfortunate may receive adequate hospital care; and

Whereas, Many of the poor and unfortunate citizens of this Commonwealth complain of the treatment they receive at such hospitals; therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five members of the Houses of Representatives be appointed by the Speaker to investigate the possibility of the maintenance of free clinics in such state-aided hospitals; and be it further

Resolved, That said investigating committee inquire into the treatment of the charity patients at such hospitals; and be it further

Resolved, That said investigating committee report to the House of Representatives, as speedily as possible, with appropriate recommendations.

RESOLUTION No. 7.

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1941.

Whereas, It has been stated from time to time that there are many married women gainfully employed in the various administrative departments in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, There are thousands of unmarried women unable to find any kind of employment in this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, If such married women employes who have other income or whose husbands are employed, could be replaced, gainful employment would be available for many of the unemployed and the relief rolls of the Commonwealth would be diminished accordingly; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Governor be required to conduct a survey and that he be directed to transmit to the House of Representatives as early as possible during the present session, a complete list setting forth the names, addresses, the departments in which they work, and the salaries of:

(a) Wives and husbands both of whom are employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;

(b) Married women employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who have other sources of income or whose husbands are otherwise employed; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to His Excellency, the Governor.

Whereas The said Don Wilkinson was duly elected a member of the House of Representatives from the said legislative district at the general election held November 7 1938 and was duly sworn in as a member of the said House of Representatives at its convening in January 1939 and

Whereas The said Don Wilkinson while serving as a member of the House of Representatives as aforesaid introduced and sponsored legislation specifically an act defining the rights powers and duties of county tax collectors etc which act is now known as Act Number 277 approved the 20th day of June 1939 Pamphlet Laws 508 and

Whereas It is believed at the time the said Don Wilkinson introduced the bill aforesaid his purpose and intent was to derive a private pecuniary profit for himself as a collector of such taxes he then being engaged in the collection of similar obligations and was not in furtherance of his sworn obligation as a member of the House of Representatives and

Whereas It is believed at the time the said Don Wilkinson voted on this legislation he was engaged in negotiating contracts with school districts townships and borough officers etc for the collection of taxes thereunder for his own private interest and

Whereas At the time of his voting on such legislation he did not state he was interested privately in such legislation in contravention of Article 3 Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads

"A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member and shall not vote thereon" and

Whereas If the said Don Wilkinson was interested and so conducted himself he would be guilty of such misconduct as would require his expulsion from the House of Representatives under the provisions of Article 2 Section 11 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads as follows

"Each House shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence to enforce obedience to its process to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation and with the concurrence of two-thirds to expel a member but not a second time for the same cause and shall have all other powers necessary for the Legislature of a free State A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either House and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense"

therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives authorize the Speaker to appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives to inquire into and concerning the official conduct of the said Don Wilkinson and to further inquire whether he has been guilty of such misconduct as could be grounds for his expulsion from the House of Representatives and be it further

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, January 13, 1941.

The demand on the part of the people of this Commonwealth for adequate and reasonable pensions to be granted by the Federal Government to aged persons has become one of the major political and economic issues of the present generation.

The cost of the maintenance of our aged persons has, in most cases, been borne by relatives who are frequently unable to asume such burden without seriously affecting their ability to properly provide for their immediate families.

The care of the aged is more a part of the Nation's responsibility than the care of the unemployed. Age is never deliberately assumed, and unemployment is frequently preferred.

Proper care of all aged persons by the Federal Government would assist in creating jobs for the unemployed, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That this General Assembly does hereby memorialize the Representatives in Congress to immediately consider some form of adequate and reasonable allowance to be paid to aged persons, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of Washington, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and the President of the United States Senate, and a copy be forwarded to the President of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Welfare.

COMMUNICATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Robert M. Fisher, Indiana, Pennsylvania

February 1, 1941.

Hon. Thomas J. Callahan,
Chief Clerk,

Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Mr. Callahan:

This will express to you, to Mr. Kilroy, Mr. Hewitt and all of the members of the House of Representatives the very warm appreciation of the family of the late John S. Fisher for the resolution adopted on his death.

The very sincere tone of the resolution and the appreciative and sympathetic appraisal of his life will always be gratefully remembered.

Sincerely yours,

ROBERT M. FISHER

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President I present to you the Committee appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, We have the pleasure and the honor of presenting to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Arthur H. James.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, Members of the Joint Session, I have the honor and pleasure of presenting the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Honorable Arthur H. James who will lay before the Joint Session his budget message and address you thereon. The Governor.

MESSAGE OF ARTHUR H. JAMES, GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I wish to thank you for this opportunity of summarizing Pennsylvania's financial program for the next two years.

Tonight there is being laid on your desks our suggested budget for the biennium which begins in June. You will find also a formal message outlining the program step by step.

In some ways, the budget will be the most important matter to come before this session. Sound finances are the foundation for all else you do. Economy, good administration, remedy of imperfections, improvements of our social structure, the vital needs of defense—all these and others must be built upon financial stability.

Let me say at the outset that this is not a "must" budget. The bills which will be introduced to carry out its provisions will not be "must" bills.

From a multitude of suggestions and plans, we have chosen those which present themselves as the best in sight. If new ideas are brought forward, I will receive them with open mind. If they prove better than those embodied in this message, I shall be pleased to incorporate them.

I ask only that you, of both parties, in your deliberations measure this program solely by the yardstick of public welfare, and I have every confidence and assurance that such is your intention.

I am recommending the program now being placed before you because its enactment and successful completion would give Pennsylvania the following benefits:

It would, without tax increases, furnish money for the full two-year period for all current needs of the State, including expansion of activities in several urgent fields.

It would maintain our present high standard of relief for those who need it.

It would provide for taking our full part in rearmament and in any military developments.

It would absorb all inherited debts and unfinanced obligations.

It would balance Pennsylvania's books.

Enacted and successfully carried out, it would give the next Chief Executive a House of government with the mortgage paid off—a household in which the cost of living would be reduced to many millions of dollars below the present level of tax income.

Two principal objections can be found to the program. It can be argued that we have over-estimated relief needs and that we have under-estimated the effects on our tax incomes of the present industrial expansion due to rearmament.

By lowering relief appropriations and raising tax estimates it would be possible to create an apparent spread between income and needs which would permit cutting taxes during this session. In my judgment, that would be to count chickens not yet hatched.

However, I wish to assure both this Legislature and the men and women of the Commonwealth that the taxpayers will receive the full benefit of any such improvement in financial conditions. If at any time during my term as Governor it becomes clear that our estimates are too conservative, and that our tax receipts will substantially exceed our needs, I will take immediate steps to correct our financial program and cut taxes accordingly, even if a special session for that purpose should be necessary.

On the basis of the estimates now in hand, and disregarding the special funds which have their separate budgets, continuing the present taxes would give the State an income of $413,000,000 during the next biennium.

What are the state's needs for that period?

The largest single item, and the first to consider, of course is public assistance.

The burden of unemployment, which is the combined totals of persons supported by WPA and general assistance, today is less than half what it was a year ago. Three-fourths of that reduction came before the rearmament program was announced last May, and only one-fourth has occurred since then.

Without going into discussion of how much of the reduction was due to the state's changed attitude toward industry, the work of the Job Mobilization campaign, or the excellent service of our Secretary of Public Assistance, I believe it is evident that the effect of rearmament on relief is only beginning to be felt.

How much unemployment will defense work wipe out? In some quarters we are told that rearmament will find jobs within a few months for every man and woman able to work.

If such predictions are true, our relief needs will become a nominal sum, easy to provide without budget complications.

Several plans are under discussion which would further reduce the state costs by guaranteeing us our fair share of Federal funds and by encouraging local participation through some form of state-operated work relief.

Such factors would be of tremendous help to the taxpayers of this Commonwealth. All of them paint a rosy picture of lowered needs and broadened help in carrying the burden which would reduce relief far below its present cost. Further we face the obvious comparison of two years ago, when none of these factors was at work and when unemployment was twice as large. If rearmament will continue to reduce relief as rapidly as Pennsylvania was able to reduce unemployment before the defense program began, half the expenditures of the current two years, or about $100,000,000, should be ample for the biennium.

Nevertheless, I do not believe it would be prudent for us at this time to count on an average relief cost of less than $5,000,000 a month.

I therefore recommend that the sum of $120,000,000 be fixed as the minimum for relief appropriation, and further recommend that we add to that amount, as a cushion, all funds left over after other needs have been met. This represents a sum of $11,000,000 at present. By June, however, unless defense gets in higher gear, this surplus may be reduced, since some relief costs of the present biennium may have to be charged against it. We are asking a new appropriation of fourteen and a half million dollars to continue relief when present appropriations are exhausted. It is not yet certain how much relief funds are needed to last until June.

To return to the budget program: Deducting $120,000,000 relief appropriations from tax incomes of $413,000,000 leaves $293,000,000 for other purposes. We have next to consider the general state operations.

Following the pattern laid down during the last two years, and expanding State activities only where there is imperative need, our program calls for expenditure in State functions outside of relief of $211,000,000. Deducting that sum leaves a balance of $82,000,000. From this we must pay back moneys borrowed during the current biennium from various funds, including the motor license fund.

As promised, this money is being returned next June, in time for its use for the purposes intended without delay to any program now in operation or in contemplation. Borrowing this money has permitted us to maintain relief without tax increases and with a minimum of inconvenience.

The total of such refunds under the budget is $66,000,000. Deducting this amount leaves a balance of $16,000,000. Out of this we are recommending nearly $5,000,000 in deficiency appropriations for use in the current biennium. The great bulk of these appropriations are to relieve distressed school districts.

The balance is the $11,000,000 mentioned, all of which I recommend be made available for relief.

Earlier I referred to an increase in governmental operations to permit us to meet certain vital needs. The total of such new items and increases is about $12,000,000. Let me very briefly call attention to some of these matters.

The Health and Welfare appropriations are substantially increased, to permit opening buildings constructed or planned by the General State Authority, and thus take care of the institutional waiting lists.

Health activities such as the control of pneumonia and other diseases, will be greatly enlarged, and provision will be made to increase our work of helping supervise the health of our new soldiers now being inducted into service.

An appropriation has been made to permit Pennsylvania soldiers on active duty to vote in our elections, wherever their service calls them.

Another appropriation is recommended to bring teachers' salaries in fourth-class school districts up to a minimum of one thousand dollars a year.

The Budget calls for an increase of one-third in funds available for parole supervision.

I am suggesting that a fund be set aside to permit the Department of Justice to conduct the secret investigations which are the only means of discovering secret subversive activities.

I am suggesting also that an appropriation be made available to permit a commission to undertake a survey of school needs and of the subsidies being granted to school districts on a basis of more than $70,000,000 dollars a biennium.

An appropriation is recommended to pay the State's share of occupational disease claims.

A large increase is recommended for vocational training and retraining of the unemployed, and for other types of rehabilitation.

In general I consider all of these increases, and various other smaller ones which I have not listed, to be fully warranted. They permit us to extend the State's helping hand to many who badly need it. They meet the new rob'ems of changing times.

You will not find in the budget a lump appropriation earmarked for general defense or wartime purposes. However, this has been provided for. The budget calls for the customary appropriation for our National Guard, now being mustered into service.

It is my suggestion that the appropriation bill covering this appropriation be so changed as to permit the reallocation of those funds for any emergency defense needs which arise.

If it should happen that the present international crisis abates within the near future, and the National Guard is returned to state service, funds for them will thus be available. On the other hand, if the present emergency continues, and it becomes advisable to set up a Home Guard, a State Council of Defense and other similar defense agencies, the money not needed for the National Guard will be available for these purposes.

In conclusion, let me thank the members of this Legislature for the harmony and cooperation which have marked your deliberations.

Grave as are the responsibilities before us, serious as are the dangers confronting our nation, urgent as are our state and national need, laborious as are some of the tasks we face—the time has not yet come when Pennsylvanians cannot sit down together to work out their destiny.

The sons and daughters of our state have never sought the easiest way, but always the best way.

Permit me to assure you that you have my best wishes, my help and my full cooperation in the working out of the tasks before us.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. In behalf of the General Assembly I want to thank you for your address. I believe it has given us much food for thought and something to do.

The purpose for which the Joint Session was called has been consummated. The Joint Session is now adjourned. The Senators will return to the Senate Chamber and resume their duties.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The message of the Governor as delivered to the Joint Session will be spread upon the Journal in the proceedings of the Joint Session. The Budget and Supplement thereto will be printed in full in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 3, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 10, 1941, at 4 o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 10, 1941, at 9 o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was unanimously concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the provisions of House Resolution adopted the twenty-eighth day of February, 1941, providing for a committee to arrange suitable services in the House of Representatives in memory of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, the Chair appoints, Messrs. Shepard, Chairman, O'Connor, Harkins Rhea and Reagan.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ACHTERMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it was with mingled emotions that I listened to the address of the Governor just a few minutes ago, and at the same time endeavored to scan briefly his printed message to this House as it was contained in the biennial budget. I say "mingled emotions"——emotions both of fear and elation. Those are all emotions to be produced by a budget. I believe that possibly I am not alone in that feeling.

Let us discuss the fear that pervaded me, and just fleetingly, of course. I had visions before me when I heard the Governor say that we could accomplish all of this without any new taxes and I turned to his printed words not delivered to this House, in which he recommended the reenactment of all the emergency taxes. It caused fleeting emotions, or fleeting visions, to me of the Curtis Publishing Company which jumped across the river into New Jersey, and I could see that long list of manufacturers that he was so prone to tell us about just a few years ago leaving the State of Pennsylvania. Why? Because of the taxes enacted by the Democrats.

Of course, I realize the alibi that was given; I realize that just two years ago when this same Governor and this same Republican Party reenacted the taxes that they had gone throughout the State condemning, and they said, "Well, the reason for it is that conditions were so bad we cannot do away with them now, but we have given our word and our promise that you need only wait two years and the tax reduction will be given to you."

You remember, don't you, just the same as I do, that two years ago your alibi was that the Democrats had left you a deficit as I recall of twenty-six million dollars; then last year, when you ran out of money your alibi was fifty million dollars which you said the Democrats had left you in the hole.

Now, turn to page five of this printed address which was not delivered over the air and look for your alibi. It seems as though Arthur is good in alibis. Just look at it; he has found another eight million dollars deficit which the Democrats left to him. Now it is fifty-eight million dollars, and just to be on the safe side, he says that the WPA short-changed him. The figures as I recall at the moment are thirty seven million dollars. It took him two years to find out about all this short-changing. First twenty six million dollars; then when he needs more money a fifty million dollar alibi, and now he needs some more, some sixteen million dollars more. He is now up to fifty-eight million dollars, and incidentally in his printed message he does not hesitate to tell you that it may be more than he will need. Alibis, nothing but alibis. Cannot your party, cannot this leader of yours bring something more substantial before this House and before the people of Pennsylvania then plain ordinary alibis? I could understand very well, after this course of treatment why the Curtis Publishing Company, why Walter Ford and why all of the other Republican manufacturers might decide that they ought to leave Pennsylvania, because haven't they elected, and haven't they put into office one of their own, one who had been trained as an executive? Oh, yes one from that group who was born to rule and all that he can produce for you is deficits. His deficits, mark you, run well over eighty million dollars. No wonder, this alibi claims an inheritance of a fifty-seven million dollar deficit, and the short-changing of another thirty-seven million dollars. He is not fooling anyone; he is not fooling you, he is not fooling the people of Pennsylvania.

Let us turn to some of the things he is talking about in his printed message, not the delivered message, in which he tries to say that this is the smallest budget that Pennsylvania has had in some considerable length of time. He is trying to say it is seventy-three million dollars less than in the preceding two years, meaning the last two years of the Democratic Administration.

May I read to you the record?

What he is asking for is four hundred thirteen million seven hundred ninety-four thousand dollars in the 1937-1939 biennium. If we forget the special appropriations the same as he has you will find the amount is four hundred and fourteen million one hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars, a difference of some four hundred thousand dollars, relief cut in half. Has he economized? Is he trying to economize? That is the story.

May I point out to you when he is talking of a deficit the record of the Democratic Administration for its four years. In the 1935-1937 biennium the Democratic Party had no deficit; it had a surplus of eleven million dollars. In the 1937-1939 biennium it had a deficit of twelve million dollars, a difference in the four years of one mililon dollars in an operation of four years, and that in spite of the fact that during that length of time the Democratic party paid off ten million dollars of bonds owing by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which had not been incurred by the Democratic party.

Speaking of deficits, not in dollars and cents, but speaking of a deficit that is more vital to you, more vital to me, far more vital to the people of Pennsylvania, the Governor of Pennsylvania did not mention this particular deficit that I am about to mention, he did not call to your attention in his speech, his printed message, what he wished you to delay in doing. He did not state in his spoken word over the air that he was asking you to defer for another two years the obligation on the part of the Commonwealth to take over the County mental hospitals. He did not say to you that now for the first time he was going to endeavor to open the mental hospitals and the tubercular hospitals for that long waiting list. Can you think of a deficit that Pennsylvania incurred in human life and in human suffering, aside from the eighty million dollars which he has squandered? Every man here in the Hall tonight knows of the waiting lists of individuals in his county who are insane, who should be placed in the mental hospitals; every man also knows of the tubercular individuals confined in their beds at home or walking the streets, a menace to the rest of the people, who should be in institutions today, and should have been in the institutions two years ago. Two years ago, we pleaded with the Governor and with the Republican party to furnish the funds and the finances to take care of them. Is that a deficit? It would be a very marked and a very large deficit if it occured to someone in your family; and it occured in many families throughout the Commonwealth. Why did not the Governor, when he was naming the deficits put that at the head of his list, instead of now after two years of dilatory action toward the insane say "Now I am asking you to do it." Then, if you follow on in this printed address of the Governor of Pennsylvania his anticipated receipts, you will find that he is banking largely on increased revenue to make possible the balancing of this budget. He is hoping that improved conditions brought on for one reason alone, our National defense will make it possible to balance the budget in the coming two years. I have called this a budget. I suggest that every member read it, try to analyze it and see if you do not say it is "bridge-it" and not a budget.

I have heard an old expression, an old Biblical expression about Faith, Hope and Charity, and it ends with the greatest of all of these is Charity." I cannot help to some extent compare this budget with that Biblical expression, except this, there is little faith, a lot of hope and no charity.

Now, Mr. Speaker, as to the elation. I was indeed elated to hear the leader of the Republican party in his spoken word and in his printed message exhort the Republican party to again reenact the tax legislation passed six years ago, initiated by the Democratic party. Oh, I know how you men on the other side condemned those taxes, how onerous they were to you and how you complained they were destroying Pennsylvania, the entire Commonwealth was going to rack and ruin, and how you could do it so much better. Now we have had four years of your demontration. With all the knowledge that you have in your party, with all the vaunted ability that you have maintained to the people of Pennsylvania, with all the vast resources that you have in the manufacturers to come and help you out, without mentioning your millionaires, you have been unable to solve the problem. You cannot improve on that which I in a small way, together with my colleagues did for you six years ago, and I am beginning to think that, yes, the brains of this Commonwealth, the ability of this Commonwealth, the power to rule vests in the Democrats. You have disclosed your inability; after condemning us you have disclosed your inability to improve on this system that we established, the system that has met not only with the approval of the people of Pennsylvania but with the approval of the Republican party and its Governor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have been endeavoring to follow very carefully the studied remarks of the leader of the majority in reference to the budget. Unfortunately I have had no opportunity to study the budget, therefore, I am not familiar with the figures other than those given by the Governor here tonight. I might say however that I think from past experience I have some familiarity with the general finances of the Commonwealth, and I think that I have listened to a number of budget discussions, in the past, where deficits were juggled into the right side of the ledger in order to create a balance, but I never have heard quite so adroit a juggling as that which was engaged in by the leader of the majority tonight.

I am reminded of a story and I would just like to reply to the gentleman by relating it. I heard it in Washington last week. On behalf of Sidney Hillman, one of the members of the Defense Council, appeared a man by the name of Lubin, who in his discussion before the assemblage said that one time a friend of his who was a manufacturer of clothing with mills in Boston and in New York, had a number of his New York employees come to him and ask him for a twenty percent increase in wages on account of the living costs in New York being twenty per cent higher than they were in Boston. This man called in Mr. Lubin as a statistician and economist to take it up and figure it out for him. After taking into consideration everything that entered into the cost of living, he figured that the cost of living in New York was five per cent higher than it was in Boston. So he called in his employees and he said," Boys, why are you asking a twenty per cent increase?" They said that the costs of living in New York was twenty per cent higher." He said, "well they are not, they are only five per cent higher." The spokesman for the employees got up and said, "Mr. So and So, if you are talking statistics while we talk facts, I cannot see why we should try to go any further."

I can only say to you that if the leader of the majority is going to talk statistics while the Governor talks facts,—and the facts are that there was an inherited deficit, that there were people that had to be put upon relief, that there were functions of the State Government which had to go on, that there is a deficit which has to be paid for,—if he wants to juggle those into some kind of a political declaration there is no use discussing on the floor of the House those statistics while we talk facts.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEVY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, approximately a week has passed since the Joint State Government Commission appointed by this General Assembly rendered its report to the membership of this House. Of such magnitude is the entire relief problem to the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and of such importance is the problem to each and every member of the General Assembly that I personally waited very anxiously for this important Committee to render its report.

However, Mr. Speaker in the foreword of this report I found a very interesting statement made by the Committee, which in my opinion should be quoted. Speaking of the serious problem of relief with its "ramifications" and "implications," the Committee had this to say and I quote "we aproached this task on a non-partisan and non-political basis."

I might say, Mr. Speaker, that I have the utmost confidence in the integrity and honesty of the members of the sub-committee assigned to this particular subject and yet, Mr. Speaker, it is with the greatest reluctance that I must disagree with the statement made by the committee relative to the non-partisanship and non-political attitude with which they profess to have been guided in their approach to this problem.

Throughout the pages of this report I found no assemblance of non-partisanship. On the contrary, however, the deeper one studies the various investigations referred to and the ultimate recommendations cited in this report as a result of the sub-committee's studies and deliberations, one becomes convinced that the recommendations are not the result of non-partisan and non-political study, but apparently are conclusions based on the policy of a few of its members, or they must represent the voice of the Republican leadership in this state on the subject of relief.

It might be well in passing to mention a word relative to the recommendation of the committee pertaining to what they call the "liberalization of the social security act." I cannot fully understand why the committee recommended to this Legislature the liberalization of the social security act as passed by an act of Congress and subsequently amended, because they know very well that no action of this Legislature could possibly change one clause in the Federal act enacted by the Federal Congress.

On January 7th the Governor addressing a Joint Session of this Assembly referred also to the Social Security Board and I quote from his address. "I ask that this Legislature memorialise the Social Security Board to ask more generous interpretation of its regulations covering both pensions to the blind and to the aged so that Pennsylvania be not penalized for exceeding the standard set up by the Federal Agency."

Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Governor of the Commonwealth to clarify this statement, and by the same token I ask the Joint State Government Commission to clarify their recommendations concerning the liberalization of the Social Security Act. What imposition, if any has the Federal Social Security Agency placed upon the State Department of Public Assistance with regard to the liberalization of old age assistance in Pennsylvania? I regret to say that if the Governor and the sub-committe on relief had studied the Federal Social Security Act and its amendments, they would have not made such a meaningless recommendation to the Legislature. Anyone who is familiar at all with the Federal Social Security Act knows that it is mandatory on the part of the State to determine the eligibility of old age assistance on a "needs" basis and this has been the rule ever since the Department of Public Assistance was created by the 1937 Legislature.

Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the Joint State Government Committee appointed by this Assembly to study relief be urged to write to the Federal Social Security Board, and I believe it is in Section 1 or Section 2 which states that assistance is granted on the basis of need and this is a regulation of every state of the Union. I would say to the Joint State Government Commission, which is Republican controlled, that they find out what provision on the part of the Federal Social Security Act hampers the officials of the Department of Public Assistance relative to old age assistance. I issue the challenge to the Republican membership of this House that if they wish to make it more liberal, if they wish to discontinue receiving federal assistance, they place on the statute books of this Commonwealth a liberal old age pension.

The reference made by the Joint State Government Committee to amend the Federal Social Security Act which permits the matching of Pennsylvania payments to the blind, which is on a liberal basis, is also a meaningless gesture on the part of this Committee. We who served in the last session are well acquainted with the attitude of the Republican party toward the blind of Pennsylvania, because it was only after insistence by a small Democratic minority in the House at that time that the amendment repealing the liberal blind pension act in Pennsylvania was taken out of the Van Allsburg bill of 1939. The members of the 1939 session will recall quite vividly that it was only after we had read into the record of this House, and reminded the Governor of his promise to the blind of Pennsylvania in October 1938, that we saved for another two years the liberal blind pension which was enacted in the 1937 Department of Public Assistance Act under the term of George H. Earle as Governor.

However, Mr. Speaker, the recommendation of the committee regarding Social Security is not the serious aspect of this report, because I feel the recommendation affecting the entire state set-up as it is presently constituted, is the real danger which might develop, because in the very next recommendation which this committee offers, it asks the Legislature to adopt and enact legislation which would place the granting of assistance and the control of relief in the hands of a local county board. I would say to the Joint State Government Commission that in this request they not only disturb their relations with the Federal Government, because in the Federal act under Section 2, subsection A, it distinctly states that this sort of a procedure is a direct violation of the Federal Social Security Act.

The committee also recommends that the county board should be a autonomous. The committee further recommends that they should be granted full power to operate their county organization. Just what does this mean? To me, it means nothing more nor less than a decentralization of relief in Pennsylvania, and the absolute control of its operations and disbursements through local county boards. Can the sub-committee of that committee deny to this House that that has been the policy of the Republican party regarding relief and is the policy today. Does that sound like recommendations made by a committee who has made a careful non-partisan and non-political study? I challenge tonight, Mr. Speaker, that in all the investigation and study made by this sub-committee that there is nothing in this report that leads one to believe that the road to Utopian relief in Pennsylvania is the return of the control of relief to politically inspired county boards.

Mr. Speaker, I desire in passing, and I address my remarks to the Committee that if this be the case I would like to know what is the real basis for such a recommendation. Can it be that the Republican party in Pennsylvania is admitting that the appointment of the Secretary of Public Assistance has been a bad one? Can it be true that this committee suggests that the Secretary of Public Assistance and his state office has been derelict in their respective duties? Can it be true that the policies, rules and regulations emanating from the State Department of Public Assistance have not been in accord with the policies of the Republican party and their attitude toward relief? I challenge the committee to answer in all or in part some of these inferences that must be inevitably drawn from their recommendations made to the Legislature regarding autonomy of the local boards.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, because the city of Philadelphia commands probably the greatest amount of funds for relief comparable to any given combination of counties, it might be well for the members of the Legislature to know something about the complex of the local board in Philadelphia and its executive director to whom this committee wishes to transfer the authority relative to the disbursement of relief.

First, let me mention that the board in Philadelphia is not at present a non-partisan board but is a board composed chiefly of Republicans. The majority of them have never had any previous experience in relief work. It is my understanding that in other counties the boards are more impressively Republican and I have reliable information that in one county the board is composed of six coal operators who have never had any experience regarding matters pertaining to relief and special assistance. However, coming back to Philadelphia it might be well to bring to the attention of this House that the executive director in Philadelphia elected by the local board and who incidentally is the chief administrator of relief in Philadelphia, prior to his assuming this office, never had any theoretical or practical training regarding relief problems. Because of his ignorance in relation to problems of this kind, he has caused chaotic conditions in the relief set-up in Philadelphia and in fact it is now a matter of record that practically all the qualified, efficient and matured personnel surrounding him in the executive offices have voluntarily left their employment. I wonder why the sub-committee investigating the relief problem did not include this information in their report to the Legislature. I also would like to know why the committee in its condemnation of the visitor personel did not also place into the report the information that in New York City, a comparable city to Philadelphia the case load per visitor is fifty to sixty-eight, whereas in Philadelphia county the case load per visitor averages from one hundred seventy-five to two hundred. I wonder why the committee in its report did not inform the Legislature that the conditions under which the visitors work has necessitated a twenty-five per cent personel. I wonder why the committee did not stipulate how much it cost the administrative Department of Public Assistance to hire new personel every six months or every year. From authoritative sources I have learned that it costs the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania six hundred dollars every time they replace a new visitor or investigator, because for the first six months a new visitor or investigator carries only about one third of his or her regular work.

Mr. Speaker, I might hesitate in objecting to the decentralization of relief set-up in Pennsylvania so that control might be placed in the hands of the local boards, if it were not for the fact that since the inception of the James administration we have had unqualified men and women who do not possess the slightest knowledge of the very difficult problem of relief.

In Philadelphia the executive director is not at all competent to perform his duties, nor has he in the majority of cases followed the instructions laid down by the 1937 Public Assistance Law, nor has he subscribed fully to the intent and purposes of the Act in its relation to the authority vested in the State Department of Public Assistance.

Mr. Speaker, this Joint State Government Commission asks the members of this House to adopt legislation by taking authority out of the State government and placing it in the hands of local boards, and it will be placed back into the hands of political constituted boards who are neither non-partisan or competent. I say to you, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that if these recommendations were to become law, the entire program of the Goodrich Committee whose work resulted in the great Public Assistance law of 1937 would be destroyed, and be supplemented by sixty-seven boards far worse than the local poor boards which were denounced by every decent citizen of the Commonwealth and also a majority of the press in the Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker, this subject is a large one. It requires a great deal of thought. I intend in later days of this session to continue my criticism of the Committee.

I will say to the Committee that if they studied this subject on a non-partisan and non-political basis, then certainly the findings of the Committee would not have brought back the recommendations which I have discussed and if they had looked at the situation in a non-partisan and non-political basis, then they would not have requested this Legislature to go back to the old local poor boards, and that is exactly what they intend to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am conscious of the fact that the hour is growing late and that the membership of the House has been treated to quite a bit of discussion this evening, and therefore it is more than likely tired and not anxious to hear a lot more. But, Mr. Speaker, I cannot, as the Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission, permit the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia to go unanswered, insofar as they pertain to any question of partisanship.

I do not think it is either a fair statement or a proper statement for a Member of this House to make on purely a survey of some recommendations of this report with which he does not agree. I want to say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the membership of the sub-committee on relief worked diligently from the summer of 1939, and I know of no instance in the deliberations of that sub-committee, or later in the deliberations of the Joint State Government Commission, in considering this report, when there was any discussion of politics in relation to relief.

The gentleman from Philadelphia said he is going to study this report and have some further remarks. It seems to me that the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia should have been preceeded by a further study before he made his opening remarks. It seems to me he should have taken the time and the trouble to have interviewed some of the members of the sub-committee on relief, and the gentlemen of the Joint State Government Commission in order to ascertain just exactly how this investigation was made and how this report was made up. True there may be some parts of this pertaining to relief and some of the program on which there may be no comment within this report, but it was not humanly possible for this committee or any other committee, with the funds that were available and the time which was available, to go into every ramification of relief in New York state or Wisconsin or California, although there are tables of comparative statistics from other states which it was possible to gather. I do not believe that there has been a week since the summer of 1939 that the sub-committee on relief has not in some way met, and many times it met possibly two or three days that particular week, and, remember, these members of the Commission received no additional compensation or remuneration for their services.

I do not object to any member of this House having a difference of opinion with the committee or with its conclusions or its recommendations. I do not object that any member of the House feels that the committee has not investigated some form of relief which he feels should have been investigated. But for a member of this House to say, and after the arduous work that the Committee did, and I say that, notwithstanding the fact that I was a member of that Committee, for any member of this House to pick up a report and then charge partisanship to the Committee is neither a proper statement nor a correct statement, and I would be derelict in my duty and in my responsibility to my fellow members on that committee if I did not arise upon the floor of the House to make this statement.

I do not intend to answer all of the criticism of the gentleman from Philadelphia, because it went on so long, touching so many points, that it reminded me of a Mother Hubbard dress which covered everything but touched upon nothing.

Nevertheless, there are two or three points which I want to answer. First, the question of autonomy for the local boards. If the gentleman from Philadelphia will study the report, if he will go back and study other reports made by other commissions and committees of the House he will find almost invariably that every legislative committee we have ever had has recommended that there be some form of local control over relief, that there be more power placed in the local board. He has only to turn to page eleven of the report and he will find that in 1935 a committee created by House Resolution 110—and by the way possible it would be improper for me to inject politics, but it seems to me in my dim recollection that in the session of 1935 the majority of this House was a Democrat majority, and the majority of the Committee that was appointed under that resolution was a Democratic committee. That committee had this to say: "Relief administration should be decentralized and the local boards should be given authority to make such rules as will provide reasonable relief at a minimum expense to the taxpayers."

Although there have been something like twenty committees, including the Goodrich Committee, which were appointed to study this question of relief, almost invariably every committee which has ever been appointed by this Legislature to study this question of relief, has recommended that it be returned to the County insofar as the administration of relief is concerned, in order that we might secure the best administration, in order that the cost of relief might be reduced to a minimum, and that only those who were deserving of relief might receive it.

For the past year I have been a member of the committee appointed by the Council of State Governments to study this question of relief on a nation-wide basis, and on that committee sat both Democrats and Republicans. They were Democrats of the calibre of the Speaker of the House of Representatives of Virginia, whom I recall very clearly. I also recall a Senator from the state of Indiana and another from the state of Arkansas, and I might go on down the line naming men who were on that committee, to show that it was a by-partisan committee and not selected because of their political affiliations or persuasions. I want to say to you that in the first meeting of that group, notwithstanding the fact that many of us had never met each other and that we came from different parts of the country, notwithstanding the fact that we were of different political faiths, the unanimous opinion of that committee was that relief to be properly administered and in order to see that only those entitled to relief might have it, should be returned to the counties and put as close to local administration as possible.

The gentleman from Philadelphia cited the Social Security Act, to show that you cannot take it back to the Counties. I say to you that Pennsylvania is one of the very few states of the Union that pays all the relief and administers it from a central point. In the deep south they do not have direct relief as we have it. They have only WPA there. In some other states they have a combination which leaves the relief problem in the hands of the local community to administer it and to provide the funds for relief. In some other states like New York, it is done on a sharing basis. That State pays forty-five per cent of the cost and the local community pays fifty-five per cent. When the gentleman from Philadelphia made the statement that we must have known that we could not do these things, or that if we had made a study of the act we would have known we would not do these things, I say to him the answer is that the facts as shown by the statistics of the different states refute the argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The gentleman from Philadelphia seems to have taken quite some umbrage about a statement and recommendation in reference to the liberalization of the Social Security Act. The Joint State Government Commission did not consider that this report was being made to a group of morons; they considered it was being made to a group of legislators who would of course know the sphere in which we could legislate and the sphere in which the Federal Government must legislate. We, of course, knew that it would take some memorializing of Congress, that it would take action on the part of Congress and of the Social Security Board in order to secure the necessary amendments. The Board says clearly that the Federal Social Security Act should be amended to permit Pennsylvania to make payment to the aged on a more liberal basis. If the gentleman from Philadelphia would study the Social Security plan, he would know that the plan says that we must allot to the blind and the aged on the basis of need, and because of the fact that Pennsylvania gives so liberally to the blind it is penalized to the tune of four million dollars every biennium. That four million dollars every biennium could help the distressed school districts of the Commonwealth. The gentleman from Philadelphia certainly ought not to oppose any request that says to the Federal Security Board "Liberalize your laws to bring them up to the standard of Pennsylvania in reference to the blind, liberalize them in reference to the aged." I say this because they put the amount which they are to receive not on the question of need alone but also on the question of family budget. The members of the Joint State Government Commission felt that should be reduced, and we feel that if the Social Security Act were to be liberalized so that we would not be penalized on the aged as we are on the blind, we might have an opportunity to do something more for the aged than we are able to do now in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I will not take up any further time of the House other than this answer which I have attempted here to make. I would suggest, however, that the gentleman from Philadelphia give more critical study to this whole problem, and if he will come to the offices of the Joint State Government Commission I am sure they will sit down with him and explain away many of the foggy points which he talks about as being non-partisan, but which are the result of the efforts of the Joint State Government Commission to secure the best system of relief we could, and to secure it for the people who really need it and to prevent those who have no right to be on the relief roll from being there.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEVY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I regret very much that the gentleman from Delaware has taken more or less personally the criticism, not to his chairmanship, but to the committee. I hoped at the outset that I would impress on the gentleman from Delaware that this was not a personal attack upon the committee, but an attack upon its recommendations, and when I stated on this floor that the Joint State Government Commission in my opinion had not rendered a non-partisan and non-political report, I meant that they distinctly and I meant every word I said, not as a matter of personal feeling toward any member of the committee, but gentlemen, it is only natural that a committee composed of Republicans should naturally infuse into their findings the policies of the Republican party on relief.

The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, says that it is natural that we should ask for the liberalization of old age assistance relative to the Federal Social Security Act My challenge was very clear. Mr. Turner mentioned something about family budgets. There is nothing in the Federal Social Security Act that makes it mandatory upon the state to consider family budgets in old age assistance, and I challenge the gentleman from Delaware to show me the provision in that act which makes it mandatory. I did not mean anything personal, but I know that the Department of Public Assistance through its local boards especially, and probably the executive director, especially in Philadelphia, feels that that should be included, they have made it a policy in Philadelphia. That is one of the fallacies I want to bring before this legislature. The Federal Social Security Act about which the Governor screams aloud and which is made an issue by the State Government Commission, does not stipulate at any time that there shall be grants computed on the budget plan in regard to old age assistance.

The Federal Social Security Board, however, which is created by the act suggests to the State, it does not make it mandatory, it suggests that where an applicant is a member of a family and where there are additional funds available for his or her use, then and only then shall the State take into consideration the fact that they might include a family budget, and that gentlemen, is merely a suggestion.

What has the State Department of Public Assistance done under this liberal Governor? I shall tell you what they have done; they have interpreted the policy of the Federal Social Security Board to mean that it is mandatory and they do not even take the mandatory provision but they say that if the applicant has a son or daughter or any legally responsible relative in Pennsylvania or in any other state in the Union, and they in some manner through some court of law obtain a support order on that person, then immediately the State Department of Public Assistance cuts down the grant to the individual applicant and in most cases takes it away entirely.

There is no provision in the Federal Act for such an instance and the Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission, and I believe the members of the State Government Commission know it because they could not have studied the Federal Act and still not know its provisions. I would say to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, that in addition to the liberalization of old age assistance I wonder what the Joint State Government Commission meant when in Section 8, Article E on page 6 of the recommendations they had this to say: "Organizations of employees under civil service should not be affiliated with labor unions. Employees subject to civil service have the right to form any organization within their own department." I ask you, gentlemen of the House, has not this been the policy of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, to attempt to stamp out affiliated unions and replace them with company unions and that is exactly what this section says.

I challenge the gentleman from Delaware to answer that statement.

I thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, my father always taught me that anybody who would take a dare would steal sheep, but in this instance I feel that I cannot let the gentleman from Philadelphia get away with his challenge when he dared me to answer that question. I could possibly keep the membership of this House here for the next hour and I am confident Mr. Levy would keep you here for the next one after that and then throw out another challenge which if I would answer would take up another hour.

Having served in the House with the gentleman, I am quite familiar with his proclivities in answering at length. The committee made a careful investigation and the committee gave careful consideration to this question and that was the deliberate opinion of the committee nothwithstanding all of the other issues which the gentleman from Philadelphia has indicated. It has nothing to do with the union question. The Committee was not opposed to labor unions. It did not say that it was, and it isn't. I believe that every member of the Committee believes that labor unions have their proper place and their proper function. The laws of Pennsylvania which have been passed in the last forty years, it seems to me, have recognized that. I recall voting for a lot of bills that passed in recent years that definitely recognized the rights of labor unions to do certain things.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot get past the fact that I do not believe we should have an organization among civil service employees who are working for the state to have affiliations with an organization that has outside affiliations involved in other problems that do not involve these people in the state employ. We know the report states very distinctly and very clearly what the ill effects have been, and we made that recommendation, and we stand by that recommendation. We will not make any apology for that recommendation because it has nothing to do with the problems involved in the ordinary principles, ideals and aspirations of labor insofar as they pertain to unions.

Our employees in the state who have civil service have a perfect right to belong to any organization they may care to form within their own group for their own advancement, but there are too many insidious things that enter into it when a group such as that with which some of our departmental employees are affiliated extend their tentacles into the department that has something to do with relief.

No relief client needs the help of any agency to get relief. Relief should be known to be free and open. The investigator and the person dealing with it should be as far away as possible from any partisanship away from any affiliation with any group of any kind and especially with any subversive group that has for its object the destruction of our form of government. That is the thing that persists in some departments and among some employees, and should be voted out. That is the kind of thing this committee is aiming at.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. READINGER from the Committee on Rules, reported as amended, House Resolution No. 2.

COMMUNICATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication which was read by the Clerk:

My dear Mr. Rush:

May I express, through you, my thanks and appreciation to the Members of the House of Representatives for the resolution in tribute to my father, Colonel Campbell. BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last week I arose to a point of information with reference to a number of bills that I introduced, that might be known as tax revenue measures.

Mr. President, I have revamped these bills. One of them is known as a bill to legalize and regulate bingo games in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; another is to legalize and regulate slot machines, and another to legalize and regulate pin ball games. I have changed them, Mr. President, from revenue measures to measures to regulate these certain forms of amusement.

Mr. President, I am making this statement so that the committees might know they are almost the same type of bills, with the exception of new titles.

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 133, entitled:

An Act to legalize and regulate bingo games for profit played in the Commonwealth, imposing a license fee on the owners of all places where bingo games are played for profit; providing for the collection of said fee and imposing certain duties upon mercantile appraisers, county treasurers, and the Department of Revenue, and appropriating the proceeds from such fee to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of assisting persons over sixty (60) years of age, authorizing charitable and non-profit organizations to conduct bingo games upon the payment of a permit fee.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 134, entitled:

An Act to legalize and regulate the playing of slot machines and other similar devices of skill or chance for the successful operation of which money or the equivalent thereof is paid; imposing a license fee on each such machine; providing for the collection of said fee and imposing certain duties upon mercantile appraisers, county treasurers, and the Department of Revenue, appropriating the proceeds from such tax to the Department of Health for crippled children's hospitals; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 135, entitled:

An Act to legalize and regulate the practice of playing pin-ball games, hi-score games or other games or devices of skill; imposing a license fee on all keepers of such games; providing for the collection of said fee; and imposing certain duties upon mercantile appraisers, county treasurers and the Department of Revenue; and appropriating the proceeds from such fee to the Department of Welfare.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. WATKINS read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 136, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of the act, approved the fourth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 127), entitled "An act relating to adoption," permitting natural parents in certain cases to retain their rights as natural parents.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. McCREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 137, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the University of Pennsylvania Graduate Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 138, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WADE read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 139, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 944), entitled "An act relating to salaries, compensation, bonds, offices, and supplies of certain county officers, their deputies and clerks, in counties of the sixth class," by increasing the salary of prothonotary in counties of the sixth class.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 140, entitled:

An Act to provide reimbursement for hospitals on account of expenses of the care of indigent persons injured in motor vehicle accidents; imposing powers and duties upon certain State departments; and making an appropriation from the Motor License Fund.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. REED read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act providing that a juvenile court adjudication against a juvenile shall not bar his appointment to a position with the Commonwealth or its political subdivisions.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

RESOLUTION PROPOSING SENATE INVESTIGATION OF STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSION

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSILVESTRO and myself offer the following resolution:

The Resolution was twice read and considered:

In the Senate, February 4, 1941.

Whereas, The function of the State Athletic Commission is to supervise all paid exhibitions of athletics in the Commonwealth so that the citizens of Pennsylvania shall be fully protected and all the participants shall be free of corruption and physically able to participate in such exhibitions; and

Whereas, It is now publicly and privately charged that the said Athletic Commission, and particularly its chairman, Leon L. Rains, have failed to properly carry out such a function; and

Whereas, Among such charges it is alleged that open connivance with gamblers now exists; and

Whereas, It is also alleged that fighters physically unfit for athletic contests have been ordered to participate in contests over the protest of the State Athletic Commission's own physicians; and

Whereas, It is also alleged the sole reason fighters physically ill were ordered to participate was for the profit of the promoters, and in some instances the profit of professional gamblers; and

Whereas, It is further alleged the present contest between Gus Dorazio and Joe Louis, champion of the world, now approved by the State Athletic Commission is a flagrant violation of the duty of the State Athletic Commission by its chairman, Leon L. Rains, to the public of Pennsylvania because of the unequal ability of the participants and the probable severe physical injury of Gus Dorazio; be it further

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a proper committee of the Senate to investigate into the truth or falsity of such charges and report speedily to the Senate with appropriate recommendations.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I would like to make a few remarks concerning this resolution, sponsored by my colleague, Senator DiSilvestro, and myself.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, sports, if I remember my history correctly, originated in the days of the ancient Greeks. Needless to say, sporting events and athletic feats were performed at the Acropolis and on Mt. Olympia. In fact, our modern Olympic races had their beginning with the ancient Greeks. The Romans who followed participated, among other sports, in chariot races and the battle of the gladiators with the lions.

Primarily, Mr. President, sports then had for their purpose a sound body. They were participated in by many, and while they were hard fought no blows were struck below the belt. There was fair play both as to the contestants and the audience.

Today, Mr. President, we are engaging in some of the sports then played. some as amateurs and others as professionals. I dare say, Mr. President, that every Senator has participated in some sport, and having been so engaged, played in a clean manner. Notwithstanding that a dangerous condition exists today in the realm of sports. I refer specifically to boxing and wrestling.

You all know that today boxing and wrestling have joined the ranks of big money business. Recognizing this fact, the Commonwealth, in keeping with similar activities in other states, has created a Boxing Commission to regulate the business. The Commissioner for the Philadelphia area is Commissioner Rains. He is not only Chairman of the Commission, but by virtue of Philadelphia's prominence in the fighting and wrestling world, he has the most important job on the Commission. All the fans in this area who pour hundreds of thousands of dollars into supporting this business look to Commissioner Rains for protection against fraudulent practices and for promotion of the highest type of sportsmanship in the business. The paying fan does not want to be fooled when he lays down a good price for a ticket any more than the housewife wants to be tricked in the quality or weight of the meat she buys. He doesn't want "fixed" bouts run for the benefit of the gamblers or gambling interests.

It is the duty of the Boxing Commissioner to see that all bouts are on the level; that the fighters or wrestlers are in the best of physical condition at the time of the bout; that gamblers, like money changers in the Temple, are driven far from the arena of combat; that the decisions of the officials be fair and beyond needless criticism; and that the public gets its money's worth out of every show. In short, the Commissioner, like Caesar's wife, should be above reproach.

I can mention a number of incidents lately that convince me, as I should convince you, that the best interests of the public are not being looked after by Commissioner Rains and he should not be reappointed to the Commission. In telling you these incidents, I want you to remember, first of all, that I am no stranger to sports. I have, like most other American men, been interested in sports the better part of my life. I feel safe in saying that you will find me at the ringside as often as any average fan and more often than some. Secondly, in telling you these things, I have no desire to harm anyone whose connection with the matter is purely coincidental, and for this reason I will not mention the names of any fighter or wrestler, except in one instance. My quarrel is with Commissioner Rains, who is seeking reappointment.

Sometime ago, I learned that a certain fight was not on the level. I attended that fight and heard Commissioner Rains roundly condemn the promoter and referee. I commended him for his zeal and public interest.

A minute or so later the referee was fired by Mr. Rains for participating in this fake fight. Newspaper men approached me and asked what I thought of the fight. I agreed with the commissioner and said I thought it was a fake fight.

But, Mr. President, next morning the newspaper account had it that it was a fair fight and Rains said so. I had three men with me at the time he said it was a fake fight, and yet the next morning he made a statement to the press it was not a fake fight; it was on the level.

That is one incident, Mr. President.

On another occasion I witnessed a fight when he let a fighter, a young man about nineteen years of age, enter the ring with a broken arm. The gamblers realized that; they made him a top-heavy favorite, but they took the short end, making hundreds of dollars. He knew about that and was advised by the doctor but nevertheless he let the fight go on.

On another occasion he let a young man fight with a severe cold who was running a temperature, or rather a fever, and he knew that his manager had doped him up in order to fight. He did not want to disappoint the fans.

On another occasion he let a fighter enter the ring suffering from a disease that would bar him from society and a certain doctor who notified Commissioner Rains of this fact that night was told to shut up or else—meaning he would not get work in the future; since then he has gotten very little work.

Commissioner Rains recently sanctioned a bout between Champion Joe Louis and Gus Dorazio for February 17th of this year. I don't have to tell you that that is no match and the only value it has is to serve the gambling interests. It would be nearer the truth if we called it a slaughter that should never be allowed under any circumstances.

I charge here that the gambling interests more or less control boxing in the City of Philadelphia, with the knowledge of Commissioner Rains. The gamblers are advised as to the condition of the fighters before they enter the ring and bet accordingly. They are well acquainted with the Commissioner, the judges and the referee. Commissioner Rains has absolutely no control over the wrestling force that permits Jim Londos and his cronies to run the whole business with an iron hand.

No man can serve two masters at the same time. Commissioner Rains is no exception. He has placed his personal interests above that of the Commonwealth and in this conflict of interests, the Commonwealth must necessarily suffer. There are men in this Commonwealth who can fill that job as it ought to be filled. Common sense and common decency demand that he be set aside and a man measuring up to proper standards be selected. The good name of the sport ought to be preserved.

In the meanwhile, I deem it necessary that, in view of the fact appointments are made by and with the consent of the Senate, an investigation be made of the Boxing Commission, particularly of its Chairman who, as I stated above, has conducted himself in a manner prejudical to the best interests of the public.

Again, I repeat, he is not suited by temperament for the job. The sporting fans are entitled to a square deal, but under Leon Rains, the Boxing Commissioner, they have not gotten it, and I dare say will not get it if he continues as Boxing Commissioner. He has not been fair and honest with the public. I am ready to prove these charges. To me this is not a political matter, and further, there is nothing personal in it. I have no personal score to settle with Leon Rains. I take it that when a man is appointed to an office by the Governor, by and with the consent and advice of the Senate, he should perform his duties conscientiously and capably. It is difficult for me to say but some of his acts, as stated above, border on crime.

Again, I repeat, the public is not being protected. He is lending aid and comfort to the gamblers who are more or less controlling the boxing game today. As to the wrestling game, the less said the better. In my mind, Mr. Rains has no defense. However, we do not convict, at least until after the accused has been given an opportunity to be heard. Let us give him this opportunity.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. EDMONDS and Mr. MILLER,

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. EDMONDS and Mr. MILLER,

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisinos of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Luzerne will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, my attention has been directed to a news article appearing in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin under date of January 25th, which I desire to read into the record and to make a few brief remarks. I quote:

"RUSSELL ASSAILS PREFERENCE ACT

"Hits Veterans' Law and Experience Ratings in Civil Service

"The Veterans' Preference Act and the tendency to emphasize experience ratings in Civil Service were assailed today by Howard L. Russell, State Secretary of Public Assistance.

"He spoke at a luncheon conference held jointly by the Pennsylvania Political Science and Public Administration Association and the American Society for Public Administration, in the Sylvania Hotel.

"Citing a case in the Public Assistance Department, Russell said an employe of five years' experience who attained an average of 91 in a Civil Service test for a higher position lost it to a war veteran whose average was only 72, including the ten points credit allowed for military service.

"But where will you find a group of people or a member of the Legislature who will stick their necks out by sponsoring a bill to repeal the vicious Veterans' Preference law?" demanded Russell. "They would be accused of running counter to public opinion."

"If the present Legislature enacts a general Civil Service Law as advocated in Governor James' message, Russell expressed the hope it would not contain provisions emphasizing experience ratings.

"Chairman T. Henry Walnut, of the Philadelphia Civil Service Commission, discussed promotions as a factor in building a career service, saying that the Veterans' Preference Act had caused 'considerable difficulty' in grading papers in examinations for police detectives.

"About 60 of the patrolmen who took this examination held honorable discharges from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps," said Walnut, "and although Public Safety Director Malone had given experience ratings to a number of other men whom he desired to make detectives, the final result was that the 60 war veterans were at the top of the eligible list by reason of the 10 point credits to which they were entitled."

Mr. President, as a war veteran, I personally resent this publication, and acting in an official capacity as legislative chairman of the Department of Pennsylvania, American Legion, I believe I voice that organization's sentiments in saying that they likewise resent this statement.

Mr. President, it is very apparent to me that some deserving war veteran has stepped on the toes, so to speak, of some professional social worker, and I would like to say that the veterans of Pennsylvania have labored hard and long in the legislative halls of Pennsylvania in order to acquire this meager preferential in civil service examinations, and I believe it is the consensus of opinion of this honorable body that the Veterans Preference Act as it appears on the statute books today should not be disturbed. I would like to advise the gentleman, Mr. Russell, the Executive Director of the Department of Public Assistance, that if it is his desire, from his administrative standpoint, to attempt to make a change in this veterans preference, that the veterans as a whole in the State of Pennsylvania, as well as many civic bodies, will protest that procedure.

Mr. President, I also believe that the legislators of this great Commonwealth feel that the individual, the veteran who served his country in time of need, is entitled to this small preference, and I hope that if any legislation is presented along the line of civil service, it will include every department under the operation of the Commonwealth.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this is my second term as a member of this body. I do not know how my conduct has been regarded by the other members of this Senate, but I have—and I say this sincerely—tried my best whenever another member of this Senate was on the floor speaking, to show the utmost courtesy by keeping quiet and not making any noise or doing anything that would distract attention from the talk or speech that my colleague was making, and I will continue to carry that conduct on.

Mr. President, I think that a member of this Senate, when he is given the floor to speak on personal privilege or on any other matter, deserves the undivided attention of every other member of this Senate; at least he is entitled to that courtesy.

I have noticed, Mr. President, much to my chagrin and annoyance at times, that the very members of this Senate who should show that courtesy to the member speaking, did not show that courtesy but walked about the floor, engaged in conversations and distracted the attention of the other members who might be interested in what the speaking member was saying.

Mr. President, I sincerely believe that the decorum of this Senate should at least require that the members of the Senate themselves should preserve some degree of quietness when another member is speaking, and if the members themselves do not preserve decorum, do not preserve quietness, so that we may hear what the member has to say, what right have we to expect silence from the spectators who are here, who are not members of this body.

I say, Mr. President, that my words should apply to everybody who is here in attendance upon this session, and I do not exclude the members of the press. I think that when a member of this Senate is speaking they ought not to be slamming telephone receivers around, handling papers and making noises, so that we can not hear and keep our attention on what is being said.

Mr. President, the page boys and the other members of the Senate staff should not be rushing up and down the aisles, making noises and distracting attention when we are seriously trying to listen to what our colleague is saying. As the gentleman was speaking on his question of personal privilege a little while ago, Mr. President, to say the least I was disturbed by members of my own party affiliation here back of me, without any necessity whatsoever, engaging in conversation and making noise unnecessarily, distracting our attention and keeping us from distinctly hearing what our colleague to the right was saying on his question of personal privilege.

Mr. President, it is not my intention to censure my colleagues or anyone else, but I say sincerely that this body is entitled to the respect, and each member of this body is entitled to the respect, to the right to hear and listen to what is being said without this ado and without this unnecessary conversation. The alarming part of this matter, Mr. President, is that members of this Senate who have been here several sessions have not yet acquired the dignity to know that when another member is on the floor on a question of personal privilege, he is entitled to our undivided attention.

Of course, Mr. President, I know the status here. I can speak for myself, and the others who are now listening to me can say they will do as they darn please, but I say that if they have any respect or any regard for the dignity of the Senate, the right of a member to speak and be heard without interference should also be respected.

Mr. President, I do not intend my talk here to be a lecture to anybody, but I do appeal to my colleagues, to all of them, that when a member of this Senate is on the floor speaking he is entitled to our courtesy and our attention, and we ought not to be making noise and engaging in conversation, running about the floor of the Senate one way or another, distracting him. If we do that I say then, Mr. President, we have no right to expect the members of the press, or the members of the public who are here, to show any greater courtesy than we ourselves are willing to show to a member of this Senate.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise for a two-fold purpose, first as one of those who contributed to the discourteous acts mentioned by the gentleman from Fayette. I think, Mr. President, his point is well taken, and I offer my very humble apologies to the gentleman from Fayette in particular and to the Senate in general. Of course, Mr. President, this is my first term and I do not expect the sun to stand still in the heavens when I rise to address this august body.

Mr. President, now that I have sincerely apologized to the gentleman from Fayette, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JASPAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, it is rather unusual to discuss a resolution that has already been referred to committee. Fortunately, the resolution referred to by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, has been referred to the Committee on Judiciary General, and his discourse in presenting his resolution was directed particularly against one Leon L. Rains, who was referred to as the Chairman of the Boxing Commission or the State Athletic Commission.

Mr. President, out in the great state of Allegheny, we have a member of the Boxing Commission of whom we are justly proud and inadvertently, or perhaps it was done intentionally, the resolution refers to the Athletic Commission as a whole.

I desire, Mr. President, to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, if his remarks with regard to fraud, corruption, gambling and connivance referred to the Athletic Commission as a whole, or if it was directed toward Leon L. Rains, the Chairman.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, this proposed investigation is directed solely at Leon L. Rains. I know little or nothing as to the other commissioners, excepting what I hear and read, but I understand their conduct in connection with the Boxing Commission has been exemplary.

Mr. President, if the Senator from Allegheny desires to amend the resolution to read that it applies only to Leon L. Rains, that meets with my satisfaction.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have nothing to do with the resolution. It is entirely in the hands of the committee, but inasmuch as the news stories will hit the wires long before committee action would, I merely want to clarify the situation with regard to the other members of the Commission, because if the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia were directed solely towards Mr. Rains, I think that should be known by the public in general, rather than have the entire Commission impugned with the statements made by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SNOWDEN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 142, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six hundred and two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1005), entitled "An act relating to and regulating tractors and trailers and their operation; providing for their registration, and the licensing of certain operators by the Department of Revenue upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of tractors and trailers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of tractors and trailers; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation; and providing for refunds," by further regulating the operation of tractors and trailers on the highway.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 143, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred and twenty-two (e) of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibusses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the Courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties, providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by deleting exemption of fees on Federal and State Emergency Relief Projects.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 144, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation out of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 145, entitled:

An Act to amend further section fourteen of an act, approved the seventh day of August, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. L. 106), entitled "An act relating to flood control; prescribing the powers and duties of the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters in relation to the creation of flood control districts, adoption of plans for flood control works and improvements, carrying into effect of such plans, assistance, aid and cooperation with public and private agencies and the Federal Government in Federal flood control works and improvements, and entering into compacts and agreements with other states for flood control works and improvements; conferring the power of eminent domain; providing for the setting off of benefits; imposing certain charges upon the Commonwealth; providing for appeals; and conferring certain powers on municipalities, counties, and townships, and the Department of Highways," as reenacted and amended, by conferring additional powers on the Department of Highways.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 4, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of an act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended, by limiting to eleven and three-quarter mills the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class; and prescribing the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," amplifying the provisions of said act relating to appeals to court.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, referring to Senate Bill No. 38, which has just passed second reading, it was agreed in committee last night that after it passed second reading it might be re-referred to the commtitee for a hearing, if one is desired.

Mr. President, I communicated with the Department of Revenue and they will be very glad to be heard on the bill.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President. I move that Senate Bill No. 38 be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was so ordered.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof; including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth; and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth; the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officers of the State government, every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," eliminating the provisions of said act which require appeals to the courts to be first lodged with the Department of Justice.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President. I make the same motion with reference to Senate Bill No. 39, that it be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MALLERY. I second the motion, Mr. President.

It was so ordered.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred and three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims, against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or an agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officers of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by allowing interest on refunds due from the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 41 be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for a hearing.

Mr. MALLERY. I second the motion, Mr. President.

It was so ordered.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor, and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein; the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," by authorizing the orphans' court to set aside the widow's or children's exemption without notice or appraisement where the property claimed is of apparent or readily ascertainable value.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 79 is another bill from the Committee on Judiciary General, which we agreed to send back to the Committee for the purpose of study or for a probable hearing.

I therefore move, Mr. President, that Senate Bill No. 79 be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for that purpose.

Mr. DENT. I second the motion, Mr. President.

It was so ordered.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette will state his point of information.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, has Senate Bill No. 79 been read for the second time?

The PRESIDENT. It has.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCREESH read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 146, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 147, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Philadelphia Orthopaedic Hospital and Infirmary for Nervous Diseases, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, February 10, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock p. m.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 12:03 o'clock p. m. until Monday, February 10, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 4, 1941.

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

We pause, Our Father, amid the changing scenes of life, to ask thy blessing upon us. Heal hearts that are grieved because of the loss of loved ones. Grant strength to those who are ill. Above all, O God, keep us as a State and as a Nation free from all that which tends to destroy the body and soul of mankind.

We ask these blessings and favors in thy precious name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. After this one o'clock session, it is suggested that the House take recess until 4:30 this afternoon, to give an opportunity for committee meetings, then after the 4:30 session it is planned to adjourn for the week.

The membership is informed that beginning with next week there will be Wednesday sessions.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. BAUGHER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1941.

Whereas, The residents of Adams County have learned with profound sorrow of the death of one of its leading citizens, the Honorable Madison Alexander Garvin, who died Friday at the age of eight-three; and

Whereas, Mr. Garvin led an exemplary and industrious life, devoted to the advancement of his family and the community he called his home; and

Whereas, Since 1884 he was foremost in all progressive movements in Adams County, founding the county's first daily newspaper the "Progress," later changed to "The Gettysburg Times." Later in 1901-2 he served his fellow citizens and county as a member of the House of Representatives, there covering himself with distinction as a legislator; and

Whereas, He was a member of numerous fraternal organizations dedicated to the enrichment of the communal life of Adams County; and

Whereas, Those of us who knew him and those citizens who benefited by his activities in their behalf are profoundly affected by his passing; be it therefore

Resolved, That the House of Representatives takes this opportunity to pay their tribute to a departed former member of this illustrious body; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk transmit a copy of this resolution to the widow of the deceased.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. BURRIS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1941.

D. Murray Hetrick, prominent citizen of Juniata County passed away in his sleep on February 1, 1941.

His sudden passing came as a profound shock to all Members of the House of Representatives who knew him and respected him for his integrity and ability as a legislator.

Born in Mexico, Juniata County, he spent his entire life in his birthplace, devoting most of his time to the progressive development of all aspects of his communal life.

Teacher, banker, legislator, in all these capacities he brought a profound sense of humanity, understanding of his fellowmen, which enabled him to aid his fellow citizens in the solution of the every day problems of their existence.

As a leading member of faternal organizations and an outstanding one of his church, he was preeminent in promoting the spirit of tolerance, justice and love of God among his fellow citizens.

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives join with that vast number of his friends who mourn his loss and extend to the members of his family its most sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the widow, brother and sister of the deceased by the Chief Clerk of this House.

RESOLUTION No. 2

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 2, Printers No. 1.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, The Department of Public Assistance, by virtue of the general power given to it under the Public Assistance Law to make rules and regulations, requires applicants for assistance, before receiving the same, to give a bond to the Commonwealth conditioned for the repayment to the Commonwealth of all accounts received as public assistance; and

Whereas, The giving of such bond has become greatly unpopular, and has caused considerable confusion in the minds of persons whose circumstances make it necessary for them to avail themselves of the benefits of public assistance, whether the same results through a lack of understanding of the ultimate effect of such bonds or because of a feeling on the part of those who own property that they are being unjustly discriminated against; and

Whereas, There is some question as to whether these bonds have in measure justified themselves during past experience, or whether the practice is worth continuing; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance shall report to the House of Representatives the status of bonds given to the Commonwealth for the repayment to the Commonwealth of all amount received as public assistance and shall specifically inform the House of Representatives as to (a) the number of bonds on which judgment has been entered (b) the total cost of entry of such bonds (c) the total amount collected on such bonds (d) the total cost expended in order to effectuate such collections (e) the number of bonds and judgments necessary to be revived within the next year and (f) the cost necessary to revive such judgments and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance shall make report of the above information to the House of Representatives not later than March 1, 1941.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Whereas, There are now invested in trust funds in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania many millions of dollars held by banks and trust companies and by trust companies as trustees, and

Whereas, The protection and conservation of these trust funds is a matter of grave importance to the public in general and to the beneficiaries of such trust funds, particularly to many widows, orphans and others dependent for their support upon the income derived from such funds and

Whereas, In many cases trust funds held by banks and trust companies and trust companies have been reduced or dissipated through unwise investments or through the unnecessary substitution of investments, and

Whereas, Certain bank and trust companies and certain trust companies have transferred trust investments from time to time, merely for the purpose of receiving a commission on such transactions and in complete disregard of the primary rights of beneficiaries of such trust, and

Whereas, The fees and commissions charged by and allowed to banks and trust companies and trust companies for their services as fiduciaries are often exorbitant and entirely out of keeping with the services actually performed, and

Whereas, Various other abuses now exist incident to the investment and supervision of trust funds on the part of banks and trust companies and trust companies, now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of six members shall be appointed, three by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and three by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, for the purpose of making an investigation of all phases of the investment and supervision of trust funds held by banks and trust companies and trust companies as fiduciaries. This committee shall report as speedily as possible the result of its investigation to the General Assembly now in session to the end that regulatory legislation or such other corrective measures as may be found advisable can be provided.

By Mr. DOLON, (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 12.

In the House of Representatives, February 3, 1941.

Whereas, There have now been developed within the United States of America and within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania numerous and powerful chain store systems, retail syndicates and other combinations covering a wide variety of business, and

Whereas, These chains, syndicates and combinations by virtue of their ability to buy in large quantities, their reductions and operating costs, great resources of working capital, advantages in advertising and other attributes of combinations are able to compete in retail markets with prices and services which independent merchants and business men cannot meet and still earn a fair return on their investment, and

Whereas, The establishment in the cities and towns of this Commonwealth of retail outlets by these chains, combinations and syndicates has invariably resulted in the elimination or discouragement of local enterprise, and

Whereas, The gradual disappearance of independent retail merchants and small business men will leave the chains, combinations and syndicates free to exercise complete domination over prices paid to producers and prices paid by consumers, and

Whereas, The existence of any such monopolistic control of prices would be contrary to the established public policy of this country and of this Commonwealth, and would permit and foster the existence of conditions harmful to the general public, now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of six members shall be appointed, three by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and three by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate for the purpose of investigating the operations of chain systems, retail syndicates and other combinations active within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the end that adequate and equitable means may be devised to place independent retail merchants on a more nearly equal footing with such combinations and to safeguard the general public against the growing tendency toward price control in the retail markets. The said committee shall make a report of the result of this investigation to the General Assembly now in session as speedily as possible, in order that appropriate legislation may be enacted if such be found necessary.

By Mr. DOLON, RESOLUTION No. 13.

In the House of Representatives, February 3, 1941.

Whereas, It is believed that the health and general physical condition of the people of Pennsylvania and of Carbon County is a paramount importance and interest; and

Whereas, It is further believed that there has been and there is at this time too little attention paid to the problems of public health from a practical standpoint with the result that many of our people are far below the standard of health required to build a strong nation; and

Whereas, As a result, thousands of children, young men and women, and others, are in poor physical condition, their parents being unable to pay for proper medical attention and treatment; such parents by reason of economic conditions being only slightly able or altogether unable to support themselves and are in a constant state of fear and worry, watching their children grow into manhood and womanhood with physical defects which could be remedied with proper treatment and care, and which in itself causes the parents to become afflicted with nervous disorders and like ailments resulting generally in an unhealthy people, a condition which is prevalent today; and

Whereas, In many instances it is necessary for an individual requiring medical attention to resort to the assistance of politicians in order to secure such attention at our state institutions; and

Whereas, It is unbelievable that this condition is possible in the richest country in the world and particularly in one of the wealthiest commonwealths in that country, therefore be it

Resolved, That this public health problem receive primary consideration by our legislature before all other problems, and that methods and means be adopted to elevate our public health system closer to the standard required to keep our citizens, and particularly our children, in good physical condition; and be it further

Resolved, That our state hospitals be required to render complete medical attention to all persons requiring such attention free of charge and that such hospitals be augmented and equipped to give every treatment known to modern medical science; that those requiring such treatment, without regard to the nature thereof, shall be entitled to the services of specialists of every kind without being compelled to humble themselves by requesting such help from politicians; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to the Secretaries of Health and Welfare of this Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

By Mr. ROSENFELD, RESOLUTION No. 14.

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1941.

Whereas, The mayor and city council of the city of Philadelphia have deliberately refused to cooperate with the United States Housing Authority to facilitate construction of low-rent housing projects, and

Whereas, Such refusal has been extremely detrimental to business, labor, and the welfare of many citizens of the City of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Such refusal has been extremely detrimental to the national defense because of the great influx of workers in defense industries located in the City of Philadelphia, particularly in the section south of Market Street; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a committee of three members of the House of Representatives to be selected from those appointed to th Committee on Welfare to make a thorough and impartial study of the housing situation in the City of Philadelphia, particularly as it affects workers in defense industries; and be it further

Resolved, That the said legislative committee shall hold public hearings in the City of Philadelphia, so that the citizens of Philadelphia may be enlightened on all matters pertaining to the said housing situation; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly as speedily as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PETITION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following petition:

LIQUOR LICENSES

Voters of Allegheny County advocating legislation to extend hours for the sale of intoxicating beverages in restaurants and hotels.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1941. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1941. No. 7.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 10, 1941.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the chaplain, Rev. JACOB W. CARR, offered the following prayer:

Mr. CARR. Our Heavenly Father, we bow before Thy throne of grace, and in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Saviour, do thank Thee that Thou hast given Him unto us, and that in obedience to His promise Thou hast sent Thy spirit into this world to dwell in the hearts of men. We would ask this day, our Heavenly Father, that that spirit might rest upon and abide with each one of us, that all that is said and done in this place may be to the honor and glory of Thy Great Name.

We thank Thee, our Father, that we have been permitted to live in a land where we have freedom of conscience, where each of us can worship Thee in accordance with Thy guidance, where no man can say unto us, 'Thy Worship shall be thus and so." May this spirit, our Heavenly Father, abide in each one of our hearts and lead us and guide us in all things, that we may in our lives glorify Thee our God.

Bless our nation, our Heavenly Father, and those who preside over it, and may they do in accordance with Thy will, and may we continue to prosper under Thy hand and under Thy guidance. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. EALY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Mr. EDMONDS asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. WOODWARD, on account of illness.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 10, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 17, 1941, at 4:00 o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 17, 1941, at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Mr. REED offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 10, 1941.

Whereas, Economy is generally recognized as one of the bulwarks of good government; and

Whereas, Relief has become a canker on the body politic, and if possible, should be removed or reduced; and

Whereas, The expense necessary to its operation is extremely burdensome, and for the public welfare drastic measures should be employed for its reasonable curtailment; and

Whereas, With this object in view, it is desirous that certain information be furnished the Senate by the Secretary of Public Assistance;

Therefore, be it resolved, That the Secretary of Public Assistance of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania furnish to the Senate of Pennsylvania at his earliest convenience, during the present Session, the following information:

(a) The number of employees of the said Department;

(b) The names, family addresses and salaries of all male employees, and, if available a statement as to whether they are married or single;

(c) The names, family addresses and salaries of all female employees, and, if available, a statement as to whether they are married or single, and, if married, the names and addresses of their respective husbands, and the nature of their employment and salary.

(d) The number of employees that have resigned or been furloughed or dismissed during the last year, with their names and salaries.

COMMUNICATION FROM SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH

The PRESIDENT. In response to Senate Resolution No. 16, adopted in the Senate, February 3, 1941, the Secretary of the Commonwealth has furnished the following communication:

February 10, 1941.

The Honorable the President and Members of the Senate in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to reply to your inquiry of the third day of February, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (Senate Resolution—Serial Number 16) and report:

(1) What Municipal Authorities have been established in Pennsylvania under the Act of 1937 and its supplements?

From the records in the Department of State we have compiled and append a statement marked "Schedule A" of each Authority created under the Acts of June 28, 1935, P. L. 463 and its amendments by the Acts of May 20, 1937, P. L. 739 and of May 17, 1939, P. L. 167, together with the location of each Authority and date of incorporation.

(2) What projects have been approved by the various Municipal Authorities and the estimated cost of each?

The statutes authorizing the creation of Municipal Authorities do not require the creating municipality or the Authority created to record a statement of the projects approved by the various Municipal Authorities and the estimated cost of each to be filed in the Department of State.

(3) What is the amount of the borrowings of each Municipal Authority and what is the rate of interest paid for the same?

The statutes authorizing the creation of Municipal Authorities do not require the Authorities to disclose to, or file with, the Department of State or any other department of the Commonwealth any information relating to the amount of the borrowings of the Authority or the rate of interest paid for the same.

The Municipality Authorities Act of 1935 and its amendments does authorize the Department of Revenue

> "to examine the accounts and books of the Authority, including its receipts, disbursements, contracts, leases, sinking funds, investments, and any other matters relating to its finances, operation and affairs."

Additional information which has been ascertained from information available in this department relating to Municipal Authorities is set forth in "Schedule B" and "Schedule C" attached hereto.

The Municipality Authorities Act of 1935 and its amendments prescribes:

> (a) that a municipality may authorize the creation of an Authority in an ordinance or resolution duly advertised. (A copy of this ordinance or resolution is not required to be filed with the articles of incorporation in the Department of State);
> (b) the scope of operation of an Authority and the powers it may exercise.

The Municipality Authorities Act of 1935 and its amendments do not prescribe

> (a) that the articles of incorporation shall include a statement of the project or projects in which the "Authority" will engage, or
> (b) that there shall be filed in the Department f State a certified copy of any resolution adopted by the "Authority" to authorize its engagement in any enterprise authorized by the act or acts, or, to authorize a bond issue and the details of such issue, or
> (c) any standard, Constitutional or statutory, limiting the amount of the indebtedness which an Authority may create and authorizing supervision of compliance with such provision by the Department of Internal Affairs to be evidenced by its approval of bond issues.

Respectfully submitted,

S. M. R. O'HARA,
(SEAL) Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, may I ask whether this information has been mimeographed for the use of the Senate?

The PRESIDENT. Not as yet. It was the idea of the Chair to ask the sponsor of the resolution what disposition he wishes made of it. Does the Senator from Montgomery wish mimeographed copies made and distributed to the Senators?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I would like to have mimeographed copies made, and when the clerk has finished reading, I would like to have it referred to the Committee on State Government. However, Mr. President, I would suggest it be read first.

The PRESIDENT. The communication from the Secretary of the Commonwealth will be referred to the Committee on State Government, mimeographed copies will be distributed to the Senators.

COMMUNICATION FROM GENERAL STATE AUTHORITY

The PRESIDENT. In response to Senate Resolution No. 17, adopted February 3, 1941, the Chair is in receipt of a communication addressed to the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The communication was read as follows:

Harrisburg, Pa., February 10, 1941.

To the Members of The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In compliance with the Resolution of your Honorable Body, dated February 3, 1941, requesting the following information:

First—What projects have been approved by the General State Authority and what is the estimated cost of each?

I attach Exhibit "A." Pages 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. Pages 1 to 4, inclusive, list the Projects and the total estimated cost of each; most of the work is completed, but some work is now under contract and in course of completion; and plans, specifications, and bidding documents are now being prepared for the remainder.

Page 5 shows a list of Projects tentatively authorized by the General State Authority recently. On these Projects no work has been performed other than preliminary architectural and engineering study.

The total estimated amount of $78,658,511.93 includes all Grants received or that will be received from the Public Works Administration. Grants received to date amount to $11,526,545.18. Future Grants anticipated amount to $1,248,903.08. The proceeds from these Grants have been used to either directly defray the cost of construction, or to retire bonds previously purchased.

Second—What bonds have been issued by the General State Authority and for what purpose and what is the rate of interest upon each?

In answer to this request, I submit Exhibit "B" and Exhibit "C," the latter being an extract from the Bond Agreement, stating for what purpose the bonds may be used.

I hope this is the correct interpretation of the information requested in the Senate Resolution. If not, I will be pleased to furnish any additional data required.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) DAVID H. DIEHL,
Executive Director.

Attachments

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I suggest that the communication just received from the Executive Director of the General State Authority be mimeographed and copies distributed to the Senators.

The PRESIDENT. At the suggestion of the Senator from Montgomery the communication just received from the General State Authority will be mimeographed and copies distributed to the members.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I further suggest that the communication be referred to the Committee on State Government.

It was so ordered.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. DENT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 148, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Westmoreland Children's Aid Society at Greensburg, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 149, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Westmoreland Hospital Association, Greensburg, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Apropriations.

Mr. CAVALCANTE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 150, entitled:

An Act providing for special vocational, trade, industrial, and commercial schools and classes and occupational adjustment offices through public school districts, and in cooperation with employment and reemployment offices for the training, retraining, instruction, and adjustment of unemployed persons over forty years of age in order to enable them to enter or reenter employment, giving preference to war veterans; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Superintendent of Public Instruction; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 151, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing county treasurers to execute deeds for unseated and seated lands sold by their predecessors in office, and validating deeds heretofore so executed.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 152, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the Department of Military Affairs to compile, edit, publish, and distribute books, listing the names of the veterans of the wars and expeditions, in which the United States has engaged; authorizing said department to procure and accept a Federal Works Progress Administration grant; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 153, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Uniontown Hospital, Uniontown, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 154, entitled:

An Act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the "Pennsylvania Board of Parole"; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions; including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employes; dividing the Commnowealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employes thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors, providing penalties therefor, and for other cognate purposes; and making an appropriation.

An Act relating to sentences for criminal offenses; defining the powers of courts in imposing sentences, regulating the exercise thereof, and appeals therefrom, and for other purposes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. SHAPIRO. I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, will state his question.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to inquire whether it is not true that the second bill just presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, which has been referred to the Committee on Judiciary General, is in effect a companion bill to the parole bill, and if it is, it seems to me that both bills should be referred to the same committee, and also that both bills really belong in Judiciary General.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, desire to express any preference as to which committee these bills should be referred? Are they companion bills?

Mr. FARRELL. They are companion bills, Mr. President, but I have no special desire as to which committee they should be referred.

Mr. ZIESENHEIM read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 157, entitled:

An Act prohibiting political activity by persons employed by the Commonwealth or receiving any part of their compensation for employment from Commonwealth funds.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. BARTLETT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 158, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for the maintenance and education of children of certain soldiers, sailors, marines, female field clerks, yeomen (female) and nurses.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MILLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 159, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for the purpose of erecting, constructing and equipping an auditorium at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I desire to present a bill making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for the purpose of erecting, constructing and equipping an auditorium at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation.

I wish to say, Mr. President, that this bill originated in the Committee on Military Affairs, and I respectfully request that the bill be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs for further study.

There is no specific appropriation stipulated, Mr. President, and the committee wishes to study the bill further and report it out, and, if necessary, then refer it to the Committee on Appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chiar Senate Bill No. 160, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 1100), entitled "An act authorizing the sale of real estate under a judgment obtained on a tax claim or claims to be made, by the sheriff, free and clear of tax and municipal claims, for a sum less than the total amount of delinquent tax and municipal claims, under certain conditions, and providing for the distribution of the sum realized upon such sales, and for the procedure in such cases," specifically including taxable real estate of State-aided homes and hospitals.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 161, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirty of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 487), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in boroughs, towns, and townships as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; requiring the county commissioners of the various counties to act as a registration commission therefor; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county elections boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," further regulating the check-up of registered electors and the cancellation of their registration by the commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. LETZLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 162, entitled:

An Act requiring the Department of Public Instruction to purchase and distribute to all public schools certain patriotic books and pamphlets; requiring oath of allegiance to the Government of the United States to be taken in each school year by employees of said department and by teachers and pupils of said schools; requiringing teachers of said schools to teach patriotism; and providing for the dismissal of teachers who fail to comply with the provisions of this act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 163, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor, to sell and convey two certain plots of land.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. WATKINS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 164, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand two hundred and seven of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership in county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners, imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by increasing their compensation for services rendered by constables and their deputies.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 165, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (b) of section four hundred twelve of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violations of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by making further provision for the compensation of judges, inspectors, clerks and machine inspectors at primaries and elections.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 166, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six hundred twenty-nine of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administeerd, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," requiring teachers and pupils to salute the United States flag, and prescribing penalties for failure to do so, and for failure of school directors to equip schools with flags.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 167, entitled:

An Act to amend section 408 of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," providing for election of the members of the State Council of Education by a House of Delegates selected by school directors, teachers, colleges and universities, and the Governor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 168, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Article four, Sections eight and twenty, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for the election and term of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING SECRETARIES OF DEPARTMENTS OF WELFARE AND PUBLIC ASSISTANCE APPEAR BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to preface presentation of the resolution with a statement and explanation.

Mr. President, last week we received a copy of the budget and the Governor's budget message. It has been the custom heretofore, the moment the budget is presented, for either political side to take pot shots at the budget for the purpose of making political capital. I am frank to say, Mr. President, at times I have participated in the by-play, always, however, having in mind that there is a serious side to the budget which should be considered.

Mr. President, I am trying by this resolution to see if we can approach this budget in a statesmanlike manner, and having read the budget, I am frank to say there is a great deal of information we should have that is not contained in the budget.

Mr. President, for the purpose of getting that information, I present and offer this resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

Mr. SHAPIRO, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

In the Senate, February 10, 1941.

Whereas, There will shortly be before this legislative body, for its action, appropriation bills and revenue raising measures concerning the welfare and education of the citizens of this Commonwealth and the relief of its unemployed citizens, and

Whereas, It is essential that the members of this body be in possession of full and complete information and the accurate facts concerning these subjects,

Now Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Welfare and the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance be and they are hereby requested to appear before the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions on separate days to be fixed by the Committee, and that the Secretary of the Department of Public Instruction be and he is hereby requested to appear before the Committee on Education at a time to be fixed by that Committee, for the purpose of furnishing the members of the said respective Committees with such information as the members of those Committees may request, and be it further

Resolved, that the Chairman of the respective Committees aforesaid be and they are hereby requested to fix a time convenient to the Secretaries of the respective

Resolved, That the Chairman of the respective Committees for a meeting of the said Committees for the purposes of this resolution.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last week I presented a resolution, No. 18 in the journal, not printed, with reference to the Department of Public Assistance compelling relief recipients to sign away their insurance policies before relief can be granted.

At that time, Mr. President, my colleague from Allegheny County, the Republican Floor Leader, asked that the resolution be sent to committee for the purpose of study.

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny tell us whether or not he has made any study of the resolution I presented last week, which is No. 18?

Mr. GELTZ. I have not, Mr. President. I understand it is in the hands of the committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny please inform me to what committee the resolution was referred?

Mr. GELTZ. I do not recall, Mr. President. The record will show that.

I am informed, Mr. President, it is the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the chairman of that committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will Mr. Bartlett, the Chairman of the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARTLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Northampton tell me whether the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions has met since last Monday?

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, the committee has not met.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions intend to meet this week?

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, that depends on whether or not other committee meetings will interfere. If not, there will be a meeting of the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions this week.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to call attention to the fact that this is an important resolution. I think all my colleagues will agree it is a matter of great importance, that every hour of delay means that many, many thousands of persons in this Commonwealth are being called upon to sign away their life insurance policies, men that have labored to pay premiums on those policies for ten, twenty or thirty years, and today, because of a ruling of the Department of Public Assistance, they must cancel those policies and waive those premiums before relief can be granted to them.

Mr. President, I say it is most important. It is not a partisan measure, and I think every man in this Senate will agree with me it is an important issue.

Mr. President, I hope and trust the Committee will meet this week and report my resolution out on the floor.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 4, as follows:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended by limiting to eleven and three-quarter mills the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class and prescribing the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section five hundred and twenty-four of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the

(a) An amount which with all moneys received from the Commonwealth applicable thereto shall be sufficient to pay the minimum salaries and increments of the teaching and supervisory staff thereof as fixed and provided by law and to pay the contributions of said district to the teachers' retirement system

Provided however That for the purpose of computing the amount required to pay the minimum salaries and increments fixed by law but without otherwise limiting the rights of the district to employ teachers or other employes the number of teachers on the salary schedule of the elementary schools shall not exceed one for every thirty-two pupils in average daily attendance in such schools the number of teachers on the salary schedule of the junior high schools shall not exceed one for every twenty-five pupils in average daily attendance in such schools the number of teachers on the salary schedule of the senior high schools shall not exceed one for every twenty-five pupils in average daily attendance in such schools and the number of teachers with salaries and increments fixed by law on any salary schedule now established or hereafter established and not specially mentioned in this act shall not exceed one for every twenty-five pupils in average daily attendance

The number of principals in the elementary schools and the principals in charge of all other character of schools now established or hereafter established and not specially mentioned in this act shall not exceed one for every six hundred pupils in average daily attendance in such schools and the number of principals in the junior and senior high schools shall not exceed one for every twelve hundred pupils in average daily attendance in such schools

The number of supervisors in all schools shall not exceed one for every fifteen hundred pupils in average daily attendance

The number of attendance officers and home and school visitors shall not exceed one for every two thousand pupils in average daily attendance in all elementary and secondary schools

In all adult and extension school classes the number of teachers shall not exceed one for every twenty pupils in average daily attendance in such schools

The salary and increments fixed by law of members of the teaching and supervisory staff whose number is not in some manner limited by the present proviso shall not be construed or considered as within item (a) of this section five hundred twenty-four of the act here amended but shall be construed and regarded as constituting expenses within the following item (c) of said section

Average daily attendance as used herein shall be based upon attendance during the preceding school term

(b) An amount sufficient to pay the interest on and retire at maturity the principal of the indebtedness of said district incurred as authorized by law

(c) An amount sufficient to pay all other expenses and requirements of said school district which amount shall be equivalent to not less than three nor more than five mills on the dollar of the total assessment of all property assessed and certified for taxation therein

The total annual school tax levy for all purposes in any school district of the first class shall not be more than eleven and three-quarters (11¾) mills on the dollar of the total assessment of all property assessed and certified for taxation in the territory constituting the district

Section 2 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Warren will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CHAPMAN. This country has twice the population of Germany, two and one-half times the population of Britain, three and one-half times the population of France and one and one-half times the population of Japan. The United States is the richest and greatest industrial nation on earth. Individually her people are the cleverest and the smartest in the world. During the first part of 1941 the United States was called upon to save the world as well as to save herself on a new and strange order built upon military force, and was called upon to produce planes and tanks and ships and guns in sufficient quantity to help Britain win the war. These all must be delivered to the seaboard. Our railways and our highways are capable of doing this job.

The United States is the greatest mass production country in the world. We can produce as much steel as all the world together. We can raise more food than we know what to do with. War started eighteen months ago. It takes time to change from peace to war production. What has been done? We have wasted time on who should boss the job. It took months to create a defense committee. There has been a sickening procrastination; more time to settle strikes, more time consumed in war argument, who should do the job, whether capital or labor. We have been playing politics, but now a more serious situation has arisen. London and other British cities have been bombarded by thousands of Nazi planes. Thousands of British citizens have been killed, hundreds of British ships have been sunk, most of Britain's mobile equipment was lost in the evacuation of Dunkirk.

Clever as we are, Britain has equipped an army of four millions. The British had to help the Greeks, Britain had to transport her armies from Austrailia and her far-flung colonies and with this she has destroyed the Italian forces in North Africa. Britain is opposed by the biggest and the mightiest army ever conceived by man, an army that has all continental Europe at her back, and still we trifle. Still we procrastinate. It is not a question with us of money or raw materials, but when it comes to getting action Great Britain is doing more in a day than we have done in a month. True, Britain is fighting for its very life. We are not yet, but may be soon. We continue to procrastinate, by thinking in terms of politics and personalities, when the job should be turned over to men who can get production; but we cannot get this as long as we are bossed by men whose ability to produce is largely influenced by votes.

BILL INTRODUCED

Messrs. BARR and WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. BARR and WALKER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 169, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 814), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," abolishing the existing registration commission for cities of the second class and providing that the county commissioners of each county in which any such city is located shall act as a registration commission therefor, providing for the consolidation of the second class city general register with the general register of cities of the third class and boroughs, towns and townships of the county, providing for the transfer of the registration of electors upon change of residence from a third class city, borough, town or township in the same county, changing the period during which changes of enrollment of political party may be made, eliminating preparation and distribution of preliminary street lists, and permitting the destruction of certain records.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. MOUL. RESOLUTION No. 15.

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1941.

Whereas, The mountains and hillsides of Pennsylvania feed the headwaters of important drainage areas of the Nation; and

Whereas, The wealth of topsoil has eroded from the hillsides of Pennsylvania with accelerated speed as the forest resources have been depleted and exploited and as the natural barriers of erosion have been broken by reckless and profligate methods of tillage and wasteage; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of George H. Earle enacted the Soil Conservation Districts Law of 1937 and created the Soil Conservation Board to cooperate with the Federal Government in a National program of conservation and erosion control; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt has provided funds to eventually control erosion on the hillsides of Pennsylvania and other headwaters states so that appropriations may be diminished for the dredging of harbours and waterways and the soil may be saved for future generations of farmers; and

Whereas, Said Federal funds have been accepted very generally by farmers of other headwaters states, while Pennsylvania has instituted only four soil conservation districts; and

Whereas, The inaptitude of the present administration has brought the General Assembly face to face with a major fiscal crisis with many funds raided and many appropriations hampered; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a committee of three from the House of Representatives to investigate into the operation and procedure of the Soil Conservation Board and the Extension Service of Pennsylvania State College so that the finding of said investigating committee may be made available to the House of Representatives before any appropriation is approved for said board and college.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. McINTOSH and BAUGHER.

RESOLUTION No. 16.

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1941.

Whereas, The farmers of Cumberland County boldly emulated the "farmers of Lexington" in resisting the dictatorial aggressions of predatory powers in a bold attempt to perpetuate a system of financial exploitation; and

Whereas, Said farmers have shown unusual courage, resourcefulness and solidarity of purpose in their night-long vigil and concerted action against the aggressions of power interests by filling holes for light poles as fast as said power concern dug them; and

Whereas, Said farmers have been refused and denied the benefits of electric power and light at reasonable rates for many years; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of George H. Earle gave to the farmers of Pennsylvania the Model Rural Electrification Act of 1937, and the Democratic Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt gave to the farmers of the Nation the Rural Electrification Administration for the purpose of financing at low interest, rates, the farmers cooperatives validated by the said Act of 1937; and

Whereas, The power interests habitually circulate phobias of delay, insufficiency of money, personal financial liability of members, and equally untrue and misleading propaganda; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives this day assembled at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, hereby renews its pledge of cooperation with farmers for more liberal legislation in the field of rural electrification; and be it further

Resolved, That if said House of Representatives is thwarted by the present administration from the accomplishment of this end of a more liberal program, then the House of Representatives hereby pledges to defeat any attempt by the power interests or the present administration to destroy or minimize the benefits of the Act of 1937.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

RESOLUTION

EXTENDING THANKS TO SECRETARY OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES

Mr. TURNER offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1941.

Whereas, By reason of the growing demand for office space, the administrative and fiscal offices had over a period of time encroached upon much of the space in the main Capitol building originally intended for and assigned to the legislative departments of the State government; and upon completion of the new Finance Building, these quarters were restored to much needed legislative use; and

Whereas, At the last session of the General Assembly, an appropriation was made to the Department of Property and Supplies for the cost of alterations, furnishings and necessary improvements on this space in the main Capitol building, which alterations, furnishings and improvements have now been completed in a most satisfactory and commendable manner through the tireless efforts of the Secretary of Property and Supplies and the able assistants in his department; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends sincerest thanks to Captain Roger W. Rowland and the deputies and attaches of the Department of Property and Supplies for their wholehearted cooperation in remodeling, decorating and furnishing the House caucus room, the offices of the Speaker and the Chief Clerk, and the various committee rooms for the use of House committees; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be directed to transmit a certified copy of this resolution to Captain Rowland.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 11, 1941

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Most Gracious and Eternal Heavenly Father, we make our earnest prayer to Thee this morning to keep and defend our United States of America. We believe in her destiny in that as Thou dost protect and preserve us a nation today that we may be a blessing to the nations of the earth tomorrow.

We have entered upon our program of national defense. Thousands of the best boys from the homes of our land have gone, are going or will soon go to training camps to be schooled in the art of defense. Wilt Thou bless both officers and men in their endeavors and defend them in their training that in Thy providence the complete defense of our nation shall speedily be effected.

Amidst the changing scenes of the world today when no one knows where or when a new conflagration in the affairs of men and nations may break forth, may this awful uncertainty and evil foreboding not rob us of our abiding faith in Thee nor break down the constancy of our hope for a better world of the future in which all of us may live. We know Thou dost still control the affairs of men and the destiny of nations, all present actions and conditions to the contrary notwithstanding.

As members of this Senate representing all the people of this great Commonwealth we have work to do. We set about that work now praying Thy direction and protection as we labor. We pray in the name of the Master Craftsman of the universe. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. BARTLETT, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 66, entitled:

An Act to further amend the last paragraph of section four hundred thirty-nine of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," imposing additional duties on and providing for additional compensation of veterans' grave registrars.

Mr. CAVALCANTE, from the Committee on Military Affairs reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 159, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for the purpose of erecting, constructing and equipping an auditorium at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, during the World War and after the World War, those that served in it learned some very valuable experience. Among that experience was one which we feel holds good today and will hold good in years to come. One of those experiences was that the war efforts of any nation can be best obtained when the military forces of the nation have a unity of understanding, a unity of purpose, a unity of instruction, a unity of discipline, a unity of morale, and a unity of action.

Yesterday, Mr. President, we were honored by an invitation from the Adjutant General of this Commonwealth —when I say honored, I mean the Committee on Military Affairs was invited to inspect our reservation at Indiantown Gap. In going over that camp, Mr. President, we found that there are needs for a few things and one of those needs is some place where this experience that we obtained in the World War can be promoted and carried on.

Mr. President, the committee found that on this vast reservation of thirteen thousand acres owned by the State, the Federal Government is at this time carrying on a rather extensive building program to house approximately thirty thousand men, the flower of the youth of this State, where they are going to be assembled and trained, looking to the future of this nation. In our inspection, Mr. President, we found that in the construction of that camp there has been omitted a building large enough where the staff of our army, I mean our State Militia, can call together at any one time the commissioned and noncommissioned officers of our National Guard where they can by proper lectures and proper programs bring about that unity of understanding, of purpose, of instruction, of discipline, and of morale and action which the World War taught us was essential to the best war efforts of the nation.

Mr. President, after the Committee on Military Affairs, a majority of that committee, returned to this capitol building yesterday, it was the general opinion of the entire committee that we sponsor an appropriation sufficient so that an auditorium may be erected at the Indiantown Gap Reservation to bring about the things I have mentioned. The committee through its chairman, the Honorable Robert M. Miller, has prepared an appropriation bill in the sum of $125,000, and the committee as a whole is recommending that appropriation to this Senate, and we are reporting the bill out as amended, with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations for proper action thereon, with this suggestion, that it is the opinion of the Committee on Military Affairs that this is very essential at this time, due to this large body of men that is being assembled on this reservation for training of a character that will insure the safety of our state and our nation.

Mr. President, I therefore report out as amended, Senate Bill No. 159.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette presents originally from the Committee on Military Affairs as amended Senate Bill 159. If there is no objection the request of the Senator from Fayette will be complied with and it will be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Will it be satisfactory to the Senator to have the bill referred to the Committee on Appropriations after second reading, or does the Senator wish it to be referred at this time?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I think it is the better policy that we put it through its second reading stage and then refer it back to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BECKER, from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 145, entitled:

An Act to amend further section fourteen of an act, approved the seventh day of August, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. L. 106), entitled "An act relating to flood control; prescribing the powers and duties of the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters in relating to the creation of flood control districts, adoption of plans for flood control works, and improvements, carrying into effect of such plans, assistance, aid and cooperation with public and private agencies and the Federal Government in Federal flood control works and improvements, and entering into compacts and agreements with other states for flood control works and improvements; conferring the power of eminent domain; providing for the setting off of benefits; imposing certain charges upon the Commonwealth; providing for appeals; and conferring certain powers on municipalities, counties, and townships, and the Department of Highways," as re-enacted and amended, by conferring additional powers on the Department of Highways.

Mr. JAMES, from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 120, entitled:

An Act providing for payment of damages to motor vehicles caused by deer on the public highways out of the Game Fund; and appropriating moneys therein for such purpose.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 170 entitled:

An Act to amend section two of article five of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 581), entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth," by classifying all firemen, fire alarm operators and officers of the fire department for the purpose of fixing minimum salaries for such classifications, and setting up minimum salaries for such classifications.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 171, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section five hundred and three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custoday and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," further regulating refunds.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise in my place to present the following bill, but before presenting it I would like to make a brief statement.

This bill, Mr. President, has been co-sponsored by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, and myself.

Mr. President, there have been a number of similar bills or bills attempting to do similar things introduced in the Senate and probably in the House, and, Mr. President, I want to point out that in times of national emergency there is a tendency on the part of a great many citizens to engage in what might be called, witch hunting. We do not want this bill classified as such, but many of us who appreciate what we went through twenty-three, twenty-four or twenty-five years ago, appreciate the danger many thousands of our young men might be exposed to if something is not done to correct some of the evils of sabotage in this country.

Mr. President, there have been many bills introduced trying to eliminate what are commonly called enemies of our government from our bowels. Mr. President, this bill has been very carefully prepared. We are trying to make it a non-partisan measure so that we can show not only to the state of Pennsylvania but to the nation that when the time comes to protect this counry we can join hands with our Governor and with our President and show some national unity.

We hope this bill, Mr. President, will be promptly reported out so that its advantages may accrue to those young men who have been so glowingly referred to by the Senator from Fayette as the flower of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we stand shoulder to shoulder in this thing, just as we did twenty-four years ago, and we are not ashamed of the drums in our hearts. Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, and myself, I offer the following bill.

Messrs. WALKER and CAVALCANTE read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 172, entitled:

An Act to amend section eight hundred one of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nominations of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by further defining parties and political bodies.

The PRESIDENT. Would the Senator from Allegheny prefer to have this bill referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. WALKER. I would be very pleased to have it, Mr. President.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. ZIESENHEIM read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 173, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, (P. L. 1172), entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns as State highways, and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expenses of the Commonwealth," establishing an additional route in the Borough of Union City, Erie County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 174, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 720), entitled, "An act providing for the taking over by the Commonwealth under certain terms, conditions, and limitations of certain streets in cities of the second class, and second class A, and third class, as state highways, and for the improvement, construction, reconstruction, resurfacing, and maintenance by the Commonwealth of certain defined widths of said streets, imposing duties on such cities, and on public utility companies using such streets, providing that no assessment shall be made upon the Commonwealth in the elimination of any grade crossing thereon, authorizing cities, persons, associations, or corporations to enter into agreements with the Commonwealth to bear a portion of the cost of construction or maintenance, providing for the assessment of certain portions of the cost of street improvements on abutting property owners, regulating the replacement of certain facilities of public utility companies, prohibiting the opening of said streets after improvement without a permit, and providing penalty therefor, regulating the maintenance of detours, authorizing the increase of city indebtedness in certain cases, and appropriating money in the Motor License Fund for the purposes of this act" by establishing additional routes in the City of Erie.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 175, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, (Act No. 203), entitled "An act establishing certain township roads as State highways; authorizing their construction, maintenance and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions, limiting the obligation of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways; conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities, persons, associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways, and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act," establishing an additional route in the County of Erie.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. KEPHART read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 176, entitled:

An Act for the judicial notice of the ordinances of cities, boroughs, incorporated towns and townships of the first class, and for proof thereof; and to make uniform the law with reference thereto.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 177, entitled:

An Act regulating and limiting the rights of slayers in real and personal property and in the benefits from insurance policies, arising out of or as a result of the death of the person slain; and protecting and saving the rights of purchasers and insurers dealing with slayers without notice of the slaying.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. STIEFEL read in ihs place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 178, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph four of subsection (a) of section forty-one of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled, as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedent, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein; the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointments, bonds, rights, powers, duties and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," by validating deeds heretofore accepted by fiduciaries holding mortgages in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. DEITRICK read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 179, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the granting of benefits to aliens by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. REED read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 180, entitled:

An Act makng an appropriation to the Washington Hospital, Washington, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 181, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Miners' Hospital of Northern Cambria, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. McGREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 182, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the American Oncologic Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 183, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Union Home for Old Ladies of West Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Berks will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, last Saturday, February 8th, one of our colleagues, Senator Reed, addressed the convention of the Pennsylvania School Directors Association, and in his remarks he gave material that I believe, and the School Directors Association believes, is valuable public information.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have his remarks incorporated in today's journal.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, it is so ordered.

SPEECH BY SENATOR REED, DELIVERED AT THE ANNUAL CONVENTION OF PENNA. STATE SCHOOL DIRECTORS' ASSOCIATION ON SAT., FEB. 8, 1941.

THE WAY TO GOOD GOVERNMENT

For the last decade there has been a broad and intensive search in the nation for the discovery of a way to lead our government back to its former position of stability and security.

Even before the great depression of 1931, those of vision and foresight detected the appearance of decay in the Republic and sought means to arrest its devastating and destructive progress. Great scholars appeared with plans for restoring the nation; statesmen came forth and submitted their views; scientists readily offered their opinions; and from numerous other sources there have come hundreds of suggestions for the solution of the most perplexing problem ever to confront the American people.

The search for light has carried the investigation into every country of the civilized world and has involved a study of the history of nations far back into the dark ages of the past. Program after program has been submitted for the healing of the nation; remedy after remedy has been prescribed for the cure of the ills of the state; and down to the smallest municipality this urge for reform has descended. This proferred aid has touched and embraced every phase of the social, political and economic life of the Republic, and out of the process there has arisen a new order, unknown to the fathers, complicated and involved, confusing and misleading, to those in search of the pure and lasting ideals of American democracy.

The plan advanced and adopted by the Federal Government and advocated and followed in most of the States during this critical period is based on the belief that all errors and mistakes, all weakness and infirmity, all graft and corruption, all idleness and poverty, all avarice and greed, can be exposed and eliminated by legislative action. Following this course, Congress has enacted thousands of laws for the purpose of restoring prosperity, sustaining democracy and aiding mankind; and the several states, touched by the contagion, have seized the same means for improving and strengthening their governments. Pennsylvania has not been missed by this wave of attempted reform. Our State has adopted the same policy, and laws, laws, laws, have been passed touching almost every phase of human activity, including social legislation, health legislation, labor legislation, school legislation, municipal legislation, business legislation, legislation for sports and amusements, legislation for roads and highways, legislation for taxes and finance; all designed to make for better government. The same system is in effect today and at the present Session of the Legislature hundreds of bills will be presented aimed at the same object, better government.

To the true and sincere citizen, unselfishly interested in his state and country, naturally comes the question, is such a course the way to good government?

Many nations of antiquity attempted in vain to preserve their national strength and greatness by lengthy codes of laws and intricate rules of conduct. Greece, detecting national decay, tried to stay the hand of the spoiler by legislation, but failed. Rome, with all her wealth and power, was unable to arrest decline and destruction, although her system of laws was a model of the times. History gives us no case to prove that a multiplicity of laws or an involved and complicated system of rules and regulations are essential to the establishment and preservation of a free form of government.

A free form of government is made of men, and the way to good government is through men. A strong, free and virtuous people need few laws for their guidance, but where character has disappeared and virtue has been suppressed, then law becomes necessary for the control of human conduct. The greatest code of laws of all times, given by God to Moses, was simple and clear providing for devotion to God and the practice of virtue among men. The early American fathers builded this great Republic on the firm foundation of faith in God and virtue among men. The great William Penn expressed the same thought when he said: "Men must be governed by God or they will be ruled by tyrants."

In the home, in the church and in the school, our early forebears advocated and taught the simple though powerful doctrine of devotion to God and the practice of virtue among men. By their righteous living and noble conduct, they rendered profusion in the making of laws unnecessary, but they honored the law with patriotic zeal and sacred obedience, and left to us as a heritage the greatest Republic of all times. Their history, and example clearly affirm the proposition, that the way to good government is through men. The father of his country, the noble George Washington, in his Farewell Address, views the matter in these words: "Can it be that Providence has not connected the permanent felicity of a nation with its virtue? The experiment, at least, is recommended by every sentiment which ennobles human nature. Alas! is it rendered impossible by its vices?"

Have these ancient landmarks of the fathers been removed? Have the noble and sublime impulses been submerged? Is America dying for the want of virtue?

Arouse yourselves. O citizens! Let industry and thrift be again cultivated; let honesty and truth be extolled; let devotion to God and zeal for country be revived. Into the home, into the church and into the school let the movement roll, bearing on its crest the warning that righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people. Repeat and retell the story that industry has no time for crime or delinquency; that thrift abhors the poorhouse and the dole; that honesty wars against graft and corruption; and that truth is an imperial virtue, carrying man away from all that is evil and vile.

We must always remember that when virtue is ignored, weakness and short-comings appear among our people, and it is then that the easy but expensive course is pursued to meet the contingency, the enactment and promulgation of laws, rules and regulations. Thus, for example, when the master and the servant, when capital and labor, could not unselfishly and virtuously sit down together and peacefully and justly settle their differences, then it became necessary to control and supervise their relations by law and governmental regulation. Or, when, through selfishness and greed, some powerful combination as the Milk Trust attempts to take advantage of the farmer or consumer, government steps in through law and regulations to control the relationship. Or, when a citizen, elected to public office and sworn to faithfully and honestly serve the State, descends, in weakness, to advance his own individual interest, then legislation appears in the form of teachers tenure or of some other kindred nature. And do not forget that all of these transitions, and they have been numerous, have been accompanied by heavy outlays of governmental funds, in the creation of departments and boards, and in the hiring of thousands of salaried officials and employes, all of which has brought about and laid upon the backs of the people as constantly increasing burden, heavy, indeed, to bear.

How long! Oh, how long! Can the Republic endure? Has it been weighed in the balance and found wanting? Or, is there yet hope for its preservation and safety? Deeply concerned is every true citizen with the knowledge that an increasing number of our boys and girls are seeking the easy life of froth and tinsel that leads to delinquency and crime. The number of crimes committed by those between the ages of 16 and 25 is astounding. Recently a report published in one of the western counties of the State showed that over six hundred of the two thousand inmates of the county jail for a certain period were youths between the ages of 16 and 25. Similar statistics are available elsewhere, and warnings have gone out from many agencies seeking a correction of this dangerous and destructive tendency. And while this moral delinquency prevails, other annoying information appears. It is that an alarming number of our young men are physically unfit for military service, the rate in places running as high as thirty per cent.

These are matters that shake the faith; that trouble the mind; that annoy the soul; and we wonder whether we are approaching the time spoken of by the prophet: "When the good man is perished out of the earth; and there is none upright among men." Our government, it is good, only so long as its people are good; our government, it is strong, only so long as its people are virtuous; our government, it will endure, only so long as its people are just and righteous.

Let us then, strive for better things; let us rise above self and offer to a deserving country, a life dedicated to the practice of the simple virtues of the fathers; a life guided by humble faith in the wisdom and justness of divine Providence. We shall then be on the way to good government.

REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I offer the following resolution and as it is a resolution requesting information, I move its immediate adoption.

In the Senate, February 11, 1941.

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Department of Revenue to advise it as to whether that Department examines the accounts and books of Municipal Authorities as provided in the original Municipal Authorities Act of 1935 and its supplements thereto, and if it makes such an examination to advise the Senate as to the total amount of debt which has been contracted by the Municipal Authorities established under this Act and its supplements.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I would like to say just a word in explanation of this resolution. In the original resolution that was addressed to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, we asked the question as to just what debts had been contracted by the municipal authorities, and the answer that comes from the Secretary of the Commonwealth indicates that there are ninety-two municipal authorities in Pennsylvania, but that there is no agency which maintains any supervision over the debts they contract.

Mr. President, the Secretary of the Commonwealth referred to the fact that in the original act there was a provision that the Department of Revenue might examine those accounts, and this resolution hopes to get the information from the Department of Revenue.

Mr. President, for my own part, it seems to me the deeper we go into this matter the more it seems to me we made a mistake in 1935 in starting these new agencies to work through the State, and yet at the same time, to not provide in any way for their supervision.

Mr. President, I am willing to admit many of them have done a great deal of good, and I do not want any one to feel this is a witch-hunting expedition, nor do I wish to destroy some good that has been done, but on the other hand, I think it is important that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania should have some information as to what has been done under the authority conferred by this act, and we are now trying to get this information from some department that might know. Otherwise I will ask the Senate to address a letter of inquiry over the signature of its secretary to each of the authorities and get the information direct from them.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland will state his point of information.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I understand the Senator from Warren, Dr. Chapman, introduced a bill amending the acts that provide for the granting of birth certificates by the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

Mr. President, I would like to ask the committee that holds that bill to proceed with action upon the bill in order that the Senate may have an opportunity to vote for or against. it.

Mr. President, it is essential that something be done in the matter of issuing birth certificates. I have before me at the present time fifteen or sixteen applications that I have been fiddling with for the last three months trying to get the Department organized to the point of granting birth certificates.

Mr. President, out in western Pennsylvania, we have a great part of the defense armament program in production, in the hands of Westinghouse and other large plants. Before they will give a person a job, he must have his birth certificate. As an illustration of the—I would not say incompetence but I will say mismanagement of the department, I have before me certificates that were sent in in November. This is the fourth time these certificates have been issued, and for the fourth time they have misspelled either the place of birth or the name of the person getting the certificate. In one case I had five members of one family who had applied for birth certificates. They had five children born in different places with five different mothers.

Mr. President, here is another one who applied on September 21st of last year for a birth certificate, and to date has not received it.

Mr. President, most of these persons have jobs in vital defense industries; most of them are craftsmen and tradesmen. They can not take their jobs unless the bureau gives them certificates, and the bureau wants to know when you were born and why, and whether you were born.

Mr. President, here is a man trying to get a birth certificate and he has to fill out more papers than is necessary in joining the United States Marine Corps.

Mr. President, I wish some one would take seriously this problem of birth certificates. We have in Pennsylvania a great population. A great many of the citizens of this State are foreigners or of foreign extraction, their names are difficult to pronounce and more difficult to spell, and during the years the family has lost perhaps an "e" or an "i" or two or three "z's". Due to that fact it is impossible for the children to get birth certificates through the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

Mr. President, I propose we take the Chapman bill and if it needs amending, so amend it, but let us at least have some action on it, because if you stop to realize it, there are bottle-necks in the defense industry, and the biggest bottleneck is over in the Bureau of Vital Statistics under the management of one Tom Williams.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I wish to state for the information of the Senator from Westmoreland that I have already asked the secretary to announce a committee meeting immediately upon recess of this session.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to say that is the fastest action I have ever gotten from a speech.

The PRESIDENT. Unity is what we are after.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Unity of purpose, Mr. President.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS RELATIVE TO LEASE-LEND BILL

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I present the following resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

The resolution was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 11, 1941.

Whereas, All countries of the Western Hemisphere particularly the United States are in great and imminent danger from the spreading conflict between various European nations and from the increasing spread of undemocratic philosophies of government; and

Whereas, The future of the United States and the perpetuation of its established political and economic system require that the European conflict and all its manifestations be kept from the Western Hemisphere and from this country; and

Whereas, Great Britain on land and sea and in the air is now engaged in a valiant and determined struggle to halt the de-civilization of Europe and the World as a result of the general establishment of the pagan Nazi philosophies; and

Whereas, The furnishing of aid to Great Britain by the United States has already and will in the future greatly facilitate the conduct of the various operations designed to maintain the British Empire and suppress the present conflict; and

Whereas, The need for increasing such aid to Great Britain is imminent and imperative if the British Empire is to continue as the active and militant opposition to the Nazi plans of world conquest and if any immediate and direct attack upon the countries of the Western Hemisphere by the axis powers is to be prevented; and

Whereas, There is now pending before the Congress of the United States a bill (H. R. 1776) known as the "Lease-lend" bill, the basic purpose of which is to permit the President of the United States to increase, coordinate and expedite the aid to be given Great Britain by the United States; and

Whereas, Under the terms and provisions of this bill as well as the statement of Winston Churchill, Premier of Great Britain that no American soldier will leave our shores to engage in overseas combat; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That the General Assembly memoralize the Congress of the United States to adopt with all possible dispatch the "lease-lend" bill (H. R. 1776) in substantially the form introduced; and be it further

Resolved, That one copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of the following:

The President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Vice-President, Henry A. Wallace, President of the United States Senate.

Speaker Rayburn, House of Representatives.

Senator Joseph Guffy.

Senator James P. Davis.

All members of the House delegation from Pennsylvania.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 39

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I belive the subject matter of this resolution is of sufficient importance to warrant that it be given some study before it is passed and I therefore object to its immediate consideration.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, did I understand the Senator from Somerset to say he objects to immediate consideration of the resolution?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. COLEMAN. That is all, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, there has been objection to immediate consideration of the resolution presented by the gentleman from Lackawanna and that gives us an opportunity to consider the matter. If I correctly heard the reading of a clause it endorses the bill as originally introduced and, Mr. President, I think the man who endorses that bill as originally introduced is not only very much behind the times but he is assuming a very serious responsibility and I therefore hope the Senator from Lackawanna will omit that portion of the resolution so that it will read in the present form rather than the original form.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Montgomery may be correct in that the bill having been amended in its passage through the House accordingly could not be passed in its original form.

However, Mr. President, the phrase in the resolution

I have introduced, and to which the Senator has raised an objection, reads "In substantially the form introduced"; I therefore assume that meets the objection of the Senator from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution has been referred to committee and can there be corrected.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I move that the communication be read and also be incorporated in the record of this body.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

The clerk read the communication as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA, INC.
VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS
OF THE UNITED STATES
Office of Department Quartermaster-Adjutant Harrisburg, Pa., February 3, 1941.

Honorable Samuel S. Lewis,
Lieutenant Governor,
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
The Capitol,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Lewis:

On Saturday, January 25, 1941, the Secretary of Public Assistance, Mr. Howard L. Russell, addressing a luncheon conference held jointly by the Pennsylvania Political Science and Public Administration Association, and the American Society for Public Administration, in the Sylvania Hotel, at Philadelphia, assailed the law providing five per cent credit in examinations under the Civil Service laws of the Commonwealth for war veterans, and ten per cent for wounded war veterans.

The more than 30,000 members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Department of Pennsylvania, must take exception to Mr. Russell's remarks and object to his belief that these men are not entitled to recognition of their services in time of war.

This is Mr. Russell's language as quoted by Philadelphia newspapers on Sunday, January 26, 1941, which Mr. Russell does not deny:

> "Where will you find a group of people or a member of the Legislature, who will stick out their necks by sponsoring a bill to repeal the vicious Veterans' Preference Act?" he asked. "Anyone who did this would be accused of running counter to public opinion."

To a group of social workers this language is perfect. But to war veterans it is a challenge which cannot be left unanswered. To members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, it is an unwarranted attack on their integrity and an insult to their judgment.

Secretary Russells argument in opposition to preference for war veterans in civil service examinations leaves out a significant factor favoring persons in what is called "in training" or on probation, who are without war service.

Certainly, Mr. Russell is aware that highly valuable credit is given to these provisional employes for experience. We do not, however, object to this situation since it is not unreasonable to give weight to experience in the positions to be filled. But, in practice, the granting of preferred credits to "experienced" employes usually means that the incumbent retains the position, and the small credit given war veterans for defending American institutions, makes little or no difference whatsoever.

When Mr. Russell's attention was called to the unfavorable reaction to his Philadelphia remarks, he stated to Mr. Henry Grab, of Harrisburg, a member of the State Veterans' Commission, who is also a Past Department Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, that: "I have sixty-seven County Boards that feel the same as I do." Now, is not that a reprehensible attitude for a public official to take toward Americans who have been willing to lay down their lives that he might live and be free?

When Mr. Russell cited at Philadelphia the case of being compelled to dismiss a non-veteran who had been employed in the Department of Public Assistance for five years because he received a lower average than a war veteran, he clearly indicated the general inefficiency of his Department since that non-veteran's five years of experience had not been enough for him to learn the job, whereas the war veteran without departmental experience was intelligent enough to pass the examination.

Does not Mr. Russell consider the credits given for the five years of "inexperience" as of any value to the non-veteran as compared with the either five or ten per cent preference to the war veteran?

The Joint State Government Commission's report of January, 1941, shows that those with social-work training are given 20 points credit for their educational background while a person with a business and economics education receives only 15 points, although the latter in actual practice performs the job more efficiently than the former. That also is in the record of the Commission.

From time immemorial, defenders of their country have been given some tangible recognition for their service. This arises not only from the fact that the man was courageous enough to fight for that which his country believed right, but also in recognition of the further fact that credit is given in recognition of discipline, experience, and service, represented by their military activity.

No one can deny that these peculiar advantages are conductive to better performance of public duties wherein discipline, loyalty and public spirit are essential. That is the viewpoint of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Mr. Russell notwithstanding. United States court opinions and the opinions of the highest tribunals in other states throughout the nation also hold veteran preference reasonable and just.

Would Mr. Russell have refused to give preference in public appointments to those who fought and won our War of Independence? or to those who held the Union together in the '60's? Apparently, he would, since he now objects to some slight preference to those who helped win World War No. 1.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars recall that, while not condemning them as a group, there have been notable examples among social workers of un-American attitudes, and even pro-Communist affiliations certainly not conductive to that discipline, loyalty, and public spirit that naturally becomes part of the character of war veterans, and which the learned Justices of our Supreme Court laud.

Perhaps the public services of the Department of Public Assistance would benefit considerably, if more, rather than fewer, veterans were appointed to positions to guard the ideals of free government for which they were willing to lay down their lives.

The report of the Joint State Government Commission, a copy of which has been brought to my attention, clearly indicates that the Department of Public Assistance under Mr. Russell's direction, is functioning inefficiently because, among other reasons, social workers are chosen to carry out duties for which they are unqualified—unqualified despite the fact that they passed examinations prescribed by the Department of Public Assistance. Page after page of that report recites the general inefficiency of the social-worker investigators as compared with other investigators without social-work training in investigating relief cases. According to the report presented to the General Assembly, the social-worker investigators are negligent or just unable to comprehend their responsibilities to the taxpayers whose money is being squandered.

Mr. Russell's department has wrought injury to the Commonwealth, and it would seem to be his first duty to pay more attention to the operation of his department to save the taxpayers' money wherever possible, rather than to attack long established law.

Mr. Russell cannot resort to the usual partisan argument advanced by some public officials when their inefficiency is brought into the open that they are the victims of politics. The report to which I refer represents a judgment of his own affiliates upon their administration of public services. In this important instance they did not fear "sticking out their necks," as Mr. Russell questioned in another instance.

Is it possible that the prejudice of Mr. Russell against the more than 450,000 war veterans in Pennsylvania arises from a dislike of war veterans? Is it possible that despite Mr. Russell's high position in Pennsylvania's government and charged with the administration of social legislation as he is, that he has an anti-social attitude? Regardless of either of these suppositions, it would be better when thinking Americans are stressing the necessity for national unity, at a time when young men are compelled to enter military training—to give up a year of their civil life to defend, if necessary, this country of ours—for Mr. Russell to conform his thoughts to the provisions of the law with respect to war veterans. His attitude is creating the widespread impression that public officials who make such statements should be removed summarily from office. It is recalled that Mr. Russell's loose tongue caused his dismissal from the Department of Public Assistance during the Earle Administration.

We resent the attitude of Mr. Russell against war veterans, and wish that he would show a public mark of respect, if he does not hold it privately, to those who were doing the fighting in rodent-ridden and muddy trenches while their nostrils were filled with the stench of decaying bodies of other American youths and who placed their own lives in jeopardy every minute—making it possible for this man today to hold the high public trust which is his—not by examination, but by political and personal preferment.

In view of Mr. Russell's remarks, I have been requested to call this matter to your attention, and to further request that official cognizance be taken of the un-American attitude of Mr. Russell, through requiring him to appear before the proper committee to explain this vicious meddling with progressive legislation and to also explain why he questioned the integrity of the peoples' representatives in the General Assembly.

I have been further requested to ask that representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Department of Pennsylvania, also be permitted to appear before such committee as you may designate, if and when Mr. Russell is asked for a public explanation of his attitude.

Cordially yours,

(Signed, C. A. GNAU, Adjutant
Department of Pennsylvania
Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART from the Committee on Public Health reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 9, entitled:

An Act concerning the permanent recordation of certain births, birth certificates, the issuance of copies of such certificates, and prescribing the procedure therefor; enlarging the powers and duties of the Department of Health and the Bureau of Vital Statistics; and increasing the duties of certain county officials.

with the understanding that after second reading, it be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health for further amendments if necessary.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Messrs. McGINNIS and GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. McGINNIS and GELTZ read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 184, entitled:

An Act authorizing guardians and trustees to purchase life endowment or annuity contracts in companies approved and duly authorized to carry on such business in the State of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McGINNIS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 185, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of, and to add section two and one-tenth to, the act, approved the fourth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 127), entitled "An act relating to adoption," further regulating adoption proceedings as to the consent of, and notice to be given to, parents of the person proposed to be adopted.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MUNDY read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 186, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the twenty-eight day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 452), entitled as amended "An act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth; creating a General State Authority as a body corporate and politic with power to construct, improve, equip, furnish, and operate projects, and to lease the same, and to fix and collect fees, rentals, and charges for the use thereof; authorizing and regulating the issuance of bonds by said Authority, and providing for the payment of such bonds, and the rights of the holders thereof; and to enter into agreement with the Government of the United States or any Federal agency; and authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to grant, assign, convey, or lease to the Authority lands of the Commonwealth and interests therein, and to acquire lands therefor; granting the right of eminent domain; and providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act," by authorizing the General State Authority to construct, improve, equip, furnish and operate the Executive Mansion.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent at this time to present a bill, and I ask the President and my colleagues to indulge me a minute while I make a word of explanation.

Mr. President, this is a bill which provides for the building of a new mansion for the Governor of Pennsylvania. It may seem strange, Mr. President, to my colleagues on the other side to have a Democrat rise in his seat and present such a bill, but may I say to them that the Democratic party has not yet lost all its aspirations and ambitions.

Mr. President, I have made a provision in this bill that the funds be provided by the State Authority. I want the State Authority to have the opportunity to issue some more bonds, and as my colleague over there, Senator Miller knows, he comes from our native county of Luzerne, and it is also the native county of the Governor of Pennsylvania, since you passed that bond for relief recipients and since you passed the bill which was signed by the Governor for the enforced collection of taxes, about sixty-five per cent of the real estate of Luzerne County is now burdened with mortgages taken over by either the county or the State, I am putting this bond issue in to put a mortgage on the mansion for the express purpose of making the Governor himself feel at home, so that he will live in a home which has a mortgage on it.

Mr. President, may I also say this may be a turn in liberality on my part, but I appreciate, having read the budget of 1938 and having carefully listened to the Governor deliver his latest budget and having witnessed the fact that the Governor of Pennsylvania has appointed two Democratic magistrates in Philadelphia, the only thing I have to say now to you, my colleagues, is all that remains in my imagination of the Author James of 1938 and the Author James of 1941 is the voice and the poise.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MALLERY. From the Committee on Judiciary General re-reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of section twelve of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of miners, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widows's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor, and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein; the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," by authorizing the orphans' court to set aside the widow's or children's exemption without notice or appraisement where the property claimed is of apparent or readily ascertainable value.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President and members of the Senate, last evening the President Pro Tempore of the Senate spoke to me of the plan of having a brief memorial to Abraham Lincoln, because the Senate would not be in session tomorrow.

There was not sufficient time, Mr. President, to prepare an essay that would do justice either to the subject or to the audience, but I remembered with very great pleasure that eighteen years ago today I had the pleasure of addressing a joint session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania on a similar occasion and through the aid of Mr. Holmes and Mr. Cooper I found the record, and as none of the Legislators were then members of the Legislature, I think perhaps what was said on that occasion may be new to them.

Mr. President and Senators, no time is wasted that is spent in the study of biography, and in particular, no American can count that time wasted which gives him a knowledge of the life and the sayings of Abraham Lincoln. To recite the facts of his life in this presence would be like carrying coals to New Castle, but I want for a moment or two, to draw attention to at least three suggestive lessons that, it seems to me, are taught by the record of this great man. In the first place, he was President during a period of tremendous strain and stress, and yet he saved the Union without sacrificing the institutions of the country. History teaches us, again and again, that in time of war, the tendency is to concentrate power into the hands of the Executive. Someone must decide, and decide quickly; some one must make rulings, and they must be carried out. Again and again, nations, to save themselves from a danger, have placed power in the hands of one man and then after having saved themselves from the danger, have found a greater danger within their own walls. The example of France in the time of Napoleon the Great, is a sufficient illustration of that fact. Now that danger Lincoln avoided for us. Placed as he was in a position of peculiar responsibility with all the power of the American executive, a power greater than is exercised by any crowned head of the world, either at the present time or during his time, and yet with all that power vested in his hands our country came out from the experience more truly representative of its democracy than it had been at the beginning. That is the tremendous achievement which stamps Lincoln not only as a statesman but as a true patriot.

In the second place, the remarkable forcefulness of his public utterances, in expressing the aspirations of a people after ideals in government. It was amazing abroad during the great war how frequently statesmen quoted from Abraham Lincoln. When Mr. Asquith made his statement in the House of Commons in August of 1914, at the time when England was about to declare war, he quoted from Lincoln. When Lloyd George made his statement in the House of Commons in reply to the German peace overtures, he quoted from Lincoln. The English Spectator for weeks quoted from the writings of Lincoln stating that it was necessary that the English people should understand the spirit of democracy as it has been expressed by its choicest exponent; and the thing which caught all of those men was not only the fervor and the power and the sentiment, but the singular clarity and beauty of expression. Those of us who have listened with so much appreciation and enjoyment to the reading of the Second Inaugural and the reading of the Gettysburg address can understand precisely what that means. Lord Curzon, the British statesman in his book on parliamentary eloquence ranks three speeches as of the first magnitude during the nineteenth century. The first, the speech of William Pitt to the House of Commons in announcing the great English victory at Trafalgar. The second Lincoln's Gettysburg oration; the third, Lincoln's Second Inaugural. Two to one is the record for America on those great speeches, and the reason for that is that Lincoln, as few men have done, had striven from early boyhood to make himself absolutely clear in every statement that he might make. It was not the result of college education. Take this list of books which he had read, down to his nineteenth year: Aesop's Fables, Robinson Crusoe, Weem's Life of Washington, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, the Bible, a volume of the statutes of Indiana, which contained as a preliminary a copy of the Constitution of the United States, and a copy of the Constitution of the state of Indiana. That was the reading upon which his mind fed. Later in life, when he ran for public office, his political manager announced that in addition to this list of six, there was a seventh, Plutarch's Lives, whereupon Lincoln sent for him and said, "That is not true, as at that time I had not read Plutarch's Lives, but, as you have advertised me as having read it, I bought a copy and have read it." He was a man of a few books, but he had studied these books with care. He said himself that when he was a boy, if, in conversation among men, or in talk at the country store, he heard a statement made that he did not understand, it worried him, it puzzled him, it angered him. Said he, "I was not content, but I inquired from every one what the word meant, what did this phrase mean, what was the idea, and," said he, "I never rested until I had gotten to so thoroughly understand that statement that I could bound it on the north, and bound it on the south, and bound it on the east, and bound it on the west, then I was content." As a result, he has given us in his written statements the clearest exposition of the ideals of democracy that have ever been given forth from the brain of man. And coupled with that went wonderful power in sympathy and understanding. Some years ago in the little library of Meron College, Oxford University, one of the oldest colleges of that ancient seat of learning, at one end of the bookcase is a little newspaper clipping, framed, and underneath is the statement that, in the opinion of the authorities at that college, this is the choicest statement of English prose extant. It is the letter of Abraham Lincoln to Mrs. Bixby of Boston:

Executive Mansion.
Washington, Nov. 21, 1864.

To Mrs. Bixby, Boston, Mass.

Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any word of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,
A. LINCOLN.

And so the world over, men look to Lincoln today to find there the expression of democracy at its best. One third thought, and that is this: As Lincoln himself so well said, we are wrestling with the experiment as to whether or not a government of the people, by the people, for the people can endure. That experiment is to be tested by its best, and the world today looks upon Abraham Lincoln as the best that America can produce. We in America reverently and gratefully accept that standard. Lincoln belongs not to us nowadays. He belongs to the spirit world. Wherever men and women are striving for better conditions; wherever they are striving for a better understanding; wherever they are asking for more heart, more sympathy, more personal touch between one and another, there they are studying the life and the works of Abraham Lincoln to find something that shall be of help to them. In England they are studying and quoting from Lincoln; in France Lord Charnwood's Life of Lincoln is one of the favorite bits of American Biography. The whole world regards Lincoln as the man who sprung from poverty, who mastered the science of government without having the learning that came from the colleges and universities; the man who passed through strain and stress, and yet kept himself sweet and strong through it all, the whole world regards that type of man as the best that democracy can produce.

We do well, then, in honoring the memory of Lincoln, for in our own day the work in which we are engaged will be counted as worth while just in proportion as it squares with the superb standard of his life.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Berks, Dr. Ruth.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I take great pleasure in adding to this service a few words on Lincoln, because of the fact that I represent the district in Pennsylvania from which his ancestors came.

Mr. President, we are proud in Berks County to claim Lincoln as one of our own, and I am reading from Whipple's Biography of Lincoln, from a letter which he wrote shortly before he left Springfield, Illinois for Washington, D. C., in which Lincoln said,

"My parents were both born in Virginia, of undistinguished families—second families perhaps I should say. My mother was of a family of the name of Hanks. My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, migrated from Rockingham County, Virginia, to Kentucky about 1781 or 2, where, a year or two later, he was killed by Indians, not in battle but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the forest. His ancestors, who were Quakers, went to Virginia from Berks County, Pennsylvania.

In Berks County in addition to the Lincoln family we have another tradition, the Boone family. Daniel Boone was born in Berks County. The Boooe and Lincoln families lived within perhaps three miles of each other and we have traced seven different intermarriages between the Boones and the Lincolns, so we are proud, the citizens of Berks County, to add our voice to this program.

Mr. President, I would particularly stress the humility of Lincoln. In his first public address, delivered as a candidate for office, he introduced himself by saying, "I am humble Abraham Lincoln," and all through his life and through his work his humility stood forth.

Mr. President, there are innumerable stories and instances of his life to attest to that fact. One I quote in particular is where he and some friends were riding through the forest on horseback and as they rode along Lincoln noticed a little bird had fallen out of its nest. They rode on a short distance when Lincoln turned around, got down from his horse, picked up the little bird and put it back into its nest.

When he returned to his friends one said, "Lincoln, that would not have been necessary; such a trifling thing as that," and Lincoln returned quietly, "I feel better for having done it." That, Mr. President, was the attitude of Lincoln all through his life.

The Senator from Montgomery has quoted quite a number of books he read. I particularly am interested from my professional standpoint, in that the foundation of his education was the Bible and the teachings of the Bible were instilled in him by a Christian mother who could read, who taught her husband to write his name, who taught her little boy up to the time when he was ten years old, when she passed away, and gave him the fundamental principle of the Bible, which is humility. He lived it and practiced it all his life.

We have been told on numerous occasions, Mr. President, by numerous speakers that Lincoln was not a church member but I would say today after twenty-three years of active work in the ministry of the gospel I wish we could have more church members who are as good Christians as Abraham Lincoln was. In all his life, in all his doings with his fellow men, he stressed particularly his faith in God and his faith in the Bible, and when his father later died and Lincoln could not go to see him in the last letter he wrote to him he commended his father into the care and attention of the Supreme Divine Father, Who, he said, never left his own in any extremity.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe today, in these great days of stress and on this 132nd anniversary of this great man, that we would all do well if we would endeavor in our personal lives, and the lives of the people of our State, to incorporate more of Lincoln's humility, more of his heart and feeling toward our fellowmen.

Even though he rose from a log cabin to the White House, he was still in the White House the same Lincoln who as a little boy ten or twelve years of age would gather his playmates together and preach to them the things that be heard from some itinerant preachers, telling them the things his mother had taught him and the things he had read in his Bible and the force of his words had such a power his playmates used to weep when he preached. I admit I cannot do that, make many people weep with my preaching, but I do believe if we could have more of the power of Lincoln which he gained through humility and understanding of human kindness, love and faith in the Divine Father, I and all of us would be better men today.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Clearfield, Mr. Letzler.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I was very happy to consent to the request of the Senator from Somerset, that I make a small contribution to this Lincoln day program this afternoon. I think the gentleman from Somerset was very smart in not giving us much time in which to make preparation because that will insure the program will be brief rather than one of great length.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate. Great characters are made by the demands of the times and such characters rise to the occasion and make their impress on contemporary history and live on to inspire future generations to great endeavors. They live in history uncircumscribed by time or place. They may have died ten centuries ago or ten days ago. We feel them to be as vital and as modern as ourselves.

It is hard for us to think of Lincoln in any environment except our own. Yet his was a country vastly different. The peopling of the country had been a protest against despotism—against doing things in the way some one else decreed.

A new force, quickened the pulse of national life and the wisdom of Lincoln in those dark days, has become clearer to each succeeding generation.

The principal thought that I want to leave with you today is:

EMANCIPATOR vs DICTATOR

Lincoln proved to the world that free men could be better builders of civilization than slaves. This brought a new conception of dominion, majesty and power—tempered by the golden rule—in which the individual felt that he had a real value and a real place in life. Lincoln the Emancipator stands forth as one who fully sensed the service commanded alike by the laws of man and God—his greatness revealed in the practice of justice—of patriotism—of mercy —in the utter forgetfulness of self and gloriously pictured to us in those memorable words "with malice toward none, with charity for all." What a contrast between the sublime character of the Emancipator and the Dictator who imposes his iron will on millions of people today. He makes slaves in the hope that they will build for him an economic and a physical empire. The two philosophies are, of course, absolutely incompatible. The contrast can be carried on, but you will have to do so yourselves. We revere the memory today of an American Patriot in his complete devotion to his Government and its Constitution, his greatness of soul rose above patriotism and acknowledged the right of every human being made in God's image to his personal act of kindness and mercy not as an act of grace from a mighty ruler but as a service to God and Humanity. Men with the spirit of Lincoln will keep us humble and strong.

I shall conclude by reciting the following poem by Dr. Spencer M. Free of DuBois and Clearfield County, who passed on last year.

LINCOLN

He now is a part of the ages
Who once was a mortal like you,
With joys and with sorrows and duties
And often his skies were not blue.
But ever through all of life's trials
His faith in his God was supreme;
No matter how black were the storm-clouds,
He held to his beautiful dream.
That doing one's best every moment
And leaving the outcome with God,
Our lives would be truly worthwhile now
And after we're put 'neath the sod.
And today he looks down upon earth's folks,
No longer his countenance sad;
And, seeing us walk in his footsteps,
His soul will forever be glad.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed.

Mr. REED. Mr. President and members of the Senate, the private life and training of Abraham Lincoln, I believe, is considered by everyone today as very unique, as we compare those times with these streamlined times we live in today.

Here was a man, Mr. President, born in a log cabin, trained in the open by hard and vigorous toil, with few opportunities, and yet during his whole course he traveled upward. As has already been stated, he had little school training, he had no high school training, he had no college training, he had no university training, but he was taught by a good mother the simple and old-fashioned American principles that governed life at that time. He early learned to absorb the old-fashioned American philosophy of the father, devotion to God and the practice of virtue among men. It made no difference how high and lofty was his ascent thereafter, he never departed from this course. He became a lawyer and loved the work, and if we had time, we could discuss this phase of his life with interest at great length. He loved to speak before juries where he used very simple and yet convincing arguments. He loved politics and he ran and was elected to the United States Congress. Later he ran against the Little Giant, Stephen A Douglas, for the United States Senate and while he was defeated, he laid the foundation which later made him president.

In the west, Mr. President, he was well known at that time, because he loved to mingle with the people, and finally as is always the case, his power began to spread toward the centers of population in the east and he was invited to make a speech before the educated people of New York, and that famous address made at Cooper's Institute will go down in history as one of the great speeches made by American orators.

Then, Mr. President, we come to that part of his life where the selection of a President came uppermost in the minds of the American people, and the politicans of that day did not want Abraham Lincoln, because at that time politics was organized just as it is today, and because of his independence, because of his lofty thoughts, because of his welfare for the American people, the politicians of his party opposed him, but the urge of the people was so strong that no one could prevent his nomination. He was elected President, as the Senator on the other side has stated, at a time when the country was in great difficulty, and yet by the same course, by the course of devotion to God and the practice of virtue among men, he steered this Republic back into the course fixed by the Father.

Mr. President, and members of the Senate, he was a man who loved the people from the top of society down to the bottom, with malice toward no one, and with love and charity towards all. He is dead. He died on the altar of sacrifice for his country, as did thousands of others of his time, but his name will live forever in the hearts of the American people.

Mr. President, we honor him in words today. Let us go a little further. Let us take inspiration from the simple and noble life of Abraham Lincoln, and at this critical period in our national life, firmly resolve to unselfishly dedicate our service to our deserving country. Let us say individually with one of our outstanding American poets:

"Build thee more stately mansions, O, my soul.
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave Thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast.
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell
By life's unresting sea!"

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. HOLLAND. RESOLUTION No. 17.

In the House of Representatives, February 11, 1941.

Whereas, The United States is now engaged in building our National Defense to the end that our democratic institutions and ideals may be preserved against the threats of totalitarian powers, and

Whereas, This effort demands the complete cooperation of all groups—government, industry, agriculture and labor—for its successful and speedy execution, and

Whereas, There is definite evidence that the execution of this program of National Defense is lagging because of a lack of proper cooperation and coordination of effort, and

Whereas, There has been presented to the President of the United States and officials of the National Defense Commission a practical plan to effect the highest type of efficiency in production, through the establishment of Industry Councils, and

Whereas, This proposal has come from an important branch of the house of organized labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, through its president, Phillip Murray, and

Whereas, The proposal not only would speed production in the present emergency but would be a vital factor in our economy when this nation must adjust itself to a postwar boom, and

Whereas, Industrial Councils would consist of equal representation of management and organized labor with a government official as chairman—all charged with the duty of coordinating the defense efforts of each industry; and a Defense Board made up of similar representatives whose duty it shall be to coordinate the production facilities of all industry, and

Whereas, This proposal brings into action the collective brains and energies of the nation—all directed toward the common end of speedy and efficient production of national defense materials; be it therefore

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memoralize the Congress of the United States to the end that this plan for Industrial Councils be made an integral part of our National Defense effort, and be it Further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to send copies of this resolution to the President of the United States and each member of the House of Representatives and the Senate of the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Messrs. WEISS and MAXWELL.

RESOLUTION No. 18.

In the House of Representatives, February 11, 1941.

Whereas, The Governor of the Commonwealth has repeatedly expressed the desire of his administration to provided work for the unemployed; and

Whereas, There are at the present time many unemployed miners in the Herminie Coal District in Westmoreland County; and

Whereas, Such unemployment is due to the fact that the mines in and about the Herminie Coal District are unable to operate, due to the flooded condition of said mines; and

Whereas, In addition thereto, this condition creates a hazard to the miners working in adjacent mines; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth has in the past aided similarly distressed coal districts by pumping water out of the flooded mines in such districts; and

Whereas, The mining of coal constitutes almost the entire industry of the Herminie Coal District, and the operators of such mines are anxious to reopen them when the water has been pumped from said mines; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Representatives that the proper authorities of this Commonwealth take immediate steps to pump, or to arrange for the pumping of, water from the distressed coal mines in the Herminie Mine District, and to pay for the cost of such work, for the express purpose of providing employment for the coal miners of said district; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Department of Health and the Department of Mines of this Commonwealth by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

By Messrs. HOLLAND and TAYLOR.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 19.

In the House of Representatives, February 11, 1941.

Whereas, December 15, 1941 will be the 150th anniversary of the adoption of the Bill of Rights embodied in the Constitution of the United States as its first ten amendments, and

Whereas, This date, which is ordinarily significant, assumes unusual importance at this particular period in the history of our Nation and of the world, when those fundamental rights are threatened by totalitarian forces abroad and their sympathizers at home, and

Whereas, The American Legion and other veterans' and patriotic organizations and citizens have petitioned this General Assembly to urge suitable action to encourage the promotion of widespread observance of the anniversary, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to designate December 15, 1941 as a national holiday and authorize the appointment of a Bill of Rights Sesqui-Centennial Commission to sponsor appropriate ceremonies and celebrations upon that day, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, each of the presiding officers of the two branches in Congress and to each United States senator and member from this Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

By Mr. BROWN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 20.

In the House of Representatives, February 11, 1941.

Whereas, A controversy has arisen among some of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and the County Court of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, relative to the amount of cases disposed of by the County Court of Allegheny County; and

Whereas, It has been suggested by a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas as well as by many of the attorneys practicing before said Court in the County of Allegheny, that to increase the number of Judges in the Court of Common Pleas is the only remedy whereby said Court can take care of the large number of cases coming before it; and

Whereas, It has been suggested that certain legislation be presented to the General Assembly, the intent of which will be to modernize the Court of Common Pleas; and more clearly define the function of the Allegheny County Court; and

Whereas, In order for the General Assembly to ascertain correctly the facts concerning the controversy now existing between certain Judges of the Courts herein mentioned, it is necessary that an impartial investigation of said allegations be made; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That this General Assembly authorizes the appointment of a joint legislative committee composed of two members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and two members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate; and one member appointed by the President of the Allegheny County Bar Association to make investigation of the allegations concerning the increase in the number of Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, to ascertain whether or not the County Court should be abolished or the number of Judges decreased; and to ascertain such other facts bearing on whether or not legislation is needed in order that the said Courts may function more efficiently. The said joint committee shall have the power to hold such hearings in Allegheny County as are necessary, and shall report its findings to this Session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

By Mr. McINTOSH and BAUGHER.

RESOLUTION No. 21.

In the House of Representatives, February 11, 1941.

Whereas, The farmers of Adams County, Cumberland County and York County have asserted their right to resist unwarranted attempts to deprive them of low electric rates; and

Whereas, Said farmers have shown unusual courage, resourcefulness and solidarity of purpose in a long night vigil and by concerted action have resisted the attempt of the power interests to deprive them of an agency which would afford them low electric light rates; and

Whereas, Said farmers have been refused and denied the benefits of electric power and light at reasonable rates for many years; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of Governor George H. Earle gave to the farmers of Pennsylvania the model Rural Electrification Act of 1937; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt gave to the farmers of the nation the rural electrification administration for the purpose of establishing a method of securing electric light and power at low rates; now therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives this day assembled at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, hereby renews its pledge of cooperation with the farmers of the State of Pennsylvania in an effort to secure for them an extension of rural electrification; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby pledges to resist and to defeat any attempt to destroy or minimize the benefits of the Rural Electrification Act of the 1937 Session.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

By Mr. CORDIER. RESOLUTION No. 22.

In the House of Representatives, February 11, 1941.

Whereas, It is recognized that the right of any individual, under the Constitution of the United States, to exercise freedom of thought and of expression shall not be abridged so long as that right does not transcend upon the right of any other individual, and that no minority, regardless how small, shall suffer discrimination politically or economically; and

Whereas, It is likewise recognized that it is not within the intent or the purpose of the "Bill of Rights" to shelter any individual or group of individuals whose determination it is to subvert or sabotage the Constitution of the United States; and

Whereas, Any moneys paid out of the public funds as salaries, compensation, or relief, should be construed as aiding and abetting the purpose of such individual, so engaged while receiving such funds; therefore be it

Resolved, That such legislation be enacted as will make it mandatory to remove from the payroll of this Commonwealth, or any subdivision thereof, and to prohibit the payment of any public funds, to any individual who shall have been indisputably proven to be an agent of subversive propoganda, and/or does subscribe to any doctrine inimicable to that form of government which it is now our privilege to enjoy under the Constitution of the United States, and/or which doctrine proposes the change of that form of government by any means not provided for under the Constitution (to wit: violence or sabotage), or who does participate in, or is a party to any movement sponsored by, financed in whole or in part, or is in any sense directed by any government other than our own, or any agent of such foreign government.

Referred to Committee on State Government.

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

RESOLUTION No. 1

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 1, Printer's No. 2.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1941.

Whereas, In the mining industry many thousands of lives have been needlessly lost because of inadequate safety controls and these deaths might have been prevented by the passage of a law providing for the federal inspection of mines; and

Whereas, A federal mine inspection bill has been passed by the Senate of the United States but blocked in the House Committee of Mines and Mining; and

Whereas, During the time this measure has been blocked there have been some 1,530 miners killed in mine disasters, leaving behind them their widows and orphans; and

Whereas, In the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the time this measure has been blocked a number of mine disasters have occurred which are directly attributable to lack of adequate mine inspection; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania hereby memoralize the Congress of the United States to approve the Federal Mine Inspection bill; be it also

Resolved, That one copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of the following:

The President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Vice President, Henry A. Wallace, President of the United States Senate.

Speaker Rayburn, House of Representatives.

Senator Joseph Guffey.

Senator James P. Davis.

All members of the House delegation from Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

QUESTION OF INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is this a joint resolution?

The SPEAKER. This is not a concurrent resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to advise that forms for calling Committee meetings have been furnished to Committee Chairmen. Please use them in sending Committee announcements to the desk.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

The following Committee meetings were announced:

Cities-Third Class, Wednesday, Feb. 12 at 11 a. m. in Room 325.

There will be an important caucus of the Rural Democratic Members immediately after adjournment today in Room 326.

INTERROGATION

Mr. MORAN. I would like to inquire what are rural members?

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests that the gentleman from Allegheny interrogate a rural member to find out.

Mr. MORAN. I figure I am a rural member myself. But anyone that comes from Philadelphia or Allegheny County regardless of whether they are members or not, are not considered rural members, so I do not know whether I should attend this meeting or not.

The SPEAKER. Let the gentleman's conscience be his guide.

Mr. JAMES. Inasmuch as the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Moran has professed to be a rural Member, I would like to interrogate him.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I will yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, if he wants to be interrogated. However, I would like to make an announcement prior to adjournment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins.

LINCOLN DAY

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that the Committee which has been appointed to arrange for the Lincoln Day celebration has arranged a very fine program for tomorrow. The program will commence promptly at twelve o'clock noon when the House meets.

Your committee has arranged to have Judge Musmanno from the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County address the House. Judge Musmanno is a former member of the House and a very able lawyer. In addition to that we have the Lincoln University Glee Club which will render several selections. I think the program will be a very fine one, and we would like all of the Members to be present promptly at twelve o'clock noon tomorrow.

INTERROGATION

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I am still very much interested in this proposed meeting of rural members.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I rise again to say that I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MORAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, since he has acknowledged that he is a rural Member, what are the requirements and the qualifications of a rural Member.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, well, I do not know. You do not have to be a Democrat to be a rural Member.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, if you do not have to be a Democrat to be a rural Member, whether or not a Republican can be a rural Member.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the interrogation of the gentleman from Delaware County, I would say if the Republican wants to be a rural Member he probably could.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not the Republican rural Members will be welcome to this meeting which is proposed.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, not having control of this meeting that is to be convened, not knowing who the personnel of this committee is, nor what a rural Member is, since nobody has defined it to me as yet, I am unable to answer the question of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, as a member of this House and entitled to participate in all proper proceedings, and not knowing in this instance whether I am qualified to attend the meeting which has been announced from the rostrum, I ask you, sir, to make the matter plain. Am I, as a member of this House from Delaware County, entitled to attend this meeting of rural Members?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that Mr. James would be eligible to attend that meeting if he would change his registration from Republican to Democratic.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HABERLEN, asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker of the House, as the gentlemen from Allegheny and Delaware Counties seem to be at odds as to what constitutes a rural member, and seem not to be able to agree, and as I happen to be a farmer myself, I would say, if either one of the gentlemen can produce two and one-half or three gallons of milk from some good cow, I would say he would be a rural Member.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER, asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this question as to what is a rural Member seems to have taxed the intelligence of the House. Mr. Moran said what he did not have to be, that is, he did not have to be a Democrat. The gentleman from Westmoreland said if he could produce milk he was a rural Member, but I know quite a lot of the members who have been here during the past sixteen years, since I have been a member, who could produce milk.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to correct an error.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the Chair exclude the gentleman from the floor?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver is out of order. The gentleman from Delaware has the floor.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, there isn't anything down in Beaver County except a few institutions. I have seen Members of this House, who were not from rural sections, you might say, whom you might call "city slickers," who could produce more milk than any of the farmers that I have ever seen. As a rural Member, a truly rural Member, as a dirty farmer who has a couple of acres that are not in production, and I could not get any checks out of the Government, although I have orchards that produced a few scrubby apples and some nuts which the squirrels eat mostly in the Fall, and the best crop of weeds you ever saw, I feel I am qualified to speak about rural Members.

I have been here for sixteen years and I have been the biennial crop known as the "rural bloc" which has had some strange memberships, some very suspicious looking people who called themselves rural Members. My definition after sixteen years of experience and my interpretation of what constitutes this animal known as a rural Member is this, and I want you to remember when I say this that I am a truly rural Member myself. If you do not believe it, come down with me and eat some sausage and scrapple, which will not be diluted with milk either. A rural Member is this: he is one who in the first place is suspicious of the "city slickers" from Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties, that they are going to take all of the money away from the Commonwealth. The rural Members do not believe in any taxation upon rural districts; they believe that all of the taxes should be placed upon Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties and all of the money spent in the rural districts, and therefore, he combines and forms a cooperative movement to see that all of the taxes are loaded on urban districts and that all of the money is spent in the rural districts. If you find a person that comes under that category, or one with that psychology, who comes to the Legislature, then you know who belongs to the rural bloc.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inquire of the gentleman from Delaware whether he used the expression, "dirty" farmer or "dirt" farmer.

Mr. TURNER. The gentleman leaves it to the interpretation of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The record will stand.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. NAGEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I still feel that it is my duty to correct a statement made by my good friend, the gentleman from Delaware. Now, whether this error is a technical error, a rhetorical error or a grammatical error, perhaps I, being a dirt farmer, am not able to determine, but you will recall that when the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Haberlen, made his statement defining what a rural Member is, he said that a rural Member would be one who could produce two or three gallons of milk, if I recall correctly, from a cow, and in that event, he would be eligible to call himself a rural Member. But my good friend from Delaware said or intimated that a rural Member is one who could produce two or three gallons of milk, but did not include the words, "from a cow." Now then, if the Republican Members are such creatures surely we have added a new species to our fauna.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I accept the indictment of the gentleman from Beaver. It was no misstatement because he should know from his past association in this House that the Republican Members on this side are filled with the milk of kindness.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 12, 1941, at 12 o'clock noon.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 2:32 p. m.) the House adjourned.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1941. No. 9.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, February 12, 1941.

The House met at 12 noon.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

O God of freedom, under thy guiding hand our Pilgrim Fathers crossed the sea. We rejoice that in thy spirit they founded upon this continent a nation dedicated to liberty, equality, and the brotherhood of man.

Thou hast not only given us a great inheritance but thou hast enriched us by noble lives, by men of clear vision, of high courage, of steadfast devotion to freedom and justice and truth.

Yea, Lord, today we think of Abraham Lincoln, not only as a great President, not only as a great emancipator, but as a man of prayer and of deep conviction for that which was right.

With our sincere thanks to thee, O God, for the great men of yesterday and the courageous leaders of today, there comes a petition for those of this House who are ill. May it please thee to look with favor upon Representative Finnerty as he lies in the hospital after his serious operation.

Satisfy our needs with thy love and blessing we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when on motion of Mr. Shepard, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the House the Chair will now declare a recess for the purpose of conducting Lincoln Memorial Services and invite the Chairman of the Committee on the part of the House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, to preside during these services.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL SERVICES

MR. SHEPARD PRESIDING

Mr. SHEPARD. I want to introduce the members of the committee. They will stand up as their names are called. Honorable L. Kenneth Harkins from Allegheny County; Honorable Albert L. O'Connor from Cambria County; Honorable Edwin M. Rhea from Allegheny County; and Honorable Edward M. Regan from Lackawana County.

First of all, we are here to honor our great martyred president, Abraham Lincoln. I think it is quite fitting that we should turn aside from our legislative duties and do honor to our President and great emancipator, Abraham Lincoln. It is also quite fitting that we should have here with us the Glee Club from Lincoln University, and an outstanding Jurist from Allegheny County, Judge Musmanno, to participate in the exercises.

I myself was born of slave parents and yet at the age of thirty-five, I was elected to the House of Representatives in this great state of Pennsylvania. Along with me in my district we have a peculiar combination, a real American combination; an Irish Catholic business man and a Jewish lawyer. We were all elected together in a district that is two-thirds white. That could not happen anywhere else. It happened only where democracy is safe. It is that kind of democracy that gives opportunities to all men, regardles of race, creed, or color, for which Abraham Lincoln lived and died. May I say that as a tribute to the liberality of the state of Pennsylvania just a few years ago when a bill was presented in this House to appropriate the sum of fifty-thousand dollars to the university that bears the name of Abraham Lincoln, especially for the education of the Negro youth, that bill passed the House and Senate. It was voted for by both Democrats and Republicans, without a dissenting vote. It is something of a tribute that we should want to pay to the members of the Legislature.

We have with us a gentleman that we all want to know, some of us do know him, and Representative Rhea will present him for a few remarks at this time.

Mr. RHEA. We are very pleased to have with us today, the Glee Club from Lincoln University but before we hear from them I would like to ask the President of Lincoln University to say a few words, Dr. W. L. Wright.

ADDRESS BY DR. W. L. WRIGHT

Dr. WRIGHT. Mr. Chairman, we from Lincoln University appreciate the opportunity to be here this morning. We represent one of the oldest educational institutions in Pennsylvania, because back in the days before the Civil War when there was no place where colored boys could get an education, some men down in Chester County decided that they would establish such an institution under the name of Ashland University. They established that institution and after the Civil War it was renamed Lincoln University.

These young men that are here this morning represent a group of four hundred negro men getting something of the same opportunity here in Pennsylvania that our white citizens get. The men who are here, are under the direction of Professor Dorsey. They are representative of that group and I think you will recognize they represent not only Lincoln University, but they represent half a million negro citizens in the State of Pennsylvania, a population that has increased by leaps and bounds so that Pennsylvania has the largest negro population of any state north of the Mason Dixon Line. This population is here to stay and all of us in Pennsylvania, colored and white citizens of Pennsylvania working out our future. These young men I present this morning are as good and loyal Americans as any of us. All we are asking is that it shall be a land of real democracy, of real opportunity, where every man born under the American flag shall have an opportunity to work out his own destiny and his own life. We present them this morning. Thank you for the opportunity to be here.

Selections by Lincoln University Glee Club.

Mr. SHEPARD. I present Honorable Kenneth L. Harkins, of Allegheny County, who will present our principal speaker.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Chairman, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, a pleasant duty has fallen to me as a member of the Committee arranging for the celebration of Lincoln's Birthday, that of presenting the gentleman who will deliver the principal address.

To some of the Members, Judge Musmanno is known as a former Member of the House of Representatives, who during his two terms here fought for the abolition of the Coal and Iron Police. To the people of Allegheny County he is known as a former judge of the Court of Allegheny County. He was elected as a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County in 1933, receiving the highest number of votes cast for any candidate in a closely contested election in Allegheny County.

To the people of the state of Pennsylvania and to the nation, he is known as a scholar, an author and an orator of national fame. Judge Musmanno was honored by a resolution of Congress, adopted unanimously, because of his treatise on the Federal Constitution which was published as a public document. His dramatic and artistic accomplishments are shown in the novel and moving picture "Black Fury" of which he is the author. The story of which is woven about coal mines, a moving picture of which was shown in this Hall in 1935.

Judge Musmanno was the first person who was invited by the Lincoln Fellowship Organization to deliver the Gettysburg Address on the battle field itself. He was the first person who was not present at the original delivery of that address by President Lincoln. I understand the Judge will touch upon Lincoln's life as a member of the Illinois Legislature and perhaps he may give us the Gettysburg Address. I know we will be favored if it happens that he shall make that a part of his address.

Members of the House I give you the orator of the occasion, Honorable M. A. Musmanno, former Member of this House, crusading liberal, dramatist, author and Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County.

ADDRESS OF JUDGE MICHAEL A. MUSMANNO

JUDGE MICHAEL A. MUSMANNO: Mr. Chairman of the Lincoln Commemorative Exercises, Mr. Speaker of the House of Representatives and Members of the House of Representatives and Ladies and Gentlemen.

It requires an almost superhuman effort on my part to address this House, of which I was once a member, and not be overwhelmed by sentiment. Here I began my journey on the road of public affairs, here I spent one of the most momentous and exciting periods of my life and here I formed cherished friendships. Some of the friends of that happy association now follow different pursuits, a very few are still in the Capitol, some of my associates here in the Lower House have been elevated to the Upper House, and some have risen to the Highest House of all, the spiritual domain of the after world where one day we will all answer to the Roll Call in the enactment of the Tenure Bill for Eternity.

I would be something less than human if I could contemplate the change in the view which greets my eyes from what it was in 1929 and not sense an emotion of some kind. Of sadness? Of happiness? Well not of happiness. Though I have been busy with my work ever since I left here, though I have sought through the medium at my command to achieve a greater justice for all those coming within the orbit of my activities, I doubt that I will ever surpass, indeed ever equal the enthusiasm with which I became a member of this legislative body.

I recall with what excitement here in this vast hall I took the oath of office on January 1, 1929 and with what fervor I resolved, rather naively perhaps, to remedy all the evils of the Commonwealth through legislation. One of the seasoned members, a veteran of many sessions, Clinton Sowers of Philadelphia, watched with interest the flow of bills I introduced for the improvement of the State government in general and the betterment of the life of all its citizens in particular. He noted my impatience and irritation at the delay in the passage of my measures, and he said: "Musmanno, don't be impetuous. You can't make over Pennsylvania in a day." I replied, "No, not in a day, but we ought to do it in a week!"

He commented: "I had the same ideas when I came here. Now if I can get a bill out of committee after three or four years I feel I am doing well."

And he probably spoke with greater prophecy than he realized. A bill which I introduced in 1929, and which, if I may be pardoned for the reference, I am proud to have associated with my name, was not placed on the statute books until 1935.

The man in whose memory we have met here today introduced a measure in the Illinois Legislature in 1837, looking toward the eradication from American life of its greatest curse—slavery. It was not until 28 years later, after his resolution had passed through the legislative fires of a civil war, that it was enacted into law of the land. This bill, written with the ink of his crusading spirit, had to be printed on the battlefields of the nation with the printing press of cannons and gatling guns, and then, after passing both houses of the North and the South, it was signed by him with the blood from his dying heart. The resulting law—the law of liberty for all Americans—is now one which no president or governor can veto, which no legislative body can repeal, which time cannot change, nor circumstances alter or amend. It is written into the soul of America, it is part of the very fibre of our national existence. Liberty—and with it, Union. One and inseparable. Now and forever.

We owe to Abraham Lincoln more than to any other man in the history of America, the security which we enjoy today from aggression from without and dissension from within. If Lincoln had been a less determined person than he was, if he had allowed expediency to conquer over principles. we would not now have the present United States of America.

Up until the Civil War the United States was considered abroad as a mere experiment in government. European nations regarded this nation as a loose aggregation of sovereignties which would join together and later dissolve as so many of the European countries did. But when under the inspired leadership of Abraham Lincoln the union of the American States was not only preserved but was made imperishable, every king, queen, prince and foreign potentate realized that the United States of America was not only a nation of the first rank but that it was destined to become, as it indeed it has now become, the greatest nation of all recorded history.

Had Lincoln been a less resolute man the United States Government would have perished. In the chaotic days preceding the fall of Sumter when States were falling from the Union like stars from the sky, President Buchanan declared that he was the last president the United States would ever have. Had the South prevailed in the contest at arms, the American States would have been relegated to the status of Balkan States.

With the North failing there would have been two nations: the United States of America and the Confederate States of America. Then as the South rebelled against the North, the West in time would have rebelled against the East, and we would then have had the nation quartered into the United States of the East, the United States of the West, the Confederate States of the East and the Confederate States of the West. And once the process of disintegration had gained momentum, we probably would have had still further divisions: the Gulf States would have desired to be a separate nation, so also the New England States, the Pacific States, the Rocky Mountain States and so on, until what was once a glorious family of dignified Commonwealths would have degenerated into a conglomeration of jealous, bickering and eternally fighting heterogeneous units.

And as in union there is strength, so in disunion there is weakness. This would have served as an invitation for European rulers to send their armies here on subjugating expeditions. And this is not mere fantasy. During the Civil War Napleon III sent an army to Mexico and there erected a throne for Maximilian. Immediately following the Civil War the United States sent an army to the Rio Grande and the French forces withdrew. If the Civil War had ended disastrously for the North, it is not unreasonable to suppose that, drunk with the success of the Mexican Expedition, the Napoleonic forces would have turned north and attempted to take over what had been theirs just before the days of Napoleon I. None of the other nations of Europe reverenced America to the extent that they would not glady have approved of an American invasion.

Thus, the winning of the Civil War did not mean only the emancipation of the slaves; it meant the emancipation for all time of America from Europe. And Abraham Lincoln was the superb figure, the transcendentally wise leader, the unparalleled statesman who preserved the Union, saved America and put into the skies of national perpetuity the eternal constellation of 48 stars that will shed its luster of enlightened justice over the civilized world for all time.

But today as I regard this House in nostalgic reverie I like to recall Abraham Lincoln not as the president, not as the commander-in-chief of invincible armies, but as the member of a legislature. In the apotheosis of his genius we today see a towering figure above us, a figure of proportions that no human being can parallel him, but there was a time when he was a legislator as you are legislators. There was a day when he answered roll calls, made motions, debated, sat at committee meetings, attended night sessions.

The capital of Illinois when Lincoln was first elected to the Legislature was in Vandalia. The capitol building was nothing like this structure. It was made of brick, the walls bulged, the plaster fell from the ceiling and dilapidation was conspicuous and menacing. Illumination was by candle light. Compare that building and its accommodations, or lack of them, with this commodious, magnificent, palatial structure, its brilliant, majestic chandeliers, its comfortable upholstery, its thickly carpeted floors and we may not feel so sorry for ourselves at the expenditure of any unusual energy required in the manning of the legislative machinery.

As a legislator Abraham Lincoln received $3.00 a day pay with privileges of ink, quills and stationery. He was rarely absent and never missed a roll call. Only once was there a substantial absence—and even when he returned there was spiritual absence although a physical presence. That was during the period of the greatest personal tragedy in his life—the death of Ann Rutledge. On days that the rain poured or the snow fell he was heard to mutter: "I cannot bear to think of the rain and storm beating upon her grave."

In Lincoln's second session he became the floor leader of his party and had the Whig party held the majority he would have been the Speaker of the House.

Those who think of Lincoln as a very mild, constantly forbearing man, humble to the point of cringing timidity entirely mistake the man. That he was modest and considerate, that he was entirely devoid of selfishness and egotism, cannot be gainsaid, but nothing could be further from fact than to assume that he was servile and submissive. Lincoln was a crusader, and a crusader does not travel about with stooped shoulders and a blushing countenance asking for the privilege to live.

Listen to this speech in the House of Representatives when an attempt was being made to have him vote for a measure he condemned on principle even though by voting for it he might further his own cause on some other measure.

"You may burn my body to ashes," Lincoln declared, his voice ringing in that tumble-down building, "and scatter them to the winds of heaven; you may drag my soul down to the regions of darkness and despair to be tormented forever; but you will never get me to support a measure which I believe to be wrong, although by doing so I may accomplish that which I believe to be right."

Nothing cringing about that.

The old state house being about to fall, a new structure was erected at a cost, according to the House Journal of 1836, of $16,378.22½, of which $5550 was paid by the state officers out of the contingent fund, $450 by individual subscriptions, leaving $10,378.22½ unpaid. You would think that someone might have at least paid the half cent to make the bookkeeping easier.

Here are some odd facts about the Illinois Legislature of Lincoln's days which you might find interesting. Of the more than 100 legislative members of the House and Senate, not one had been born in Illinois. This was true also of the members of the Supreme Court. Thos. C. Brown of the Supreme Court is referred to in Beveridge's Life of Lincoln as a judge "who never refused nor offered a drink." James Shields, state senator in Illinois, later became a senator of the United States from three different states.

In the House with Lincoln sat the man who was his most formidable adversary in debate, who was to become a rival for the hand of his wife, an opponent for a seat in the United States Senate and his adversary for the Presidency of the United States—Stephen A. Douglas.

There was seriousness in that Legislature. Grave problems were being resolved, a great commonwealth was in the making, a greater nation, of which it was a part, was being formed. But the members were not always serious. At times they were very convivial and now and then a member was too drunk to debate well. A tavern close to the capitol advertised that it was ready to serve to the members of the Legislature at any hour of the day or night "Fried ham, turkeys, grouse, or prairie chicken, partridges, venison, pigs' feet, tripe, sausages, oysters, mackerel, herring and crackers: Coffee, tea, and soups together with many other nicknames unmentionable: hot punch, egg nogg, etc., at any time: all of which will be afforded with great goodwill and on the most accommodating terms. They have also on hand and for sale Best teas, loaf and brown sugars, tobacco, oranges, lemons, figs, lobsters, olives, mushrooms, walnut and tomato pickles, ketchups, rochelle, cherry, champaigne, cognacs, peach, American and other brandies; claret, teneriffe, sherry, dry, brown, port, malaga and madeira wines; Seidlitz and Soda Powders; Fire crackers, etc., etc."

On December 2, 1840, Lincoln introduced and obtained the passage of a resolution which became the foundation of the present school system in Illinois. It provided for the examination of persons offering themselves as school teachers; it made of education a system, and took it out of the realm of chance and favor.

He was one of the very first of public men to announce for woman suffrage.

In 1837, more through the efforts of Lincoln than any other single legislator, the capitol of Illinois was moved to Springfield and Lincoln took up residence in that metropolis of 1500 souls. The population of Vandalia had been 800, including the children.

In Springfield until the new capitol building was erected the legislature was housed ecclesiastically. The House held its sessions in the Second Presbyterian Church, the Senate met in the Methodist Church, while the Supreme Court sat in the Episcopal Church.

One who studies Lincoln's career in the Illinois Legislature can come to but one conclusion and that is that he was a statesman long before he became president. It had been the custom of biographers and eulogists to write down Lincoln's early days and to picture him as a coarse, ill-educated, uncultered man thrown by the rarest chance into the highest office in the land and that, there, through the expansiveness of his soul he developed overnight the genius of statecraft. This is all wrong. It was the years of seasoning, the grappling with the problems of the tumultous, pioneering people growing into the Commonwealth of Illinois which prepared him for the task of carrying the destinies of the people of the great Commonwealth of the United States. Allowing for his friendly manner and for a certain physical awkardness I am ready to say that with the exception of Thomas Jefferson a no more truly educated and cultured man of soul and intellect ever entered t White House than Abraham Lincoln.

Lincoln was strictly honest with himself. In a spee in the Legislature he condemned politicians, saying t they are "a set of men who have interests aside from t interests of the people, and who, to say the most of the are, taken as a mass, at least one long step removed fr honest men." And then he added that he meant nothi personal, since he was a politician himself.

It was during the days of his legislative career that L coln faced the most difficult problem of his private life

On January 1, 1841, the House of Representatives met session. At his place sat Abraham Lincoln. Rather the m sitting there looked like Abraham Lincoln. Tall, slend black haired, bettle browed. But the expression in the fa of this man was not that of the legislator from Sangam County. The eyes were not the eyes of the man who h battled for the Internal Improvement Bill, who had foug against tampering with the judiciary, who had skillfu maneuvered through both houses the bill transferring t capitol from Vandalia to Springfield. This was but t shell of that man. The face was but the mask of Abraha Lincoln. There was no spirit in that mask, no soul in th shell, no sparkle in those eyes.

A debate sprang up. The Whigs and the Democrats we at swords points on a highly controversial bill. The Whi looked to Lincoln for guidance. He merely sat. He glanc neither to the right nor to the left. The members n forgot him, he was but a carved figure on one of the bench The debate became a storm. Roll calls pattered like h in a wind. The light in Abraham Lincoln's eyes was s subdued; it did not even flicker in the gale of the vo cyclone raging about him.

In another section of the City of Springfield a you lady waited by a floral altar. She wore a bridal gown. H lips muttered: "Abraham." A minister stood by. Seve relatives waited with her. Anxiously they shot glanc out into the street for a familiar, tall, ungainly form. H the familiar awkward footsteps did not fall to disturb t snow flakes which orderly, systematically and harmonious were weaving a carpet of white on the street and on t lawn.

This was Abraham Lincoln's wedding day, but Abraha Lincoln was absent.

In the House of Representatives he was physically pre ent, but still absent. The fury of the debate had subside the vote had been recorded. The still figure stirred, slow rose and said: "Mr. Speaker, I move we adjourn."

But the youth of Abraham Lincoln, the spontaneo cheer of Abraham Lincoln had adjourned at the begi ning of that day. He had made a promise and failed keep it. He had pledged to marry a woman and n he knew he did not love her. His heart was there the banks of the Sangamon River with Ann Rutledg He could not be a hypocrite. He could not marry Ma Todd and let her believe he loved her when he knew did not. Not long after he wrote a letter to his frie John T. Stuart in which he said: 'I am now the m miserable man living. If what I feel were equally d tributed to the whole human family, there would not one cheerful face on the earth. Whether I shall ever better, I cannot tell; I awfully forbode I shall not. remain as I am is impossible; I must die or be better appears to me."

He wrote an article for the local newspaper entitl

"Meditations on Suicide." The editor of the newspaper, "The Sagamon Journal," urged Lincoln into writing other articles seeing in this an outlet for his hypochondria. Lincoln acceded to the request. Essays, political articles, poems flowed from his pen. He decided to put his hand to literary cartoons. In lively satire he lampooned James Shields who was state auditor and who had issued an order that certain paper money of which the people had more than they had of silver or gold money, would not be taken by the state government for taxes. Shields bitterly resented the attack and challenged Lincoln to a duel. Lincoln accepted the challenge. It fitted into his mood perfectly. It even bestirred his humor which had lain dormant since the weddingless wedding day. Riding in a rowboat to the duelling ground Lincoln said he was reminded of the time a Kentuckian enlisted for the War of 1812. The sweetheart of the soldier told him she was embroidering a bullet pouch and belt for him to wear in battle and she would stitch in the words, "Victory or Death." He asked her, "Ain't that rather too strong? Suppose you put 'Victory or Be Crippled'!"

Arrived at the duelling grounds cooler heads intervened between the antagonists, an amicable agreement was reached and the duel was called off.

In November, 1842, Lincoln married Mary Todd. From that time on it would seem that melancholy became an indelible part of his nature. Even after he achieved his highest ambition—he had become the President of the United States—he wrote:

"I had my ambitions—yes—as every American boy worth his salt has. And I dared to dream this vision of the White House,—I, the humblest of the humble, born in a lowly pioneer's cabin in the woods of Kentucky. My dream came true, and where is its glory? Ashes and blood. I have lived with aching heart through it all and envied the dead their rest on the battlefields."

This man of courageous heart and crusading spirit but of a gentle heart had been thrown into the cauldron of a civil war. This kind, tender, merciful man who could not bear to see a dumb beast suffer had become the head of a military machine which it became his duty to order out on to the field to kill and be killed. But the military machine was made up of boys.

The Civil War was a war fought by youth. Over 2,000,000 were under 21 years of age; a million not even 18, 800,000 less than 17; 200,000 had not reached 16, while 100,000 less than 15 years of age were standing on the battle lines under the Stars and Stripes.

For Lincoln, the world of beauty, of unfailing loyalties, of harmony had fallen apart. The sympathies of Mary Todd Lincoln, the woman to whom he had pledged undying fealty and who had equally pledged herself to him, were with the South. Her husband commanded the army fitted against the army in which her two brothers were soldiers. The husband of her sister was a general in the Confederate Army.

To whom could Lincoln turn for solace in the tidal flow of blood which was the Civil War?

Secretary of War Stanton relates how after the sanguinary Battle of Chancellorville with its frightful slaughter Lincoln, upon hearing the news, threw up his hands and exclaimed: "My God! Stanton, our cause is lost! We are ruined—we are ruined; and such a fearful loss of life! My God! this is more than I can endure!" He trembled, his face a ghastly hue, cold perspiration standing out on his brow. He paced the floor and then said: "If I am not about early tomorrow do not send for me, nor allow any one to disturb me. Defeated again, and so many of our noble countrymen killed!"

Lincoln had made up his mind that night to end his life, but as he strode down to the Potomac River, there to throw himself into the water, there came to his mind a speech which he had made in the Legislature 23 years before. "It may be true," he had said, "many free countries have lost their liberty, and ours may lose hers; but if she shall, be it my proudest plume, not that I was the last to desert, but that I never deserted her. . . . All may be swept away. Broken by it I, too, may be; bow to it I never will. Prospective defeat shall not deter me. If ever I feel the soul within me elevate and expand to those dimensions not wholly unworthy of its almighty Architect, it is when I contemplate the cause of my country, deserted by all the world beside, and I standing up boldly and alone, and hurling defiance at her victorious oppressors. Here, without contemplating consequences, before high heaven and in the face of the world, I swear eternal fidelity to the just cause, as I deem it, of the land of my life, my liberty, and my love."

Thus on that night in 1863, a cold rain dashing in his face, a pledge which he had registered over a score of years before in the halls of the Legislature but more accurately in the chamber of his soul came back to save his life and save his country.

It has been truly said of Lincoln that no American ever held more power and no one abused that power less, except in behalf of mercy. An old man comes to Lincoln pleading for his son who has been courtmartialled to be shot for falling asleep while on sentinel duty. Lincoln writes out an order: "Job Smith is not to be shot until further orders from me—Abraham Lincoln." The old man expresses disappointment: "But, Mr. President, you may order him to be shot next week." The President rejoins: "My friend, I see you are not very well acquainted with me. If your son never dies till orders come from me to shoot him, he will live to be a great deal older than Methuselah."

General Butler telegraphs Lincoln: "President Lincoln I pray you not to interfere with the courts-martial of the army. You will destroy all discipline among our soldiers."

A congressman calls at the White House in the middle of the night. He fears the President will be angry at his being disturbed at this late hour. He sees the President and says: "I am sorry I must disturb you. This young soldier," proferring his name and regiment, "is sentenced to be shot tomorrow morning!" "Well," drawls the President, "I do not believe that shooting will do him any good. Here let me telegraph a reprieve and then we'll see what it is all about."

His intimate friend Joshua Speed, witnessing one of these scenes of supplications of mercy, protests to Lincoln that he is wearing himself out.

"Yes, you are to a certain degree right," Lincoln agrees, "I ought not to undergo what I so often do. I am very unwell now; my feet and hands of late seem to be always cold, and I ought perhaps to be in bed; but things of the sort you have seen don't hurt me, to tell you the truth, that scene is the only thing today that has made me forget my condition or given me any pleasure. . . . Speed, die when I may, I want it said of me by those who know me best, that I always plucked a thistle and planted a flower when I thought a flower would grow."

On November 19, 1939, it was my great honor to stand in the Gettysburg Cemetery and there repeat the Gettysburg Address 76 years after its original delivery. I stood on the very spot hallowed by the steps of the Great Emancipator at the time of the dedication of the cemetery. No single event reveals Abraham Lincoln more than that Gettysburg Address.

Libraries have been filled with books, articles and stories on this speech. Historians, statesmen, authors, playwrights, rhetoricians, and professors of English have analyzed, scrutinized, dissected and X-rayed the 266 word utterance. They have examined, fathomed and probed its every word, syllable, semi-colon and comma. They have ascribed to it literary, poetic, political, governmental, sectional and partisan significance. They have read Lincoln's mind in its preparation and delivery. But most of them have overlooked the one simple obvious fact, and that is that the speech was delivered in a cemetery about a cemetery; it was delivered in a graveyard, in a burial place of the dead.

What was Lincoln thinking of when he spoke at Gettysburg? He was thinking of the dead, of those young men in the ground; of those bodies mutilated and torn mixing with the cold damp clods of the earth; he was thinking of mothers that would wait in vain for the song of a footstep whose music had died away for all time among those hills and valleys of Pennsylvania.

To the generals the Battle of Gettysburg was a gigantic game of chess, a superb contest of strategy; to statesmen it was a victory or defeat of some policy or course of political action. To Lincoln Gettysburg was a cemetery. To him the ceremonies on November 19, 1863, were not a band-playing, flag-waving celebration of victory, because in death there is no victory. Death is the supreme pathos, the ultimate in grief and sorrow. And if death be premature, divine Justice demands a reason. And in the depths of the wells of human sympathy Lincoln was seeking the reason as to why these thousands of boys had been slain and their bodies stored away in the clay and the mud of those Pennsylvania hills.

The key to the spirit of the Gettysburg Address is found in the letter written by Lincoln to Mrs. Bixby on learning that her five sons had been killed in battle. Her five boys—five young trees which supplied the sweetest fruits of companionship, love, joy and honor. These five trees were felled by the lightning blast of war; and that orchard of love and comfort became a bare spot of desolation and loneliness. I can picture Lincoln and the piercing agony in his soul as he dwells on this heart-shattering tragedy. As he paces the floor, there forms in his mind the letter we all know:

"Dear Madam:

I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,

A. Lincoln"

Equally I can visualize Lincoln there on the platform at Gettysburg on November 19, 1863. He is looking out not at the 15,000 spectators, he is listening not to the martial airs of the bands nor to the polished utterances of the official orator, Edward Everett. He is looking out into the thousands of homes that have an empty chair, an empty bed and an empty heart. He sees the cradle in which the child had played, the fields in which the boy had worked, and the gate through which the youth passed on his way to war. And now he sees that lad's mother standing by that gate staring down the road knowing that its dust will never again be kicked into jolly clouds by the feet of her boy; she knows that the hinges of that gate will never again merrily laugh a welcome to her son. That son, slashed with sword and bayonet and weighted with lead and shrapnel lies there in the ground at Lincoln's feet.

On the platform Lincoln, with hat over his eyes, sits in melancholic reverie. Suddenly he is startled to hear the chairman announce: "The President of the United States." Confusedly he stands up and shuffles to the front of the platform. He sees no audience, there is no ceremony, he sees only these boys in the ground and their mothers at home; and in his anguished soul he seeks to resolve the night of sadness into the star of hope. He looks out at the horizon which is the finger of God writing in the skies, and from his lips there fall these words:

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here; but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. NAGEL (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 23.

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1941.

Whereas, It appears that certain corporations chartered by the Government of the United States, or by the several states and having their main places of business within the United States, have entered into secret agreements with corporations and individuals outside the United States and with foreign governments ostensibly for the purpose of curtailing production and the maintenance of exorbinant prices and monopolies; and

Whereas, Such practice is contrary to the welfare and best interests of the citizens of the United States and the several states, and has seriously impeded the program of our national defense; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Congress of the United States be memorialized to compel, by proper congressional action, all American corporations to file copies of all agreements made by them with foreign individuals, corporations and governments, in the Federal Department of State and the Federal Department of Commerce and with the Departments of State of all states in which they make contributions for unemployment compensation, and to require that all such agreements shall be open at all reasonable times for public inspection, and that adequate penalties be provided for the violation of such requirements; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of Congress and to each United States Senator and Congressman from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. BENTZEL and MOUL RESOLUTION No. 24.

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1941.

Whereas, The General Assembly by Act No. 4, approved May 16, 1940, transfererd certain moneys from the Fire Insurance Tax Fund to the General Fund; and

Whereas, Under the provisions of the act aforesaid, the Fire Insurance Tax Fund was to be reimbursed not later than June 30, 1941; and

Whereas, Legislation has been introduced to prevent further transfer of moneys collected and deposited in the Fire Insurance Tax Fund to the General Fund; and

Whereas, These funds can now be used for the benefit and relief of all firemen and volunteer firemen in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, Retaining such unexpended funds in the said Fire Insurance Tax Fund would be consistent with the best public policy of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives request the Governor to refrain from making any expenditure of the funds now deposited in the Fire Insurance Tax Fund until legislation accomplishing this purpose is enacted by the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

COMMUNICATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication.

VETERAN CREDITS

A communication from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Pennsylvania, in answer to a public address by Howard L. Russell, Secretary of Public Assistance and requesting that he be required to appear before a committee to investigate statements made by him.

Referred to the Committee on Welfare.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Falkenstein for Mr. SAMUEL ROSE for the remainder of the week on account of death in the family.

Mr. Shepard for Mr. FINNERTY on account of illness.

Mr. Leisey for Mr. GYGER and Mr. RANK for today's session.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as amended, House Bill No. 11, entitled:

An Act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the "Pennsylvania Board of Parole"; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions, including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employees; dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employees thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors; providing penalties therefor and for other cognate purposes; and making an appropriation.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 152, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the thirteenth day of May; one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred eighty-four) entitled "An act relating to transactions between a person acting on his own behalf and the same person acting jointly with others, and to make uniform the law relating thereto," by authorizing conveyances from either husband or wife to husband and wife as tenants by the entireties.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 228, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act, approved the fourteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred forty-one), entitled, as amended, "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined; requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigaretttes at wholsesale and retail to secure permits; prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue, and persons, as herein defined, engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale; and providing penalties," as previously reenacted and amended, by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time.

The first section was read by the Clerk.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The Clerk proceeded to read the amendments.

AMENDMENTS LAID ON TABLE

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the amendments offered by me be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

AMENDMENTS TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Winner, be taken from the table.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 228, together with the amendments be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman whether he expects to make similar motions as to the other tax bills now on the calendar.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether the gentleman is making the motion under the direction of the Ways and Means Committee; in other words when the bills were reported out were they reported out for two readings, or was there nothing said until now about the readings?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand, of course I didn't attend the meetings of the Ways and Means Committee, and second I don't know whether I would have been permitted to divulge that information had I done so. However, in as much as I did not attend the meeting, I do not believe there was discussion in the committee as to how long they should remain on the calendar or whether they should or should not be returned. My motion is made on behalf of our party.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I want to continue the interrogation but as a comment on what has been said by the gentleman from Monroe, I would just like to state that the point I was trying to bring out, as he well knows, the Committee usually reports all bills brought out for two readings with the understanding in the Committee that they be returned at that time.

I was just trying to find out if that was the case in this instance, and whether anything was said in Committee about the readings and whether this motion is made at the direction of the Ways and Means Committee.

I would like to interrogate further, and ask the gentleman whether it was the intention of the party at the time the bills were reported out that they be returned after two readings?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we merely wished to report the bills out for the purpose of calling to the public's attention that the tax measures have been introduced. We are interested, of course, in getting the public's reaction to the tax measures as introduced, and the procedure that we are following now is a very, very common procedure that has been followed in this House for many years, of reporting legislation, subsequently re-committing it and giving the public an opportunity of contacting the Legislature to express their opinion.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has skirted the question very well without answering it. If he desires to refuse to answer it I wish that he would say that he refuses to answer, but I would like to know if it was the intention of the majority party of this House when the measure was reported out the Committee to re-commit it after two readings.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it was the intention of the majority party to have it reported out, with the thought in mind that we would learn what the public thinks about it.

After all, we are interested in the opinion of the country. I trust that answers the gentleman's question.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman as to whether or not it is the result of the public's reaction that he is now sending it back or whether it was originally his intention to send it back.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I realize that the gentleman would like to answer questions as well as ask them. However, may I again repeat that we are following a procedure that has been common in this house of reporting legislation out, returning it to committee, and giving, of course, the public an ample opportunity to express themselves to us.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman were in court I would ask the Judge to require him to answer the question yes or no and then explain, but inasmuch as the gentleman is not in court I cannot do that. I would suggest, however, that the gentleman do answer yes or no and then explain. I will still ask him whether or not he will answer my question and then explain or whether he still refuses to answer the question.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the gentleman wants me to answer yes or no? If he does I can say "yes or no."

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I think we all understand now that the gentleman does not desire to answer the question that I put to him. I would like the gentleman to explain the reason for referring the bill back to the Committee at this time, if he will, please.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I will be delighted to, Mr. Speaker. This motion, Mr. Speaker, and the motion I intend to make on the subsequent tax measures at first blus,—and I can understand that that possibly is the motivating reason for the questions by the gentleman from Dauphin,—since they are tax measures that we all know and as the gentleman knows have been the law of this state for six years, and will undoubtedly be the law for two more years, even though they did say here two years ago that it would cease. You will say of course, "why return them for further study", but tax measures are a bit different than an individual computing his income. We know reasonably well that these tax measures will yield. I think we can compute it safely, so that, as I stated before, perhaps there would be no reason for returning these amendments for study except that in this instance tax measures are coupled with expenditures. By that I mean that we levy taxes only for the purpose of operating the government. We could scarcely justify ourselves for levying taxes in excess of needs. In this instance these tax measures are completely entwined with the budget. Now then, it is the budget that really needs the study, and we should not send from this House the tax measurers until we find that there is justification for the items that appear in the budget.

I do not intend to go into an extensive detail about the budget, but I will point out just a few items and assure the gentleman from Dauphin that there are many more items of a similar nature that need study. We heard the Governor stating in his message that the amount of relief that will be needed for the next two years is one hundred twenty million dollars. What the Department of Public Assitance may say is another story. I think the secretary, Mr. Russell, at one time said one hundred sixty-three milion dollars,—my memory may be faulty there,—and then I think at the request of somebody or other he reduced it a little, but his figures were somewhat higher. Certainly we ought to know whether it is one hundred twenty million dollars or one hundred sixty-three million dollars or whether it is one hundred forty-eight million dollars, or what the figures may be.

Now, this is of importance in connection with it; the Governor after considerable figuring and considerable juggling, incidentally, comes to the point of saying, "I have got eleven million dollars left over, so we'll toss that back to relief."

Now, if he is right on his figure of one hundred twenty million dollars then there is no necessity to toss it back to relief. Then what should we do with the eleven million dollars? Should we have tax reduction or should we instead go to the postponements that he refers to? You will notice in his message that there are five certain governmental functions that he proposes to postpone. Shoud we spend eleven million dollars there, or should we accede to the request to postpone? It needs serious study, and the tax measures quite conceivably will play a large measure in what we finally decide should be done.

Then again there are other items, and these are curious items. Going over the increases that he is asking for various Departments, I think there are only three or four Departments that he couldn't conceive of a reason why there should not be an increase in their allowance. I wonder what those three or four departments did to offend the Governor? We expect to find out. Also we are going to find out why the increases, and when we find the story then we will know where we are going to drive with the taxes, but the two, Mr. Speaker, are so entwined, so interrelated that this House cannot intelligently go forward with a tax measure without ascertaining first what are the proper expenses for governmental affairs.

Secondly, how much it would cost to carry on all the esential and necessary governmental expenditures, not at the expense of any particular community, Mr. Speaker, but in fairness and in honesty to all of the people of the State of Pennsylvania? Why postponement? Why juggling of figures? We are going to have the answer before we leave, and then, Mr. Speaker, and only then will the tax measures be brought to the floor of this house for final passage.

I hope, Mr. Speaker, that I have made the position of our party clear, and the reason for our motion.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that is a rather long answer, and I would like to continue my interrogation.

I understand from the remarks that the gentleman made immediately after the Governor delivered his budget message, that he felt at that time that there was not sufficient tax revenue to meet the payment that ought to be met. Maybe I have misunderstood him, but I gather from some of the remarks that he made in the beginning of the answer to my question that he feels now that the revenues might be too much. I would like to ask the gentleman whether he feels, as the situation stands today, that one hundred thirty-one million dollars is too much, or not enough to be appropriated for relief during the next biennium.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to answer what I might term two questions, because the remarks made by the gentleman were predicated upon the assumption that I felt perhaps the revenue measures might produce too much money. I did not so state. I only stated that I felt that we knew reasonably well what the measures would produce, but unfortunately I do not know the justification for the figures contained in the budget. I do not know how much the Governor of Pennsylvania desires to squander moneys of the State. All I do know is that it is the largest budget that has ever been placed before any legislature of Pennsylvania, and I want a justification of those expenditures, and we propose doing what the Governor once promised to do we are going to wring out the waste, and if there are sufficient proceeds left over; of course we could reduce the taxes, but at least we do not intend to permit the Governor of Pennsylvania to continue maintaining an uneconomical administration and operation of our government. We do not propose to accept at face value the figures he submitted. Taxes can only be justified upon the basis of governmental expenditures, and we are going to find that those governmental expenditures must be justified to this House before we give him the taxes.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has said that we can reasonably well anticipate the amount of revenue which will be received from these tax measures. I understand from that, do I, that he considers the estimate as set forth in the budget approximately accurate?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we have accepted some things on faith from the Governor of Pennsylvania. We have hoped that we could accept the budget as he submitted it to us in good faith. Our studies to date have indicated that perhaps we should not. I am assuming at the present moment that the figures of anticipated revenues are correct. We have had little time to determine whether that is so or not. In other words we are going to be shown everything, that is, we will certainly check back the revenues, but I believe the figures at the moment at least are reasonably correct. If they are not, in due course of time we will tell the House of it. We certainly do not intend to pull any punches or mislead the members of this House.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, we don't want any punches pulled. We will be glad to furnish all the information that is available to the Administration, I am sure, to the gentleman on the other side in order that this problem may be solved to the best interest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

However, I would still like to know from the gentleman since he has suggested that they are going to go through the Departments, what purpose he expects to accomplish that would affect the amount of revenue that will be necessary. And may I call attention to the fact that the full allowance appropriated for the Department including many items such as six hundred thousand dollars to the occupational diseases division, are included in the total for the operation of the Department which is only twenty-nine million five hundred eighteen thousand dollars. May I also call his attention to the fact that there has already been a cut in salaries in this Commonwealth, salaries of employes of this state over two million seven hundred thousand dollars a year, and a consideration of that I am wondering where he expects to make any substantial cut in any appropriation to or any Department which would make any difference in the appropriations to the Departments or in the amount of estimated revenues.

Mr. ACHTERMAN: Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman is wondering I will let him wonder on this one: Just what explanation we are going to receive, why the administrative cost of relief is going up while the relief that is being given is going down? It is just those little things to which our party would like to know the answer: why administrative costs go up and the expenditure of money for relief decreases. There are many other departments where we have heard there are savings in salaries, but when we start to look for them, we cannot find them.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman included a statement that is not entirely accurate, but that is something that we would be glad to furnish him in detail. I would like to ask, however, whether he feels there is an obligation on the Commonwealth to pay back funds that have been borrowed from it, and whether that should not be paid back out of the general fund during the next biennium.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has forgotten back in 1940 the remarks I made on the floor of this House on the tapping of funds, and the highway robbery that existed in Pennsylvania, even though the magician said it was just taken out of his one pocket and put into another pocket; actually, you know, he got his hands into somebody else's pocket and I feel in honesty, Mr. Speaker, we should pay back; we should not steal.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that during the next biennium we ought at least make an effort not to have to borrow money in order to carry on, so that the Governor who he hopes will be Democratic and I hope will be a Republican, will not have to borrow money to tide him over the biennium as Governor James has had to do?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I can assure the gentleman first of all that we told him in 1940 what was going to happen if they started stealing funds and did not have the honesty to prepare to repay. We told them that many on the other side of the House would not be here. We told them it was going to cost them the state of Pennsylvania, and it did. And we are telling them now that it not only cost them the House but it is going to cost them the Governorship next year. That is a prediction, gentlemen, with as much accuracy and certainty as the prediction of 1940.

May I state in regard to the so-called deficit that the gentleman speaks of, I mentioned it after the Governor's budget message, that that deficit was much less than the magic figures that the Governor called in. Of course, the Governor has always had trouble to find out what the deficit was. He said first I think twenty-six million dollars, and then fifty million, and then I think just for good measure that the WPA short-changed him. The Governor just doesn't know, but any kind of figure that pops up in his mind, he introduces, and in due course of time we will prove to them that the deficit that he received from the Earle Administration was only a few million dollars and was considerably under the amount that Earle inherited from Pinchot, who I think the Gentleman will concede was a member of their party.

Now, certainly, since it is our intention, Mr. Speaker, of taking over the control of the State of Pennsylvania next year, we certainly are going to do our best to see that the budgets for the last two years are balanced so that we are not compelled to shoulder the weight that the Governor of Pennsylvania apparently is trying to shove upon us with this budget that he submitted just a short time ago. I hope I have answered all of the gentleman's questions.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, finding the answer to that question is very much like hunting a needle in a hay-stack. If the gentleman answered it was lost, at least to me, do I understand that the gentleman feels that this money which has been borrowed from the special funds in the past should in the biennium be paid directly out of the general fund, if that is possible?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. If possible, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Monroe feel that we should aim at this time and during this session toward establishing a budget for the next biennium that would in effect be balanced?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, not only balanced, but honest. By that I mean honest to the people of Pennsylvania, all of the people, and that we pay the bills that we owe, and above all that we return the money that we stole. In other words, balanced and honest.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe is making a lengthy speech and I would like to answer all of his points but if I did so we would be here all night. I understand from the gentleman's answer, and if I am wrong, I wish he would say so, he feels that the budget during the next biennium should be balanced, in other words out of that budget we should repay into the general fund all of the money which will be borrowed from special funds. Perhaps I had better start that all over again.

I understand the gentleman's answer to be that he feels that the budget for the biennium should be balanced and by balancing he means that out of it should be paid from the general fund to the special fund all the moneys which have been borrowed and will hereafter be borrowed from it during this biennium. Furthermore, that the budget be so written that as far as we are able to see at the present time it will not be necessary to borrow additional funds from any of the special funds during the next biennium, in other words, at the end of the next biennium, on May thirty-first, the books of the Commonwealth will be balanced. Does the gentleman consider that a proper aim? Does he consider it proper at this time that the budget should be arranged with that end in view?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I might say and I think the gentleman will concur with me, that that would be a very sound aim and that it should be our aim.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether the gentleman still feels that one hundred and thirty-one million dollars will not be sufficient money to carry on relief during the next biennium.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, one of the reason for sending these measures back to the Ways and Means Committee is the fact that we do not know. The Governor said one thing and Mr. Russell of the Department of Public Assistance said something else. The figures which are released from week to week tell us something different. What are we to believe, with everybody juggling figures who is in a position to know or should know, and none of them in accord? How can I answer that question? Whether or not I believe that is enough, too much or what the answer may be, it is impossible to answer. We do hope finally to get some responsible source to give us figures upon which we can rely. In other words what we are doing now has been caused by the mirage which has been placed before this House by the Department of Public Assistance and by the Governor himself. Certainly they should not now complain if we question who is right and decide we are going to find out. They should not complain of that action.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman realizes I think, that in the past relief has always been financed by putting all of the money which was not appropriated anywhere else into the relief appropriation, with the understanding always that it likely would not be enough, and a subsequent legislature, either at a special session or at the regular session at the end of the biennium, make an additional appropriation to meet the needs up to the end of the biennium. The gentleman realizes, I think full well, that it is impossible to estimate with any very great degree of accuracy what the relief needs will be six months ahead. It is doubly difficult two years ahead. I realize it has been impossible for him at this time and it will be impossible for him in April or May or June to give any accurate estimate as to the amount which will be needed for relief during the next biennium. I was interested in knowing whether the gentleman felt it was too much or too little or whether he was entirely up in the air about it.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 229, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws, one hundred forty-nine), entitled "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are ordinarily, practically, and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax, and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," by imposing and continuing the additional emergency tax on liquid fuels for a further limited period of time.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, for the reasons I have given before with reference to the prior bill, (House Bill No. 228), I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what is the purpose of recommitting this bill outside of the stated purpose of "further study."

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I feel that is a sufficient reason in itself.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is it for the same purpose as stated to the minority leader, to wit that they were not going to take up the bills until they knew something about the budget.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is it the purpose or hope of the gentleman that there will be some cut in taxes.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is impossible to state and the thought of recommitting was not with the thought that there was going to be any tax reduction, on the contrary taxes should only be levied to the extent needed for necessary governmental functions.

We necessarily feel that the two subjects are in effect one, although they are represented in a number of bills and we also feel that this House would be derelict in its duties if it passed tax measures without ascertaining whether their requests for expenditures were not proper requests. In other words we would saddle taxes on the people of Pennsylvania without learning whether they were proper for expenditures. I cannot see how we can move forward until we learn, first of all, and be satisfied with a solution as to the needs, and then and only then shall we move forward with the taxes.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Monroe does not expect to reduce the taxes then does he expect to increase taxes.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, first of all may I call to the gentleman's attention that here is an administration that has been dodging five very essential governmental functions at the expense of that portion of the state that can least afford it. We do, as good business men, propose finding out what it is going to cost to operate the state. We are not going to accept on face value the Governor's figures. We are going to stop this robbing, of one part of the State for the benefit of another part of the state.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it seems almost impossible to get an answer from the gentleman from Monroe without a speech which might very readily be answered, and I might in turn be answered by the gentleman from Monroe, because I have some recollections of some past bienniums and one in which the Earle Budget was five hundred and ten million dollars and when we finally wound up for the biennium it was somewhere around six hundred million dollars which we expended. That does not seem to be the issue at this time. While I am transgressing perhaps upon the parlimentary rule of inquiry, still the gentleman on the other side has so flagrantly transgressed that rule for over a half an hour, it seems to me I might be permitted to do so. I have listened to the gentleman on two or three occasions. He has wandered all over the map on political questions.

I have not had much chance to study the Budget but I did study it on Sunday night to some extent. It seems to me that the statements are correct and that the figures set forth are very clear and plain.

I would like to know just exactly just what is intended now. The gentleman from Monroe after that long discourse he has engaged in, has not told me whether he expects to increase taxes. The budget now provides for some one hundred thirty-one million dollars for relief, and the budget is based upon anticipated revenues from these tax measures and from the present tax program. The gentleman from Monroe Mr. Achterman, introduced a bill providing for two hundred and ten million dollars for relief. That would be eighty million dollars above the present amount provided for in the Governor's Budget for relief. If the gentleman from Monroe does not necessarily anticipate that we are going to be able to reduce taxes, then he actually raises the question of where he anticipates getting the money to take care of that eighty million dollars that he wants for relief.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, May I state that we have no anticipations. We do not know what we are going to find that this administration did. Goodness only knows and we don't know although all that we can promise him is that we are going to find out.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Monroe whether these provisions or functions of state government do not amount to about twenty-million dollars.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we are told by the Governor that that is correct.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any doubt?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, very frankly I do not know. There are so many other things we have found out, so that we will have to find this out for ourselves.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us what we found in the budget that is not so?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we have doubt about the one hundred and twenty million dollars for relief; we base that fact not only upon our own figures but on words what Mr. Russell has had to say. We have a Department head running out without consulting the Governor and we have the Governor running out without consulting a Department Head. We have complications. If that doubt is caused in our minds by the Republican Administration, why shouldn't we question it? It is the old rule of law if you find a witness not telling the truth in one instance you may disregard anything else he says.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman through with his speech.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am answering the gentleman's question but he might not like the answer.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the answer does not worry me one bit, because the answer to what he said is perfectly obvious. The question I asked him pertained to certain functions such as for instance transportation in school districts, high school tuition, and taking care of the insane. I think those are the three functions to which he refers. They amount to about twenty million dollars. If we take over that twenty million dollars and add eighty million dollars which he has added for relief, does the gentleman expect to be able to get that amount out of the operation and functions of the Government?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would not be surprised. If we continue our investigation of the subject. we may find sufficient waste, to initiate everyone of those needed governmental functions.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have a lot of personal friendship for the Majority leader, I have served with him on the floor of the House. I do not believe in any interrogation or debate that even what is purely in the mind of the gentleman from Monroe,—what will I say, a bit facetious. Because he knows as well as I know it does not cost one hundred million dollars in the ordinary operation of Departments under the Governor's control.

He knows that the cost is around ninety million dollars. What is he going to get out of that? He knows that a large part of the remaining expenditures for the operation of the Government come out of relief aged, and the blind and dependent children. The operation of the Departments under the Governor, while I have not the figures accurately in mind, costs about thirty million dollars. If you cut out of the whole operation the Departments under the Governor, you cannot make up that one hundred million dollars that the gentleman from Monroe wants to increase the Budget by. Therefore I ask the very natural question whether he intended to increase taxes. The gentleman from Monroe has given me a long and round-about answer.

In concluding, what I have to say, if the gentleman from Monroe expects to increase taxes, I see no tax bills presented by the gentleman from Monroe or by anybody else on the other side of this House, to raise additional taxes to take care of that one hundred million dollars.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 230, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act, approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws, four hundred fourteen), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment, collection, and lien of the same, and the distribution of the proceeds thereof; imposing duties on executors, administrators, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries, and court clerks, and on persons, copartnerships, associations, banks, national banks, trust companies, and other corporations receiving deposits of money, and on certain corporations and limited partnerships; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," as previously reenacted and amended, by continuing the State personal property tax and the emergency rate of tax on scrip bonds, certificates and evidences of indebtedness, assumed or on which interest is paid by corporations, for a further limited period of time.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, if this bill is recommitted now will it be possible to insert amendments after it comes out of committee?

The SPEAKER. If the bill is agreed to on second reading and recommitted, after it is returned to the House by the Committee it will require the unanimous consent of the House to amend it. The amendatory stage is on second reading.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I have asked the privilege of addressing you and you have very graciously granted my request. I will discuss the Governor's Messages to the House, the budget and the emergency tax bills now on our calendar for second reading. Of course, the tax bills must be taken out of the emergency class and now be listed under normal taxes.

Governor James said, in speaking of his budget, and I quote, "The Acts which will be introduced to carry out its provisions will not be "must bills." He then continued by saying if new ideas are brought forward, I will receive them with open mind, but here he slammed the door shut and locked it from the inside by saying he would veto any new tax bills. It reminds me of the old story of Henry Ford when he made the old reliable Model T Ford. For years he had things much his own way but eventually received real competition and his competitors were giving their customers the privilege of having their new cars painted with any color that they so desired while Henry stuck to the idea of only one kind of a car and that was a black car. Finally his dealers insisted on a meeting contending to meet competition successfully, they should be given the right to give to their customers any color of car that the customers desired. So a meeting was called of several thousand dealers and the General Sales Manager of the Ford Motors Company said, "Boys, I have taken the matter of having our cars painted in different colors up with Mr. Ford and he said you could select any color you desire as long as it is black." He soon saw the error of his ways and you can now purchase a Ford car in most any color you desire.

This gentleman, is the way with this tax program. You may select any tax program you desire as long as it is this tax program. In other words, where we formerly had three distinct branches of State Government—executive, legislative, and judicial, as far as these tax measures are concerned, we have now eliminated the Legislature and you are acting merely as another wills.

These taxes were originally enacted when everything that could be seen was taxed without regard to the equitable distribution of the tax burden. They remind me of the past hunting season when you had the privilege of shooting either a buck or a doe, and hundreds of thousands of hunters took to the woods and many inexperienced men took a pot shot at anything that moved. Consequently, many men were killed or wounded and these tax bills have severly wounded the corporations of our State and if continued it will lose for us the name of the great Industrial State of Pennsylvania by driving out these industries which for their own self-protection must move to other states. Oh, I know we have a new Department of Commerce and I personally have a very high regard for its head, Mr. Richard Brown, but with all his ability, energy, and efficiency, he cannot pull a rabbit out of a hat. For instance, if one habberdashery,, located on one side of the street sells Knox hats for $10 and another store just across the street sells exactly the same Knox hats for $8, it is very obvious who will eventually get the business.

Our Department of Commerce recently listed a large number of factory buildings available for work. They found 40,000 square feet of working space. The survey found 111 unused buildings of more than 100,000 square feet and 259 ideal factories with between 25,000 and 100,000 square feet. Many hundreds of smaller buildings were omitted from the list. Mind you, these are complete useable factories in such good condition that almost everything needed to put them in operation would be to unlock the doors and tear down the signs which read, "Closed, no help wanted." What can be done to reopen them? The answer is easy. Give the corporations in our State relief from this tremendous tax burden, keep them in Pennsylvania where they can give employment to our men and women and the direct and indirect benefits will be to decrease unemployment and increase our State income.

Now regarding the budget and his message regarding same. Governor James says the State is in better financial condition than it has been for many years and the successful completion of his program will set the stage for a huge tax reduction program. I doubt very much if we can pat ourselves on the back and take too much credit for certain improvements. We all know a change in direction is now appearing as a result of the stimulation of the defense program producing the dual relief of a downward movement of expenditures for public assistance and an upward movement of tax yields. This, of course, affects advantageously both sides of the budget.

Our apparent prosperity is the direct result of the sorrow, suffering, hunger, lack of shelter, lack of food of the men, women and children caused by the human unChristian ambition of a man who would rule the World, starting with persecution of a particular race and ending by bringing everyone under his subjection. God forbid!

Again, Governor James says we have a balance of $11,000,000 unappropriated. He suggests that the amount be added as a safety item to the amount allocated to Public Assistance. Now, gentlemen, it is with this amount that I would make a suggestion to the Members of this House, realizing that the Democrats are in control of this House, the ultimate responsibility of an amendment I will offer to take a step in the right direction by starting now to give our people some immediate relief from taxes, will largely rest upon their shoulders.

I will offer an amendment to House Bill No. 230 to reduce the inequitious four mill personal property tax to three mills, a reduction of income to our State according to the Governor's budget of about six and one-fourth million dollars. This would leave about five million out of the eleven million dollars unappropriated. You say this is small and insignificant and I answer, "yes," but lets make a start and as this tax falls largely on the old people of our State who have passed the age when they are able to increase their income by personal efforts, I personally think it is making the start at the proper place by increasing the standard of living for these fathers and mothers rather than continuing to decrease their standard of living.

May I assure each of you that when this amendment is offered I will require no division of the vote or a roll call as I have no desire in my heart to either directly or indirectly due injury to any member of this House regardless of his political faith.

Now in conclusion to anticipate someone referring to Governor James speech where he says to cut taxes in his judgment would be counting chickens not yet hatched. During the Special Session of 1940 Governor James said to me sitting in his office that he was transferring funds from various accounts with a hope and a prayer that we would not have to increase taxes and I believe that he was earnest and sincere in this statement and for the first time since I have been a member of this Honorable body I voted for these transfers. I urge the members of this House to vote for my amendment with a hope and a prayer that we not only can make this reduction but that later Governor James will call a Special Session, recommend to this House the elimination of the balance of this three mills personal property tax and give reduction to corporation taxes when he can say again as he said after his election as Governor of this great Commonwealth, "Business men, unpack your trunks, stay in Pennsylvania, real relief is in sight." Once again we can take our place as the leading industrial state of the nation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 4, line 26, by inserting a light-faced bracket before and after the word "four"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 4, line 26, by inserting after the word "four" the following: three

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 23, line 22, by inserting a light-faced bracket before and after the word "four"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 23, line 22, by inserting after the word "four' the following: three

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker I will.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Gates does the amendment that you offer reduce the personal property tax from four to three mills.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Gates I presume that you feel that this one mill of tax that you are eliminating from the measure is not needed to carry out the governmental function requested by the Governor in his budget.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker according to the budget as I have studied it the Governor stated he had eleven million dollars unappropriated and from the eleven million dollars of unappropriated funds I hope and pray that this House will give some relief to taxpayers. I feel that by taking six and one quarter million dollars from that eleven million fund that will take care of my amendment.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Do I understand Mr. Gates then feels that the Governor is not aware as to the amount of money he needs for relief.

Mr. GATES. No, I did not say that. I am simply taking the budget as it was reported to us. I think it is impossible for even Mr. Russell or Governor James in view of the increase due to the defense program to accurately determine the exact amount that is going to be needed for public assistance so I have chosen to take the figures of the Governor when he estimates that five million dollars will be adequate.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker I thank the gentleman. I do not know where I could have a more eloquent explanation of the position that I have maintained on the floor of this House that these tax measures should go back to the committee than has been demonstrated by the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates. In other words on the Republican side of the House they do not know. They are floundering. They are in a mirage, the same as we are. He does not know anything about the Governor's figures. The only thing he is doing is to say, "Well, we will reduce this amount, let us not study it. Let us go ahead and reduce and then hope." We discussed faith, hope and charity before in this House and, Mr. Speaker, it is time that we start studying. Possibly our study might disclose what the gentleman maintains. If it does then we can have tax reduction. If it does then we are prepared to do it, but certainly after his statement he does not know and Mr. Russell does not know and the Governor does not know, certainly we better get somebody who does know. Certainly we should find out before we do anything with these measures. It is for that reason that I say these amendments should fall. If further study subsequently proves that the amendments are sound, so that there is no need for the money then the gentleman is on sound ground but at the present moment he is not. I have the same interest in these measures that apparently the other side has.

I do remember the day when they condemned these measures to the high heavens. Now, we have the reverse position. I never knew the Republicans to so cherish tax measures that they had previously condemned. I am saying that the gentleman from Armstrong is not on sound ground for the moment and therefore his amendment should fall at the present time and give us the opportunity to study. Certainly the gentleman wants to know the facts. He admits on the floor of this House that he does not know the facts. Therefore, I am saying that these amendments should fall and I am asking this side of the House to substantiate my motion.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman on the other side, who is so prone to quote the Scripture in his statements, if he will tell the members of this House just where in Holy Scripture this particular verse that he refers to is found.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would be delighted to do so later on, if the gentleman will come to my desk.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman from Monroe right now that it is found in the thirteenth chapter of Corinthians, and my version of it says "faith, hope and love."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, desire to withdraw his amendments to the title in view of the fact that his amendments to the first section have been defeated?

Mr. GATES. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The amendments offered to the title have been withdrawn.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further study.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 235, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act, approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Special Sesion of one thousand nine hundred thirty-six, P. L. 13), entitled "An act imposing an emergency State tax for a limited period of time on liquor, as herein defined, sold by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; providing for the collection and payment of such tax; and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board," as previously reenacted and amended, by extending the provisions thereof for a further limited period of time.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 262, entitled:

Making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance law, for the two fiscal years ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one.

The first and second sections were separately read and agreed to.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment as a new section.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend bill, page 2, by inserting between lines 8 and 9 the following section:

"Section 3. Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act, the Governor, Auditor General and State Treasuer shall, from time to time, allocate to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasuer Department such sums as they deem necessary to pay the administrative expenses of said departments in auditing and disbursing the appropriation made by this act."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, this is a very insidious amendment. It is placing into an appropriation bill for relief that which has never been in an appropriation bill for relief before, either under the Earle Administration or under the James Administration. It can have only one purpose. It is playing politics with relief in one of the worst possible manners because the only single purpose this amendment can have is to take money away from the reliefers and to provide more money for Democratic jobs in the Auditor General's and the State Treasuerer's Department. This amendment provides that "out of the money appropriated by section one of this act, the Governor, one, and the Auditor General, two, the State Treasurer, three, a Board of two Democrats and one Republican, shall from time to time allocate to the Department of the Auditor General and the State Treasurer such sums as they deem necessary; and so forth.

The only single purpose that this new type of amendment can have is to take money away from the reliefers and to give it to the Democratic job-holders in the Auditor General's and State Treasurer's Departments and for that reason I ask the members of the House to vote no on this amendment.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin, when he speaks about "insidious practices.' May I first of all state that the gentleman is in error when he states that the amendment which I offer does not appear in any of the other appropriation acts. On the contrary it was done in 1937 and it was done in 1939, and the insidious thing that he has mentioned would occur if we did not put this amendment in the bill introduced by him. May I explain to the membership of this House what happened? I mentioned earlier in speaking on the tax measures about certain Departments that apparently were not in good grace with the Governor. It so happens that the State Treasurer's and the Auditor General's Departments happen to be two of the few that I mentioned. Now, the Governor has endeavored to see that those departments are put in a position that they cannot function and operate normally. In other words, what he is saying to those Department is. "Spend at our orders fourteen and one half million dollars and you guess how you are going to do it." He has the money and he will allocate money for his departments to be spent. But once again we have the old story of the expenditures for relief going down and the percentage of administrative cost to the Department of Public Assistance increasing. But, to allow any other Department to pay the ordinary expenses of auditing the money they spend, oh, no, no. It might be assumed that perhaps what the Governor desires is the right to spend this money without having the account audited. Why should he exclude the Auditor General's Department and the State Treasurer's Department from their usual and normal function? Why should we say, "we won't let you have any money to check on us." Doesn't he want to be checked on? Especially when the acts of 1937 and 1939 fully made provision to do those very things. Yes, I can agree with the gentleman from Dauphin in the proper use of the word "insidious." It would be insidious if we permitted the Governor to go on spending money in these departments without making provisions for a proper check on the manner in which his departments would spend that money. I am saying that this is one of the things that is needed in order to guarantee to the people of Pennsylvania the proper check, rein on the expenditures in the Department of Public Assistance which is now under his control. You would have that check if you pass the amendment that I am offering.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, through the courtesy of the Speakers office I have before me the Act of 1937. I want to call to the gentleman's attention and to the attention of the members of the House that that act did not have the same amendment in the form in which it is here. If the gentleman will put the amendment in the form it is here, unless there is some legal or budgetary reason why that should not be, I will withdraw my objection to the amendment. But the amendment is not in that form today as introduced by the gentleman from Monroe. I do not think it should be in the form it is.

The gentleman has thrown a smoke screen trying to make it appear that the Auditor General's department will not have an opportunity to audit the accounts for the Department of Public Assistance. Nothing is more ridiculous. I want to call to the gentleman's attention one other thing, that when in the 1939 session, towards the end, we were considering the amount which would be set aside for the Auditor General's department and the State Treasurer's department, the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, who is now there coaching Mr. Achterman, you might well remember, got up and objected to the cuts in the amount which was appropriated to the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in the Senate, and at that time I introduced facts and figures which I think conclusively proved that the administration, the Senate and this House in passing the amount which they did was more liberal to the Auditor General and the State Treasurer than had been the case during the prior administration. It is ridiculous to assume or think for one minute we should not expect the accounts of the Department of Public Assistance to be properly audited. This not only applies to the Auditor General but also to the State Treasurer. I ask you, members of the House, to vote down this amendment at this time.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am curious to know why the gentleman from Dauphin did not prepare this bill in conformity with the acts of 1937 and 1939.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I have been trying to find out why the act does not have the section in it that was in the act of 1939. I have been trying to contact the Deputy Attorney General who drafted the bill but I can not get him. However I do say as a possible answer that this being an additional appropriation and there being funds in the former appropriation specifically allocated to the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, or at least set forth as being allocated to them in the former bill, it may not be necessary for any funds out of this amount to be allocated to the Auditor General and the State Treasurer to carry on their regular functions. I will not say that is accurate, I do not know. I am not referring to the gentleman from Monroe, but other members of this House have been guilty of making statements on the floor of the House without having given the subject proper thought, and I do not like to make statements unless I am sure of my facts, but I think that is the answer.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I think I can agree with him about how insidious this bill was as originally introduced, and therefore I am stating to the members of this House that my amendment is sound and should be supported.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, during the roll call I received word from the Attorney General's Office that they had received word from the Budget Department that there were sufficient funds under the original appropriations bill which remained in the appropriation to the Auditor General and State Treasurer under that act for the carrying on of their functions in the relief appropriations bill. That is the explanation which I made at the time when the matter was being debated, but I now have received a confirmation of it and I would like that to go into the record.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I state that I did not believe it was because of insufficient money to carry on the functions. I have no doubt that the Auditor General and the State Treasurer have sufficient funds to function properly, and of course they would not allocate any funds they did not have. They are in a position to determine whether they do or do not have money, and we certainly have injured nobody by adopting this section.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 9, by striking out the figure: "3" and inserting in lieu thereof: "4"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 263, entitled:

Transferring money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund; and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the transferred money.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. VOLDOW and SHEPARD offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1941.

Whereas, News has reached the House of Representatives of the death of the father of one of its members; and

Whereas, Isaac Rose, father of Honorable Samuel Rose of Philadelphia was a man known for his kindliness and love of his family and fellowman; and

Whereas, The House of Representatives is desirous of paying tribute to his memory and conveying its heartfelt expression of sympathy to the family of the deceased; be it therefore

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House send a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased, and by this token commend Isaac Rose to the memory of his fellowman.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. McCLANAGHAN and SHEPARD offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1941.

Whereas, One of the most respected and industrious members of the House of Representatives is now receiving hospital care at the Misericordia Hospital in Philadelphia; and

Whereas, We of the House of Representatives miss his warm presence and desire him back at once, if not sooner; and

Whereas, He is a fighting Irishman and no microbe can long keep him down; be it therefore

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House direct a copy of this resolution to the Honorable John J. Finnerty of Philadelphia, wishing him an immediate recovery from his illness so that he may rejoin us in the House of Representatives and assist us in the solution of the Commonwealth's problems.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. READINGER, from the Committee on State Government reported as committed, House Bill No. 225, entitled:

An Act relating to the national and State defense, providing for the establishment of a State Council of Defense and of local and district councils of defense, prescribing the powers and duties thereof, and making an appropriation therefor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. RUSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, today a number of the Members of this House received in their mail boxes a statement that is unsigned and bearing no postage with reference to two bills which I have introduced here. Many of you know that in the city of Chester, in Delaware County, there is a case now pending where it is alleged almost one mililon dollars were mis-appropriated by someone. Here is the statement.

"You have a municipal authority in your county. Under House Bills 222 and 203, these authorities would be placed under the Public Utilities Commission. This would mean that everything which any small municipalities would want done would have to be continually submitted to the Commission, creating additional cost. The municipality would also have to pay a share of the cost of the operation of the Public Utilities Commission, as provided by law. This would place a burden upon many small municipalities.

If these acts pass, they will certainly mean the end of the fight to clear our streams from pollution, because sewer authorities, especially joint-sewer authorities which are needed in many places, would find it impossible to operate under the provisions of the Public Utility Law."

This statement is unsigned and does not bear postage and has no right in the post-office boxes of this House.

I object to having statements unsigned and with no postage placed in my post-office box. I think this is a very insidious statement from somebody.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MUNLEY. Mr. Speaker I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 17, 1941, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 3:38 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1941. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1941. No. 10.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 17, 1941.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

O Blessed God, creator of us all, author and finisher of our faith in Thee, quietly and earnestly do we implore Thy presence to be definitely felt within us each one today. Thou art our Father; we are Thy children. May this beautiful relationship constantly be burned into our consciousness lest we be found in the way of unalterable prodigality and the end of the road of life prove to be a dead end.

Exceptional privileges of service to Thee, our State and our nation are ours today. We are Thy ambassadors in a high spiritual position, having entrusted to our keeping and use legislation affecting the lives and happiness of millions of God's people. We pray, then, that our labors and their proper issue into laws this day may not be haphazard nor slipshod but earnest, courageous and God-fearing that Thy will be done more perfectly through us entrusted with this grave responsibility. Without Thy direction we will ultimately fail; with Thee success must crown our efforts.

We pray that Thou will keep in Thy precious keeping the wife of Senator Geltz this day in her serious illness.

Be attentive to the voice of our supplications, Our Father, and may the words of our mouths and meditations of our hearts, be acceptable unto Thee, O Lord, our strength and our Redeemer. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. EALY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Walker asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. GELTZ, on account of the illness of his wife.

Mr. Edmonds asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. WOODWARD, on account of illness.

Mr. Tallman asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Chester, Mr. SCARLETT, on account of illness.

Mr. Becker asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. TAYLOR.

1940 REPORT OF DELAWARE RIVER JOINT COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY

The PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate 1940 Report of Delaware River Joint Commission of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, which will be noted in the Journal.

NOMINATIONS FOR NOTARIES PUBLIC

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. WALKER

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS 46

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Letzler,	Stevenson,
Bartlett,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Edmonds,	McCreesh,	Tallman,
Carr,	Farrell,	McGinnis,	Thomas,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McQuiddy,	Tyler,
Chapman,	Haluska,	Miller,	Wade,
Coleman,	Heyburn,	Mundy,	Walker,
Cox,	Homsher,	Reed,	Watkins,
Crider,	James,	Ruth,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	Jaspan,	Shapiro,	Wilson, T. B.,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Snowden,	Ziesenheim,
Dent,	Lanius,

NAYS 0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

REPORTS FROM EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS COMMITTEE

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

MEMBER OF THE PENNSYLVVANIA PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION

Mr. JAMES from the Committee on Executive Nominations reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations, made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

DAUPHIN COUNTY

B. Frank Morgal, Harrisburg, from May 29, 1940, for the residue of the term ending April 1, 1947, and until his successor shall be duly appointed and shall be qualified.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

APPOINTMENT AS JUSTICE OF PEACE OF MERCER COUNTY

J. Guy Carman, 190½ Main Street, Greenville, Mercer County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Greenville, Mercer County, until the first Monday in January, 1942, vice E. L. Davis, deceased.

APPOINTMENT AS JUSTICE OF PEACE FOR NORTHUMBERLAND COUNTY

Willard K. Mettler, Elysburg, Northumberland County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in the Township of Ralpho, Northumberland County, until the first Monday in January, 1942, vice William M. Martz, deceased.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

On the question,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand there were two other nominations made at the same time. They have not been read.

The PRESIDENT. The correct procedure would be to consider each nomination separately unless there is a request for unanimous consent to take them all up at one time. What is the pleasure of the Senate?

MOTION TO CONSIDER NOMINATIONS COLLECTIVELY

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the nominations be considered collectively.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask that the clerk read the names for the information of the Senate before we act on the motion.

The Clerk read the nominations.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it was my impression that the roll should be called in connection with the nominations.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the Senator from Philadelphia is well taken, and the roll will be called.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette will state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it is not proper to vote on appointments of this kind all at once. Each nomination ought to be voted on separately, for the reason there may be members of this Senate who might be willing to vote for Mr. Morgal and probably not want to vote for one or both Justices of the Peace.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, it is my understanding the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. James, has received unanimous consent to present them together. Is that right?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct. It was the Chair's idea, following the procedure and the rules, to take them up separately; however, the Senator from Bucks, Mr. James, moved that they all be taken up at one time.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. MALLERY

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. MALLERY

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provision of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS 44

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Stevenson,
Bartlett,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Tallman,
Carr,	Farrell,	McCreesh,	Thomas,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McGinnis,	Tyler,
Chapman,	Haluska,	McQuiddy,	Wade,
Coleman,	Heyburn,	Miller,	Walker,
Cox,	Homsher,	Reed,	Watkins,
Crider,	James,	Ruth,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	Jaspan,	Shapiro,	Wilson, T. B.,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Snowden,	Ziesenheim,

NAYS 0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. JAMES. Mr. PRESIDENT, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Messrs. MALLERY and ZIESENHEIM read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 187, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirty-eight of article four of the act, approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. An Act to further amend section five of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws 463), entitled "An act providing, for a limited period of time, for the incorporation, as bodies corporate and politic, of "Authorities" for municipalities; defining the same, proscribing the rights, powers, and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes;" regulating the sale of bonds by authorities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. HEYBURN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 191, entitled:

An Act prescribing the powers and duties of the Department of Forests and Waters in respect to the Brandywine Battlefield; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. WATKINS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 192, entitled:

An Act to further amend section seven of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 463), entitled as amended "An act providing for the incorporation, as bodies corporate and politic of "Authorities" for municipalities, counties, and townships; defining the same; prescribing the rights, powers, and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes," by further regulating the number and terms of members of the governing boards of authorities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 193, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred fourteen of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers, providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by establishing a minimum salary for state employes.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 194, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 851), entitled "An act fixing the pay and mileage of jurors and witnesses", changing the pay of witnesses and the mileage of witnesses.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. BARR read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 195, entitled:

An Act making an apropriation to the Trustees of the University of Pittsburgh for the general maintenance of, and the purchase of apparatus and equipment for, the University of Pittsburgh, and for the maintenance of teaching facilities in hospitals for students in the School of Medicine.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I desire to present a bill of extreme importance to the welfare of the people of the anthracite area of Pennsylvania and equally important to the people of the bituminous area.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Luzerne will proceed.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, in the Session of 1939, I introduced Senate Bill 269, which was enacted as Act No. 392 of that Session, creating a Research Bureau at the Pennsylvania State College under the supervision of the Department of Mines, for the purpose of conducting researches to discover a by-product for the use of anthracite and bituminous coal and to develop new scientific, chemical and other uses, for new and extended markets for anthracite and bituminous coal and its products, and making an appropriation therefor.

I am happy to report that this Research Bureau has been a success. It has made real progress. It is a pleasure to report that both the anthracite and bituminous coal industries of Pennsylvania have cooperated wholeheartedly in this program and that substantial progress has been made toward the development of new and improved uses for coal.

Mr. President, the welfare, the employment, the comfort, and the prosperity of the anthracite area and the bituminous area in Pennsylvania spells the public welfare and prosperity of Pennsylvania. Everything possible should and must be done to assist the future of the anthracite and bituminous districts in Pennsylvania. The welfare of the anthracite and bituminous areas control the general welfare of the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The discovery of a by-product for new and more efficient uses of coal will greatly rehabilitate our people and constituents. A discovery of such a by-product by the Bureau of Research, under my plan, will automatically become the property of the Commonwealth and will not require the payment of any royalties for the discovery of such by-product in the producing and the using of anthracite coal and its products for these new uses.

I shall urge upon this Legislature the passage of the Bill I am introducing in order that no stone shall remain unturned to bring back contentment and prosperity to my constituents in the anthracite district. We must explore every field and not wait. It must be done now. I am for and advocate a vigorous and forceful attack upon the discovery of a by-product and feel that the good work already done by the Bureau of Research should not be retarded and discontinued. Let us take the pick and shovel and dig in.

Therefore, Mr. President, I submit a bill for the appropriation of $75,000 to the School of Mineral Industries of the Pennsylvania State College, under the supervision of the Department of Mines, to continue the Research Bureau for new uses of anthracite and bituminous coals.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, before the bill is accepted, may I interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Luzerne state whether or not that sum of seventy-five thousand dollars has been appropriated in the budget of the Governor.

Mr. MILLER. That, Mr. President, I can not answer.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have read it and I have not found it. Will the gentleman state whether or not that will result in a reduction in the appropriation for relief, if we appropriate seventy-five thousand dollars for that purpose, because as I understand the Governor's budget, any additional appropriations other than those provided, according to his message, will reduce the relief appropriation.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I would state that that particular feature will rest entirely in the hands of His Excellency, the Governor.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to further interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, do I understand then the Senate is giving up its perogative to make its own appropriations in order to allow the Governor to dictate which shall be made?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, the Senate can exercise its own perogative, and by taking the necessary action either approve the bill after it is reported out of committee or reject it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, before the bill is accepted, I should like to say to the gentleman what he proposes is a very worthy cause; I accept his statement that results have already been accomplished, and I ask him to join with me from now on in exercising the right of the Senate to make its own appropriations, if we do not agree with the Governor.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, on the subject just discussed I would like to convey some very helpful information to the gentleman from Philadelphia and the gentleman from Luzerne. In my wanderings about this capitol—domain—here I have discovered about two hundred and fifty thousand dollars that absolutely is saved to the Commonwealth and can be saved if we act judicially here. Mr. President, I say that I have found two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, not in the Governor's budget but outside of the Governor's budget.

Mr. President, this two hundred and fifty thousand dollars will not in any way affect the Governor's budget and I intend to point it out more definitely to the gentelman from Luzerne and the gentleman from Philadelphia later on.

I want one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars out of that sum, Mr. President, specifically set aside for the erection of an auditorium at the Indiantown Gap Reservation and I will be willing to yield seventy-five thousand dollars of it to the gentleman from Luzerne. I forewarned you just what that would be.

Mr. President, for many years in this Commonwealth we have been collecting a mercantile tax and under that act we have been allowing the mercantile appraisers' lists to be advertised in counties and the advertisements have gone into two or three newspapers of each county at the tremendous cost to this Commonwealth of approximately three hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. President, my bill is at this time in process of writing wherein we will try to abolish that advertisement but if I have to compromise I will compromise to the extent that we will write into the bill that the advertisement will be limited to one newspaper in each county and that will still leave us the sum of about two hundred and fifty thousand dollars we can expend the way I have indicated without in any way interfering with the Governor's budget.

Mr. MILLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 196, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania State College for expenditure by the School of Mineral Industries thereof under the supervision of the Department of Mines.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. TALLMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 197, entitled:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, and school districts to file suggestions of non-payment and averments of default, or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims, and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost; and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 198, entitled:

An Act to validate and quiet the title to real estate in this Commonwealth held by a foreign corporation unauthorized to hold the same, and heretofore conveyed to a citizen of the United States or a corporation authorized to hold such real estate.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. PRESIDENT, I rise in my place and read to the Chair a very innocuous bill for the purpose of cerrecting a very vicious practice at this time, which needs correction.

Mr. CAVALCANTE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 199, entitled:

An Act to add section two hundred and thirteen to the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," by making it a crime to wilfully furnish false information relative to the budget estimates of any department or commission of the State government.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. SHAPIRO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 200, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the National Stomach Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to ask leave of absence for my colleague, the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. MUNDY. I have just received a telephone message asking me to do that on the ground that there is a death in his famliy.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none. The leave is granted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and members of this body, we have now completed five weeks of this session and nothing has been accomplished. Mr. President, a number of bills have been introduced but for some unknown reason the calendar has been very short and very brief throughout the last five weeks.

I realize, Mr. President, that within a month or so we will be confronted with many problems, many important measures or issues, and I would hesitate at that time to rise and discuss bills pertaining to public assistance; so, Mr. President, this afternoon I would like briefly to once again remind my colleagues of some of the bills I have offered that are now lying in committee.

A number of weeks ago, Mr. President, I talked about the bond that we all have knowledge of, which must be signed by the property owner before relief might be granted to him.

Last week, Mr. President, I spoke briefly of the policy practiced by the Department of Public Assistance with reference to making an indigent person assign his life insurance policy before relief could be granted.

I understand tomorrow afternoon, Mr. President, the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance, Mr. Russell, will appear before the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions to discuss some of these measures so, Mr. President, this afternoon I would like to bring up a third and one of the most important measures confronting relief.

Mr. President, I have a bill, Senate Bill No. 21, which I believe has been referred to the committee of which Mr. Bartlett is chairman, and I believe that bill deserves the consideration and study of each and every member of this body.

Mr. President, under the public support law we have this wording: "Relatives liable for the support of indigent persons. Procedure to enforce support. (a) The husband, wife, child, father, mother, grandparent and grandchild of every indigent person shall, if of sufficient financial ability, to care for, maintain or financially assist such indigent person"—if of sufficient financial ability.

Mr. President, when is a person able to assist a relative? I have a very specific case—I have hundreds of them but I have one very specific case of a person in my county who had been receiving old age assistance. This person had been receiving $28.50 per month. During the last few weeks, his son who is twenty-two years of age, received a job on WPA getting $48.00 a month and Mr. President this department ruled that son is able to assist the parent and they closed his case of $28.50 a month and now he does not get a dollar because the son is told he is able to keep that family.

Think of that, Mr. President, a man receiving $48.00 a month is told he is sufficiently able to care for and maintain a family.

Mr. President, I think all my colleagues agree we must start or stop some place. I do not think we should exonerate or exempt a son or daughter entirely. I believe they should be held responsible for taking care of their parents and their close relatives but I do not believe, Mr. President, a lad making $48.00 a month should be called upon to keep that family, and that person who has been receiving assistance denied one red cent.

In my bill, Mr. President, I have briefly stated and defined the word "sufficiently able". Why have I done that? I have done that because the Democrats say the Republicans are responsible for the public support law and the Republicans say the Democrats are responsible. Mr. President, I care not who is responsible, what party, that makes no difference to me, but Mr. President, I say this body should clarify the issue once and for all, not as Democrats, not as Republicans, but as men who have a human touch within themselves.

In my bill, Mr. President, I state very specifically that if a person is making a gross income of less than one hundred dollars per month, that is found to be not sufficient to take care of or maintain an indigent person, is there a man in this body can say I am wrong in my thoughts?

Mr. President, if a person is making less than a hundred dollars a month is it possible for him to maintain a family outside of his own—a grandfather, grandmother or in-laws? If a hundred dollars is too much, let us make it eighty dollars or seventy-five dollars or whatever you think is correct, but I believe you will all agree that $48.00 a month can be deemed as not sufficient to care for and maintain another family outside of his family.

Now, Mr. President, this is an important measure, it is an important issue. I am fully aware of the fact many of us have very little knowledge of this proceedure so, Mr. President, I bring it up this afternoon so that tomorrow we might be better acquainted with what we are speaking of and ask Mr. Russell who is able to care for and maintain an indigent person and after tomorrow I am trusting these bills will come out of committee—bring them before this body and either defeat them or pass them, but give us an opportunity to express ourselves, to tell the people back home just how we feel about these most important measures.

Mr. President, this is the time to do it—not in April, May, June or July. We will have many other important issues and I am trusting tomorrow the Chairman of the Committee of Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions will give my bills a hearing, will bring them before his Secretary and discuss them and pass upon them favorably from Committee, bring them out of Committee, so that the members of this body may have an opportunity to defeat the measures or to pass them, but once and for all clarify this most important issue.

RESOLUTION ASKING APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE STATUTES OF PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I am about to present a resolution and I would like to have unanimous consent to make a short statement preparatory to its introduction.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington will proceed.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I think it is generally conceded in Pennsylvania today there are many unnecessary laws on the statute books and many of these laws provide for the expenditure of public monies.

Among them, Mr. President, are numerous laws that place unreasonable and unnecessary burdens on the people of Pennsylvania and, as we all know, in a democracy such as ours economy is always to be desired I am about to present a resolution for the purpose of sorting out and repealing such unnecessary legislation.

Mr. President, I hope we might have the joint effort of all the Senators in the body in suggesting and recommending such unnecessary legislation as the members feel would fall within this unnecessary class.

I therefore, Mr. President, offer the following resolution and move its immediate adoption.

In the Senate, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, There are many laws and parts of laws on the statute books of Pennsylvania that are not necessary to the proper function of the government of the Commonwealth, and in many cases, burdensome to the people thereof, economically and otherwise; and

Whereas, In the interest of good government it is required that all such unnecessary legislation be repealed; N w, therefore be it resolved by the Senate of Pennsyl nia, That the President Pro Tempore thereof appoint a committee of three (3) Senators to investigate and consider the statutes of Pennsylvania with a view to the repeal of all laws and parts of laws unnecessary to the functions of good government, and report its findings to the Senate with its recommendation.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator who introduced the resolution which has just been read to give some illustration of what he has in mind.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, the resolution speaks for itself and if the Senate is not willing to act on the resolution at the present time, let it go to committee, and later on I will discuss, if necessary, the subject in great detail, and point out in many particulars where there is legislation on the statute books carrying heavy expenditures that ought to be repealed in the interest of good government.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I should think the resolution should be referred to a committee that contains some lawyers in its membership.

The PRESIDENT. Ordinarily the Chair would refer such a resolution to the Committee on Judiciary General but in view of the fact that committee is considering a great many bills, the Chair is referring the resolution to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I did not object to passage of the resolution. It contains, however, pretty comprehensive matter and I am wondering just what the Senator has in mind; but if he does not wish to state here on the floor of the Senate just what the resolution comprehends, I am willing to let it go on his statement.

Mr. REED. I think, Mr. President, the Senator from Somerset has been a member of this body a long time. I think the resolution is very clear and I think the Senator from Somerset can comprehend it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Washington said he thinks the resolution should be referred to a committee which has in its membership some lawyers. I want to say, Mr. President, the Committee on Rules has two good lawyers. I am one of them.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I do not care; it is all right if the resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules, but I do not want it to lie there; I want it brought out so we can discuss it.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution has been referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS NOT TO APPROVE CONSTRUCTION OF ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I present the following resolution and ask its immediate adoption.

In the Senate, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, It appears that the present Congress of the United States will be called upon to pass upon the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is opposed to the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway because of its economical impracticability, its entire lack of advantage as a defense measure and its detriment to business in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States not to approve or authorize the construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, whenever I hear a resolution memorializing Congress not to do something I become frightened, because they do not do so much now. I object to the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia objects to the resolution and it is therefore referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM STATE HOUSING BOARD

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I offer the following resolution and as it is a resolution seeking some information I move its immediate adoption.

The resolution was twice read as follows and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 17, 1941.

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby requests the State Housing Board to advise it as follows:

(a) How many local Housing authorities have been established in Pennsylvania, and in what communities?

(b) What is the total amount of the borrowings of each?

(c) What rate of interest is paid on the same?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I have been trying to get some information concerning the status of the authorities in the State of Pennsylvania. One answer tells us there are above ninety municipal authorities now at work. I then sought to find out how much they had borrowed, how much was their financial investment. Mr. President, the Secretary of the Commonwealth could not tell us but suggested perhaps that the Secretary of Revenue could. I inquired of the Secretary of the Department of Revenue and he has answered my last resolution with a very brief letter in which he calls attention to the fact that in 1935 the authority was given to him to audit the authorities and in 1937 it was taken away again; consequently he has no information on the subject.

It seems to me, Mr. President, we ought to know what these authorities, these hybrid children of the General Assembly, are doing in Pennsylvania. If it becomes necessary, Mr. President, I will introduce a resolution asking the Secretary of the Senate to find out, but this is another vain effort to find out something at least of the extent of their financial operations.

That information, Mr. President, I think we are entitled to and I think we ought to get it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I suggest to the gentleman from Montgomery the best place to find out what an authority can do is in Delaware County; I think it is in Chester, isn't it? Some gentlemen out there know more about what authorities can do than anybody else and I understand the Senator from Montgomery has not written any letter out there or made any requests but the records show the real authority on authorities lives in Chester.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I have not communicated with any of the friends of the gentleman from Philadelphia and I do not intend to.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I call attention to the fact the gentleman cannot unfetter himself from his friends so quickly, because he along with twenty-seven other Republicans voted for that bill, and it was his friend, not mine.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Montgomery does not know the father of that hybrid.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. CARR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 17, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 24, 1941, at 4:30 o'clock, p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 24, 1941, at 9:00 o'clock. p. m.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, permit me to call attention to the fact that the weekly convening hour next will be four-thirty p. m. instead of four o'clock, as usual.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION THAT STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA RECORD APPROPRIATION TO EXTENSION OF FEDERAL TAXING POWER

Mr. THOMAS offered the following resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the Senate, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, By vote of the Senate in September, 1940, the Congress of the United States decisively rejected the fiscally unsound and unconstitutional proposal for the imposition of a Federal tax on the income from state and municipal securities; and

Whereas, Despite this decisive defeat, the Treasury Department has recently announced and subsequently reiterated its intention of again urging that the present Congress enact such legislation; and

Whereas, The states and municipalities of the country have unanimously opposed the imposition of this tax on the ground that:

(1) Every state and municipal finance officer is in agreement that such a tax will cause an increase in the cost of state and municipal financing of at least 20%, which must necessarily be reflected in increased state and local taxes.

(2) Such a tax, even the Treasury concedes, cannot produce any revenue to the Federal Government for at least twenty years to come, while the incidence of the tax will be felt immediately by the states and municipalities.

(3) Reciprocal taxation by the states of Federal bonds would not defray by more than a fraction the loss to the states and cities, since, even those states which have income taxes have rates far less than the Federal Government; those states which have no income tax would receive nothing; and all cities would be left helpless, since Federal bonds would not be subject to a property tax.

(4) Such a tax, if approved by the Supreme Court, would remove the bar to complete Federal control of the fiscal operations of state and local government, and would establish what the Department of Justice itself, has called "The supreme Federal power to tax the states."

(5) Such a tax would hamper, not aid, national defense, since it cannot possibly result in any immediate increase in Federal revenues, and would cast an immediate and severe burden upon state and municipal finances just at a time when they will be called upon to expend vast sums of money in order to cooperate with the Federal Government in the national defense program.

(6) Such a tax would, by establishing supreme Federal control over the states and municipalities, completely destroy our constitutional system of a federated union of sovereign states.

Now, Therefore, It is hereby

Resolved, That the State of Pennsylvania hereby records its continued and determined opposition to the Treasury proposal to extend the Federal taxing power to the interest on state and municipal securities; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded immediately to the Senators and Congressmen from this State, with the urgent request that they extend every effort to defeat this pernicious proposal, which would seriously jeopardize the financial welfare of the states and cities of the country, and would not benefit the nation as a whole.

Which is referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

REQUEST THAT SENATORS COMPLY WITH RULES

The PRESIDENT. The Librarian of the Senate has requested the Chair to state to the members of the Senate that the rules of the Senate provide that an original and five carbons of all resolutions be forwarded to the Chair. In other words there should be a total of six copies. There was only an original of the resolution just presented.

In addition there have been a number of bills introduced which did not show the date or the name of the sponsor thereon. The Chair asks that in the future the Senators comply with the rules as much as possible.

RESOLUTION FELICITATING THE CHAIR ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I yield to the gentleman from York, Mr. Lanius.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. President, I introduce the following resolution and move its immediate adoption.

The resolution was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, Reliable information has reached our ears that this is the birthday of our distinguished Lieutenant Governor and presiding officer of this honorable body; and

Whereas, From all sources presently available to us, it has been impossible to definitely ascertain just what anniversary this happens to be in point of years; and

Whereas, We feel that it is fitting that upon this, the Lieutenant Governor's birthday, more than on any other day, we should pay tribute to the statesmanlike manner in which he continues to preside over the tribulations of this body, now therefore be it

Resolved that we record our felicitations, both as a Senatorial body, and personally, with the cordiality which expresses our feelings and which this distinguished gentleman so richly deserves, and now therefore be it further

Resolved, That in view of our friendly feelings upon this extraordinary occasion, we, on behalf of the juniors in the Senate, suggest that a canvas of our number discloses that we, all of us, are without engagements for dinner following the recess of this Session of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the resolution will be referred to the Committee on Old Age Assistance. Time goes on.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise on a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may the Senate expect an answer to the last suggestion contained in the resolution—that there are fifty hungry Senators present?

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Philadelphia, the Chair is now arranging to entertain the Senators down in York County some time when the weather will permit and it is to be an old York County Dutch set-up. However, I caution the Senators in advance I want everyone of you to accept the invitation when it is tendered—and that is a commitment, but the first person who brings up politics or business is going to be discharged from the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, can't we even talk about the budget?

The PRESIDENT. You will not even be permitted to talk about the budget and the Chair will not permit the gentleman from Cambria to talk about old age assistance. It might be possible that we will have this meeting in the York Fair Grounds and possibly we will permit the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, to discuss Bingo or horse racing or something of that kind. The Chair will not even stand for the asking of unanimous consent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe the rest of the Senators would and I know I would enjoy the privilege of voting on the resolution. Therefore, Mr. President, I second the motion of the gentleman from York, Mr. Lanius, that the resolution be given immediate consideration and voted on.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the Senator from York and seconded by the Senator from Westmoreland that the resolution just read be acted on immediately.

All in favor of the motion will please give their consent by saying "aye."

The resolution is adopted.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wants to make a confession—he is so flabbergasted he does not know what the resolution contains beyond the first inquiry as to his age. The Chair might further state for the information of the Senators, he has gotten so old that the Philadelphia Inquirer no longer publishes his picture on his birthday. Pat Thorne and Charlie Waters have taken his place.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

SENATE BILL NO. 9 ON SECOND READING

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, over the weekend I made some inquiries in Philadelphia in connection with Senate Bill No. 9 and its effect, and since I am not a member of the Committee and since the bill is on second reading, I should like to give to the Committee and the Senate members the information I have obtained.

Mr. President, this bill as it now reads requires the various Bureaus of Vital Statistics in counties having offices in which births are recorded to send certified copies of such births to the State. In Philadelphia, Mr. President, we have been sending copies of birth certificates from 1906 on. Under the terms of this bill it would be required, as it is now written, that certified duplicates of those births be sent to the State. From 1860 until 1906 I find no birth certificates or any information concerning births have been sent to Harrisburg, so I made inquiry from the Department of Vital Statistics and I find that there have been over one million, four hundred thousand names which are recorded as births during that period. I would now like to read a letter which came to me as a result of my communication with Mayor Lamberton, that I received from Ruth H. Weaver, Registrar of the Division of Vital Statistics of Philadelphia. The letter is as follows:

February 14, 1941.

"Hon. Robert E. Lamberton
"Room 202, City Hall
"Philadelphia

"Dear Mr. Mayor:

"I have tried to make some sort of an estimate of the cost of making certified copies of all the birth records we have in this office. It is a wild guess, at best. This office has original birth records from 1860 to 1915, but we need not consider them from 1906 to 1915 as the State already had copies of the original records for those years."

Mr. President, under the provisions of this bill, I am not so sure we do not have to consider them; in fact, I think they will have to be forwarded also.

"The work involved in making certified copies of all the birth records from 1860 to 1905 inclusive would be gigantic as it involves approximately 1,400,000 records.

"There are many things to be considered. First, there is the material needed. Second, additiinal clerks would have to be hired. The current work of this office is unusually heavy because of the present demand for certified copies of birth records. The staff is not adequate for this purpose now. Any new undertaking could not possibly be tried without extra help. It is our belief that one clerk could make about fifty copies a day. Third, desks, chairs and typewriters would have to be provided as well as extra space where the clerks could do this copying. Fourth, there is the necessary over-head. Fifth, there would have to be a supervisor of this project. We are enclosing on a separate sheet of paper the approximate cost of the various items.

"Hoping this is the information you needed, I am,

"Sincerely yours,
"Ruth H. Weaver, M. D., Registrar,
"Div. of Vital Statistics."

This would entail an approximate cost of $223,200 for merely furnishing certified copies of the names from 1860 to 1906. Of course, Mr. President, the population has considerably increased since 1906; our birth rate is much higher and the figures would be much larger.

I have discussed the matter with the Chairman of the Committee, Dr. Chapman, and he suggests the bill should go back to the Committee after second reading. I am not so sure it might not be better to send the bill back before second reading so that it can be amended in committee, before it has passed second reading. This situation is prevalent and will affect all the larger counties like Allegheny, and I suggest the Committee give this matter serious consideration because it will involve a great deal of cost, more than I think some of the counties can bear at this time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I requested last week some action be taken on the matter of passing some legislation governing the issuance of birth certificates.

Under the present system, Mr. President, I think we are aware of the fact it is difficult for a person to prove they have been born. After a reading of the act I find it does not touch the core of the trouble at all.

Mr. President, the trouble in my community as I find it is that a great many persons, either through neglect of doctors or midwives at the birth of children, failed to make any report whatsoever to any authority relative to the birth and therefore the matter of getting certificates to prove the fact that the birth took place is difficult, and under the present conditions many youngsters are bein kept out of important defense jobs because under th federal act they must have a birth certificate before the can take a job.

Therefore, Mr. President, in order to expedite matte I have prepared a piece of legislation in conjunction wit the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart. W have discussed both bills and I ask that this bill go bac to committee before it has passed second reading in orde that whatever good suggestions are contained in my bi may be incorporated into the Chapman bill.

I feel, Mr. President, if a person has two witnesse either a doctor or some other person that attended th birth, or the mother—who incidentally was there—tw persons to testify to the fact that this is the certain part that is trying to get a certificate, that any Justice of th Peace or Register of Wills could issue the birth certificat under the supervision of the State Department of Healt and the Bureau of Vital Statistics. By so doing, M President, we keep the bureau in complete charge of a matters pertaining to registered births and also make convenient for the person desiring to obtain a birt certificate.

Mr. President, as an illustration here is a case that very common: This person has a copy of the regular for issued by the Department, which has been filled out ac cording to law, requesting a birth certificate or a duplicat he receives one letter telling him to get a certificate fro some person who was there or attended the mother, s we have a certificate from the doctor, at a cost of fift cents for notarization. He then receives another lette saying that was insufficient information and requestin another certificate; so that person went and had anothe certificate sworn to, at a cost of another fifty cents, b the priest who officiated at the baptism, and now he re ceives another letter stating it still is not sufficient in formation, and now he must get a certified baptisma certificate.

Mr. President, in those days they did not issue bap tismal certificates. All that was done was to write ther down in a book and perhaps the church burned down, o something, and you can't find the book. There are man youngsters in the state between the ages of eighteen an twenty-five who are trying to get jobs and can not ge jobs because they can not get birth certificates. We hav had cases where men have served as long as ten year in the armed forces of the United States government wh can not prove they are citizens of this country and wer born in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I think the situation is one that meri our immediate attention and I therefore ask that th bill be sent back to committee before it receives secon reading in order that whatever amendments must b made shall be made by the Committee.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, there have been tw arguments as to why this bill should be sent back committee. As to the argument put up by the gentlem from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, I trust that no one w t ke the position in this matter that just because this b might slightly inconvenience the empire of Philadelph that it should not be passed for the benefit of the rest the citizens of this Commonwealth.

However, Mr. President, I do appreciate the fact that t way this bill is now drawn in Section 1 it may requi nsiderable work to furnish the information there re-uired to be furnished to the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

My personal opinion on that point, Mr. President, is is, that since we have established a Bureau of Vital atistics here at the site of the Capitol, there is no rther necessity for any of those records being left in e City of Philadelphia, nor in any county, city or any her community in this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, this section ought to be properly amended, that the City of Philadelphia or the authorities of hiladelphia County may take those records, box them and forward them, pack and parcel, to the Bureau of ital Statistics, without leaving them either in the City Philadelphia or anywhere else.

Mr. President, as to the objection here raised by the entleman from Westmoreland, it seems to me that some embers of this Senate—I am not saying this for the rpose of impugning the integrity of any member, but have personal knowledge of the fact that some bills me before us and some members of the Senate do not ke the pains to read the bills in the shape they appear the Calendar; Mr. President, if this bill had been ead by the gentleman from Westmoreland, he would have und that the amendment put in the original bill by e committee that reported it out covered the case stated y the gentleman from Westmoreland; it is specifically vered by Section 3.

I do not think there has been a section of any bill troduced to this date in this Senate that has received e careful attention that this Section 3 of this bill has ceived in order to cover every possible conceivable case birth in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. May I ead Section 3, as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the Bureau of Vital Statistics f the Department of Health of this Commonwealth to ccept from a person whose birth in this Commonwealth s not a part of a permanent record of such bureau

"(1) A baptismal record kept by a bona fide eccelsias-ical body and certified by a priest, minister or other fficer of said body or

"(2) A statement written in the English language signed nd sworn to by the doctor or midwife in attendance t the birth of such person."

As to sub-section (3), I wish the members of this Senate would pay particular attention to this sub-section nd see if it does not cover any conceivable case what-oever.

"(3) A statement written in the English language signed y such person and sworn to by a parent or near rela-ive of such person or two other persons who are reason-bly familiar with the information contained therein."

Mr. President, the words "reasonably familiar" are in-ended to cover some special cases. It may be that all ersons who might have actual knowledge of the birth, r who might have been living at the time of the birth, re themselves dead and no one would have actual nowledge of the birth of the child, so it was felt that that person who says he was born in the State of Penn-lvania can make a written statement and then get two eputable citizens or two citizens of this Commonwealth ho will swear under oath that they are reasonably miliar with this man and the facts set forth in his atement, then that man ought to have the right to have s birth registered, and any one who wishes to assume the burden of overcoming the oath of three people, the man who says he was born here and the oath of two other citizens, the person, I say, who wants to assume the burden of overcoming that, should have that right, and will have that right—he can have that right—but I say this bill covers every conceivable case, and since the subject has been editorialized upon by some very good newspapers in this Commonwealth—the Pittsburgh Press and a number of other papers—and in their editorials they have shown the wisdom of passing this bill and having legislation on the subject, and pointing out the dire necessity of it, I say we should not here be holding this bill up by sending it back without second reading; we ought to read it the second time and then send it back to committee, and we can make amendments if amendments need to be placed in it.

Mr. President, I think the criticism made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, does deserve some consideration—something ought to be done about that—but I think the Committee that has this bill is intelligent enough to prepare the amendments to cover that objection, but after it is amended to cover that objection then it can be reported out with the amendments, printed with those amendments, and we will have it on the Calendar for third reading as amended. By allowing it to be read the second time today, Mr. President, we will have saved one day, and I think that we should save every available minute and every available day that we can in passing legislation of this kind.

Mr. President, I have spoken as I have, because I think that we should not send the bill back to committee without second reading; it ought to be read the second time and then be re-referred to Committee for possible further amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that we may make one point clear, when I left here last week I took the only copy of the bill available to the members of the Senate. I took it home and studied it thoroughly. This is the first time, Mr. President, that this bill has been presented to us in the form the gentleman from Fayette now says it is in. Therefore, in order that we do have an opportunity to see if it does the things he says it does, I think the bill should at least go over or be read thoroughly by the Clerk in order that we may become familiar with it.

Mr. President, I do not propose to say I read every bill that comes before the Senate, but I do read the ones I am vitally interested in. I want to say this, the present act covers practically every phase that is incorporated in Section 3 as amended. The only difficulty is this, when you come down here to get your birth certificate, you must wait at least one full day, two full days, or three full days. If you send for it by mail, this act will not in any way expedite matters as I see it. One thing I see in my mind, which will clarify the situation and expedite the issuance of certificates, is to allow the Register of Wills under the supervision of the Department of Health, the Bureau of Vital Statistics, to issue duplicate birth certificates at an increased cost of two dollars instead of one dollar, one dollar to be sent back here to the Department of Vital Statistics in order that records may be kept clear, twenty-five cents fee for the Register of Wills for the extra help that he must put on, and seventy-five cents for the justice of the peace, alderman, or magistrate that takes the oath.

Mr. President, I want to say to you I am as vitally interested as any person here, because I think if you will search the records of the department you will find I have had more cases before the department than any Senator on the floor, simply because we are situated in a region of Pennsylvania that is covered with defense industries, and because of the fact that a great many of the inhabitants there are of foreign extraction, it is difficult for them to get straightened out with the bureau.

Mr. President, I only ask that this bill be amended in order that it really do some good. I want to say here now that as it is amended it seeks to cure an evil, but it does not do that because you still have to write to the department or you still have to come down to the department for the birth cerificate, and that in a sense is the whole trouble.

Mr. President, I only ask that the bill go over if possible until we can become familiar with it, and if it can be, as the gentleman from Fayette says, amended by the committee, it still comes out on second reading. You can not pass committee amendments on to the Senate without Senate confirmation of amendments made by the committee. Maybe I am not too familiar with the procedure, but having been here six years I think I know a little about it.

This bill, Mr. President, will not gain one day or one minute by sending it back after second reading. It must lay over for printing after it comes out, if the Senate does agree, and my suggestion was just as much in the interest of haste as the suggestion of the gentleman from Fayette, and I still believe it should go back to committee before passing second reading.

SENATE BILL NO. 9 RECOMMITTED

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 9, on second reading, entitled:

An Act concerning the permanent recordation of certain births, birth certificates, the issuance of copies of such certificates, and prescribing the procedure therefor; enlarging the powers and duties of the Department of Health and the Bureau of Vital Statistics; and increasing the duties of certain county officials be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions for the purpose of amendment, without being read the second time.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, the Secretary has announced a meeting of the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions on Tuesday, February 18, 1941 at 3:00 p. m. I wish to state this is a committee meeting and not a public hearing but any member of the Senate who is interested is invited to be present.

ERRATUM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair's attention has been called to the fact that the election returns for the Thirty-First Senatorial District, as shown in the Legislative Journal of the Senate, January 7, 1941, at page 2, due to a typographical error, are incorrect. The correct returns as attested by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, were as follows:

THIRTY-FIRST SENATORIAL DISTRICT

	Hermas L. Weary	George N. Wade
Cumberland County	15,511	15,250
Juniata County	3,495	3,487
Mifflin County	6,565	6,466
Perry County	4,338	5,948
Total	29,909	31,151

And George N. Wade was accordingly declared elected The Journal will note the correction.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1941

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Our God and Father, may our words be choice, our speech simple and sincere, and our lives dedicated to the highest things in life. We confess our infirmity, and cry to Thee to perfect that which concerneth us. Deliver us from dangers without, but still more from foes within. Strike off the chains that fetter us and set us free to a larger life and unstinted service. Free us from all fear and dread. Take from us the poison of venomous selfishness, which keeps us irritated and in a constant state of fretfulness and foolish warfare. Diffuse within each of us the peace of a trustful and generous heart. Make our lives roomy and hospitable, appreciative and genial.

Hear us, we humbly beseech Thee. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, February 12, 1941.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, February 12, 1941, when, on motion of Mr. MARKS, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. D'ORTONA and DiGENOVA RESOLUTION No. 25.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, The City of Philadelphia, and particularly the citizens of the twenty-sixth ward thereof, recently experienced a horrible tragedy as a result of a series of gas explosions resulting in the death of at least five of its citizens and injuries to at least twenty-five others; and

Whereas, A serious controversy regarding the cause of said explosions has resulted in a series of investigations being made by eight different city agencies; and

Whereas, Said agencies are to make a report to the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, The City of Philadelphia has an interest in the findings of said agencies, in that the city may be responsible for the occurrence of the catastrophe; and

Whereas, Said investigations may not properly enlighten the citizens of the City of Philadelphia as to the cause of the exposions; and

Whereas, It is deemed desirable to make a thorough investigation in order that the cause of the explosions be determined, and a recurrence thereof prevented; and

Whereas, Legislation may be necessary to prevent a recurrence thereof; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House appoint a committee of five members, whose duty it shall be to make a careful, thorough and impartial investigation of the causes and reasons for the explosions, and that the said committee shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to this House as early as possible.

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. STINE. RESOLUTION No. 26.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, Nationally organized poultry interests have announced the dates of March 6-12 inclusive and May 1-7 inclusive as Springtime Egg Festival; and

Whereas, This event is designed to increase the consumption of eggs during the period of peak production and thereby lessen the egg surplus that depresses the egg market for the remainder of the year; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania leads America in the dollar value of eggs produced annually; and

Whereas, Poultry and Eggs are a $67,000,000 annual industry in Pennsylvania with its 67 counties; and

Whereas, There are 167,000 farmers owning flocks producing eggs in Pennsylvania in every one of the State's 67 counties; and

Whereas, Merchants throughout the State have agreed to cooperate with the poultry raisers in the intensive promotion of Springtime Egg Festival

Therefore Be It Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania endorses Springtime Egg Festival and calls upon the consumers of the State to help Pennsylvania's 167,000 poultry raisers through materially increasing their use of eggs during Springtime Egg Festival.

RESOLUTION No. 27.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, It is the right of every individual under our Constitution, to exercise freedom of thought and speech, which right is inviolate in that it does not transgress upon the right of other individuals; and

Whereas, It is likewise the right of any minority, regardless of size, not to suffer political or econmomic discrimination, and

Whereas, Our Constitution does not purport to shelter any group or individual whose intent it is to carry on sabotage and subversive activities against our Government; and

Whereas, It is reported that there are individuals engaged in such activities who are the beneficiaries of public funds such as salaries, compensation and relief, the result thereof being that such public funds are aiding and abetting the purposes of such individuals; therefore be it

Resolved, That such legislation be enacted as will make it mandatory to remove from the ballot in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, any political party, or purported party, and to prohibit the placing upon the ballot at any time, the name of any individual, or candidate of any party, who/which shall have been indisputably proven an agent of subversive propoganda, and/or does subscribe to any doctrine inimicable to that form of government which it is our privilege to enjoy under the Constitution of the United States, and/or which doctrine proposes the change of that form of government by any means not provided for under the Constitution (to wit, violence or sabotage, etc.) or who/which does participate in, or is a party to any movement sponsored by, financed in whole or in part, or is in any sense directed by any government other than our own, or any agent of such foreign government.

RESOLUTION No. 28.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, the stabilization of the bituminous coal industry through price fixing and the elimination of unfair competition is of greatest importance throughout many portions of the United State and particularly in the bituminous region of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, the Act of Congress known as the "Bituminous Coal Act of 1937" (April 26, 1937 c. 127; 50 Stat. 72), has operated effectively to eliminate detrimental overproduction and savage competition in the bituminous coal industry; and

Whereas, the constitutionality of this Act of Congress has been finally sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Sunshine Anthracite Coal Co. v. Adhins 310 U. S. 381 84 L. ed 1263 (1940); and

Whereas, the operation of this Act of Congress ceases by its own terms on April 26, 1941; and

Whereas, if the provisions of this Act of Congress are not extended for an additional period, free competition in the bituminous coal industry may again degrade into anarchy, now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to further extend the effective period of the "Bituminous Coal Act of 1937", and be it further

Resolved, that one copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of the following:

The President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt

The Vice-President, Henry A. Wallace, President of the United States Senate

Speaker Rayburn, House of Representatives

Senator Joseph Guffey

Senator Jame P. Davis and

All members of the House delegation from Pennsylvania

RESOLUTION No. 29.

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1941.

Whereas, the present maximum monthly shelter allowances to families receiving public assistance in Pennsylvania is $5.85 for families of one person, increasing to $9.75 maximum for families of three persons or more, and

Whereas, recent surveys have conclusively shown that there is a gross insufficiency of dwelling accommodations renting within the amount of the allowance, and

Whereas, the report of the survey of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance, published in 1939 entitled "Current Living Costs as Related to Standards of Public Assistance in Pennsylvania," shows that the actual minimum costs of shelter greatly exceeds the present shelter allowances, and

Whereas, the Department of Public Assistance is charged by law to provide sufficient assistance to relief families to "enable them to maintain for themselves and their dependents a decent and healthful standard of living," and

Whereas, the present inadequate shelter allowances make it impossible to carry out the provisions of the law, therefore be it

Resolved, that the House of Representatives hereby goes on record as favoring and urging that sufficient funds be provided to the Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance to enable it to make shelter allowances to families receiving Public Assistance in an amount sufficient to cover the actual costs of shelter as determined by surveys, and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and to the Secretary of Property and Supplies and to the members of the Pennsylvania Board of Public Assistance.

Referred to the Committee on Welfare.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. HOLLAND offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

On last Saturday, February 15th, occurred the eightieth birthday of the outstanding figure in the preservation of wild life in this Commonwealth and on this continent.

John M. Phillips of Pittsburgh has devoted a lifetime of energy and devotion to a cause that has richly benefited through his untireing efforts. Among his outstanding achievements are the founding of the American Game Association, now the American Wild Life Institute, the organization of the game refuge system of Pennsylvania and its introduction in Canada for the preservation of the elk and antelope herd, and the bringing about of the adoption of migratory bird treaties with foreign countries, now embodied in the Lacey Act of Congress.

Mr. Phillips was a member of the Board of Game Commissioners from November 21, 1905 until November 17, 1923, and its vice-president for a number of years. He was the father of the Pennsylvania resident hunters' license law. He was interested and influential in securing the construction of the Pymatuning Dam as a sanctuary for migratory water fowl and as a means of flood control in the Shenango and Ohio River Valley. He has been active in the boy scout movement since its organization, and is still a member of the National Advisory Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is and has always been a leader in all civic affairs in his native city of Pittsburgh; therefore be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate this man of great accomplishments and sterling worth on his many years of consistent usefulness to his city, State and Nation, on the numberless dreams that he has converted into realities, and the priceless worth of the things that he has done for the sportsman and the millions of lovers of nature, and above all, on the occasion of his attaining his four score years.

Resolved, That a duly certified copy of this Resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to Mr. Phillips at his home in Pittsburgh.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. FALKENSTEIN offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, All the members of the House of Representatives are profoundly shocked to learn of the death of the Honorable Edward P. Carney of Philadelphia, who died in the line of his duty as an employe of this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Edward P. Carney won the respect and admiration of his fellow-citizens of Philadelphia, where he served for twelve years as a magistrate, administrating justice without fear or favor to all alike; and

Whereas, As a special investigator of the Department of Revenue he brought glory to himself and to the Department of Revenue for his sterling efforts; and

Whereas, It is fitting that this House pause in its deliberations to honor the memory of a distinguished citizen of this Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives note with sorrow the passing of the Honorable Edward P. Carney; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the bereaved members of his family as a token of its sincere sympathy for its great loss.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. MODELL and CULLEN offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, We have learned with a profound sense of sorrow of the passing of Bridget Smith, mother of the Honorable James A. Smith, former member of the House of Representatives from Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Bridget Smith, by her indomitable will and courage, fostered a true appreciation of the values of true democracy in her distinguished son; and

Whereas, We of the House of Representatives sympathize with him in his bereavement; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House send a copy of this resolution to the Honorable James A. Smith, and with it the deepest condolences of the members of the House of Representatives, especially those of us who are privileged to number him among our friends.

RESOLUTIONS

BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. SOLLENBERGER and AUKER offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, Time in its relentless onward march, brings wrinkles to unfurrowed brows and dyspepsia to cheerful souls; and

Whereas, At the half century mark some men are ready to bring little cheer into the lives of those about them; and

Whereas, The Hon. George E. Jones is a striking illustration of how one escapes these ravages of time; and

Whereas, Today at fifty, as he was at twenty, he is affable, genial, generous to a fault, a fine friend and boon companion; and

Whereas, As a master of the slide trombone, which he can make sing, laugh or talk, and as the leader of the Hollidaysburg's Drum Corps he brings music into the lives of his friends and neighbors; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House felicitate George E. Jones on his fiftieth birthday and wish him many more birthdays to the accompaniment of the drums and the trombone.

CONGRATULATION

Mr. McLANE offered a privileged resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, All members of the House of Representatives are known for their careful and sober judgment; and

Whereas, They apply themselves diligently in the solution of all problems confronting the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, They sometimes pause in their deliberations to ponder over some less weighty personal problems; and

Whereas, There too they come to a happy and perfect solution; and

Whereas, The Honorable Martin F. Kenehan has followed the above procedure, and been fortunate in his most admirable solution; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives felicitate him and his bride-to-be, Miss Gertrude McKenon on their mutual choice; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House send a copy of this resolution to both prospective bridegroom and his fiancee as a testimonial of the good wishes of the members of the House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Kenehan.

Mr. KENEHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of matrimonial privilege.

The SPEAKER. This is the last opportunity the gentleman will have.

Mr. KENEHAN. Mr. Speaker, like in the picture "Mr.

Smith Goes to Washington," when he first went to Washington he carried under his arm a crate of pigeons, I carried detective stories. After being here for about three months, the Members of the Legislature sent me back a seasoned man with regrets. I wish to warn a few single members of the House who are left, such as brother Schwab, and a few more, to stay away from the cave-man from Luzerne. The few little things I may have done wrong in Harrisburg I lay them all on his platter.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION No. 21

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution 21, Printer's No. 16.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1941.

Whereas, The farmers of Adams County, Cumberland County and York County have asserted their right to resist unwarranted attempts to deprive them of low electric rates; and

Whereas, Said farmers have shown unusual courage, resourcefulness and solidarity of purpose in a long night vigil and by concerted action have resisted the attempt of the power interests to deprive them of an agency which would afford them low electric light rates; and

Whereas, Said farmers have been refused and denied the benefits of electric power and light at reasonable rates for many years; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of Governor George H. Earle gave to the farmers of Pennsylvania the model Rural Electrification Act of 1937; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt gave to the farmers of the nation the rural electrification administration for the purpose of establishing a method of securing electric light and power at low rates; now therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives this day assembled at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, hereby renews its pledge of cooperation with the farmers of the State of Pennsylvania in an effort to secure for them an extension of rural electrification; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby pledges to resist and to defeat any attempt to destroy or minimize the benefits of the Rural Electrification Act of the 1937 Session.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 21 relates to the question of Rural Electrification. This resolution is of vital importance to thousands of farmers and rural folks in the counties of York, Adams, Cumberland and Fulton. We who come from the Counties mentioned feel that very shortly House Resolution 21 and the action which we take on this resolution will have a profound effect on hundreds of thousands of citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, especially the farmers and rural folks who do not now have the benefits of electricity.

Perhaps you have noticed during the past several weeks that we have witnessed in the counties mentioned some of the most unusual prosperity. So much prosperity that the utilities were forced to go out and dig pole holes in the middle of the night. It might be wise for the Department of Commerce to go out and take pictures, in the middle of the night, of this activity.

Perhaps you have noticed in the newspapers that over in Cumberland County several weeks ago there was so much prosperity developing on the question of rural electrification that the farmers suddenly discovered that the utility companies were digging holes in the middle of the night. I believe it would be interesting to have a photograph of this prosperity in the next issue printed by the Department of Commerce. Certainly the rest of the country would be interested in learning how we have developed here in Pennsylvania, especially on the question of rural electrification.

In the 1937 session of the Legislature, we passed a rural electrification act. An act that made it possible for the citizens of Pennsylvania, those rural folk and farmers who did not enjoy the benefits of electricity to form cooperatives and to work in cooperation with the National Rural Electrification Association so that it would be possible to form cooperatives that could go out into the rural sections and serve electricity on a cooperative basis.

In some sections of Pennsylvania we have splendid examples of Utilities who have been willing to serve the people in their communities with electricity at rates that were low and just. To these utilities, we take off our hats, with these we have no quarrel. But some of us have been living in a section where we can say that this is not true. This resolution is directed and our actions are directed only in the direction of those utilities who for the past 20 years have consistently said that they were not interested in furnishing current to the people in the rural sections who did not at the time enjoy it. We had many many examples where the farmers had asked for current and the utilities said it isn't possible to furnish current at a reasonable rate. They said we can't do it, it will wreck us.

The rural people have said for years that it is possible to furnish light and power to the rural communities at low and fair rates providing you take all of the people under the plan. The farmers and rural people said that there are sections of the country where it has been done, where lines have been stretched miles and miles and they, the good utilities have been able to furnish current at low rates.

But the sleeping utilities, like Rip Van Winkle, have slept for twenty years and have said that it couldn't be done. Now, we find that now that the Adams Cooperative operating in the counties of York, Adams, Cumberland and Fulton Counties is at work, suddenly overnight certain utilities decided that this business is so important and so profitable that, after sleeping for twenty years, they now must dig pole holes and plant poles in the middle of the night.

Isn't it a shame when you look at the beautiful farming section that we have in York County, a county that fronts on the beautiful Susquehanna River where we have some of the largest power plants that you find anywhere in the United States, beautiful large plants, large dams right on the edge of our County, plants which are producing millions of killowat hours of electricity daily and the farmers who live right next to those plants, even tonight, are unable to get electric current at any price, not even at a minimum of ten dollars or fifteen dollars per month. Think of it, they live right along side of these marvelous hydro-electric plants.

I ask you gentlemen, isn't it time that we step in, isn't it time that we, as a Legislature, say this can't go on any longer.

Compare this condition in York County where we have some of the largest, most beautiful farms and industries as you will find anywhere, farms located right along side of those power plants with the St. Lawrence River section in Canada. Those of you who have traveled through this section, as I have, were undoubtedly surprised to find that all around the province of Quebec from the city of Quebec up the St. Lawrence River and around the Gaspie Peninsula for hundreds of miles through a sparsely settled country, every small home and farm enjoys electricity.

Those of us who were interested enough to check, learned that along the St. Lawrence they were receiving this electric power for one-half cent per kilowat hour, while we in the city of York pay five cents per killowat hour with thousands and thousands of consumers, yes, in the City of York we pay a much higher rate than they pay in the sparsely settled Province of Quebec.

So when the farmers in York, Adams, Fulton and Cumberland counties have been willing to organize on their own and do for themselves what the sleeping Rip Van Winkles have been unable or unwilling to do for the past twenty years, we suddenly find that the utilities have rushed in and are building lines for a purpose and that purpose being to stop the cooperative from building their own lines. Isn't it time that we, of the Legislature, put a stop to a spectacle such as we have before us.

We are told that on the 19th of this month which is Wednesday, certain utilities operating in the territory just mentioned are going before the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania and they are asking that Commission to rule that because they have set up poles through the Counties of York, Adams and Cumberland, that because of that, the Public Utility Commission should rule that the farmers' cooperative should not have the privilege of putting in a line of their own.

This, gentlemen of the House, is being done for one purpose and one purpose only and that is to stop the farmers' cooperative which is now building in Adams, York and Cumberland Counties from stepping in and taking care of the problem itself. And I might add that cooperative has not asked one person to enter the cooperative who is being served at a reasonable rate.

Gentlemen of the House, by voting for this resolution you will be doing three things. First we are saying to the public utilities of Pennsylvania, to the good utilities who have given current at a reasonable rate to the farmers, we will say by our votes our hats are off to you. We will say we nave no quarrel with you. We say it is up to you to get behind the movement and wake up the sleeping utilities in your midst.

To the sleeping utilities, we say get busy and do the right thing before we are forced to pass more stringent legislation to regulate your actions.

Second, to the farmers we say, we are behind you, we believe you are right. We say that if they, the utilities, didn't want to serve you for all these years, we are going to see that you get your rights to operate your own cooperative.

Thirdly, I want to urge each member of the House to vote for this Resolution tonight so that we can say to the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania, go down to Cumberland County, turn on the spot light so that you can see why they got so busy all of a sudden. See why they had to begin digging in the middle of the night. Turn on the spotlight and see what it is all about. To the members of the Public Utility Commission, we say we believe you will be fair in your decision and that you will give the farmers of York, Adams and Cumberland counties the opportunity that they deserve.

I want to appeal to all of you gentlemen of the House to support this resolution.

Mr. McINTOSH. Mr. Speaker, the resolution before the House can be further clarified by pointing out the situation which has arisen in Cumberland County.

For the past several years the rural people of Cumberland County have been requesting the utility company which serves that district to supply electricity to their homes. The answer of the utility has been either a flat refusal or a promise to install electricity if the consumer would pay an exorbitant rate. As a result these rural people joined a cooperative association, formed under the Federal Rural Electrification Act and the Pennsylvania Act of 1937 in order to obtain electricity for their homes. As soon as this was done the public utility of the district recognized a prospective competitor in the field, and made every effort to block the objective of the cooperative by offering power at reduced rates and by resorting to various legal technicalities.

This can probably be best illustrated by stating the experiences of several farmers who live in the area in question. In the first case one of these farmers contacted the utility for electricity. The utility stated that they would provide the electricity at an installation cost of three hundred dollars, and in addition to that, the consumer would have to pay a minimum rate of four dollars per month. The consumer signed up at these terms and the utility then stated that they would have to get other subscribers. Some time after that, the utility reported that they could not provide the electricity because they had not obtained the additional subscribers. The consumer then informed the utility that he was going to join a cooperative association and that the cooperative had quoted a minimum rate of two dollars and seventy-five cents per month, with no installation costs. Some time later the utility made an offer of two dollars and seventy-five cents per month as a minimum rate in order to meet the bid of the cooperative.

In the second case, one of the rural people of the district requested electricity and the utility refused to even quote a rate or discuss the problem with him. The power line of the utility, incidentally, was not more than a mile from the farmer's residence. This man then put in his own power plant at a cost of five hundred dollars. He has now signed up with the cooperative at their minimum rate, and he has received offers from the utility, since he has signed with the cooperative, of a minimum rate of four dollars and seventy-five cents per month, which has since been reduced to two dollars and seventy-five cents per month, to meet the bid of the cooperative. In addition, the utility offered this farmer sixty dollars for a right-of-way over his land and then advanced the offer to one hundred and fifty dollars.

In the third case, the farmer met with a flat refusal from the utility when he requested electricity. Later, he was quoted a minimum rate of eleven dollars to twelve dollars per month. Since this man has signed up with the cooperative the utility has offered their two dollars and seventy-five cents per month minimum rate to meet the bid of the cooperative.

These cases which I have cited are not outstanding but are merely indicative of the course of events in Cumberland County. The number of people who have signed with the cooperative in Franklin and Cumberland Counties is about seven hundred, and many other cases could be cited if necessary.

One of the latest developments was the utility digging post holes over the land of several farmers who had signed with the cooperative in order to gain a preemptive right. The farmers followed the utility employees and filled the post holes as fast as the company dug them.

It is not my intention to bicker with a public utility simply because of the fact that it is a public utility. The practice of supplying electricity at the highest rate that the traffic will bear and the practice of attempting to throttle a prospective competitor may be sound from a business standpoint. However, the present situation has a social aspect as well as a business aspect. Rural electrification by means of a cooperative association formed under the Federal Rural Electrification Act and our own Act of 1937 vitally effects the living conditions of the rural people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, it is both fitting and proper that this House go on record as commending the action of the rural people of Cumberland County in their effort to better their living conditions, and it is both fitting and proper that this House renew its pledge to the rural people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to continue its fight for more liberal legislation in the field of rural electrification.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, as a rural legislator—I think that definition is correct—I want to say that I am heartily in favor of the practical end of this resolution, but I certainly oppose the political end. To listen to the gentleman from York one would have thought that every time we turn on the electric light we have to thank Franklin Roosevelt and Governor George Earle. Everybody knows that we have had electricity for the last fifty years, and it is not due to the scandalous Earle administration and it is not due to the extravagant and wasteful administration of President Roosevelt.

I think the gentleman is entirely out of order bringing in the name of Roosevelt and Earle into this resolution, and I for one resent it. On the other hand I am going to vote for it in spite of the fact that those two names were inserted purely for political purposes, and not for any practical reason or for any reason that anyone could determine. I believe the Scriptures start out with the words "Let there be light and there was light." I remember that much from the Bible, at least. I think light should be shed on a lot of things around here, and we should turn on the full spot light, and not the spite light, but the full spot light of this body on the sewing project, for instance, and the fact that the W. P. A. is responsible very largely for the ten thousand women being on the verge of being thrown out of work.

It is not necessary to cover up this scandalous Earle administration with any such resolution as this. As I said before, I am a rural member. I would like to have electricity brought up to certain properties that I have and I haven't been able to persude the electric light companies to do it. Now, if I go ahead and vote for this resolution, which I expect to do, I am a little bit afraid that the Democrats on the other side will come in here with a resolution saying that I am voting in favor of something from which I was benefitting, but I am going to take a chance and vote for this resolution in spite of the fact that I want rural electrification brought to my properties and I would derive some benefit from it.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for voting along with us, and if he votes for this resolution I assure him we will help him get the current up there, even though he is a Republican.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I approach the moment of decision on this resolution with mixed emotions. My emotions, at this time I think probably are mixed as much as those of the majority leader in the dramatic moment when he came face to face with the Governor's budget message.

As a rural legislator I do not think that I should deprive myself of sharing in the thunderous roar of applause that will rise from every grass-plot and wood-lot immediately upon the passage of this resolution. I want to offer a suggestion to my Republican colleagues. The point has been raised here that it was not the General Assembly of Pennsylvania and it was not the Congress of the United States that made these great blessings, that have been given us at great length, available to the farmers and rural people of Pennsylvania, but it was F. Roosevelt and G. Earle. Now if we rural Republicans can practice just a little mental gymnastics and sort of self evasion of mind, and when we vote on this resolution substitute "The General Assembly of Pennsylvania" for the words "G. Earle" and "The Congress of the United States" for the words "F. Roosevelt," I think then that we too could go along in this with good grace and share in the great applause that is bound to follow the passage of this resolution.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not arise either to support or oppose this resolution, but I think it is my duty to point out to the rural members of the House and to the urban members of the House that there is a paradox among these resolutions that should be given very careful consideration.

I didn't sleep very well last night, so sometime in the early hours of the morning I picked up the history and went through some of the bills and resolutions and I found among these resolutions, I think I remember one that provided that we were to hold an egg consumption week and that the purpose was to have us eat more eggs during the time when there was a great surplus of eggs and the chickens were laying more than the market could properly assimilate to keep high prices up for the farmers.

Now, I am heartily in favor of anything that will increase the consumption of eggs. They are a fine commodity and they mix well with certain things around Easter time and Christmas; they are all right when a skillful hand can stir them into an omulet. They sound well when you hear them calling through the early hours of the night "Two, sunny-side up." They are all right. I am in favor of anything that increases the consumption of eggs. But on the other hand as I ride through the country I have my doubts about this rural electrification because of its effect on the production of these eggs, because I, as a "dirty" farmer, as I said the other day, having raised chickens and had my chickens produce—I got called down for talking about producing milk, but my chickens produce eggs. As I rode through the country at night on my business, which keeps me up late, I notice almost all of the hen houses of the farmers are well lighted, and on inquiry I found that the purpose of the light was to keep the hens up scratching at night so they would produce more eggs. This appears to me as one of those paradoxes. They ask us to eat more eggs to keep up the prices and on the other hand they do everything to increase the production. So on this resolution you ought to consider that question, as to whether you want to keep the hens up later at night to produce more eggs or to eat more eggs to increase the income of the farmer.

I want to sound a warning to those Members like myself from the rural counties in considering these questions as farmers. While we have something to do with bills and resolutions, I do not know what we have to do with the Public Utility Commission. The Public Utility law was written during a Democratic administration. This matter is now before the Public Utility Commission, and I do not know why the Legislature doesn't attend to its own business of producing bills, instead of telling the Public Utility Commission what to do. Nevertheless, if my friend Moul and this other gentleman from one of the country districts want to get a little advertising, that is all right. I can't hate a member for trying to get a little political prestige out of it. I like these fellows, even though they are Democrats. They may not be back with us at the next session. They have got a lot of electricity, they keep the chickens up at night, and they produce more eggs and break the market.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, when I first learned about the case in Cumberland County I was in a quandary to understand why a public utility company had suddenly decided there was a profitable territory in Cumberland County that they had failed to service. As a matter of fact, every time I have learned of a utility company that had been approached to serve the farmers, they always maintained that there was no profit in serving the rural area, and this evening I have learned the explanation.

I presume that Mr. Turner in his midnight prowling has traversed various territories, has observed what the farmers are doing to their chickens, and has carried the story back to the utility companies. Then for the first time the utilities decided "Why, we certainly will not permit rural electrification because there is really a profit there." They are not going to stand for any territory being pre-empted unless they do the pre-empting.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.

HONORABLE MORTON WITKIN INTRODUCED TO HOUSE

The SPEAKER. The chair has a distinguished visitor. According to the Chairs' past experience it is going to be too dangerous to have him on the floor, so the Chair has invited him to the rostrum where he can keep his eye on him. If there is no objection I would like to introduce to the House the former Republican Floor Leader, Morton Witkin, of Philadelphia.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, after listening for a few moments I think I should add "And Members of the Rural League"

I want to thank you and the Speaker of the House for the honor and the privilege of just saying a word to you. It has been quite a few years since I spoke in this House of Representatives, but I want to say to those new Members and to many of the older Members of the House that the most pleasurable years of my political life were spent in the House of Representatives.

I do not care whether or not many of you are elevated to any public office, you will never forget and never have as good a time as you do in this House of Representatives. The friendships I have formed and the many fights and engagements I have been in were always mixed with a certain sense of humor, and good fellowship.

If I may presume for just a moment to lend what might be considered friendly advice, may I say to all of you that in these perilous times and in this dark age in which we are presently living there are many controversies that will come amongst you, but take my advice and always remember that as you leave the doors of this House, whether you be a Republican or whether you be a Democrat, there is no subject in the world that should be so great as to cause any personal ill feeling.

The greatest problem I find to-day is that all of us must be Americans first, last and forever. I want to close by saying that I hope that this House and the Senate will adopt such legislation as will help our country, and may God give you all a proper sense of duty in order that all of us may perform that duty.

I cannot help but say to the Speaker of the House that I think it was very gracious of him to invite me to the rostrum and believe me when I tell you I was anxious to be invited, because it is one of the fondest memories I have ever had or ever shall have or ever hope to have, and that was being a member of this august and dignified body. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the County Commissioner from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin.

BILLS RE-REFERRED

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN returned from the Committee on Judiciary Special with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations House Bill No. 131, entitled:

An Act requiring the county treasurer to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for nonpayment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class, and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands.

The SPEAKER. This bill is re-referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN returned from the Committee on Judiciary Special with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations House Bill No. 155, entitled:

An Act abating certain tax penalties and interest on county, city (except city of the first class), borough, town, township, school district (except school district of the first class), and county institution district taxes; prohibiting the sale of real property for the nonpayment of any such taxes for a certain period; and preserving certain tax liens, and providing for the extension thereof.

The SPEAKER. The bill is re-referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the Members to sign all copies of bills and resolutions introduced. Copies have been coming to the desk that are not signed. Bills and resolutions should be signed plainly so that the signatures can be read by the Printer.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 18, 1941

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS offered the following prayer:

Standing today between the natal anniversaries of America's two greatest statesmen, Our Father, our pulses beat a little faster and our admiration is the deeper at the sound of their names—Washington and Lincoln. To stand upon the vantage ground of today causes us the better to see their true value and the clearer to discern their wondrous visions.

They were bulwarks of defense and towers of strength in times of national distress. They were humble and sincere in the conquest of life. Their humility and sincerity have been lifted to the ranks of the truly great. Their faith in God as an anchor of the soul in perplexing times actually sealed their universal esteem and gave them to the ages.

Let the great, the near great and the would-be great of our day, Oh Omnipotent Father, emulate their striking examples that our leaders may truly begin the trek back to Thee, the God of their fathers, and our people to follow in perfect accord. Then shall come to pass again the glorious days of yore in which men proclaimed: "The Lord is in His holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before Him" and "Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised."

Show us the way back to Thee, Oh God, even though it be humiliating, for in it only may we walk with peace and security without stumbling.

Justify the convention of this Senate this day and every day by the sincerity of our purpose to collaborate with Thee as we earnestly seek to be attuned to Thy infinite plan. In the name of our Master we humbly pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. EALY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal approved.

Mr. Edmonds asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. WOODWARD, on account of illness.

Mr. Crider asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. TAYLOR.

Mr. Walker asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. GELTZ, on account of the illness of his wife.

Mr. Shapiro asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. MUNDY, on account of a death in his family.

Mr. Mallery asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Chester, Mr. SCARLETT, on account of illness.

HOUSE MESSAGES

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 17, 1941.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 24, 1941 at 4:30 o'clock; p. m. and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, February 24, 1941, at 9 o'clock, p. m.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 262, (Senate Bill No. 202), entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law, for the two fiscal years ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

House Bill No. 263, (Senate Bill No. 203), entitled:

An Act transferring money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund; and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the transferred money.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. HEYBURN, by request, read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 204, entitled:

An Act to empower cities, counties, boroughs, incorporated towns and townships of the first class and of the second class to require the removal of advertising signs and the removal of used motor vehicles from areas designated as residential districts; authorizing the imposition of penalties and the employment of other appropriate remedies to compel such removal.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 205, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College for the use of the School of Mineral Industries for research and investigation of problems affecting mineral industries.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President and members of the Senate, yesterday Senator Miller introduced an appropriation bill providing for an appropriation for research work relating to the coal industry.

That bill, Mr. President, is a very important bill and has the entire approval of the other mineral industries of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I am now introducing an appropriation bill to continue the research laboratory that has been at State College for a great many years, relating to the mineral industries. This is a general appropriation bill, partly containing an appropriation to the Trustees of State College and partly containing an appropriation that is to be matched by monies from the mineral industries. It does not in any way conflict, Mr. President, with the bill introduced by the gentleman from Luzerne; in fact that bill has our entire support. This bill, Mr. President, is for the purpose of continuing the very important research laboratory relating to the mineral industries of Pennsylvania that is now in existence at State College.

Mr. President, I invite the attention of the members of the Senate to both these bills, because they involve investigation of the mineral industries, which are exceedingly important to the State of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STEVENSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 206, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section four of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," by providing for the furnishing of statements to persons against whom claims are due for support, maintenance and assistance.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, this bill which I am about to introduce does not have the Kriss Kringle touch which has characterized legislation affecting public assistance. In fact, on the contrary, it is to provide the provender to build up the stamina with which jolly old Saint Nicholas' reindeer might be able to dash through the snowdrifts in the years to come.

Mr. President, under the present system of public assistance, if anyone wishes to make payment of money owed to Public Assistance, he must take the initiative himself. I do not believe any of us in business today would be in business very long if we depended upon our customers or debtors to come in voluntarily and make payments of their accounts. Under the present system, Mr. President, anybody who has the virtue and honesty to want to pay any of these accounts, meets with such obstacles that he is so discouraged that by the time he gets the statement, he has lost that virtue and honesty.

Mr. President, this bill provides that the Department of Public Assistance shall send out quarterly statements to all people whose cases have been closed. As we all know, a great many of our former recipients of relief have now become self-dependent, they are rehabilitating themselves through employment, and a great many of them wish to have their liens cleared off the docket, and I think that a lot of their children who have a certain expectancy also desire to contribute to see that these homes against which liens have been entered might come down to them free of encumbrances.

So, Mr. President, this bill is designed, as I say, for the Department of Public Assistance to send out these quarterly statements, and I believe this is a veritable El Dorado that will bring large sums of money back into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, if we give these people some encouragement to pay back this money and to let them know how much they owe and what will happen if they pay.

At the same time, Mr. President, I think we all should be concerned very greatly with the philosophy that is prevalent in this decade that the world owes every man a living regardless of his own efforts.

The last depression, Mr. President, left a large number of casualties and the morale of millions more of our people stood at the breaking point. If we are going to meet the depression of the tomorrow with the concepts we have today, the number of casualties will be double that of the depression of yesterday. We have to build that into the shock troops of the next depression, those tottering, teetering things such as self-dependency, self-respect, esteem and pride, and the fact that the meeting of one's obligations is still classed as a virtue—which is in a vulnerable state—and if we do not destroy or do something to counter the present concepts, I think that adding the number of casualties of tomorrow's depression with those of today, the burden is going to be unbearable and the consequences would be catastrophic.

Mr. President, I would like to present this bill, and urge that it be given very careful consideration, because I believe it is in the right direction and we must do something to counter this something for nothing policy and philosophy that exists in our America today.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Messrs. RUTH, HOMSHER, and EDMONDS read in their place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 207, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsections (a) and (b) of section one thousand two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by further regulating the employment, suspension, and retirement of professional employes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 208, entitled:

An Act to amend sections 203. 204 and to further amend section 205 of, and to add sections 205.1, 205.2, 205.3, 205.4, 205.5, 205.6, 205.7, 205.8, 205.9, 205.10 and 205.11, to the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for the election of school directors in school districts of the second, third and fourth classes, by non-partisan ballots at special elections to be held in June of every odd numbered year.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Warren will state his question of personal privilege.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE UNITED STATES

Mr. CHAPMAN. The National Defense Advisory Commission issues a weekly bulletin entitled "Defense." The lead article in the current number is a report by Sidney Hillman, member of the commission. No man on the commission has greater support of the President of the United States than Mr. Hillman.

In the bulletin Mr. Hillman says the time lost by strikes during 1940 was less than two hours per worker. It would be difficult to controvert him without the records. But with the country feverishly addressing itself to defense output why any strike loss at all?

According to a compilation made by the United Press, and published last week, defense orders are now delayed by strikes at ten large plants.

At the Allis Chalmers works 7,800 workers have been on strike since January 22. The Motor Wheel Corp. in Lansing, Michigan, engaged in a large order for airplane propellers, has 3,000 men idle.

At the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., producing steel for defense purposes, 800 workers are out. Three Bethlehem Steel mills at Lackawanna, N. Y., are shut down and two operating on reduced schedule by walkouts described as "spontaneous" and "unsponsored."

Strikes are in effect at the Foster Wheeler Corp. plants in Carteret, N. J., working on $15,000,000 worth of navy contracts. The firm failed to comply with contract terms. At the International Harvester plant in Chicago 5,800 workers have been out for thirteen weeks. These plants are working on $10,000,000 worth of defense orders.

At the Standard Tool Works at Cleveland, engaged on generators for submarines, 600 workers are idle. At Ridgeville, Pa., there is a strike of 400 workers in the vanadium plant because the company has hired six guards. At Dutch Harbor, Alaska, where the navy is building an air base, carpenters have just resumed work pending the decision of a conciliation board.

With the future of the United States hanging in the balance, this is a deplorable state of affairs. Its most terrifying implication is that the United States is without an adequate concept of the tremendous part she is called upon to play in this frightful world drama, and that our government has broken down. Nothing can do more than these strikes to prove the truth of what Hitler says, "that democracies are too weak to discharge their share of world government; that they must be liquidated and replaced by capable management."

However, these strikes are provocative of another inference. The people who call and participate in them are the ones who will suffer most if Hitler wins. The United States will have to pay tribute to him in one form or another. If our economy breaks down organized labor will break down. The American standard of living will be reduced to the European level. What has happened to labor in Europe will happen here—and all this may come well inside of a decade.

This is only the self-interest side of it. There is a still more sinister one. This country is practically in this war, and when any nation is at war it is the duty of every citizen to do his bit. National unity and loyalty demand it. To do otherwise is to contribute aid and comfort to the enemy. Decisive action by the government at Washington on this menace is overdue.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege, on the order of resolutions.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette may proceed.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, some time ago there was presented to this body a resolution in which were charged some very serious offenses of misconduct to a member of the State Athletic Commission, and in that resolution there was particularly charged misconduct relative to a pugilistic event that I understand is now history, since last night.

Mr. President, since the charges lodged in that resolution were of such serious nature, and since the one event is now history, I think this Senate is entitled to have some information relative to the whole subject matter, and if it is not objectionable to the President or this Senate, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, inasmuch as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, was one of the co-sponsors of the resolution that I have referred to, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state whether he was in attendance at the pugilistic event last night in Philadelphia?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I was in Harrisburg last night.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state why he was not interested in attending the event that he had so charged with being unfair in his resolution?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Well, Mr. President, I could just skirt that question if I wanted to evade the question of my friend from Fayette, but being that I am not a sucker for pugilism as the newspapers put it one time, that is the reason I was not there.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in other words, am I to infer from the statement of the gentleman from Philadelphia that he considers all those who attended as pugilistic suckers?

Mr. President, I would now like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JASPAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state whether he attended the great pugilistic event last night.

Mr. JASPAN. I did, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state whether there were other members of the Senate present?

Mr. JASPAN. There were, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state whether he had free passes or whether he paid for his tickets.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I paid $23.40 in good hard earned money for four tickets.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, with reference to the same resolution that my collegue from Fayette spoke on, introduced by my two colleagues from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan and Mr. DiSilvestro, I accepted an invitation last night to attend this Louis-Dorazio fight. I went to it and I might say it was not a pleasure.

Mr. President, I am sincere in the statement I am about to make. When my two colleagues introduced this resolution, I paid little attention to the contents of same. I thought they were talking out loud or thinking out loud but I am convinced they had inside information pertaining to this fight. The resolution speaks for itself. They told us in advance what would happen or what might have happened had the fight continued.

Mr. President, I think this body should pay some attention to that resolution. I think it is a disgrace to fool so many people, take their money to put on such a farce of a fight. In my opinion, Mr. President, and I sat close to the ringside, I am firmly convinced this man Dorazio took a perfect dive. I spent ten years in the ring myself, and when I speak of dives, I know what that means.

The PRESIDENT. I think the Senators would like the Senator from Cambria to explain what a dive is.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I shall try to explain what happened last night, as to what a dive is, in pugilism, that is—a dive means in my opinion, if some one tells me in advance that at a certain time, on a certain day and at a certain hour I shall fall for a considerable sum, whatever it might be, we call that a dive in the ring.

Last night, Mr. President, as I witnessed this fight, when the world's heavyweight champion, Joe Louis raised his right arm, in the same moment this man, Dorazio, headed for the floor and they both met.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That was smart.

Mr. HALUSKA. I will say he was smart but I think we ought to pay more attention to this resolution.

Mr. President, I am fully aware of the fact that our Boxing Commission could not tell us who might win a fight, I am aware of the fact you could not match two men and the Commission have knowledge of who is going to win, but last night either one of two things happened, this man definitely sold out for a consideration or he was unfit to meet the champion for the world's heavyweight title.

Mr. President, if Philadelphia or this Commonwealth wishes to put on such fights as an exhibition, well and good. I see no harm in our Boxing Commissioner putting on exhibition fights, but in my opinion they had no right to call it a title fight, if they knew in advance there was not an equal chance or an equal match, so one of two things happened, either the Boxing Commissioners, the fighters or the promoters knew in advance at what stage of that fight the dive would take place, and I say it was a complete frameup, and we should investigate that fight and try to determine if possible who was responsible for such a farce of a fight.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I attended that fight last night, and I am convinced if any of the members of the Senate want to get a short-end bet when Joe Louis fights Billy Conn—bet on Billy Conn.

RECESS

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 12:00 o'clock, noon.

Mr. THOMAS I. WILSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 145, as follows:

An Act to amend further section fourteen of an act approved the seventh day of August one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Pamphlet Laws one hundred six) entitled "An act relating to flood control prescribing the powers and duties of the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters in relation to the creation of flood control districts adoption of plans for flood control works and improvements carrying into effect of such plans assistance aid and co-operation with public and private agencies and the Federal Government in Federal flood control works and improvements and entering into compacts and agreements with other states for flood control works and improvements conferring the power of eminent domain providing for the setting off of benefits imposing certain charges upon the Commonwealth providing for appeals and conferring certain powers on municipalities counties and townships and the Department of Highways" as reenacted and amended by conferring additional powers on the Department of Highways

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Section fourteen of the act approved the seventh day of August one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Pamphlet Laws one hundred six) entitled "An act relating to flood control prescribing the powers and duties of the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters in relation to the creation of flood control districts adoption of plans for flood control works and improvements carrying into effect of such plans assistance aid and co-operation with public and private agencies and the Federal Government in Federal flood control works and improvements and entering into compacts and agreements with other states for flood control works and improvements conferring the powers of eminent domain providing for the setting off of benefits imposing certain charges upon the Commonwealth providing for appeals and conferring certain powers on municipalities counties and townships and the Department of Highways" as reenacted and amended by the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws forty-three) and by the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-five) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 14 Relocation of Roads Streets and Bridges The Department of Highways and municipalities may enter into agreements with the board or Federal agencies with the approval of the board to relocate roads streets bridges and viaducts necessitated by the construction of any State or Federal flood control works and improvements and may agree therein to construct new roads streets bridges and viaducts and pay the cost of the same or any part thereof from the Motor License Fund or municipal moneys without any charge or only part of the cost charged against the moneys in the fund The board may consent in any such agreement to pay the whole or any part of the cost of constructing such relocated roads streets bridges and viaducts from the moneys in the fund. Such relocated roads streets bridges and viaducts may be constructed by the Department of Highways or by contract let by said department or the municipality or by the board or by a Federal agency as may be agreed upon Relocation of State highways shall be made by plans properly approved as is required by law for the relocation of State highway routes and may be made without regard to terminal or intermediate points mentioned in the law establishing such routes The portions of State highway routes supplied by such relocations may be abandoned by the Secretary of Highways in the manner provided by law whereupon said abandoned portions of State highway routes shall revert to the authorities responsible for the maintenance of the public road or highway prior to its having been established as a State highway The Secretary of Highways may also at any time by and with the consent of the local authorities by written order declare the portion or portions of road or roads so abandoned to be vacated and closed to public use and travel and no longer a public road

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STEVENSON from the Committee on Appropriations reported as amended Senate Bill No. 202, (House Bill No. 262), entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law, for the two fiscal years ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one.

He also from the Committee on Appropriations reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 203, (House Bill No. 263), entitled:

An Act transferring money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund; and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the transferred money.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have here some correspondence which I would like to have read for the information and approval of the Senate and then added to the Appendix of the Legislative Journal.

RESOLUTION OF ALLEGHENY VALLEY INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL OF NEW KENSINGTON, PA.

The Clerk read a resolution addressed to the Senate of Pennsylvania by the Allegheny Valley Industrial Council of New Kensington, Pa., condemning the recommendations of Secretary Hines and the Joint State Government Commission as an attack upon the legitimate rights of State employes and organized labor.

RESOLUTION OF LOCAL UNION 3257, U. M. W. A.

The Clerk read a resolution addressed to the members of the Senate by Local Union 3257, U. M. W. A. remonstrating against the Public Assistance Laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. The communications will be noted in the Journal.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING RECREATION OF JOINT LEGISLATIVE INDUSTRIAL TAX STUDY COMMITTEE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I present to the Chair a resolution urging re-creation by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania of the Joint Legislative Tax Study Committee, which was originally created in 1937, and, Mr. President, I ask that the resolution be read and then be laid upon the table.

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, February 18, 1941.

Whereas, Pursuant to a Concurrent Resolution adopted by the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania on March 8, 1937, and concurred in by the House of Representatives on March 15, 1937, a Joint Legislative Committee was created to ascertain the tenability of then prevalent assertions pertaining to migratory trends of Pennsylvania's industries and to survey the industrial taxes of this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Said Joint Legislative Committee, also known as the Industrial Tax Survey Committee, completed after two years of continuous and arduous work only one phase of its two-fold task, namely, the ascertainment of existence or non-existence of migratory industrial trends, but was prevented from undertaking the survey of Pennsylvania's industrial taxes because of the expiration of its term; and

Whereas, Both the Dent Report submitted by the Joint Legislative Committee to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania in March of 1939, and the Supplemental Report submitted on May 25, 1939, recommended the creation of a State Tax Commission conducive to a further study of our State Tax System and an eventual revision thereof; and

Whereas, Said recommendation about the creation of a State Tax Commission has not been heretofore carried by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, thus leaving the archaic status quo in Pennsylvania's State taxation and the study thereof undisturbed and menacing; and

Whereas, The leading position of Pennsylvania among the States in the use of industrial taxes indicates the importance of these taxes to business and to the community, and clearly establish the urgent need for a scientific approach in the study thereof; and

Whereas, In the absence of any attempts to undertake a thorough, exhaustive and scientific survey and study of Pennsylvania's industrial taxes, it would be to the advantage of our Commonwealth to recreate the Joint Legislative Industrial Survey Committee, in order to thus enable it to complete the second phase of its work, namely, to prepare a survey of the industrial taxes of Pennsylvania, possibly in the form of several monographs containing multifaceted studies of the origin of said taxes, their role in the revenue system of Pennsylvania as compared to other States and the Federal Government, the revenue potentialities thereof and future outlook therefor from view-points of bases of taxation, tax rates, incidence, equality or inequality of their distribution and above all, the possibility of their elimination, together with formulae aiming at the development of a tax system which will strive to attain the objective of obtaining maximum revenues with the minimum disturbance and costs to industry and the community; now be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania recreate the Joint Legislative Industrial Tax Study Committee, in order that same may complete the above-stated second phase of its two-fold task heretofore assigned thereto; and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint Legislative Industrial Tax Study Commission be and same is hereby authorized and empowered to apply the balance of the fund formerly appropriated thereto toward the completion of the survey and studies above mentioned.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to lay the resolution on the table?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I know of no field that should be as free of political bias and suspicion as the field of taxation—a field in which the study of taxation the State of Pennsylvania has been not the best—and it is high time that a serious, scientific and exhaustive study should be undertaken and in the same way as is stated in the resolution, and since the work of the Dent Commission has been free of political bias and has rendered singular service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I desire to urge my colleagues to support this measure so as to enable us to complete the work.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland requested that the resolution be laid on the table after reading. Regular procedure would have been to refer the resolution to a committee, but if a motion is made naturally the Chair must entertain such motion.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I understand unanimous consent is required in order that a resolution may be considered, and a motion to lay the resolution on the table would be a consideration of the resolution, and I object to the resolution being considered at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the gentleman from Allegheny is well taken.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to argue the point but from my experience in parliamentary procedure a motion to lay on the table comes prior to any motion on any action whatsoever. However, we will not go into that point, as it will not do any good.

Mr. President, my suggestion to lay the resolution on the table, of course, was made after consulting with the majority leader of the Senate. If the resolution must be sent to committee that is perfectly all right, only I think it would be a waste of the state's money to print the resolution if it is going to committee, because it will probably rest in the pickling vat. I do not think it ought to be printed; let's save that money anyway for the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I advise the gentleman from Westmoreland it was not my desire in voicing my objection to have the resolution pickled. Mr. President, I would like to have the resolution printed and have a chance to study it. It is quite a lengthy resolution and if we lay it on the table we would not have an opportunity to study it, and it would be a sword hanging over our heads when we are out to lunch.

It is not our desire to pickle the resolution, Mr. President, but may I advise the gentleman from Westmoreland that it is our desire that we have a chance to study the resolution.

We are only interested, Mr. President, in good legislation and good government.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I appreciate the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, but if the same action is taken upon this resolution as was taken upon the resolution I introduced a week ago, when I was promised prompt action, I still say this resolution will be pickled.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not want to engage in a pickling match with the gentleman from Westmoreland but may I suggest the resolution the gentleman from Westmoreland mentioned is reposing at the present time in the Committee on Judiciary General. Further, Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland was advised when he introduced the resolution that I would personally go with him over to the department to help him get the matter straightened out, but I have not yet been invited to accompany him. The invitation I extended the hour the resolution was introduced, Mr. President, still holds good and I still will accompany the gentleman if he so desires.

MOTION TO PRINT RESOLUTION

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just introduced by the Senator from Westmoreland be printed for the information of the Senate.

Mr. DENT. I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

It has been moved by the gentelman from Allegheny and seconded by the gentleman from Westmoreland that the resolution be printed.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is it not true that without this motion having been made the resolution would appear in the History of the Senate, as printed?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair so understands.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to object to the motion because I think it will cost the State money to have the resolution printed. We would have a duplication and I do not think the motion serves any real purpose.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I appreciate the desire of the gentleman from Philadelphia to conserve the state's finances. However, Mr. President, my motion was predicated on the thought there might be a large number of people interested in this resolution and we would like to get perhaps some independent thought. I might also say, Mr. President, I can not be mailing out Histories as my postage allowance does not permit me to do that. I can mail out a copy of the resolution much cheaper than I could a History. If the gentleman will have mercy on my postage allowance and permit the resolution to be printed I would rather put it on the taxpayers than on me. Thank you very much.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is that included in the budget?

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to having the resolution printed?

The PRESIDENT. The question is on motion of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, seconded by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Dent, that the resolution presented by the gentleman from Westmoreland be printed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I object to the motion and ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAPIRO and Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS 37

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Letzler,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tallman,
Carr,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Thomas,

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 209, entitled:

An Act providing for the forfeiture and condemnation of vehicles used to store, possess or transport property, the possession or transportation of which is in violation of law.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

RECESS

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 4:30 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT Pro Tempore, (CHARLES H. EALY).

The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented for concurrence bill of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 152, (Senate Bill No. 210), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the thirteenth day of May; one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred eighty-four) entitled "An act relating to transactions between a person acting on his own behalf and the same person acting jointly with others, and to make uniform the law relating thereto," by authorizing conveyances from either husband or wife to husband and wife as tenants by the entireties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. FARRELL from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 125, entitled:

An Act abating certain tax penalties and interest on county, city (except city of the first class), borough, town, township, school district (except school district of the first class), and county institution district taxes; prohibiting the sale of real property for the nonpayment of any such taxes for a certain period; and preserving certain tax liens, and providing for the extension thereof.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BECKER from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act requiring the court in imposing sentence to include in such sentence the costs of keeping the person in the institution to which he is sentenced for the term as fixed by the court, providing such person is or shall become, during such term, financially able to pay for the same.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. JAMES from the Committee on Judiciary General re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," amplifying the provisions of said act relating to appeals to court.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATKINS from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 58, entitled:

An Act to further amend section nine of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 363), entitled "An act relating to the organization, jurisdiction, and procedure of the Orphans' Courts; the powers and duties of the judges thereof; and appeals therefrom," as amended on the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 349), by extending the jurisdiction of the Orphans' Court to supervision and enforcement of gifts for charitable uses, even though such gifts have passed out of fiduciaries now subject to the jurisdiction of the Orphans' Court directly to corporations or others charged with their administration.

He also from the Committee on Finance reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 201, entitled:

An Act to amend a certain appropriation item contained in section two of Act No. 69-A, approved the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, page sixty), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine," by deferring for a short period of time certain payments required to meet the Sinking Fund requirements of Veterans' Compensation Bonds.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 24, entitled:

An Act defining and prohibiting unfair sales or transfers providing remedies for violations thereof, and establishing penalties therefor.

With the understanding that it be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General after second reading.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 172, entitled:

An Act to amend section eight hundred one of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nominations of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by further defining parties and political bodies.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. RUTH from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 130, entitled:

An Act prohibiting judges of courts of record from engaging in political activity, except in furtherance of their own candidacy for the office of judge of any court of record; and imposing penalties.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CAVALCANTE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 211, entitled:

An Act to decrease the expenses of the Commonwealth by providing that mercantile appraisers lists shall not be published in newspapers in any city or county of the Commonwealth; and repealing acts and parts of acts relating thereto.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, a day or so ago I stated to my colleagues that I was preparing a bill that would provide revenues for the purpose of erecting an auditorium at our Indiantown Gap Reservation, as well as some money to go toward the appropriation for the bill introduced by the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Miller, for research work at State College pertaining to mines, I think, and minerals.

Mr. President, I have now read in place and presented to the Chair a bill for that purpose.

May I say also, Mr. President, that I have obtained the exact figures of what it cost the taxpayers for these advertisements for the year 1940. The figures are these: $141,582.85, just for one year. In the biennium, it will amount to approximately three hundred thousand dollars.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Fayette if there is incorporated in that bill a stipulation to the effect that this money which he hopes to derive is to be spent for the erection of the auditorium at Indiantown Gap and for the continuance of the Bureau of Mineral Research at State College.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President. it does not contain that stipulation because it could not properly be put in there. That will be left up to the Governor to either approve or disapprove the appropriation when it gets there, and we will try our best to have attached thereto a memorandum to the Governor, privately, that we have provided the revenues without disturbing his budget figures.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, it looks like a frame-up to me.

REPORT OF APPOINTMENT OF SUB-COMMITTEE OF COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to report at this time from the Committee on Judiciary General the action of that committee on the resolution introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan.

Mr. President, at the direction of the Committee on Judiciary General the resolution has been referred to a sub-committee to be appointed by the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General. For the information of the Senate the committee is composed of Senator Tallman, as Chairman, and Senators Farrell, Becker, Cavalcante and Reed.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. Presiednt, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 18, 1941

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Ever-living God, by whose mercy we have come to the gateway of another day; grant that we may enter it with humble and grateful hearts. Confirm our resolution, we beseech thee, to walk more closely in Thy way, and to labor more faithfully in Thy service, and as servants of the people may we see the needs of all men.

We thank thee for our state, its government, and its people. We pray Thee that it may continue to be a great industrial state in this material world of which we are a part. Also, Our God, cause us to see people in such a light that we become known to the world as a government where good will and fellowship mark the very fabric of its political structure.

Help us to be men among men, we pray in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. VAN ALLSBURG, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. HEATHERINGTON and BAKER.

RESOLUTION No. 30.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, the acute housing shortage in Pennsylvania has been aggravated by the industrial expansion for defense work, and

Whereas, there is an immediate need for additional housing facilities near the steel mills of western Pennsylvania, the ship yards of eastern Pennsylvania and other sections of the Commonwealth where the defense program has reopened closed factories, and

Whereas, many Pennsylvania communities have appealed to federal agencies for defense housing funds, therefore

Be It Resolved that the House of Representatives petition John M. Carmody, Public Works Administrator, and Charles F. Palmer, Defense Housing Coordinator, to relieve the serious housing situation by allocating funds for the construction of defense housing projects to those communities which have requested them and that the chief clerk of the House be directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the United States Senators and Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. HIRSCH and O'NEILL.

RESOLUTION No. 31.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1941.

Whereas, The last appropriation by Congres for the Works Progress Administration has caused the dismissal of many W. P. A. workers in Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, In counties comparable to Schuylkill County, the minimum monthly W. P. A. salary has been reduced from $60.50 to $44.40 by reason of such reduced appropriation; and

Whereas, It is recognized that $44.40 for a month's work is not sufficient to maintain a worker and his dependents; and

Whereas, The dismissal and reduction in salary of W. P. A. workers has and will injure business, lower purchasing power, promote insecurity and reduce living standards; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House does hereby memorialize Congress to increase the appropriation for the Works Progress Administration in order to prevent further dismissals of W. P. A. workers and to restore the minimum monthly wage to $60.50 in counties comparable to Schuylkill County, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States and to the Chief Clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication:

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

A communication addressed to the Speaker from Tri-County Milk Marketing Committee, Johnstown, opposing any change in the Eckels Amendment of 1939 to the Public Assistance Law.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SHAW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in presenting the preliminary report of the select committee, I stated that mimeographed copies would be distributed to the members at todays's session. I would like the permission of the House to have the Page boys distribute them to the Members. I have the copies on my desk.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the copies of the preliminary report will be distributed by the Page boys.

The reports were distributed.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 225, entitled:

An Act relating to national and State defense, providing for the establishment of a State Council of Defense and of local and district councils of defense, prescribing the powers and duties thereof, and making an appropriation therefor.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for further study.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 152, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 984) entitled "An act relating to transactions between a person acting on his own behalf and the same person acting jointly with others and to make uniform the law relating thereto" by authorizing conveyances from either husband or wife to husband and wife as tenants by the entireties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 984) entitled "An act relating to transactions between a person acting on his own behalf and the same person acting jointly with others and to make uniform the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That a conveyance release or sale may be made to or by two or more persons acting jointly and one or more but less than all of these persons acting either by himself or themselves or with other persons and a contract may be made between such parties

This section shall be construed as authorizing a conveyance of an interest in real property by either husband or wife to husband and wife as tenants by the entireties

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constiution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. HARE offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 18, 1941.

Honorable Eugene C. Hostetler, Recorder of Deeds of Somerset County, died early Sunday evening at the Hazel McGilvery Hospital in Meyersdale, Somerset County, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Hostetler was born in Meyersdale fifty-eight years ago and spent his entire life in and about that locality. He was ever active in civic and religious affairs, and was well-known throughout the county. He possessed an unusually melodious baritone voice, which caused him to be much in demand, both to conduct and participate in various ceremonies, entertainments and meetings.

Mr. Hostetler was an engineer by profession, and graciously donated his very able services to his home community of Meyersdale on numerous occasions. Among other things, he surveyed the Meyersdale playground and the skating pond. In addition to his other activities in and about Meyersdale, Mr. Hostetler was head of the Meyersdale Bottling Works.

Mr. Hostetler was an active and loyal member of the Republican Party. In 1935 he ran for the office of County Commissioner of Somerset County, but was defeated by a narrow margin. In 1939 he became candidate for the office of Recorder of Deeds of Somerset County, and was elected. He assumed that office on January 6, 1940, and performed its duties faithfully and competently until the time of his last illness; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That in the death of the Honorable Eugene C. Hostetler, the County of Somerset has been deprived of the services of a conscientious and able public official, and the Borough of Meyersdale has lost an outstanding citizen and a staunch supporter; and be it further Resolved, That the House extends its deepest sympathy to the family of the deceased who survive him, and instructs the Chief Clerk of the House to transmit a copy of this resolution to his widow, Mrs. Lulu Getty Hostetler.

RESOLUTION NO. 15

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 15, Printer's No. 20.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1941.

Whereas, The mountains and hillsides of Pennsylvania feed the headwaters of important drainage areas of the Nation; and

Whereas, The wealth of topsoil has eroded from the hillsides of Pennsylvania with accelerated speed as the forest resources have been depleted and exploited and as the natural barriers of erosion have been broken by reckless and profligate methods of tillage and wasteage; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of George H. Earle enacted the Soil Conservation Districts Law of 1937 and created the Soil Conservation Board to cooperate with the Federal Government in a National program of conservation and erosion control; and

Whereas, The Democratic Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt has provided funds to eventually control erosion on the hillsides of Pennsylvania and other headwaters states so that appropriations may be diminished for the dredging of harbours and waterways and the soil may be saved for future generations of farmers; and

Whereas, Said Federal funds have been accepted very generally by farmers of other headwaters states, while Pennsylvania has instituted only four soil conservation districts; and

Whereas, The inaptitude of the present administration has brought the General Assembly face to face with a major fiscal crisis with many funds raided and many appropriations hampered; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a committee of three from the House of Representatives to investigate into the operation and procedure of the Soil Conservation Board and the Extension Service of Pennsylvania State College so that the finding of said investigating committee may be made available to the House of Representatives before any appropriation is approved for said board and college.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, last night we passed a resolution which expressed a purpose with which I think we were all in accord. I think in a sense that resolution was an insult to the intelligence of some of the people who are prepared to help, because I think that those people realize that the resolution was of absolutely no value to them, but inasmuch as it expressed the purpose with which we were all in general accord, at least as far as the resolves were concerned, the minority went along with that resolution. But this political resolution we now have before us stands in an entirely different category. We have before us a resolution with the same type political propaganda, about acts passed by President Roosevelt and Governor Earle. The gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, pointed out the fact that laws are passed by Congress and Legislatures and not by Presidents and Governors. However, passing over that and getting down to the meat of the resolution and passing over this entirely political propaganda that is being approached in the form of "whereases" and resolves, and they are irrelevant, the last "whereas" clause relates to the transfer of money we come down to the fact that the resolve itself is an attack upon a great educational institution of this Commonwealth, an attack upon all the graduates and students and the faculty of that institution, an attack which threatens this great educational institution with holding up their appropriation until a committee can go in and investigate something in connection with a program which is supposed to be carried on at Washington in connection with soil conservation.

I say, Mr. Speaker, we are interested in the welfare of the farmers but we are also interested in free education. We are interested in the fact that education institutions of the type of State College will not be harassed and threatened with the loss of their appropriations by an investigating committee of this Legislature. I think, Mr. Speaker, that the educational system of this Commonwealth, and these higher institutions of learning ought not be attacked in this manner, and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, I am asking the members of this House to vote against this resolution.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please tell us where there is anything in this resolution that attacks anybody connected with State College.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, any effort to withhold an appropriation from an institution, or the suggestion that an appropriation of that institution should be withheld, is an attack upon that institution and this resolution as the gentleman well knows contains such a threat.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I do not think there is anything in this resolution that holds a threat over State College or anybody else. The resolution merely states that before an appropriation is made, an investigation shall be held. Since no appropriation of any kind has passed this House, that is, no appropriation to State College, or any appropriation of like manner, I do not think that there is anything wrong with attempting to see what has happened in the work that has been done, especially along the line of soil erosion control. We have definite knowledge that there has not been very good cooperation between certain individuals who we feel should be cooperating in the soil erosion program in Pennsylvania. We are not making a threat. We are simply asking that before we make an appropriation, we have an opportunity to find out why there has not been cooperation between State College extension service and those who are engaged in soil erosion control work.

I want to urge every member to vote for the resolution so that we may get first hand information, and can act wisely before we come to the question of making an appropriation to State College.

It might be possible that after the investigation is made, we might want to increase the appropriation to State College, if we find that they are cooperating or willing to cooperate.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the last remark of the gentleman is rather amusing. I think a reading of the resolution will clearly indicate the insincerity of any thought that this investigation will be held for the purpose of finding out whether the appropriation to State College should be increased. The gentleman well knows that was put in the resolution with the sole purpose of holding a threat over State College and suggesting to them in no unmistakable terms that they are not going to get any appropriatin—and the word "any" is used in there—any appropriation until we see about their cooperating in this matter. It is not a matter of investigation in the approach to the question. The gentleman has already said we are going to find out why there has not been any cooperation, not whether there has been any cooperation, but why.

I say, Mr. Speaker, that this resolution is a dangerous precedent to hold over the educational institutions of this Commonwealth. I think this resolution should be defeated by this House.

Mr. REUBEN COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I think any inquiry into the failure, or the supposed failure, of State College or any other institution to cooperate with a program of the state or the federal government might be a proper subject for any group in this House to report back for the purpose of appropriating funds to carry out that purpose, and I think the resolution has touched upon something that perhaps may be a little more than an agricultural proposition. We may find out that they cannot go along on President Roosevelt's soil erosion program because they do not have enough facilities at State College, and we might find out why some of the lovely buildings at State College have not been used and that could be used and have not been used for the extension of this Soil Erosion work and research.

I think no one here has any doubt that State College is going to get a sufficient and adequate appropriation but I think we ought to know if State College will not go along with such a plan and program that we ought to be apprised of that fact. We might set up some other agency and give them a sufficient appropriation to give the farmers of Pennsylvania some help in educational methods and standards of soil erosion control which we all know they have never received and which have been accepted in other parts of the country, as so remarkably well handled in other parts of the country.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I cannot understand why I did not get a copy of this resolution. I do not know whether there is any connivance between the Democratic Members of this House with the Page boys for failure to place this resolution on my desk. Last night I spoke in reference to rural electrification and I charged that that was a political resolution and not a practical resolution.

For some reason or other they saw fit not to put this resolution in my calendar. However I managed to borrow a copy and without consulting with representative Woodside or knowing what he was going to say I have come to exactly the same conclusion as far as this being a political resolution so far as State College is concerned. In fact I spoke to one of the Members near me and said "This direct attack upon State College. It is an effort to withhold an appropriation unless an investigation is made."

In regard to Franklin D. Roosevelt and George H. Earle, it seems to me if the Democrats wish to worship Franklin Roosevelt and Governor Earle they should do so in private and not in public, in the Hall of this House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TARR. The gentleman is not speaking on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is speaking on the resolution. The point of order is not well taken. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I believe the names of President Roosevelt and Governor Earle are mentioned in the resolution. Therefore they are proper subjects to discuss. Last night we heard about President Roosevelt and Governor Earle being such great wonderful soil conservationists and shedders of light, today they are tillers of the soil. I do not know what the resolution will be tomorrow. They may be digging anthracite or fishing or something of that sort. I object to hauling the names of the President and the former Governor into these resolutions every time one is presented. If I recall there needs to be some light shed on the Earle administration which the Republicans attempted to do to some extent. How about your gravel scandal? How about your Luzerne County payroll scandal? How about the Capitol Hill scandal?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The Speaker. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. The gentleman is not now speaking on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will proceed and confine his remarks to the resolution.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, as far as this resolution is concerned I believe the state is already cooperating in a much better manner in regard to this matter than the Federal Government is. Inasmuch as this resolution is merely a political one and is not for any purpose that is practical, I for one will refuse to vote for it.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I hoped we would be able to pass this resolution without going into too great detail. However, since the gentleman seems to insist that there is not any need for an investigation I believe it is my duty as the sponsor of this resolution to show the reason why there should be an investigation.

I have in my hands letters that came from some of the counties, written by constituents of Members on the other side of this House. Constitutents of their districts have written to me and have said there is need for an investigation and they hope something will be done about it. If the gentlemen on the other side of the House really want to know what has been said and if they want to take up the time of the House to hear the letters read that come from different sections of the State, I will be glad to read them into the record, then you will have first hand information and you can see for yourselves. There isn't any question but what there is a need for an investigation. There are four soil erosion control districts in Pennsylvania that are in full operation at the present time. They are located in the counties of York, Lancaster, Indiana and Clarion. They seem to think in the counties mentioned, namely York, Lancaster Indiana and Clarion that we need to do something at this time to see that the extension service at State College, being the one that controls this extension service, should be investigated to see why they have been unwilling to join with the local districts in helping to further the work of soil conservation in the districts now established, as well as in other districts where they would like to establish.

From Lancaster, for instance, I have this letter from the supervisors of the Lancaster soil conservation district.

The letter read as follows:

"The Supervisors of the Lancaster Soil Conservation District would like to bring to your attention the fact that since the autumn of 1938 when they were paid the expenses involved in the organization of their district, they have received no remuneration whatsoever for expenses involved in the conduct of District business.

"The Pennsylvania Districts Law specifically states, 'A supervisor shall receive no compensation for his services, but shall be entitled to expenses including travelling expenses necessarily incurred in the discharge of his duties.' The Supervisors of the Lancaster District are quite satisfied with this provision in the Districts Law and are not asking for compensation for their services but they do take this opportunity to point ut that they cannot give good service as a Board of Supervisors in administering District affairs unless they receive remuneration for expenses (mileage, meals), stationery, postage, and telephone. The Supervisors themselves have borne the abovementioned expenses during the past two years, and they do hereby request that this burden to District activity be removed.

'The Supervisors of the Lancaster District do believe furthermore that failure of the legislature to appropriate the rather small sum necessary to handle District expenses can be charged to the State Soil Conservation Board's toward soil conservation work.

"This Board of Supervisors would like to call your attention to Section 4, Article D, of the Pennsylvania Soil Conservation Act concerning the Duties and Powers of the State Board. This Board feels that the present State Board is not making any effort to carry out the provisions of this part of the Act which does most vitally concern the State Board.

Very truly yours,

Hartwell E. Roper,
Chairman."

I have lots of them here. They take up the general idea and I put it up to you gentlemen whether the men in Lancaster County want an investigation such as we are asking for here.

I have one here from Clarion County. I do not know the gentleman who wrote it but if you want to know whether there is any demand for such an investigation, I will be glad to read it. The letter reads as follows:

"We the Supervisors of the Clarion Soil Conservation District, feel that we should receive some compensation for our services; at least our expenses. You will find on page 12 in the Act No. 557 that it states: The Supervisors shall receive no compensation for his services, but he shall be entitled to expenses including traveling expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of his duty.

"To date, all the money we have received was for our mileage incurred for the month of December, 1938.

"Since November, 1939, we have been called upon for regular monthly meetings and with the new procedure of group planning, we have been asked to travel over the county and help the District Technician's in conducting these meetings. This requires a lot of time and expense on our part. The reason that we are doing this is because we think it is a splendid project and would like to see as many farmers as possible in Clarion benefit by it.

"It has been our understanding in other districts in other states much smaller than Pennsylvania, that the Supervisor's receive pay for each meeting and with the taxes we all have to pay, we feel that the least the State Board could do is to pay us for our services. Then to, we are about the only agency that does not receive compensation for our services.

"In October, 1939, we wrote to Mr. W. S. Hagar, Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, asking about compensation for our services, and on October 19, 1939 we received a reply from him stating that he would refer our letter to the State Board at its next meeting. To date we have received no reply from the State Board.

"We are hoping that this letter will receive consideration.

Very truly yours,

Ray H. Shook, Chairman,
Clarion District Supervisors."

I would ask leave of the House to print all of these letters in the record so that the gentlemen can satisfy themselves that there is a demand throughout Pennsylvania for this investigation and that it is not confined to York County.

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair would like to discuss that question with the gentleman after the debate. The letters which have been read will appear in the record.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I am very deeply interested in this resolution inasmuch as I am President of the State College Alumni Association at this time. I am of the opinion that soil erosion is being handled properly in Indiana County and since Mr. Moul comes from York and has been mentioned, my own county I would like Mr. Moul to read the letter from Indiana County, and give the name of the man who signed it.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will allow me a few minutes to go back to the desk I will read the letter into the record. I find they sent a number of letters down here. That letter is missing. If you will grant me a few minutes, I will be glad to get it, and read the letter.

Mr. HEWITT. I do not care, Mr. Speaker, to take up any more of the time of the House, so I will not insist upon the gentleman reading the letter if he does not have it at his desk.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to delay the proceedings of the House, but it seems to me the gentleman from York should secure that letter and give us the benefit of the letter from Indiana, as requested by the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I have already sent for the letter if you want to wait.

Mr. TURNER. We have plenty of time. I was going to ask the Speaker to declare a recess for five minutes to give the gentleman from York a chance to get the letter.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the resolution will be passed over for the moment.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STOCKHAM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to speak for a moment to the preliminary report of the special committee named to investigate the sewing projects. This report was made to this House last night. It was impossible for me to attend last night's session or the committee's meeting yesterday, but I desire here and now to officially have my name affixed to this report.

I might further state that I want to commend to this House, as a minority member, the activities of this committee and particularly of its Chairman, a man who has said repeatedly that he is a Pennsylvanian before he is a Democrat. In all of our activities and all of our inquiries the work of that committee has been non-partisan as if there were no parties existing in this House, and I believe that this report is a very fair one.

I believe furthermore, Mr. Speaker, that the expressions and inquiries on the part of all Members of the House to federal officials were very direct and very pointed and without any equivocation, and they have in essence brought results. And then too, I would like to say that the Governor is showing his good faith by cooperating with this committee and its endeavor and its work by approving a new highway project which shall go to the credit of this Commonwealth as the set-up of this law of 1940, and that with this new project under way and duly accredited to this State, our contribution will go considerably over twenty-five percent, and by virtue of that the work of these women in sewing we will be assured without question. So, sir, I would have thus affixed my name thus verbally expressed to this report.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess for five minutes. The Chair hears none and declares a recess for five minutes.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER. The time of recess having expired the House will be in order.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

The House resumed consideration of Resolution No. 15.

On the question recurring.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker and fellow members of the House, I have quite a number of additional letters here. I checked over the list and find that the particular letter to which the gentleman refers is not in the file here on 'The Hill." Some of them are in my office in York and some are here. I will be glad to present all of these that we have here if the membership wants them, and in addition I will be glad to present the remainder of them when we get down to the question of soil erosion control. There is a bill now in Committee that will come out on the floor, and I will be glad to read all of them in the record if you want me to. It so happens that the one from Indiana to which the gentleman referred is not in my file at the present time.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the membership of the House to vote for this resolution at the present time.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I realize this is a matter on which the gentleman has received so much correspondence that I accept Mr. Moul's apology in not being able to present this particular letter at the present time. I do, however, wish to make myself clear at the present time before the House, as a Penn Stater, having been connected with the schools for the last forty years, I would be the last man in this House to oppose any investigation of any activities of this school. However, I think the resolution is in poor taste when they bring in the appropriation in a resolution merely for an investigation. If they had asked for the investigation without affecting the appropriation I could have taken it with much better grace. I not only am a Penn Stater, but also my son, and I do not know any man in this House who ever went to this institution or had a son or a daughter attending it, or who has a friend attending it or is interested in agriculture who would vote for this resolution.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have several objections to this resolution. I quite agree with the Members who have spoken that we are heartily in favor of any program that conserves and improves the soil of this state.

I spent some time last year down in the TVA, with the Chairman of the TVA Board, Mr. Morgan, and I learned a great deal about soil conservation and about the improvement of soil. If there is no cooperation on the part of State College in this program it is amazing to me, because upon my return from the South I spent one Sunday at State College with a group of men who had gathered together to discuss some problems pertaining to our river basin. As you all know, I am interested in the Delaware River basin and I am interested in conserving the water supply of that basin. I am interested in seeing that we get a uniform flow of water in that basin, and soil protection plays a great part in that program.

I found immediate response on the part of the men at State College. I found a great interest, and I know that they have carried on some experiments since that time along the lines that we discussed on that Sunday, but I see no reason for a Committee of the House to investigate this question. My own personal policy over a number of years has been that when I received letters—and during the last few years I have received great numbers from people over the State, complaining upon all kinds of questions, some of them having to do with the Commonwealth and many of them having to do with Federal questions. My policy usually is to sit down and write a letter to the person or institution or Department of the government complained of and ask them for information, and upon that I can usually base some idea as to whether the complaint is well founded, and I find in most cases it is not well founded.

In the second place, we have had a universal custom since I have been a member of this House, and especially since I have been a member of the Appropriations Committee, whether the Appropriations Committee was dominated by one party or the other, and that was to call in the different departments and go over their budgets and so forth. The problem here, as I see it, is not a question of cooperation as stated by Mr. Moul. The question is, that some of these people feel that they ought to get traveling expenses and haven't received them. Now, that may be the fault of this Legislature in its appropriations or may be somebody else's fault that that matter is not taken care of, and if Mr. Moul's soul is bleeding for these people in the different parts of the State whose pocketbooks were affected by traveling around on this soil erosion matter, he could easily have referred the matter to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

When the State Highway authorities came here with their new budget, this whole matter could have been gone into; this request could have been taken up, and at that time it could have been determined whether appropriation questions were involved. As the gentleman from Philadelphia said, if appropriation matters were involved, then that matter could have been tackled. I believe with my friend from Wayne, Mr. Dix, that the purpose of the resolution is not to secure particularly further funds for soil erosion, nor to secure cooperation, nor to advance the program, but is a political move to force upon somebody at State College the ideas and policies of the gentleman from York.

Even though I feel that it would be a useless expenditure of money and a waste of time to have a committee appointed to go out and make the investigation when we already have the Appropriations Committee that can properly, in the course of its work, investigate this question, I do object most strenuously to this resolution and I shall not vote for it, although I am interested in this soil conservation question.

If the gentleman from York were to eliminate from his resolution by taking out the words, "before any appropriation is approved for said Board and College" then his resolution, even though I would have the objection that it could be done by the Appropriations Committee, still I think that I would go along with the resolution notwithstanding its obnoxious "whereas" clauses.

Oftentimes, it is the little things that start a precedent. Oftentimes, in adopting a course which for the time seems the expeditious course, we start on a course of action which later gets us into difficulty. I am strenuously opposed to any attempt to coerce the institutions of higher learning in this state by threats to withold their appropriations. There is such a dangerous precedent in that, there is so much danger to our free institutions, that I think every Member of this House should stand as one of the sentinels to prevent any such precedent that may lead to the coercion of these institutions to adopt any policy which we may determine.

I have seen educational institutions of higher learning in other states set up a course that ends in political turmoil, and destroys the value of the freedom that we seek for them. I frequently do not like some of the things that occur in the institutions; I may not like some of their policies, but I think rather than for me to try to bind them to the policies and the way that I think they should go, it is far better that I keep silent for the benefit of the people of this Commonwealth, in order that we may protect this democracy of ours and our institutions.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution, in view of the fact that there are questions of policy, and there seems to be some question in the mind of the gentleman from York as to coöperation on the soil erosion program, be recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture for the purpose of amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, on the motion of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, I want to urge the Members of the House to vote "no," and Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have listened rather carefully to the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and I assume the reasons for his remarks are based mostly upon the fact that involved in the resolution is the proviso that no appropriations are to be approved to the Board and College until the completion of this investigation, and that apparently without that in the resolution he would not have made the present motion.

It strikes me, Mr. Speaker, that the thought of the gentleman from Delaware is not sound. Apparently moneys have been appropriated in the past to the college. It is quite apparent that many letters, much correspondence, has come to the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, complaining of a lack of cooperation and coordination between the Soil Conservation Boards of their counties and State College.

All that Mr. Moul apparently is seeking is to have the House say, "We do not intend to appropriate any money until we learn what you have done in the past." Certainly that is a duty that is imposed upon this House; and any motion to delay this investigation by recommitting, any effort to prevent this House from intelligently appropriating money, would be far afield from the duty of this House, and therefore the motion to delay now should be defeated.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MOUL and Mr. MELCHIORRE and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 2, line 7, by striking out the words "before any appropriation is approved for" and all of line 8.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in my prior remarks I pointed out to the members of the House why I believed the phrase "before any appropriation is approved for said board and college" is both essential and necessary in this resolution. It makes contingent the appropriation in relation to the investigation. We do want to know for what we are appropriating money, and secondly, we want to know whether it finally finds itself in the place where it is intended to be spent. I cannot conceive of any House that would be perfectly willing to proceed to make appropriations when there have been laid before the House charges of lack of cooperation and coordination with Federal agencies.

I cannot conceive of any House that would not desire to have that information before it proceeded to appropriate to any agency, funds to carry on in a manner that has caused disturbance and that will result in an investigation.

I, therefore, say to the Members of this House that the present motion to amend should be defeated for the purpose of preserving to this House the freedom of action that is essential and necessary.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I regret to find myself in disagreement with the majority floor leader, and I hope the Members will vote to allow this amendment to go into this resolution. This is setting a dangerous precedent. As I understand this "resolved" in this resolution, a committee of three Members of this House can if they wish delay their report as long as they desire. I am not interested in the political controversy; I am only interested in the precedent, and it does seem to me a rather Hitlerized proposition—three Members of this House are given that authority. Now, they may exercise that authority very properly, and they may do it very quickly, but we do not pass laws presuming that people will always act on them in good faith. We pass them for the protection of those who may suffer if they do not act rightly. As I understand the resolution it absolutely binds this House to await the report of a committee of three before an appropriation may be made to a great state institution of this Commonwealth.

If there were a charge that the entire appropriation to State College were connected with this matter, I would say it may be possible to do this, but as I understand it, and I am not familiar with soil erosion, that is only one of the many, many projects carried on at State College. This holds up the appropriation to the Department of Forests, to the Engineering School and to the Graduate School and to all the departments of State College.

I regret to be in disagrement with our floor leader and perhaps with the majority of the Members, but I am going to vote for this amendment; I think it is fair.

Let me warn you Members of this House that the time has not yet arrived, and I hope it will never arrive, when we can exercise our authority as a threat. That is not the purpose of the legislature; I hope that it will not be the purpose of the legislature in the future.

I repeat, Mr. Speaker, I am not willing to give the power to three Members of this House on a matter which concerns only one of the subjects of a great State College such as we have, to make the threat of holding up their appropriation indefinitely. There is no time set here for the report to come to this House; they may if they see fit hold it out until the end of the session. Isn't that a precedent which would go down in the future as most dangerous and most arbitrary and capricious? I say this amendment should go into this resolution, and I urge and ask all the Members of the House to vote for this amendment.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny may I say that I desire to cure just one of the things that he says has not been alleged on the floor of the House. I have been informed that there was an appropriation made to State College in the sum of ten thousand dollars, and that little if any of that money has been used, but instead has been returned to the general fund. Now, was there a reason why that money was not spent? If there was, let us know the reason. Was it a capricious reason? Was it a political reason? Was it a desire not to cooperate in carrying out one of the functions in this state, or do we want to go ahead driving on as we did once before to make an appropriation with no intention on their part to use it.

Certainly, we have some control over our money; certainly we have some right to know what they need and where they are going to spend it; certainly we have a right to know what they did with the money received from the former legislature, the former session. Certainly, it is our right, and certainly it is the best thing to do; certainly this House has no intention nor any desire to use that power to threaten any official at State College, but we do intend to see that the officials at State College do perform their work and that they cooperate in deeded functions of government; that the soil of this state is important to us, and that State College is one of our colleges intended to function for the benefit of the State and that it shall play a part in functioning with the federal government.

Certainly it is the only method by which we can arrive at an equitable decision, holding up everything pending this investigation. Certainly if the committee appointed by the Speaker fails to move expeditously or to report within a reasonable time, we still have control over that committee and we can very easily see that the report is filed and see that either the report is adopted or the committee discharged, and that the House proceed with its business. I am saying, Mr. Speaker, that all the fault found here today is not found for the purpose of a real opposition, but is found solely of delaying the investigation that they do not desire and that, unless I am greatly mistaken is an investigation that they fear.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am indeed surprised to hear the remarks of the gentleman from Monroe. He is Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, and I think he has been extremely unfair to the members of his committee by abdicating his responsibility as Chairman and the responsibility of the committee itself to determine questions concerning appropriations. If it is a question of cooperation, all right, appoint a committee and investigate the question of cooperation. If it is a matter of an appropriation, it is a matter for his committee, and by his abdication of his job and the job of his committee, he is unfair to the members of his committee and he is unfair to the members of this House.

Mr. Speaker, when it is a question of the appropriations that should be made, whether they are to State College or wherever they are made, or what they are for, it is the responsibility of the Appropriations Committee and not any special committee appointed by this House of two or three of its members to determine that question, and I say the amendment is not made for the purpose of delay because we have pointed out before that it is these objectionable features of the resolution that we want to remove from it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. BROWN. Did I understand the gentleman to say that it was his opinion that the sum of ten thousand dollars was appropriated for this question of soil erosion?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. So I have been advised, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Thank you, Mr. Majority Floor Leader.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOUL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, if it is a fact that the amount of the appropriation made to State College for soil erosion was ten thousand dollars?

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, it is correct. In the 1937 session of the Legislature the sum of ten thousand dollars was appropriated for use by the "said state board" to take care of soil erosion control work, that is, to take care of the work for the state of Pennsylvania, and that board is controlled by State College. I might add in answer to that question still further, that the ten thousand dollars that was appropriated, after the administration changed, the greater portion of that sum was not used for erosion control, but was returned to the general fund, and that is the reason why all these people are up in arms. The act itself specifically said when we passed it here that it was to be used for that work, for that purpose. I cannot understand why the gentlemen of the House here would object to an investigation that would try to show why the gentlemen who were supposed to enforce that act, that being State College, if that is the body to do so, did not do so. If the gentlemen seem to feel that the body we are hitting is State College then they must take the responsibility. I cannot see why they should object to our trying to find out why those gentlemen violated the trust that we gave them. We certainly told them that we wanted them to use that money for soil erosion control work in Pennsylvania, and I cannot see why we as a Legislature do not have a right to find out why they violated the trust that we put in them.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, another question? Would the gentleman from York have any objection to amending his resolution by substituting "before any appropriation for soil erosion is approved by this House."

Mr. MOUL. No, Mr. Speaker. I am informed that there are some conditions that exist that are similar in other fields, and I think that while we are investigating one field we might as well take in the whole show. We might just as easily investigate the whole program as one small portion of it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, am I correct? I do not gather exactly what the gentleman is answering. Do I understand that the gentleman does object to his resolution confining itself to the appropriation for soil erosion? Does the gentleman object?

Mr. MOUL. I do, Mr. Speaker, because it also takes in the question of the whole extension service and if you limit it to soil erosion control you do not take in the whole of the extension service.

Mr. BROWN. Then, Mr. Speaker, how far would the gentleman have to investigate to find out? I mean how far would he have to investigate the whole curriculum, the whole of the administrative functions of State College before he can locate soil erosion?

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, we propose under the resolution to investigate all individuals who have anything to do with soil erosion control work and the extension service, and we intend to go as far as necessary to carry out the mandate of this House if the resolution is passed.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in the answer of the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, lies the dangerous precedent in this type of resolution. It does seem to me that soil erosion is such a thing that could be catalogued without going out into the whole of the curriculum of State College. I am not a graduate of State College, but I do say that a resolution that does not confine itself to the problems to be investigated puts the power in the hands of three men, and I understood quite well, even before he made his remark, that we could discharge the committee, but these three men could go ahead and go to a great institution like State College, and just roaming around is a dangerous precedent to be allowed to go into this resolution.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to take just a few moments for the purpose of answering the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside. I quite frankly feel that I am not surrending any of the powers of my committee when I say that I am perfectly willing to hold in abeyance any appropriation measure to permit a reasonable study by this House, through a committee designated by it, to determine whether or not there has been cooperation and coordination between the federal government and one of our state agencies.

The question to be answered finally as to the amount of the appropriations will be determined by the Appropriations Committee, not by the committee that has been designated or that will be designated by the Chair to make the investigation. I am equally confident that any committee named by the Chair will proceed with the study of the subject before it, and will make its report in ample time. If it fails to do so, and I find that their failure to make the report is in any manner detracting from the work of the Appropriations Committee I will be the first one to come before this House and ask for the committee's discharge.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I hesitate to arise to say anything further in extending the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, who I think has so clearly and so well stated the whole proposition.

I would like, however, to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. MOUL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, to say that the appropriation of ten thousand dollars was to the Board.

Mr. MOUL. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask, is the appropriation to State College or to the Board.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, the apropriation is made to the Board. I presume the gentleman from Delaware was talking on soil erosion. There are two things covered in the resolution, soil erosion control and the question the gentleman is asking me now refers to the Soil Erosion Control Board. Ten thousand dollars was appropriated to the Soil Erosion Control Board, and the Soil Erosion Control Board is managed by the Agricultural Department of State College, and indirectly managed by the extension service.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from York is somewhat mistaken in his statements. Under the act the Board shall consist of the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Secretary of Highways, Director of State College Experimental Station, Chief Engineer of the Water and Power Resources Board, and the Secretary of Agriculture ex officio.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have no objections to any resolution to investigate this Board. I do believe, however, as stated by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, that the responsibility in reference to the appropriation primarily rests with the Appropriations Committee of this House. It has a contingent fund with which it employes assistants. It has been the custom of that Committee, whether it has been controlled by one party or the other, to have its men, who are accountants or bookkeepers or statisticians or whatever you want to call them, go out and investigate hospitals, homes and all kinds of institutions. Therefore, if we would merely approach the one question, which the gentleman from York seems to stress, that ten thousand dollars was appropriated and has not been spent, we want to know if we should appropriate another ten thousand dollars, which is within the proper sphere of the Appropriations Committee. It has the money with which to make this investigation and it is the proper agency to make such investigation.

Mr. Speaker, we find now that the real purpose has now come out. While the gentleman from York has talked about soil conservation, while he has talked about the necessity of different groups cooperating in soil conservation, he now tells us that he wants to investigate the whole thing, and that is an investigation of State College. That returns to the very principle which I first enunciated, and the principle upon which the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, has made his objection here

During the session of 1939 when I was Speaker of the House a group came to me wanting to investigate a certain University in Pennsylvania. I objected to that and protested, and I opposed it and fought it, and I am opposed to this on the same grounds. If this were an honest and sincere effort to find out whether we should appropriate ten thousand dollars, then there would be no question about putting such a resolution before this house. There would be no opportunity to set such a dangerous precedent as is set by this resolution, but if the intent here is to go in and find out whether State College is cooperating with all the plans and programs of the Federal Government which some Members of this House feel State College should undertake, then I say you are setting a precedent that may lead into other fields of investigation, and where, as the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, has said, we may use our power in the future to force our ideas and our policies upon the educational institutions of this State, and no matter how good may be the purpose of the resolution that comes before this House, if it entails the opportunity to stick our noses into the affairs of our state educational institutions and to govern their appropriations in the future if they do not abide by the wishes and policies and the ideas of this House on some particular subject, then I say to you I am opposed to that, because it constitutes a danger to free education in this State, which I think every Member of this House can see without having it explained to him.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny County permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the gentleman from Allegheny was on the investigating committee of the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I was.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman feel that we should have had that investigation.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker I believe we should have had it.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman feel that the committee at that particular time in its findings in the investigation and in its reports made to this House was fair and honest?

Mr. BROWN. I believe it was, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House I tried to answer categorically the questions propounded to me by the gentleman from Westmoreland. I should like him to recall that the investigation of the University of Pittsburgh set up very definite standards and did not carry provision that we were to report and that unless we made a report the appropriation would be withheld. The resolution also had us inquire about two or three very definite subjects and those subjects we inquired into. I believe if this resolution said, as did the resolution of the University of Pittsburgh, academic freedom and academic tenure, or if this resolution purported to say in definite terms, that they were inquiring only into the question of soil erosion and the facts pertaining thereto, I would agree to it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, since I have been a Member of this House I have always considered Mr. Brown and his opinions very carefully. In other words I have been guided by his opinions on matters of law. Today I think we all are very much disturbed about something concerning which I do not think we should be so much disturbed. Mr. Brown has stated that he does not feel that power should be given to a committee of this House. I feel that investigation committees of this House have always been fair.

Do you recall this morning when one of the Republican Members got up and commended on the fairness of the committee on the Sewing Project? I feel that we as Members of the Legislature are sent here by the people to represent the people of the State, and our first qualification should be honesty, and I do not think we should be one bit alarmed in giving to any committee of this House the right to investigate any organization or any institution of this state.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNER and Mr. WOODSIDE and were as follows:

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. READINGER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 320, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the sixth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine (P. L. 387), entitled "An act to authorize execution of process in certain cases in equity, concerning property within the jurisdiction of the court, and on defendants not resident or found therein," authorizing execution of process in certain cases for the perpetuation of testimony.

Mr. BOORSE, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as Committed, House Bill No. 402, entitled:

Providing for the organization, government, discipline, maintenance and regulation of an additional land force to be known as the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Force, for the defense of the Commonwealth during any period of time in which the National Guard of Pennsylvania or any part thereof shall be in active service of the United States.

Mr. WILLIAMS, from the Committee on Motor Vehicles, reported as committed, House Bill No. 366, entitled:

To add clause seven to subsection (b), and to further amend subsection (c) of section one thousand two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled, "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," changing the provisions of said act relating to the speed of such vehicles while being operated on highways under the supervision and control of a Turnpike Commission.

Mr. KOT ANKIEWICZ, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as committed, House Bill No. 202, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1206), entitled "An act relating to memorial halls in counties of the second class, erected in memory of the soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the Civil War; and providing for the use, upkeep, and management and control of such halls," including Disabled American Veterans of the World War among the organizations named in the act.

Mr. BRETHERICK, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 374, entitled:

An Act to add clause (e) to section four of the act, approved the second day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 540), entitled "An act defining the term 'fiduciary'; prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made by such fiduciaries; validating certain investments heretofore made by such fiduciaries; and repealing acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith," by permitting fiduciaries holding mortgages to accept deeds in lieu of foreclosures; and prescribing the effect thereof.

Mr. McKINNEY, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 51, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 851), entitled "An act fixing the pay and mileage of jurors and witnesses," changing the pay of jurors and witnesses and the mileage of witnesses.

Mr. ELLIOTT, from the Committee on Townships, reported as committed, House Bill No. 183, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred two and to further amend section nine hundred five of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," authorizing the establishment and maintenance of fire hydrants and fire hydrant water service and the levy of a special tax therefor with the assent of electors.

Mr. FRENCH, from the Committee on Agriculture reported as committed House Resolution No. 26.

Mr. SCHWAB, from the Committee on Military Affairs reported as amended House Resolution No. 19.

Mr. MELCHIORRE, from the Committee on Rules, reported as amended House Resolution No. 25.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. RHEA. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 19, 1941, at 12 o'clock noon.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 3:31 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1941. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1941. No. 12.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 19, 1941.

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m.

The PRESIDENT. (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we know prayer is just speaking with Thee as simply as we speak with our friends so that we may have the exchange of ideas, the knowledge of plans and the assurance of friendship. Customarily in the morning hours we accost each other with a friendly—"Good Morning."

So do we say—"Good Morning" to Thee, our very best friend and as we do, we remember the words of Holy Writ—"This is the day the Lord hath made, we will be glad and rejoice in it."

We know Thou hast made this day for we are unable so to do. We would be glad in this day for health, strength and the proper use of our faculties. We would rejoice because of the privilege which is ours of serving Thee for one more day, for our tenure on life is extremely uncertain and the certainty of death is ever before us.

We commend unto Thy Fatherly care all those of our number who are passing through sorrow and the anxious moments of grief occasioned by illness. May Thy presence be in their hearts.

That we would know Thy ideals this day and become acquainted with Thy plans and be assured of the bonds of true friendship is the content of our prayers this morning as we pray in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HOMSHER and Mr. TALLMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Edmonds asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. WOODWARD, on account of illness.

Mr. Walker asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. GELTZ, on account of sickness in his family.

Mr. Shapiro asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. MUNDY, on account of illness.

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. TAYLOR.

Mr. Crider asked and obtained leve of absence for the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. BECKER.

Mr. McGinnis asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. BARR.

Mr. Mallery asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Chester, Mr. SCARLETT.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, as a result of yesterday's meeting of the Welfare Committee I feel that I should make a statement for the purpose of the record summarizing the information received and my conclusions from that information.

Mr. President, I think the figures will speak for themselves and can not be denied; my conclusions may be termed somewhat political and I am willing to accept that, but as to the conclusions based on the figures, I think the members of this Senate will agree if those figures are correct, and I understand they are, there can be no question about the inferences.

From a hearing before the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions and the information furnished by Mr. Russell, Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance, the following facts must be conceded:

(1) That in the last three months of the year 1938 and in January, 1939, the following expenditures for all forms of relief in Pennsylvania were made:

Month	Total	By the State	From Federal Funds
October, 1938	$25,476,183	$8,201,938	$17,274,785
November, 1938	25,832,611	8,016,507	17,816,104
December, 1938	25,469,765	8,667,976	16,801,799
January, 1939	24,673,664	9,007,037	15,666,627

(2) There should be added to the State's expenditures the following sums for administration expenses:

October, 1938	$885,693	8.3%
November, 1938	919,034	8.7%
December, 1938	896,594	7.8%
January, 1939	932,547	8.1%

(3) Obviously, at this time, in spite of the fact that relief expenditures including administration were well over $9,000,000 per month, or $216,000,000 for the biennium, the Governor appropriated only $121,000,000 for the years 1939 to 1941.

(4) In October, November and December, 1939, and January, February, March and April, 1940, the expenditures for the same purpose were as follows:

Month	Total	By the State	From Federal Funds
October, 1939	$18,404,774	$9,604,008	$ 8,800,766
November, ...	17,703,074	8,645,546	9,057,528
December, ...	16,991,174	8,302,975	8,688,199
January, 1940	17,850,754	8,211,440	9,639,314
February, ...	16,641,114	8,100,833	8,540,281
March, ...	17,895,189	8,469,825	9,425,364
April, ...	18,254,677	8,035,988	10,218,689

(5) The foregoing expenditures by the State do not include the costs of administration, and they were as follows:

October, 1939	$1,011,653	8.3%
November,	994,515	8.9%
December,	998,277	9.2%
January, 1940	1,008,397	9.1%
February,	901,070	8.3%
March,	951,017	8.3%
April,	941,910	8.6%

(6) In spite of the fact that the total expenses of the State aggregated over $10,715,000 in October, 1939, and even in April, 1940, they amounted to $8,976,000, or approximately $9,000,000, in the special session called for the purpose of making additional provision for relief because of the wholly inadequate appropriation in the general session of 1939, $71,000,000 was appropriated for twelve months, where according to these figures at least $100,000,000 should have been appropriated.

(7) Although the special session was called to provide relief for twelve months and the members of the Legislature who attended the special session were told that relief was being provided for the twelve months period ending May 31, 1941, the Secretary of Public Assistance at the request of the Governor had changed his estimates of what it would require to carry relief to that period to an estimate of how much it would take to carry relief until the Legislature met again in its regular session in 1941.

In other words, at the time the $71,000,000 was appropriated in the special session for relief, the Governor knew that it would only last until the present session began, and it was only intended to provide for the situation until the Legislature met in its regular session in 1941.

(8) In October, 1940, the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance furnished the Governor with an estimate of the amount required for relief to carry the load until the end of this biennium. The figure was $21,000,000. Yet in his budget message the Governor recommends the appropriation of but $14,500,000 for the balance of this biennium for relief.

(9) The total amounts expended for relief in Pennsylvania for the months of October, November and December, 1940, were as follows:

Month	Total	By the State	From Federal Funds
October, 1940	$17,558,415	$6,843,257	$10,715,158
November,	15,705,788	6,450,234	9,255,554
December,	16,372,000	6,263,031	10,109,000

(10) To the expenditures by the State for these three months should be added administration costs, which were as follows:

October, 1940	$823,341	8.5%
November,	799,342	8.6%
December,	813,201	8.8%

I submit:

(1) That the Governor of Pennsylvania, since his inauguration has not dealt with this item in his budget in an open and frank manner. Relief has been made a stepchild of the administration and has been treated, not as an obligation representing an important governmental function, but as a burden reluctantly assumed.

With this approach it was inevitable that the amount appropriated for relief bore no relationship to the necessities of the period, nor the experience of the Department of Public Assistance. His budgets were made up on the basis of providing first for only those functions which the Governor deemed essential and which apparently could not be avoided and then what was left was appropriated for relief. If the figures already shown are not sufficient to establish that fact, the action of the Governor in the 1939-41 session is proof positive. In his budget he suggested an appropriation of $129,000,000 for relief. This sum was subsequently reduced to $120,900,000 because that was all that was left after other functions were provided for.

During the last months of his tenure of office, Mr. Russell's predecessor, Dr. De Schweinitz, was subjected to the most vicious attack upon his administration expenses. In fact in the appropriation bills passed during the De Schweinitz administration, expenditures for administration were limited and fixed at 8% or less on a graduated scale in the bills appropriating the relief moneys. The Governor has continually reiterated the statement that the expenses of administration in all Departments of this Commonwealth under his leadership have been cut to the bone. Obviously this is not true, at least with respect to this Department.

Examine the records of the Department of Public Assistance. We find that in the year 1938 administration expenses of the Department of Public Assistance under De Schweinitz were as low as 7.4% (in January) and was 7.8% in December, and in only two months did it reach 8%. In January, 1939, beginning with the James Administration, the administration expenses were 8.1%, were as low as 7.1% in August and September, 1939, and finally reached 9.2% in December, 1939. In 1940 the high point for administration expenses was reached in the month of January—9.1%; and for the months of October, November and December, 1940, were 8.5%, 8.6% and 8.8%, respectively.

More important than anything else that was developed before the Welfare Committee hearing, are these facts admitted to be substantially correct by Mr. Russell, the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance. First the relief burden has been shifted in some measure by changes in the law, and in other cases by Department interpretations, from the general relief rolls to old age pensions and mothers assistance, with the result that whereas in March, 1939, the State contributed 91.2% of the total general assistance fund and the Federal governmnt contributed 8.8% toward the total general assistance fund expended in Pennsylvania, in December, 1940, the State contributed but 79.2% and the Federal government 20.8% of the total general assistance expenditures in Pennsylvania.

The effect of this was not only to increase the proportion of the burden of the Federal government, but it brings the relief expenditures in Pennsylvania to a point where there is what may be called an irreducible minimum of expenditures. Obviously the expenditures for old age assistance, mothers' assistance and pensions for the blind will not decrease but, if anpthing, will be increased above the present expenditures as the result of shifting the load from general relief to these special assistance funds for the purpose of acquiring Federal contributions.

It was admitted by Mr. Russell that the monthly expenditures by the State for old age assistance, mothers' assistance and pensions for the blind will amount to at least $2,600,000 from now on, and that of the present cases on the general relief rolls, approximately a little over one third or a little under a third must be classed as unemployable, and that the amount expended for this class of cases will be constant and amount to $1,700,000 per month from now on. That means that we have a fixed, irreducible minimum of $4,300,000 per month from now on, certainly for the next biennium.

On the basis of the Governor's recommendations of $5,000,000 per month (made in the face of present expenditures totalling $7,250,000 per month) there will be left but $700,000 per month to provide relief for the remaining unemployed now on the direct relief assistance rolls of the Commonwealth. There are 100,000 cases falling in this classification, according to Mr. Russell.

Mr. Russell contended, however, that these cases would be reduced very quickly to 75,000, and probably to 60,000 Taking the minimum amount of 60,000 cases on a basis of an average of $30 per month it wil be necessary to expend $1,800,000 for this group for the next twenty-four months, for which there will be only $700,000 left; taking 75,000 it will be necessary to expend $2,250,000 per month. That means that the estimate of the Governor is from $1,100,000 to $1,550,000 per month less than the actual expenditures will be even if reduced to the irreducible minimum.

On the basis of a shortage of $1,100,000 per month the budget estimate is $26,400,000 short for the biennium; on the basis of a shortage of $1,550,000 per month, the budget estimate is $37,200,000 short for the biennium.

These figures warrant the assertion that relief expenditures for the next biennium will be anywhere from $146,400,000 to $157,200,000.

It should be noted, however, that this is taking the most optimistic view and estimating on the basis that the reductions prophesied by Mr. Russell will occur in the first month of the next budget period and not exceed that estimate in any month thereafter. Obviously this is flying in the face of facts and experience. If the obligation of the government is to be recognized and faced courageously, additional sums must be allowed to take care of the peak months which will undoubtedly occur, as experience has shown, during the next twenty-four months, and an additional sum of $500,000 per month, or $12,000,000 for the next biennium should be added to make adequate provision.

It is my conclusion, therefore, on the basis of the irreducible minimum of $4,300,000 per month for old age assistance, mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, and unemployables, plus an average of $2,300,000 per month for unemployed, or a total of $6,600,000 per month should be provided. This would mean budgeting $158,400,000 for relief.

Of this I am convinced—that it is idle to talk of economies in government which result in the elimination of essential governmental functions. Such an attitude compels the inquiry, "What price economy?" No government can long exist, nor can any democracy continue unless essential governmental functions are fully provided for. To my mind these essential functions are the welfare; the health; the education of the citizens; and the feeding, the clothing and housing of those citizens willing to work but unable to find it through no fault of their own or physically incapacitated from performing it.

It is idle and ineffective to attempt to avoid responsibility by charging others with the failure to do their share. But it is not fair to make the charge if there is no basis for it. When the Governor said in his message on February 4, 1941, I quote: "The burden of unemployment, which is the combined totals of persons supported by W.P.A. and general assistance today is less than half what is was a year ago. . . ." That statement absolutely disregards the figures furnished by the Department of Public Assistance. On page seven of the preprint of apprendix tables to the Pennsylvania Public Assistance Statistics prepared by the Bureau of Research and Statistics of the Department of Public Assistance the figures show that:
